Following are some of the patches of new ground we have undertaken to add to our field for this year: 1. Get the laymen to work in holding prayer meetings, especially, and other public religious activities. It is producing gratifying results. 2. Have two organized classes, that do the work sure enough that such classes are supposed to do. We haven't the teachers yet to have the sexes separated, but the class of older men and women and the class of younger men and women are just simply doing the work! We are just getting each of these classes a room in the rear of the church that can be thrown open into the main auditorium after Sunday school. 3. Have organized the "Messenger Cadets" to look after absent Sunday school pupils and absent church members. When this organization gets right down to work, the superintendent and pastor can know by the Sunday night service why pupils and church members were absent at the Sunday school and morning service. This movement is calculated to work admirably in several ways, directed by God-fearing and tactful leaders. It is composed of a large class of boys in the Sunday school whose energies had to be utilized somewhere, and this organization, so far, seems to be the very thing for the boys, and it's bound to be a decided blessing to the Sunday school and church. 4. The Leagues have been reorganized from an Intermediate and Junior to a Senior and a Junior. It was necessary because of a lack of leaders and to adjust the young people of our church. Both are doing fine work at this time.

I find with all this added work (it seemed impossible to get any other teacher for the Adult Organized Class except the pastor) that I need to pray more than I ever have. I am praying that the next new ground will be a general, clean-cut, sin-killing revival throughout all these organizations and all through the church, and especially all over East McComb. Will the reader join me in this prayer?

There are those in the Conference who will be glad to know that Rev. H. E. Carter, who transferred from us to the North Mississippi Conference a few years ago, and who, on acocunt of his health, superannuated last year, is improving right along. He and his good wife are attending our services, his wife having put her letter in with us. They live near McComb, on the Holmesville road. Let the brethren pray that Brother Carter's health may soon be restored and that he may soon get back into the ranks again.

Looking unto the Hills,

J. A. WELLS.

HOW ABOUT THE REVIVAL?

By Rev. Henry T. Young.

The greatest thing involved in a pastor's labors for the whole year is the revival meeting. True, the financial affairs are important, but perhaps magnified too much, and the various, or all, services of the church are important. Nothing is small that involves the interest of our Lord's work, but the revival meeting is, or should be, the climax of every plan and purpose. It is there that the lost are supremely sought, and that seeking was the supreme passion of our Christ. What about the revival, brethren? There are three things that are going to determine largely your revival and mine:

1. A Passion. You see it often manifested and crowned. Some will almost come to the conclusion that their particular town or locality is too hard or indifferent for God to do anything there; but some one comes along with a passion for souls, and soon those who were hard or indifferent become interested, and, under the Lord, saved. A real passion for the salvation of souls refuses to recognize hindrances, but believing that "greater is He that is with us, than those who are against us," it urges on to victory. May God give us a greater passion for souls!

2. A Plan. As dynamic as a passion for souls is, it does not run off into emotionalism, or radicalism, but with that true passion comes the "wisdom that cometh from above." Possessed by a great passion for this work, we can and will plan, and that wisely. Hunting and fishing, loitering and lounging, and all such will have little place in the life of the man possessed with a burning desire to do the work of God, and when engaged in at all, they will be wisely planned, so as to contribute toward the supreme task of all—winning the lost to Jesus. Brother, how about your plan? I wrote a successful pastor some time ago—a pastor of one of our largest churches—desiring his services for awhile in about three months, and almost felt rebuked when he outlined his plans, not only for three months to come, but for six months ahead. He had already, in a general way, selected his subjects for each sermon. Brother Reader, how far have you projected your plans ahead? Is it possible that here at the beginning of the sixth month of the Conference year that some brother will read this who has not yet definitely planned his revival meeting or meetings? Is it possible that some one will read this who has not yet looked about for, and secured, his help, if he thinks he needs help for his work? Do you not know, brother, that the best evangelists and revivalists have their slates filled out for the entire year, and many for two years yet to come? May God give us men who are as wise in this great work of saving the world as the business men, or successful men of any other walks of life, are. "The children of this world" are wise. I am going to utter this prophecy: The pastor who reads this, whose year's work is already planned, will not only be made happy in the revival that he plans to hold, but his financial report will be "in full" at the next session of the Conference.

3. A Prayer. This will not be merely a string of words, though the string be as beautiful as a string of pearls, but it will be such a prayer as leaps from his lips like flames leap from some inferno. It will not be as some meteor, whose path is bright and beautiful, but soon ends in night, but like to a star whose light continuously glows. "I will not let thee go," was Jacob's cry, and yours and mine when we want a revival. Our Lord in Gethsemane, praying for the Father's will to be done, is the type of a prayer that brings a revival. God's will is that the lost be saved. May God send us a revival!

DR. SLEDD AT OAKDALE, LA.

Some weeks ago, I gave the Advocate a brief account of the series of services then in progress in Oakdale. Since that article was written, it has been the privilege of the Oakdale congregation to enjoy one of the greatest treats that ever came to any church in Louisiana—seven days of inspiring preaching and constructive work, by Dr. Andrew Sledd, of Emory University.

What we needed was not a great ingathering. We had that a year ago. We need instruction in the revelation and work of our Lord, and inspiration for larger, better service. And none who heard Dr. Sledd can doubt that we received all that could have been given toward these ends in the length of time that he had to give us. I wish to commend his work to the brethren, above that of any help I have ever had. He can do anything that a Methodist preacher and great Bible teacher can do; and do it as nearly to perfection as any man I have ever met. And when he comes to you, he wants to know what the field needs; what will help you most with your particular problems; and he literally throws himself—body, mind, soul and spirit—into the work; not sparing himself in the least, but going the limit of his great strength.

Three times daily, and four times on Sunday, this quiet, unassuming, intellectual and spiritual giant gave us his best. Every morning, from 10 to 11, he lectured, in approved classroom fashion, on "The Life and Work of Paul." Each afternoon, from 3:30 to 4:30, in the same manner, he discussed "How we got our Bible." This course was given at this hour that teachers and students from the High School might attend after school hours. Either course was worth bringing the speaker here from Atlanta—and a great deal more. So great were the addresses that long before the series ended, busy men—some of them connected with large concerns—were leaving their stores and offices at both hours, and flocking to the tabernacle to hear the wonderful messages. Men who rarely attend church themselves were heard exhorting their employees and friends to hear Dr. Sledd just as many times as possible. Had he not come to us under a strict time-limit, these people would not have allowed him to leave us under two weeks at least.

The evening sermons were equal to the best I have ever heard; and never have I heard any one man measure up to so high a standard so many consecutive times. His evening themes—and that of Sunday morning—dealt, for the most part, with the Gospel of John; which, the speaker said, rests upon four great pillars: "Life, Light, Liberty, and Love." As models of "sermon-building," these messages are unsurpassed by anything I have read or heard. And they were not only highly instructive, but a deep, clear, persuasive note of spiritual fervor and evangelism rang in every one of them.

On Sunday afternoon, people were present from Alexandria, Glenmora, Elizabeth, and Oberlin, when Dr. Sledd rendered the Centenary Cause a great service by a masterly address on the work of missions in Europe.

Dr. Sledd is a thorough scholar and a great teacher; which means that he is unfettered by traditions, and is "progressive" and "modern"; at the same time, he sticks closer to the Bible than most preachers do, and handles its precious truths with a reverence that makes it impossible for his hearers to deal lightly with that divine old Book. The supernatural is a present reality to him; religion is a vital fact, and God a living Presence in his heart and life. He has a deep and happy personal experience, a lofty conception of godliness, a fervent spirituality. There is prophetic fire in the man and in his message; and with it all, a brotherliness and kindliness that win the hearts of those who hear him, and make them want to be better, purer and more tender and helpful.

The work of Andrew Sledd will bear fruit in this community for many days to come. And I am writing these words, not because I want to compliment him, but because he has a message that the whole church needs. No investment you can make will yield larger, finer returns in spiritual life, growth, strength and uplift, than that which brings this godly man to your church. And, I repeat, he can do anything you need to have done. He did for us the type of work we asked for. Had we felt that a campaign purely evangelistic was what we most needed, I am sure that we should now be reporting that one of the greatest evangelistic preachers in Methodism had stirred our community to its profoundest depths. As it is, our people, rejoicing in past achievements, are greatly strengthened for the work before them, and are thanking God for the visit of Dr. Sledd.

ARTHUR M. SHAW.

THE CHURCH WILL NOT FAIL.

The missionaries and natives have absolute confidence in the home church and its ability and purpose to stand by the subscriptions which have been made for the more adequate maintenance of missionary work. The latest evidence of this fine trust is found in a letter from Rev. W. E. Towson, Kyoto, Japan, just received:

"I hope the intensive campaign now on is bringing forth results, and that the results will bring relief to the Board and such help to those at the front as will enhearten the lonely laborers as they stand at their posts. The church has said to them, 'hold the fort for we are coming,' and the church must not disappoint them. It would be tragic if it did, not alone in its effect upon the missionaries, but, especially, upon these native people who are trusting us so implicitly. And who can estimate the calamitous effect upon the home church, should it fail to keep its promise! We are waiting with confident hearts to hear that our beloved Zion has come up to the help of the Lord, in this great emergency that is upon that cause that I believe lies nearest the heart of the Son of God—the giving of the Gospel to those who have not yet heard the message that they have a Father in Heaven."

AN EARLY CHURCH PLEDGE.

Systematic giving is not new. The St. Johnsbury, Vermont, Athenaeum for June 7, 1826, contains this pledge: "For Value received I promise to Pay Lewis Snell, Isaac Wing and Ezra Ide, Committee of the Congregational Society in the north part of St. Johnsbury, or their Successors in office, three middling ewe Sheep as to size and quality on demand. I promise to keep the said three sheep five years free from expense to said Society, and I promise to pay the Wooll to the Committee in June and the lambs on or before the first day of November yearly, the first payment to he made in June and November, 1827, all the wooll and all the lambs and all the profits arising from said sheep to he laid out yearly for Congregational Preaching. Calvin Stone,"—Youth's Companion.

ARE YOU PLANNING FOR A REVIVAL?

If so, correspond with me and let me advise with you. I have been in this work five years. My services are available to those preachers in Louisiana and Mississippi who desire to have a real revival. Write me fully. References furnished.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Aberdeen District.

Brother W. B. Baker, at Eupora and Mabin, is in great favor with the people of his charge. We had a fine quarterly conference at Eupora—everything was in fine shape.

Brother W. C. Mattox, at Bellefontaine, is in his third year on that charge, and his grip upon the situation has never been so firm as it is now.

Brother J. E. Lawhon, at Mathiston, is having his first experience as a pastor, but he is doing the work well. Brother B. P. Patterson, than whom there is not a greater helper to a young preacher, said that Brother Lawhon has made "a hit."

Brother W. L. Atkins, at Algoma, also in his first year, got a good hold upon his people at the start, and has held it. It is practically certain that the Algoma charge is in the midst of the best year of its history.

It would be difficult to find four charges anywhere where the preachers and their people are more thoroughly pleased and trying more faithfully to make this a great year than the four mentioned above.

On March 11, Bishop Ainsworth preached a wonderful sermon at Aberdeen in the morning, and at Tupelo that night. The presiding elder had the pleasure of having him at Aberdeen, where every one present was thoroughly inspired by his message. I have heard good reports of his work at Tupelo.

We are hoping that all pastors, treasurers and others in our district are putting forth every possible effort to secure payments on all pledges for the Centenary, and that a special effort will be made during the first week in April and thereafter, if necessary, until the first of May.

Brother W. C. Newman, a student in the University of Mississippi, has been appointed to fill the vacancy on the Fulton circuit. Brother Newman is a fine young man and will do a great work on that charge. The good people of Tupelo, especially the Sunday school, under the leadership of that princely layman, Brother J. H. Ledyard, have provided a new Ford car for Brother Newman's use and for the preachers who follow him on that charge.

Plans have been made for the revival season in most of the churches in the District. John Brown, of Arkansas, one of our evangelists, is to begin a meeting in Tupelo on April 15. Bob Jones will be in Houston in July. We are praying for great revivals throughout the District.

T. H. DORSEY, P. E.

The Greenville District.

Believing that the kindly criticism of P. O. Lowrey, issue of March 22, is well founded, I desist. However, be it remembered that all our work revolves around some man.

The Union church at Glen Allan was recently destroyed by fire. Methodist people were about ready to build prior to this calamity. They are going to it with renewed vigor. Team-mates like Youngblood, Preston, Hasie, Duke, Mann, Barwick and others make building look easy. The pastor is in good form and favor.

A beautiful and practical church is in process of construction at Coahoma. The total cost will be approximately ten thousand dollars. A less determined people, or a less resolute pastor would have failed. Here's to the whole bunch, including Ed. Fant, not leaving out H. L. Ralston nor forgetting J. W. Wheeler.

Duncan has let the contract for a church like that which is going up at Coahoma. Also a parsonage will be built on the same lot. It is all but an ideal location, and ample room for both. The Duncan church was burned more than a year since. The contemplated buildings will be ample for all purposes. J. A. George is as nearly a tireless pastor as I have knowledge of.

* * *

The Murphy church, Hollandale and Arcola charge, was blown down by a recent storm. It will be rebuilt at an early date.

Pace is planning a new church. Money and material are being "assembled," the matter of location is in the hands of a competent committee, and actual work will likely begin early in the summer.

* * *

Following the greatest revival in the history of Lula, nearly sufficient funds have already been subscribed to build an ample and beautiful church at that point. They will likely break ground early in the summer. It is sorely needed.

Since the really great revival at Shaw, new church sentiment has grown steadily. With a men's Bible class of nearly one hundred, and the Sunday school more than doubled, some more satisfactory arrangements have become imperative. Simpson will likely include a new church in his report next fall.

* * *

T. E. Gregory carries a "secret" in his pocket these days. Leland is not a good place to keep a church secret. When that secret is divulged, Leland Methodism will cease to be shamed by the house they worship in. Enough said. The revival that blessed that little city abides and grows.

Notes and Personals.

Dr. Chpman has been granted a three months' vacation, beginning in June, for a trip to the Orient.

Mrs. W. W. Mitchell, wife of our pastor at Cleveland, is slowly improving from the effects of a serious fall. Her courage, patience and good cheer are such as to make a visit to her in the Baptist Hospital, Memphis, a blessing to the visitor. Multitudes of friends devoutly pray for her speedy recovery.

* * *

Rev. T. H. Mills has been forced to surrender his work because of ill health. He was greatly loved by that splendid people. J. J. Baird, who will "come back" to "his loved employ" next fall, will supply Evansville and Dubbs. A most satisfactory and happy arrangement.

* * *

I have no first-hand report from the revival at Hollandale, held by Rev. T. E. Gregory. Great interest was manifest at last report. About one hundred and fifty additions to our church "on profession of faith" reported to date in the whole district. People acquainted with the delta will appreciate this early report. The revival spirit is here. Congregations uniformly good. The men of the district are thoroughly alive. All the interests of the church being carefully looked after. A sleepy pastor would sure have trouble in this section now. The laymen are increasingly active.

JAMES H. FELTS, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Newton District Notes.

The Bay Springs charge, under the pastorate of Rev. E. H. Cooley, shows healthful growth. The work is more thoroughly organized, and the charge as a whole has taken on an air of stability and permanency. There are some choice spirits among the workers of this charge.

Rev. C. H. Strait is in high favor with the people of the Decatur and Hickory charge. The large attendance of young people at the Agricultural High School at Decatur makes this charge one of fine opportunity and is an element of inspiration to our working forces. A revival meeting at Decatur, Brother Dan Kelly assisting, recently resulted in a large ingathering, many of the converts being from the student body of the A. H. S.

The congregation at Hickory is occupying a neat new building equipped with Sunday school rooms conveniently arranged. This building when properly seated will be a gem.

Brother Flurry, of the Chunky charge, has taken in some "new ground," and is preaching to the people of the Parks' School House community. It is hoped that a permanent organization will grow out of this enterprise.

* * *

The laymen of Brother Young's charge, Lake, are rallying to the pastor's leadership and have volunteered to go out and hold services in the outlying places. Good results are expected to follow.

At Union, where Brother Baggett is pastor, there is prospect for material improvement in our property, and developments are awaited with interest.

Our work in the city of Laurel is kept well in hand by the pastors of the several congregations. First Church, under the leadership of Brother O. S. Lewis, has recently acquired very valuable property adjoining the present plant, including a residence, which is to be renovated and occupied as a parsonage.

The new pastor at Kingston, Brother Ferguson, has made a fine beginning, and the outlook is for a steady growth in that faithful congregation.

At West End, Brother Ramsey is rallying about him an increasing number of workers, and the various departments of church activity show steady and healthful advance.

The every-member canvass has been put on at Forest and Morton, and the response was hearty and the budget covered. After the great Home Mission Conference at Jackson, the pastor, Rev. H. J. Moore, called a meeting of the congregation, and enthusiasm was engendered by the report of the members who were privileged to attend. The ladies of the church served delightful refreshments. The Sunday school attendance has been the largest for a long time. The men's prayer meeting in both communities is doing good work. They are expecting large results from the meeting now in progress. Brother Moll is assisting the pastor, and has produced a profound impression.

The men's prayer meeting at Newton, every Wednesday at noon, has an attendance of from seventy-five to one hundred and twenty-five. The Newton Flying Squadron is organizing the men throughout the county, and results are substantial and gracious.

The Centenary meeting of the Newton District was at Newton, March 7, attended by nearly all the pastors and many laymen. Urgent appeals were made by the presiding elder and W. D. Hawkins, the Conference Centenary Leader, for each charge to bring up its quota, and the pastors responded well to the appeals. The ladies of the church did their part in serving dinner to the entire body of preachers and laymen.

N. B. HARMON, Reporter.

Vicksburg District.

My first round of quarterly conferences for this year is now a thing of the past, and I feel greatly encouraged over the outlook for one of the best years this section of Mississippi has ever had. This is indicated by the earnest co-operation of the laymen as well as the diligence and faithfulness of the pastors. I greatly appreciate the way the men have taken hold of the work. They are giving the best of their thought and leadership to the matters committed to them. When pastors do this, the laymen will respond, the church will prosper, God will pour out his blessings upon the people, and all will be happy.

Natchez and Rev. C. C. Evans are much in love with each other. They are pulling together in a very beautiful and helpful way. The people have great confidence in their pastor, and he is not lacking in his appreciation of and devotion to them. The work is prospering under the lead of Brother Evans, and Jefferson Street Church, with her honored history, of which she may justly be proud, was perhaps never better organized and more generally ready to co-operate with her pastor than now. The membership is large and ready to help with an interest in everything that looks to the welfare and success of their church. Natchez is one of our best appointments, a delightful people to serve, and one of the most pleasant places in which to live and labor. Brother Evans is making full proof of his ministry there. The church is prospering.

Centerville and Stephenson are most fortunate in having Rev. V. G. Clifford as pastor for the second year. The people appreciate Brother Clifford's wise leadership and preaching ability. The work goes forward and the kingdom prospers when pastor and people appreciate each other and co-operate together, as is true at Centerville and Stephenson. Brother Clifford and his people are now building a church at Stephenson, which has been long needed and which is costing about $3,500. Great things were done on this charge last year, and we are looking for greater things this year. The District Conference meets at Centerville this year, and will convene on April 24, at 2:30 p. m. We are expecting a good time with Brother Clifford and his people.

It is always pleasant to go to Gloster, be in the parsonage home of Rev. J. L. Smith, and associate with the members of his happy family. Brother Smith serves a faithful and hopeful people. It is encouraging to see at the quarterly conference officials from Gloster, Liberty, Mount Olive, Mount Vernon, Woodland, and Mount Carmel. This is a young district, but Smith and his Ford always meet appointments on schedule time. Brother Smith is a hard worker, and God honors his labors. He is an evangelistic preacher and leader, and a genuine revival spirit is among his people.

Roxie is responding delightfully to the lead of Rev. M. L. McCormick, whose heart is in his work, and whose energies are consecrated to building up the church in all things. The pastor and people are faithful and loyal, and the work prospers in all matters of the church. The folks appreciate their competent young pastor, and God is using him in building up his kingdom.

* * *

Rev. C. Y. Higginbotham and the fine people of Louise and Holly Bluff seem to be very happy as they go about the work of the church in this their first year together. The people are pleased with their new pastor, and he is delighted with them. Brother Higginbotham and his people are busy. Things will happen when this is true. Holly Bluff is the home of Mr. S. W. Sharbrough, associate lay leader of our district. Brother Sharbrough is one of the choice laymen of our Conference. He is always taking a keen interest in the church. In him the pastor has a strong arm to lean upon and a brotherly spirit to associate with in the Lord's work.

* * *

Rev. George P. McKeown has entered upon the work at Silver City with a glad heart, and the people received him and Sister McKeown with open arms. They feel that they are fortunate in having a pastor and wife so competent as Brother and Sister McKeown come to serve them in the Master's kingdom. I am confidently expecting this to be a year of spiritual progress and development at Silver City and Midnight. Pastor and people will do the work and God will bring the increase.

* * *

Rev. E. D. Simpson is faithfully doing the work on Oak Ridge charge. This is a large circuit and rather difficult to serve; but Brother Simpson meets his appointments and diligently visits the people. There are many fine people on the charge who appreciate their pastor. It is greatly desired that all may co-operate in the Lord's work and put this charge up with the best. A faithful pastor, cultured people and material resources thoroughly consecrated to God will always mean success and spiritual happiness.

* * *

Rev. M. J. Miller is in his third year at Mayersville, and doing as well as anybody could do in a charge such as he serves. Brother Miller is a good preacher, and the people like him. He has a great opportunity, being the only white preacher in Issaquena County. The salvation of the people is dependent upon him and the interest and activities of the church. Happy will that section of the Delta be when the church awakes to a brother's interest in all the people. This is God's call to his church, and we cannot be indifferent to the call.

This district is fortunate in having three of our honored superannuates, Rev. W. W. Simmons, of Gloster; Rev. I. B. Robertson, of McNair, and Rev. W. W. Cammack of Fayette. Each of them takes an abiding interest in the work of the church, and they are a real benediction to their pastor. May the Lord leave them with us many years that our church may be enriched by their prayers and godly example. The Lord bless all these honored fathers and faithful men everywhere.

Our District Conference and Sunday School Institute will begin on April 24, at 2:30 p. m., at Centerville. Let the names of all delegates, both to the Conference and Sunday School Institute, be sent to Rev. V. G. Clifford, and all names of delegates to the Conference be sent to me. Let local preachers, lay leaders and Sunday school workers be urged to attend.

J. R. JONES, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Ruston District.

Homer: The new church, which is indeed a splendid building, will be ready for the opening services, the contractors say, not later than the 1st of June. The Methodist people of Homer have shown a liberal spirit in the erection of this building. They have also been liberal in the pastor's salary, having raised it $300 this year, making it now $3,600. They are leading the District in the collection of their Centenary pledges. Brother Tucker is leading the forces in all lines of work with success.

At the second quarterly conference at Winnfield we had a good attendance. Brother Jordan's report showed a healthy condition and progress on every line, but the remarkable part of this conference was that from almost every department of church work, in fact from every department except one, we had a written report. Dr. Wren, the efficient Sunday school superintendent, told us that the Sunday school had doubled in numbers and finance in the last few years. The president of the Woman's Missionary Society gave a very encouraging report of their work. The president of the Epworth League also had a written report.

Jonesboro has enlarged her borders—Dodson and Sikes have been added. We had written reports there from the superintendent of Sunday school, president of the Missionary Society, and, of course, from the pastor. All were encouraging, but the most remarkable was the church at Sikes. This faithful little band is enthusiastically at work.

* * *

Rev. J. H. Williams has certainly organized his church at Farmerville, and every organization is functioning. He has the Adult Missionary Society, the Young People's, and the Juniors. He has his young people organized in the League and Sunday school. They are borrowing rooms from the public school for their Sunday school classes until they can build a new church, which they hope to do in the near future.

Wesley Circuit: Rev. D. C. Bennett was sick for two months—December and January—but has recovered, and is starting the work off well. We had a full attendance at the quarterly conference. Holly Springs was well represented. The next quarterly conference goes to that church. All seem hopeful for a good year.

Marion is a new circuit, cut from Farmerville when they were made a station. It looked like a problem at the time. Rev. W. W. Lantrip, who was appointed to the work, has so organized his forces that Marion is now one of the good circuits, and pastor and people are delighted with the outlook for the future.

At Minden the pastor and people are co-operating in a way that will bring things to pass. Every organization is doing well its part. Minden has had the saddest accident that has ever come under my observation, and they have the deepest sympathy not only of the district, but of the entire Conference. Brother Childress has shown himself a good pastor in this instance, as well as in the other church work.

Sibley Charge: We had a splendid second quarterly conference—written reports from different organizations. The pastor's report showed life in the churches. Brother Alden Rathbun, a Sunday school worker at Minden, was present and made a fine talk on the rural Sunday school. The charge has repaired the parsonage, painted the church at Brushwood, added new Sunday school rooms and repaired the church at Pine Grove. Brother Dring is leading his forces.

Ringgold: This is Brother Harper's fourth year at Ringgold. He seems to have a hold on the work. They have organized a Missionary Society. I was there on that sleety Sunday—did not see very many of his people, but the work seems to be progressing.

Haughton and Doyline: Brother Bennett is doing remarkably good work, and he is in high favor with his people. He has had sickness in his home all through the year, and Sister Bennett passed away on March 22. Brother Bennett and family have our prayers and sympathy.

Arcadia: Judge J. E. Reynolds and his corps of teachers are building up the Sunday school at this place. The trustees have sold their old church, and they are supposed to begin building on their new church about the 1st of May. We held our second quarterly conference in the First National Bank. It was well attended and a very enthusiastic quarterly conference. Brother Ledbetter is energetic, wide-awake to the interests of the church. He and his board are determined to make this a year of great success.

510-513 Security Building, St. Louis, Mo.

BISHOP W. N. AINSWORTH.—"If any class of men deserve grateful recognition above their fellows at the hands of the American people, that class is the Methodist itinerant from Francis Asbury to the present day. They have been the makers of history in this Western world, laying strong and deep the foundations of society and government, as well as builders of the kingdom of God. Theodore Roosevelt was a discerning student of the institutions of our civilization, and he records his mature conviction that America owes more to the Methodist itinerant than to any other agency for making our civilization what it is. These men went everywhere among the scattered colonies of the Atlantic coast and accompanied every caravan that pushed its way into the West, so that the Methodist parson was found on every frontier before the processes of civil government were set up. The ministry converted the people to God, gave moral stamina to the early settlers, and typed the social structure which they built. Any fair appraisement of the forces that laid the foundations of the American government will accord to the Methodist itinerants a substantial meed of praise. They lived in sacrifice and died in poverty to bequeath to us the heritage we enjoy to-day. And no less constructive is their ministry in the life of to-day.

"While the sacrifices of the ministry are not now as great as were required of the pioneers, it is still true that it is maintained at a woefully inadequate wage. The United States Labor Board, after careful study of all conditions, has suggested $1800 as a living wage for the average family. The pay of mechanics, bricklayers, draughtsmen, machinists, engineers, and all skilled workmen of the artisan class is quite in excess of this sum, but the average salary of a Methodist preacher is only $1100 at the present time. This is wholly inadequate to supply the necessities of life for a family of six, not to speak of the education for the children and a reasonable amount of cultural facilities for the household. There are now hundreds of parsonage homes in Methodism where the scale of living is an unwritten tragedy, with no promise of relief for the years of infirmity and advancing age. Less than $300 is now available as an annual per capita retiring allowance for these wornout servants of the church. The Roman sentinel at Pompeii exhibited no higher type of devotion to duty than these faithful servants and sufferers in the ministry of to-day.

"The clock has struck the hour for their release. The time has come for Methodism to purge herself of the reflection that inheres in these facts. The church is no longer poor. Our people do not live amid the primitive conditions of the pioneer. They live in plenty. Every laborer in the vineyard of the Lord is worthy of a living wage and is entitled to the assurance that he shall not be a 'forgotten man' when life's evening comes and he can no longer go forth to labor as in the days of his strength. The church can do it, and I believe she will."

BISHOP SAM R. HAY.—"Adequate superannuate endowment is a subject that appeals from many angles. There is not a single cause of Southern Methodism that would not be greatly benefited by the reaction coming from raising $10,000,000 to guarantee a reasonable support for the church's worn-out preachers.

"The compelling need of these worthy servants has come to be so pronounced that it can no longer be shunted aside. The time is now upon us when the secular world is beginning to scorn any institution that does not make provision properly to pension employees who come to old age and physical impairment out of long and faithful service. The church will not escape this contempt if she consumes men and their wives in her ministry and then fails to support them when they are utterly unable to provide for themselves.

"In the Conference year 1920-21 there were 1860 active preachers in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, who received each an annual salary less than $1000, while in the year 1921-22 this number increased to 2279. Think of it! In a single year there was an increase of 419 preachers in the class of men serving for less than $1000 per capita per year. This startling fact presses upon us with unfailing logic and that the church is compelled to provide for such servants when they must be superannuated.

"No opportunity has ever come to our Methodism that carried with it such importunity. The call reaches us from hundreds of homes of superannuates now suffering great deprivations; it comes to us from the preachers now serving in the pulpits but who will be superannuated as the years pass on; it comes to us from all future generations of preachers who will occupy our places, serve to the limit of their endurance, and retire to the great silence without a competency; and somehow I think it comes to us through a spiritual persuasion from those preachers who are translated.

"A time of special effort for superannuate endowment has been fixed, plans are unfolding for the day of beginning and for the processes by which the church is challenged to accomplish this task, and such expectancy of success has so gripped the church that we cannot turn back."

BISHOP HOYT M. DOBBS.—"In deciding upon a special effort for superannuate endowment to be inaugurated at the Annual Conferences of 1923 the church has set her hand to one of the unblessed tasks in her wonderful history of great accomplishments. And her action in this important matter is most opportune, for now governments, churches, colleges, universities, and other great corporations are beginning to see the wisdom of regarding the men and women whose ability, service, and fidelity have so largely created and sustained them.

"Ingratitude is one of the basest of all sins, either in a man or in mankind. Thoughtful and discerning men to-day know that the gospel of Jesus Christ has power to create civilizations and to bring to greatness both individuals and communities that embody these principles. The noble veterans among us who have preached this gospel must not suffer in their declining years because of any ingratitude or neglect at our hands. Enshrined forever in the hearts of the American people is the record of their life and labors.

"An adequate support for the church's veteran servants is not only a question of sentiment, but it is also a matter of justice and common sense. More and more these principles are coming to be recognized in every department of human endeavor. Into this worthy work must go our heads, our hearts, and our hands; our gifts will then quickly follow. The claim is a just one. The church loves her aged ministers. The funds are not lacking. It is a happy hour. The cause merits success. It is our duty and our privilege to co-operate in an enterprise so significant and so far-reaching for the ongoing of the work of the church."

BISHOP JAMES E. DICKEY.—"I do not base my appeal for the superannuated preacher on the ground of charity. Charity does not recognize obligation, except as a noble nature is impelled to relieve need. My appeal for the superannuate is based on obligation, an economic as well as a moral and spiritual obligation, growing out of benefit accrued to the public from the life and labor of a productive laborer.

"The unthinking sometimes refer to the preacher as an unproductive laborer as though he were a parasite feeding on the body politic. If this were true, his claim would rest alone upon the charity of a pitiless world; but if he is a productive laborer, his claim to an age benefit is as binding on the community as that of the sailor or soldier on the government or that of the employee on the commercial company. In order to establish this contention we have only to show the value of the church to society. Remove the church and all religious influences of the church from a community, and what follows? Material values at once depreciate, moral values decline, the best of the citizenry migrate, and little remains but savagery and sin.

"Silence your pulpits, and you close the doors of your churches. Close the doors of your churches for a decade, and what of your civilization? It may become as resplendent as that of ancient Greece or Rome, but it will become as riotous and as rotten. If, then, these superannuates have upon the broad bosom of their faith lifted whole communities into the presence of God and with tears and groans unutterable by the power of the Spirit have transformed savages into saints, let not only the church but all lovers of righteousness support them."

BISHOP EUGENE R. HENDRIX.—"A large sum was necessary to pay for a new church in Chicago. Two bishops, representing the two leading Methodisms, together with a prominent missionary secretary, jointly took the collection.

"The first response was by a man who had married a daughter of Rev. William Arthur, the author of the great classic, 'The Tongue of Fire. His family were all with him as he quietly said: 'You may put me down for $2500 and my wife down for $2500. We have five children, whom you can put down for $100 each. We have three children who are with God, and you can put them down for $100 each.' Here was a total subscription of $5800. In the afternoon the same noble giver added to the morning subscription by giving in the name of each of his family, including a like amount for the three children who 'are with God. At the evening service he added to the morning and afternoon subscriptions by announcing large sums in the name of each member of his family, including a like amount for each of the 'three children who are with God.' With such an example in giving, the whole amount necessary to be raised was soon secured, and the noble church was dedicated to the worship of God.

"May I suggest that in our giving to the Superannuate Endowment Fund we give not only for ourselves but for those of our loved ones 'who are with God' and thus help to keep them in our midst? Some venerated man of God baptized these translated ones or joined them in holy wedlock or pronounced the last words at their burial. How fitting, then, for those of us who yet linger in this world to establish fresh memorials to our loved ones 'who are with God' by contributing as we are able to the Superannuate Endowment Fund, which is for the benefit of those who served that our loved ones might be with God!"

THE BOY WHO FORGETS.

I love him—the boy who forgets!
Does it seem such a queer thing to say?
Can't help it; he's one of my pets;
Delightful at work or at play.
I'd trust him with all that I own,
And know neither worries nor frets;
But the secret of this lies alone
In the things that laddie forgets.

He always forgets to pay back
The boy who has done him an ill;
Forgets that a grudge he owes Jack,
And smiles at him pleasantly still.
He always forgets 'tis his turn
To choose what others shall play;
Forgets about others to learn
The gossipy things that "they say."

He forgets to look sultry and cross
When things are not going his way;
Forgets some one's gain is his loss;
Forgets in his worktime his play.
This is why I must take his part,
Why I say he is one of my pets;
I repeat it with all of my heart:
I love him for what he forgets.

—St. Nicholas.

THE SURPRISE PARTY.

By Thelma Roberts (12 Years Old).

Jane Dunn ran down the big stone steps of the Dunn residence and skipped merrily along the shady walk.

"Wait, Marjorie," she called to a slim figure approaching on the other side of the street.

When Jane and Marjorie met at the curb, Jane took her hand and said, "You know Norma Andrews I guess, don't you?"

"Oh, yes; why? What on earth do you want with her? You know she is red-headed, freckle-faced and is the dullest girl in school. Why, Jane Dunn, what are—"

She stopped suddenly when her little friend laughed merrily.

"But I am just the gladder that she is ugly. I found out that to-morrow is her birthday. I know she won't have a good time, so let's me and you give a party for her."

Her eager eyes were fixed on Marjorie's.

"All right, I'm willing," said Marjorie.

Twenty-four boys and girls tore open the little blue invitations the next morning.

"I am coming to see you after school," Jane promised Norma the next day at school. The little girl grinned and tugged at her hair. She was very timid and was also not used to hearing any one speak so kindly to her.

After school a large crowd of children gathered, and, with roses and ferns they had brought, they decorated the place by sticking a bright red rose in a bunch of moss; a vase of three buds and a stiff fern adorned a small table, and a larger table was decked with white parcels of all sizes and shapes.

Two plates of taffy candy were on the serving tray, and the chairs were arranged in a ring.

Norma was dressing in her stuffy little room to receive her guest, Jane. (She was not expecting the others.)

Jane appeared in the doorway and cried, "Oh, Norma, I have come to see you. Let me see your pretty dress."

Norma turned around and showed a blue and white gingham dress. It was faded, but Jane pretended that she thought it was lovely.

"Do let's play under the pear tree," she insisted.

As she approached the parcel-decked table, the guests gathered around her. She opened the packages, one by one. First came a barette in the shape of a butterfly. Next, she opened a package which contained a pair of silk socks. As she opened, with excited fingers, other packages, she found a purse, a pencil box, two boxes of stationery, a box of candy, four pieces of pretty hair ribbon, a small eversharp pencil, a box of powder, a large bottle of perfume, several games, books and other things that pleased her very much.

The plates of taffy candy were passed around, and then the group of laughing children proceeded to pin the tails on the donkey.

"Why, this is my birthday," chuckled Norma; "I had forgotten."

When every tail was pinned on, it was decided that Clarence Jones had won the prize of a huge stick of candy.

Every one gasped for breath as little Norma herself proudly received the booby prize, a package of gum.

After playing a few other games, from behind the fence came two dainty waiters with punch and cakes on them.

"Mother!" cried Norma as the dishes were being taken up, "come see."

A plain woman, dressed in a sunbonnet and apron, soon found her way up to the table and held up each little present admiringly.

"'Twas nice of you girls and boys to do this for Norma. She would never have remembered this was her birthday," she said.

When the little folks skipped down the country road, some one said, "I'm glad we did do it—we all enjoyed it as well as Norma."

And indeed they did.

Back at the country home a freckle-faced girl, with her arms full of presents, walked up the steps and into her stuffy little room and placed her much-beloved gifts on the wooden bed.

Columbia, Miss.

HOW MANY THINGS?

"Seems to me I'm always doing things for mother," grumbled Jack, when she asked him to water the plants. "Lots of things this morning."

"How many things?" asked Aunt Amy.

Oh, I went on an errand and I fed the chickens —always so much to do on Saturday. And now those plants."

"How many things has mother done for you today? Suppose you make the list."

"I will," said Jack. He brought it later, saying: "I really didn't think it would count up so, Aunt Amy." It read:

"Found my collar. Sewed on a button. Got me a shoestring. Wrote a note to ask if Tom could come over. Got a sliver out of my finger. Got a knot out of my kite string. Found my fishing tackle. Made me some glue. Showed me about an example. Fixed my hat band. Found some nails for my shelf and helped me to fix it—"

"I lost count there," said Jack.—Selected.

PHILLIPS BROOKS AND THE ACOLYTE.

When Phillips Brooks, the great "low church" bishop of Massachusetts, made his visitation at the Church of the Advent, Boston, celebrated for its elaborate ritual, the rector considerately inquired if the bishop would like the usual service simplified.

"Oh, no," was the reply. "Turn everything on!"

A young but well-trained acolyte was told off to attend the bishop, and before the towering figure paced, with impressive dignity, the small red-cassocked lad.

A lady present, who knew and loved her Phillips Brooks but knew little of ritual, regarded the situation at first with anxious face, but soon became quite serene. On leaving the church, after service, she remarked:

"In the beginning, I was dreadfully afraid the bishop would not know where to go or what to do, but I felt that that little boy knew a great deal more about it all than the bishop did and was taking good care of him."—Harper's.

Master, to do great work for thee, my hand
Is far too weak! Thou givest what may suit—
Some little chips to cut with care minute,
Or tint, or grave, or polish. Others stand
Before their quarried marble fair and grand,
And make a life work of the great design
Which thou hast traced; or many skilled combine
To build vast temples, gloriously planned.
Yet take the tiny stones which I have wrought,
Just one by one, as they were given by thee,
Not knowing what came next in thy wise thought:
Set each stone by thy master-hand of grace;
Form the mosaic as thou wilt for me,
And in thy temple-pavement give it place.

GREAT GIFT TO SOUTHERN METHODIST UNIVERSITY.

The Dallas (Texas) Morning News of March 27 carries the announcement of a gift of $100,000 to Southern Methodist University, made by Mr. and Mrs. R. Harper Kirby, for the erection of a building for the Theological Department. The gift is in cash, and the erection of the new building will begin as soon as plans can be prepared and approved.

The letter conveying the gift was addressed to Dr. W. D. Bradfield, a member of the faculty of the University, and a long-time friend of Mr. and Mrs. Kirby. It is so significant of the motives that lie back of Christian activities, that we quote the letter in full as it appears in the News:

"Having profound faith in the divinity of Jesus Christ, knowing God's guidance and his boundless love for mankind and his great desire that all men shall be saved, and believing firmly in Christian education, we will give one hundred thousand dollars to the Southern Methodist University, at Dallas, Texas, for a theological building."

The addition of this building to the equipment of the University will greatly increase its facilities and enable it to serve more efficiently the increasing number of students who seek its advantages every year. This gift of Mr. and Mrs. Kirby will, we trust, lead others to whom God has given great wealth, to turn their thoughts toward similar benefactions. In Mississippi and Louisiana the church has schools that need increased endowment and equipment—and in Mississippi and Louisiana there are men and women who are rich in this world's goods. What an opportunity to serve God and bless the world!

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

The Wesleyan Bible Class of the First Methodist Church, this city, hahd an attendance of 264 last Sunday.

Rev. J. E. J. Ferguson, our pastor at Summit, Miss., gives a good account of the work on that delightful charge. The outlook for a fine year is encouraging.

Rev. John A. Moore, presiding elder of the Newton District, Mississippi Conference, is issuing a quarterly bulletin which carries much of interest to the District.

Rev. G. D. Purcell, of Columbia, La., expcets to make this one of the best years in his ministry. He has taken in some "new ground" by organizing a country church.

Rev. W. F. Henderson, Jr., our faithful pastor at Zwolle, La., was recently operated on for appendicitis. He is rapidly convalescing, and will soon be able to return to his work.

At the recent session of the Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Dr. Alonzo Early, pastor of our church at Crowley, La., was made Grand Chaplain for the State of Louisiana.

Mr. S. M. Collins, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at Monroe, La., is an active Methodist layman, and a long-time reader of the Advocate. We appreciate his kindly words concerning the paper.

Dr. S. A. Steel, the "Knight of the Pelican State," delivered his lecture on "Evolution and Christianity" recently to a large and appreciative apdience in the First Methodist Church, Shreveport, La.

Rev. S. J. Savies, whose "Safety Signals" appear in the Advocate from time to time, is assisting Dr. H. F. Brooks in the pastoral visitation of the great congregation of the First Methodist Church, Shreveport, La.

Rev. W. R. Lott writes that great interest continues to be manifested in church work at Holly Springs, Miss. The prayer meeting attendance last week was 86. A large men's choir has been organized for the night services.

A group of laymen from New Albany, Miss., held the night services at Holly Springs, Miss., on March 25. A group from Holly Springs expects to return the visit in the near future. This interchange of visits ought to be helpful to all concerned.

The Jackson District Conference will meet at Bolton, Miss., on June 25. We appreciate the cordial invitation of the presiding elder, Rev. M. L. Burton, to attend. We have many pleasant recollections of Bolton from our boyhood days, and we should greatly enjoy a renewal of friendships there.

The meeting at Algiers, in which the pastor, Rev. C. C. Wier, is being assisted by Rev. W. E. Thomas, has developed so much interest that it will be continued this week. The original intention was to bring the meeting to a close on Easter Sunday.

A note from Mrs. E. L. Alford brings the good news that Brother Alford, who was forced to give up his pastorate at Logtown, Miss., on account of ill health, is gradually improving. Brother and Sister Alford are now making their home at Tylertown, Miss.

The funeral services of Mrs. J. O. Bennett, wife of our pastor at Haughton, La., whose death we announced last week, were conducted by Dr. R. H. Wynn, assisted by Rev. K. W. Dodson, Rev. W. L. Doss, Jr., and Rev. H. B. Thomason. Interment was at Colfax.

The Executive Committee of the Board of Finance, North Mississippi Conference, met in Memphis, Tenn., on March 22. The Committee, of which Rev. J. E. Cunningham is chairman, found that Rev. J. H. Bell is doing excellent work in securing funds for the superannuate cause.

The Methodist church at Oak Grove, La., was so badly damaged by a storm on Sunday, March 11, that the congregation are unable to use it. It will cost from $1,200 to $1,500 to make the necessary repairs. Rev. George Fox is the pastor upon whom devolves the leadership of this charge.

Under the progressive leadership of Rev. P. O. Lowrey, our pastor at Indian Bayou, La., several of the members of the church there are furnishing conveyances to enable those to attend Sunday school who otherwise would be unable to do so. This is a fine form of Christian service.

The garages and filling stations at Greenville, Miss., have agreed to close every Sunday from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. It is hoped also that the drug stores will close on Sunday. This movement for doing away with unnecessary business on the Lord's Day is altogether to be commended.

We have received for publication an article, "Democracy in Methodism," unsigned. If the writer will give us his name, not for publication, but for our own information, we shall be glad to consider the article for publication. It is a long-standing rule of the Advocate not to publish anonymous communications.

Evangelist Earl B. Moll, of Wilmington, N. C., has just closed a good meeting at Forest, Miss., where he assisted the pastor, Rev. H. J. Moore. A good many conversions were reported and there were many additions to the church. Brother Moll is now in a meeting at Oil City, La., where he will be until April 8, after which he goes to Morton, Miss., for two weeks.

Dr. Alonzo Early, pastor, writes that the new pipe organ has been installed in the First Methodist Church at Crowley, La., and that it was used for the first time on Easter Sunday. The organ is electrically actuated, and has 1,060 pipes and 17 stops. It represents the latest achievement in pipe organ construction. The women of the church are providing the funds to pay for the organ.

The Southern Methodist Press Asosciation at its recent meeting at Columbia, S. C., passed a resolution asking for a Good Literature Sunday to be observed throughout the church some time within a year. The committee appointed to fix a date for the observance of this special Sunday has chosen January 27, 1924. The observance of this day ought to mean a great deal for our church papers.

On Monday morning of this week, we received the following telegram from Rev. L. W. Cain, our pastor at Franklinton, La.:

"Great Easter services. Received twelve into the church—six by vows, six by baptism. Big collection for Orphanage. Ready to let contract for new church building. Rejoice with us."

This is good news that comes from the fine little town of Franklinton, and we do rejoice with the pastor and people.

Rev. J. W. Price, our pastor at Foxworth, Miss., writes that the work is moving along well on his charge.

Dr. John L. Weber, pastor of Broadway Church, Paducah, Ky., and well known throughout the church, died on March 20.

Mrs. L. M. Lipscomb, wife of our pastor at Oxford, Miss., underwent a serious operation on March 30. The family desires the prayers of their friends for her early and complete recovery.

More than $4,000 was subscribed at the service on Easter Sunday morning at the Carrollton Avenue Methodist Church, this city, for the new Sunday school building fund. The congregation, under the leadership of Rev. Ellis Smith, expects soon to be in position to carry out the building program.

The Mississippi State Sunday School Convention will meet at Louisville, Miss., April 19-21. The State Secretary, W. Fred Long, has prepared an unusually interesting and instructive program. Some of the leading Sunday school workers of the various denominations will be in attendance and take part in the work. Free entertainment will be provided for delegates, and the railroads will give reduced rates on the certificate plan.

After the Advocate had gone to press last week, we received the following telegram from Rev. Waldo W. Moore, pastor of the Back Bay Mission, Biloxi, Miss.: "Showers of blessings falling. Checks and cash coming in on Ford car and Bibles for sailors. Thanks to following: Mrs. I. W. Lampton, A. J. Leggett, Mrs. T. P. Bell, cash from unknown party, New Orleans. The Lord bless those and increase their number. Ready for the downpour."

The Louisiana Child Finding and Home Society, Rev. John L. Williams, Superintendent, has in its custody a fine boy thirteen years of age. He says he wants to study for the ministry. The Society desires to secure a good Methodist home for the boy—a religious home with financial ability to give this boy an education. Those interested may address the Society at 507 Tulane-Newcomb Building, New Orleans.

Bishop Hoyt M. Dobbs preached at Arcadia, La., on Sunday, March 25. Bishop Dobbs is greatly loved and admired in Arcadia, where he found his wife, formerly Miss Jackson, and the people always welcome him warmly and hear him gladly. Since his election to the episcopacy, Bishop Dobbs has traveled more than 40,000 miles—he is diligently at work in Brazil, his assigned area. Our pastor at Arcadia, Rev. H. W. Ledbetter, is in fine favor with his people, and the work prospers.

The corner stone of the new Methodist church at Homer, La., will be laid on Sunday afternoon, April 8, at 2:30 o'clock. Dr. George S. Sexton, President of Centenary College, will make the address. The pastor, Rev. R. W. Tucker, extends a cordial invitation to all former pastors of the charge and presiding elders of the district, and to all neighboring preachers and their congregations, to be present. The Editor of the Advocate greatly appreciates an invitation also to be present.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

Brother R. T. McClendon, which occurred on the night of the 17th of March. Brother McClendon will not only be missed in his own church, but in the Conference. The family and friends have our heartfelt sympathy. Brother Faulk is in favor with his people and doing good work.

The 8th of April was voted at our set-up meetings as pay-up day and week for the Missionary Centenary pledges. I hope and believe that pastors and people will show progress here as well as along other lines of work.

Shreveport District.

Bossier City is going through the process of changing its name to East Shreveport. The town is growing along with the rest of Shreveport suburbs, and our church is planning to grow along with it. We have a splendidly located property there. Like many of us, Brother Parker has the valuable assistance of a consecrated and efficient wife.

Plans are on foot to paint and remodel the Cedar Grove church in the near future. Brother Johns has shown great ability in meeting a difficult situation there and in developing the organization in this important field.

The Mangum Memorial Church, located in the heart of Queensborough, a very rapidly developing section of Shreveport, has had quite a burden of debt incurred in building. Brother Rousseaux and his congregation have labored diligently to meet obligations when due. It is hoped that our City Church Extension Program will materially lighten the load so that the church may be encouraged to meet its great opportunity. Revival services will be conducted there during the month of April.

The Texas Avenue Church has had quite an interesting history since its organization as a mission under the fostering care of First Church. Situated in the midst of a changing industrial population and grappling with the usual difficulties of such a field, it has nevertheless become self-supporting, and has a large number of faithful, consecrated members. The congregation is now facing the necessity of erecting an adequate building, with the probability of a changed location. Brother Walton has done a most valuable constructive work. His wife, who has been a most untiring worker in home and church, has recently undergone a serious surgical operation and must rest for the present.

Preparations are being made for a great rally of Shreveport Methodism in the latter part of April in order to present the program of the City Mission and Church Extension Society.

Brother Ware reports many encouraging activities in Vivian, as well as sustained interest in our work in Rodessa, which was begun last year. Brother S. P. Peters is an unusually capable lay leader. The first week in April, revival services will begin, in which the pastor will be assisted by Rev. Leon I. McCain.

The work in Oil City is advancing under the leadership of Brother Bozeman. He reports a growing Sunday school, a new League, an active Missionary Society and a revival meeting soon to begin.

The work in Mooringsport, under the leadership of Brother Reames, is going forward in a most encouraging way. This church, composed of members in moderate financial circumstances, made a contribution last year of $32 per capita. A Teachers' Training Class has been organized, with Sister Reames as the instructor.

Splendid reports come from the Mansfield Mission, which is under the charge of Brother Pearson. Rev. Clyde D. Baker is proving to be a valuable assistant. Plans are on foot to repaint the Naborton church and beautify the grounds; to secure the use of a building for the South Mansfield congregation which has been without a house of worship since the storm last year; also to purchase a vacant school building for the Ebenezer congregation in the country. The Mansfield church is progressing in every department and will be ready to give a cordial welcome to the District Conference.

Brother Dulaney has organized an interesting Men's Class in Greenwood. A banquet was recently served at which Sunday school talks were made by preachers and laymen from Shreveport.

Between Shreveport and Natchitoches, on the west side of the river, a distance of seventy miles, no white denomination except ours is engaged in work. On the lower end of this territory Rev. C. F. Greene is supplying Powhatan, Lake End, and Grand Bayou.

Revs. C. H. Corry, Luther O. Grounds and E. C. Dufrene, Centenary College students, are supplying Blanchard, Trees City, and Pease Chapel, respectively.

Committees were appointed by the Shreveport Evangelical Council at its last meeting to plan for the Billy Sunday meeting a year hence.

On the morning of Oct. 22, 1922, MRS. MARY TRASIER BALL fell asleep to wake in her Father's house, the Heavenly Mansion, which the Savior tells us is prepared for those who love and follow him. She was born May 26, 1848; on Feb. 28, 1872, she was married to J. Y. Ball; to this union were born six children, two girls and four boys, who, together with their father, mourn the loss of a devoted wife and loving mother. She professed faith in Christ and joined the Baptist Church in 1893, and remained a faithful member until death joined her to the Great Church beyond. She had been paralyzed a little over nineteen months when the Lord sent for her to come home and live with all the saved in Heaven. She bore her afflictions calmly, and without a murmur or doubt she breathed her last. She spent her last days in the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. W. Garner, who did all in her power to make her mother's last days comfortable. We are heart-broken when we think she is gone, and can never come back to us, but we must be submissive to God's will, for we know he doeth all things well. Let us think of her now as singing the songs she loved with the angelic choir around the great white throne, where she is ready to meet her loved ones. After funeral services conducted by Rev. E. C. Driskell, the body was laid to rest in the Soule's Chapel Cemetery to await the resurrection.

Her granddaughter,
CHRISTINE GARNER.
Prairie, Miss., Feb. 27.

WILLIAM McKEON was born in Ireland on May 1, 1836, and spent only three years of his life in the country of his birth. He came to Liverpool with his parents at the age of three, and was there during his youth to the age of nineteen. Like most boys there was a longing in his heart to see the world, and at this age he set sail for the United States. Finding this a free country, with a people who were kind to him, he made himself a good and reputable citizen. When the call came for men to defend the country during the Civil War, he was one to place himself in the ranks, and proved his loyalty in every respect.

He united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in 1914 at Pine Grove Church, and from that day he has been faithful to his vows. He believed in his church, he loved his pastor, and was never known to indulge in those things that were contrary to his God or his church. From our midst has gone one that we all will miss, and in his going we have suffered a great loss in the church, but we remember that as our brethren pass to their reward over there, heaven is made greater by their going. May we, as his fellow-workers, try to fill his place. His good standing was manifested on the day of his departure by the number of friends who gathered at the funeral. He had no relatives in this country. He died at the ripe age of 86 years, 9 months and 4 days.

J. F. DRING, Pastor.

Reverently we wish to pay tribute to our friend and neighbor, MR. FRANK STEVENS, who passed away Dec. 24, 1922, at his home in Watson, Miss. The passing of this good man leaves a vacancy in our church and community such as will be lamented for years to come. His service in the church extended over a period of thirty-five years, as steward, Sunday school superintendent and teacher, and this service was of marked consistency. In his declining years he had charge of the Beginners' Class, and our memory of him is sweet as we see him patiently and gently instilling in the hearts and minds of our babies the great truths of the Bible. In the last year he partially lost his hearing, and for this reason resigned his charge to another; but he never failed to be in his usual place every Sunday with the little ones, adding lessons of love and wisdom. He was a neighbor in the great and true sense of the word, always first to visit the sick and render what aid he could. He was of the old order of Christians, of whom we have so few to-day, and whose life we might well try to imitate. He and his beautiful wife, she now frail and aged, have been among the leaders of our church so long that his going leaves us almost helpless; but we have that tangible influence left which buoys us up and inspires us with a determination to shoulder the work left and do credit to him and all the old saints who have gone to their reward.

"They have done with tears and mourning
For the loved ones passed away,
Their twilight met the morning
On the hills of endless day;
They have gained the bliss supernal,
Which shall never pass away,
Where saints are gathering home."

HIS FRIENDS.

---

IRA R. ROBINSON, "Uncle Bart," was born April 22, 1841, and died Dec. 16, 1922. His early years were lived in Kemper County, Miss., but the middle and later part of his life were spent in Rankin County, Miss., near old Shiloh church. He was a faithful soldier in the Civil War and a faithful soldier of Jesus. He was a man of strong conviction and lived true to his conviction against all opposition. His Bible was his guide, and few men knew this book better than he. He was a true and loyal Methodist and served the greater part of his life as steward and Sunday school superintendent. He was faithful in any office in which he was placed, but doubtless the most fruitful of all his labors was that of Sunday school teacher. He was twice married, and leaves a wife, seven daughters, and two sons to mourn their loss; four sons have preceded him to the other world. His funeral services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. Paul Guice, on Dec. 17, 1922.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it

APPLICANTS FOR INSURANCE OFTEN REJECTED.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview of the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparatoin send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

TOPIC FOR APRIL 15—"RELIGION IN GOOD MANNERS."

Prov. 1:8, 9; Luke 2:52.

(Junior and Intermediate League Week.)

Daily Bible Readings.

M. Kindness. Eph. 4:29-32.
T. A Polite Manner. Col. 4:16.
W. Courtesy. 1 Peter 3:8, 9.
T. Unselfishness. 1 John 3:11-18.
F. Genuine Love. Cor. 13:1-13.
S. The Necessity of Training. Prov. 22:6.

The Leader.

The leader of this meeting should be either the Junior or the Intermediate Superintendent, as this service comes at the beginning of Junior and Intermediate League Week. Juniors, Intermediates, and Seniors meet together for the program at the regular hour for the Senior League meeting.

Aim.

The subject, "Religion in Good Manners," does not simply involve attention to the little niceties of life, but to all relationships, showing religion by good manners of living. If one life is lived for self, other lives will be affected. If it is for God, they will be drawn closer to him. Boys and girls watch Seniors and follow them as ideals. The aim, then, is to awaken in the Seniors a keener sense of responsibility for setting examples by pure upright daily living and for providing opportunity, as "big brothers," for the Juniors and Intermediates to be trained in right living. It should result in the organization of Junior and Intermediate Leagues, and in a closer co-operation with them in churches where they are already organized.

Suggested Topics for Discussion.

1. How the ideal manner of living may be attained.
2. The seriousness of influence.
3. The necessity for training in right living.

The Monumental Ruins of the Near East—Egypt, Assyria, Babylonia, Syria, and Palestine—Find a Graphic Expression in This Book

Dust and Ashes of Empires

By W. A. SHELTON, M.A., D.D.
Professor of Semitic Languages and Literature in Emory University, Atlanta, Ga.

The author devoted much of the year 1920 in making a careful survey of these countries as a member of "The American Scientific Mission," a company of scholars travelling, not as tourists, but as earnest and qualified explorers. They knew the places of greatest importance, what to do, where to go, and when. A serious purpose engaged them, and in its pursuit they were not discouraged by dangers nor depressed by hardships.

In this volume Dr. Shelton has recorded much of the results of their labors, and in the most pleasing manner he has set down his own observations. In an easy, familiar style of unaffected simplicity he has told the story of the findings of the expedition. His pages are illumined by citations of historical incidents connected with the places visited. It reads like a romance.

The student of the Bible and Bible history will find in this volume a very thorough treatise on its geographical background

NOTES FROM NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, Sardis, Miss.

The Columbus District Training School is in session this week at Starkville. The local attendance is good. Six preachers from the surrounding territory are taking the work. A few others from the nearby churches are availing themselves of the opportunity for the better preparation of themselves for the ministry of teaching. Rain, high water, sickness, and other forces try our faith. The teachers are planting the good seed; the harvest must come some day.

Ordes are coming for Sunday School Day programs. We are aiming to have half our schools give the children and other members of the school the instruction contained in this program. The third notice will go out to delinquent schools next week—and communicants will follow each week until we see there is no use in urging.

YOUTH AND THE CHURCH.

The church's crowning opportunity in its contact with young life lies within the ages from twelve to twenty-five years. Notwithstanding the truth of this statement, statistics show that the boys and girls begin to drop out of the Sunday school at the age of fourteen, that they continue to drop out until they are twenty years of age, at which time only one in five is left of those who were in attendance at the ages of eleven and twelve years.

The organized Sunday school class is one of the many means our church is using to conserve the life of youth to the cause of Christ. This being its object and in view of its success in recent years, the importance of the organized class, therefore, cannot be too strongly emphasized.

The aims of the organized class may be roughly stated as follows:

1. To awaken in the pupils a personal interest in the activities of the church.

2. To employ them in this program of constructive work and thereby to develop in them strong, Christian character.

3. To emphasize in a practical way that all true religion must express itself in terms of character and service.

In our own North Mississippi Conference an effort is being made to interest the teachers of the Intermediate, Senior and Young People's Classes with a definite form of organization and a program of service which are well adapted to young life. The plan is to present and perfect these through the assistance of District Superintendents who are well qualified both by experience and study to aid the teachers in their respective Districts. Mrs. A. H. Patrick, of Corinth, has kindly consented to serve as Superintendent of the Corinth District, and Superintendents for the other Districts of the Conference will be announced in the near future.

MRS. W. N. DUNCAN,
Conference Superintendent,
Intermediate-Senior-Young People.

THE CHRISTIAN'S GOAL.

By Wendell Phillips Elkins.

Christianity is the Absolute Religion. A fully "evoluted," or a completely regenerate and spiritualized humanity will not need a new religion. Christ will not only lead such a humanity in the right direction, but His Truth willl be found inexhaustible.

As the Absolute Religion, Christianity sets before the mind of man a goal that is infinite. That goal is union with God and participation in the Divine Nature. That means, for the intellect, the Beatific Vision; for the moral character, perfect love and obedience; and, for the soul, the blessedness of heavenly worship.

We are moving toward that Infinite Goal, that is, we are living according to the requirements and the opportunities of our religion, when we study God's Word and meditate upon spiritual truth, when we obey and follow Christ, and when we worship our Infinite Creator and Preserver. This vital religious experience is due to the quickening grace of God and the co-operating will of man, and is witnessed by communion with the Most High. Communion with God may be regarded as the sign of true religion. In this life, no religion can have a loftier aim or achieve a greater result. It, with its indispensable concomitants, is "the one thing needful" emphasized by our Lord.

When, therefore, we read in the teachings of Modernism that the supreme purpose of Christ and Christianity is to bring about a "social order wherein righteousness may dwell," we are amazed. Such a statement indicates an attempt to build religion upon the material, instead of upon the spiritual; it puts the emphasis of life on economics; and teaches that righteousness is dependent on outward conditions. Moreover, it makes the goal of religion a finite thing and Christianity merely temporary. For all right-minded men and women believe that the day will surely dawn in which there will be on earth neither poverty, nor ignorance, nor cruelty, nor crime, nor injustice, nor misery—at least among men. When that day comes, will Christianity be outgrown or useless? Will church and Bible then be destroyed, and man give himself to merely material pursuits and pleasures? To ask such a question is almost to answer it. For the Christian religion will never be stronger, more needed, or more fruitful, than at that day. The soul, unfretted by earthly strife, can bend its energies to the more unremitting service of God and seek more joyously, if not more successfully, the Divine Goal of communion and union with the Eternal Spirit.

Andover, N. H.

FROM REV. J. A. POE—A KENTUCKY LETTER.

Dear Old Advocate: You have been my friend and companion from the days of my youth. Once a week you have come to comfort, cheer, admonish, and instruct me; and I cannot tell what a contribution you have made to my life, nor can I express the measure of my gratitude for all help you have been to me. We have ceased to be co-workers in the same territory, but we cannot break off our friendly relations. So I am asking you to continue your ever welcome and cheery visits, and that you may have the means to do so, I enclose a check.

Now, dear Advocate, will you please convey this letter to my good friends of Mississippi? Tell them that we are faring well up here in the great old State of Kentucky. We are kept exceedingly busy. We play the double role of presiding elder and pastor at times, and then it seems that I must try my hand as evangelist, for I am at this time down here at Battletown, trying to blow the gospel trumpet so long and loud that the dead may hear,

FROM REV. J. A. POE—A KENTUCKY LETTER.

and "awake from sleep and come to Christ."

The "greater things" that Jesus told his disciples that they might do, we are trying to do here—save souls that are dead in trespasses and in sins. The meeting will continue some two or more weeks. I am asking the prayers of my friends that God may greatly bless our work here. The conditions here are not exactly as they are in Mississippi. We have more people, and they are all white, and a very large per cent of them are native Kentuckians, but they are afflicted with all kinds of cults—Russellites, Mormans, Catholics—and then we have all the real Protestants—Baptists, Campbellites, Presbyterians, United Brethren, and just lots of full-blooded M. E.'s. I can't understand why the Methodists want to cross lines, and erect altar against altar. There are several strong pastoral charges of the M. E. Church in this section; and I understand they have pre-empted much of our territory east of this section. It is also true that our church has invaded M. E. territory. Such should not be done, and the only good I can see that could come from uniting the two churches, would be an adjustment of these conditions, at home and in our mission fields. I have met several of our brother pastors, and quite a number of the members of the M. E. Church, and they all favor union—not so with our pastors and people. Many of them are not so anxious for union, and quite a few earnestly oppose it. Personally, I have but one serious objection to organic union of the two bodies, and that is the "nigger in the woodpile." It seems evident that our sister does not intend to give up her black pet (the Negro), for she elected two of them bishops at her last General Conference. It seems that our brethren of the North cannot understand that inter-church relation and social equality will result in miscegenation, which would doubtless improve the intellect of the Negro; but I fear it would not help his morals. And while it might lift the Negro, it would lower the white race. No, we don't want social equality, and I for one will never vote for union till sister M. E. sets her pet up to housekeeping all to himself. Then we can talk union.

I was over in the Hoosier State (Indiana) recently and I find only two outstanding bodies of religion, and they are very similar—Methodists and United Brethren. It is a great State, and boasts of a splendid system of fine roads, and a public system of education second to none in the Republic. Yet their tax is comparatively low, not averaging over thirty mills, not much more than half as much as we pay in most Southern States. The privilege tax on automobiles is not quite half what it is in Mississippi and Kentucky. I was surprised, however, to find the farming class oppressed and restless. The banks are full of money, but the producing classes are in a state of bankruptcy, just as they are in the South. If the financial and political bosses don't quit squeezing the "goose that lays the golden egg," there is danger that she may quit laying and go on the warpath, and then we will see a repetition of the French revolution, or the red hand of Bolshevism. The only hope of our country and of the world is a fearless preaching of the Gospel of the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man, based on the ethics of the Christ of Nazareth. There was never a time of greater need for a fearless proclamation of the whole, sane plan of salvation, in relation to this life, without reference to Eschatology. The whole world is groaning for a present salvation. It wants to be saved from the darkness of unbelief, and from greed, oppression, and lust. To this end, let the whole church address itself. Let's raise the Centenary and Education pledges, and keep faith with God and man.

TO THE CHURCH AND SUNDAY SCHOOL AT WEST, MISS.

What the sun is to the earth,
That's what our Sunday school is to the church,
And that's what the church is to the town;
So thought our first pastor, Rev. G. W. Brown.

The Methodist Sunday school in the town of West
Is the oldest school, and one of the best.
Why? Because in thirty-eight years' time
We have had good Christian leaders numbering nine,
From Mr. L. A. Powers, on down the line,
To Mr. A. J. Stevens, who is doing his best
To make our school reach the standard of success.

There are still seven charter members on the scene,
Showing that our school is a "little evergreen."

When every one works, and nobody shirks,
You work for the Lord, not praise; that's true.
Your school, then, will be what you want it to be,
For it's not your school—it's you.
It's not what you get, but what you give,
That makes you rich in the land in which you are to live.
Three cheers for our Sunday school!

A REVIVAL AT DECATUR, MISS.

Rev. D. E. Kelly and his singer, Mr. John Kelly, assisted us in one of the best meetings I ever saw. Brother Kelly preached four times nearly every day. The A. H. S. folks had been having prayer services, and were ready for the meeting and entered into it at once. The town got ready pretty soon and we had a great meeting.

Brother Kelly believes that a revival is a spirit instead of a method; in fact, he has no fixed way, and makes but few propositions. He honors the Holy Spirit and God honors his work.

Brother Kelly has his own way of preaching against sin. He not only preaches against sin in every form, but convinces his hearers that it is a great tragedy. At the same time, he holds the way of the Cross up, and convinces his congregation that God's ways are best for us.

The standard of church life is elevated and the people love each other better than ever before. We have a better town and a fine spirit since the meeting.

As to the visible results, eighty united with the different churches—45 with the Methodist, 31 with the Baptist, 4 with the Presbyterian. In receiving the class into the church, I baptized 35, most of whom were young men and young women. We feel that God made a visit to our town. After we had made our contribution to Brother Kelly, he was instrumental in raising the pastor's salary $150, and $130 of it was paid that day.

Brother Kelly is an ideal evangelist. He preaches not only against every form of evil, but he preaches on our duty to God, on "tithing," and builds the Kingdom up around the pastor and the church. He is happy and good-natured and easy to get along with as an evangelist, but it seems that his happiest moments are when he opens the invitation and men rush forward to confess Christ. We all enjoyed the short visit that Dan, Jr., made during the meeting, especially the young people. Brother John Kelly did valuable service as a singer and made a lasting impression for good.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

THE MEETING AT MONROE.

Wednesday.

The Conference was formally opened Wednesday morning by the State President, Mrs. C. F. Niebergall, who talked on Building the Conference by Prayer. She talked on the privilege of prayer, of our ability to claim the attention of our Heavenly Father at any hour of the day or night, no matter where we are or how busy. She spoke of the opportunities of the women, by each doing her part, to help in building the Conference, making one that will glorify God. Hymn, "They Who Seek the Throne of Grace," was sung, and an earnest prayer by the President closed the devotional.

The roll was called, all State officers present except Mrs. S. A. Montgomery, Mrs. W. W. Holmes and Mrs. V. G. Hyams. Most of the District Secretaries were present and a fine representation of delegates, Shreveport leading the race with forty-two present.

The President's annual report was read, and it is hoped that no one will miss reading it in the minutes, for it was a masterpiece.

The Vice President's report was characteristic of her, and we are glad to give those who were not present the opportunity to read it in the minutes.

Letters were read from Mrs. E. R. Kennedy, former President of this Conference, and from Miss Pauline Randle, of Korea.

Mrs. Niebergall then introduced one who needed no introduction to most of the members, Mrs. A. P. Holt, who was Corresponding Secretary for so many years, and who is responsible for a great part of the firm foundation of this organization.

While the absence of our Corresponding Secretary was very much regretted, it seemed natural to have Mrs. Holt read her splendid report, which was preceded by a beautiful tribute to Mrs. Montgomery and her labor of love.

The President called attention to the fact that while Miss Naomi Chapman, our young Missionary from First Church, belongs to us, her name does not appear in the General Report because she is being loaned for a little while to the Men's Board where she is doing a fine work. In a little while our work will be ready to claim her time as a trained nurse.

After Mrs. Montgomery's report [illegible] resignation was read, and it was realized what a loss her activity means to the Conference. Her resignation was regretfully accepted, and it was moved by Mrs. Harper, and seconded by Mrs. Rumph, to send her a telegram of love, sympathy and appreciation. Carried.

The names of the different committees were read by the President. The following visitors were brought forward and introduced: Rev. W. D. Kleinschmidt, Rev. W. L. Doss, presiding elders of Monroe and Alexandria Districts. Also Master Park Stearns, Jr., delegate from Baton Rouge, who is taking notes at all sessions.

The train being late, the Quiet Hour Service was postponed until afternoon. The minutes were read and approved, and Rev. and Mrs. K. W. Dodson, Miss Alethea Jones, our Council guest, and Miss B. Ellison, Head Resident of St. Mark's Hall, having just arrived, were introduced. Dr. Dodson pronounced the benediction, and the women adjourned to partake of a delicious luncheon served by the Monroe Auxiliary.

The afternoon session opened with a sweet solo by Mrs. J. F. Giles, followed by a talk by Miss A. Jones, Council Superintendent of Children's Work, Houston, Texas, using as her subject "Small hindrances to Service," such as Meddlesomeness, Vainglory, Judging, Over-Zealousness, Self-Conceit, Vogue or Style, Seeking Notoriety or Praise, Mere Well Wishing Without Doing, Humdrum Monotony of Life, Hiding Our Pounds in a Napkin, Perversion of Humility, Secret Faults, Selfishness. After a prayer, the hymn, "O Sometimes the Shadows Are Deep," was sung.

Deaconess B. Ellison told of the Finest Settlement Building in the States, St. Mark's Hall, New Orleans, and showed pictures of the new church. Miss Ellison declared we are to be the Voice of Protestantism in New Orleans, standing out with other great philanthropic organizations in that great city. She quoted Dr. Worth M. Tippy as saying we had the most wonderful plant in the whole United States. After describing the magnificent church and buildings she told of the needs. The rooms must be furnished, and it is hoped that the delegates will become enthused and persuade their Auxiliaries to consider it a privilege to supply the demand. A cordial invitation was extended to visit St. Mark's at any time, and above and beyond gifts an interest in our prayers was asked.

The other great work of the Louisiana Missionary Society, the French Mission Field, was ably presented by Miss Ella Hooper, Head Resident of MacDonnell Wesley House, her topic being "Building With the Juniors and Young People." As the hope of the Church lies in the children at this Mission they are organized into groups and Miss Hooper and many pictures showing their activities, which are most remarkable, as the majority can neither read nor write, and must be taught from the very foundation. Miss Hooper prepared a little pamphlet on the Work of the Community House, which was distributed among the delegates.

Mrs. N. E. Joyner told of the Darwinian theory that is being taught in the text book of the third grade of public schools, and said it depended on the mothers to see that God, the Maker of all mankind, is given preeminence over all evolutionary doctrines.

Rev. N. E. Joyner and Rev. C. D. Atkinson were introduced, and the first made a good book agent for the Conference books, and the last named had a word to say about Sunday school work.

Mrs. Gollins stated that there were cars at the door to take the delegates on a sight-seeing tour, and the afternoon session closed with benediction by Dr. Atkinson.

The night to which the parents always look forward during the Conference is Children's Night, and this came Wednesday evening this year, Mrs. J. W. Peyton, Superintendent Children's Work, presiding.

"From all the dark places of earth's heathen races" opened the service. The devotional was given by one of the Juniors, Beverly Fauntleroy. A song

How Backache and Periodic Pains Yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Olean, N. Y. — "Every month my blood would go to my head and I would have such a headache, nosebleed, backache and pains that I could not do my work. At night I could not get my rest and nothing seemed to do me any good. I read some of your testimonials about what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others, so I decided to try it. I had only taken two bottles when I began to be better, and my back did not hurt me nor my head ache. I felt like a new woman. The Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine and I will always recommend it."—Mrs. A. D. EARLS, 580 N. 5th St., Olean, N. Y.

Mrs. Kelsey adds her Testimony

Copenhagen, N. Y.—"I read your advertisement in the papers and my husband induced me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to get relief from pains and weakness. I was so weak that I could not walk at times. Now I can do my housework and help my husband out doors, too. Science's Discovery
Routs Chicken Lice

Mineralized Water Gets Rid of Dusting or Spraying—Birds Delouse Themselves—Fine for Baby Chicks and All Poultry.

A recent discovery promises to revolutionize all the commonly accepted methods for keeping poultry free from lice and mites. This wonderful product keeps the poultry always lice-free without the poultry raiser doing any work. It is the simplest, easiest, surest and best method ever discovered.

Hick's Lice-Go, which is the name of this remarkable lice remedy, is dropped in the chicken's drinking water. Taken into the system of the bird, it comes out through the oil glands of the skin and every louse or mite leaves the body. It is guaranteed to help the hatchability of the eggs and cannot injure the flavor of the eggs or meat; is harmless to chicks and does not affect the plumage. A few days' treatment at the start and then a little added to the drinking water each month is all that is necessary.

Send No Money—just your name and address to Chas. M. Hick & Company, Dept. 356, 1018 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill. A card will do. Mr. Hick is so confident that Hick's Lice-Go will get rid of every louse or mite that he will send you two large double strength $1.00 packages for the price of one. When they arrive, pay postman only $1.00 and postage. Sell one to your neighbor and get yours free. If you are not absolutely satisfied after 30 days' trial, your money will be refunded. This offer is guaranteed by two big Chicago banks, who say that Mr. Hick will do exactly as he agrees without question or argument. Write to-day before this remarkable trial offer is withdrawn.

IF SICK, BILIOUS!
START YOUR LIVER

Don't Take Calomel! "Dodson's Liver Tone" Acts Better and Doesn't Gripe, Salivate or Make You Sick—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile, crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

FROM BOYCE, LA.

Dear Brother Carley: Just a short report for the Advocate relative to my charge. Since Conference, a debt on the parsonage of about $250 has been paid, and a further fund is being raised for painting and papering the parsonage. The Ladies' Aid Society, with the co-operation of others here and at Eden church, look after this work. Such faithful workers are to be appreciated.

Church committees have been elected, and charged with the responsibility of taking care of the lay activities of the church. Hence we are expecting some good results.

We are emphasizing the importance of the circulation and reading of Christian literature. We hope to increase the list of subscribers for the New Orleans and Nashville Christian Advocates. The following are the names of those who are to assist the pastor in the circulation of Christian literature: Mrs. A. M. Dean, Miss Emily Hunter, Miss Lucille Hunter, and Mr. J. R. Welch.

We are urging our people to make a liberal offering on Easter for our Methodist Orphanage, and we believe they will respond to the call of this worthy institution.

We believe, upon the whole, the outlook for a good year spiritually is good. We take courage and press on.

Yours in His service,
E. L. CARGILL, P. C.

"FAITHFUL UNTO DEATH."

The Story of a Mexican Colporteur.

By Rev. A. H. Mellen, Secretary American Bible Society, Mexico Agency.

It happened in the year of our Lord 1923. He lived in his own little home in a village in the mountains in southern Mexico, and he was killed by a mob of wild fanatics on the night of January 31. A letter from a missionary in the same district says: "His activities had aroused the ire of the fanatics for some time, and his unwise denunciation of the Romanists for having parades in the streets brought matters to a head." Of course we will not forget another man named Stephen who was also unwise. He took the consequences of his deeds and his words, and now we call him a martyr.

On January 30, a priest came from another place and preached on some saint who would deprive the Protestants of all power to resist if they were attacked. Two nuns had also come to stir up the women. On Wednesday night a secret meeting was held, and at 11 o'clock they surrounded the house of the man who had been selling Bibles. When the doors were forced, this man was very calm, and said to his wife: "If they want to kill me, I am ready to die for Christ; I will wait for you in heaven." One of his brave friends came to help him, and was also taken off by the mob. Both men were shot at the edge of the village and the bodies terribly mutilated. Neither the head nor the heart of the colporteur could be found by faithful friends who went to bury the remains, and the supposition is that they were carried off as trophies. Such a thing does not seem possible. All the people in the village who are known to be in sympathy with the Bible have fled from the place. Eye-witnesses of the incident have found their way to the city of Mexico and have visited the office of the American Bible Society and reported the tragedy. The spirit of the native Christians is very fine.—American Bible Society.

by the Monroe Juniors, "Spelling Love," was listened to with pleasure. The Gahagan Loving Cup was contested for by Keithville, First Church, New Orleans, and Rayne, La., and was won by First Church, New Orleans. Mrs. Love sang a beautiful solo. The feature of the evening was the address by Miss Alethea Jones on the subject, "What Are We Doing, You and I"? Miss Jones said the children this year had raised $67,000. She gave a graphic poem that asked why the world, so beautiful, bright and fair, is not happy, and showing that the reason is that the blood of Jesus Christ has not cleansed from sin because we have not given the opportunity and told of the love of God who gave His only Son that all might have everlasting life. Miss Jones declared it is the fault of the church that the world is not evangelized. A rising vote of thanks was given the speaker for her message.

After singing "Take My Life," Rev. F. M. Freeman pronounced the benediction.

The Lord needs intelligent service quite as much as he does loyalty that will go to the stake. I have no doubt that Paul won as many by his tact as he did by preaching all night. He was able to do this because he had learned some things in the making and selling of tents that he could not learn at the feet of Gamaliel. Tact wins, where great gifts without it would fail. It will help the preacher more to know how to rub the fur the right way than to know how many animals there were in the ark.—Selected.

DOCTOR DISCOVERS NEW RUPTURE REMEDY

AKRON, OHIO.—A prominent Ohio physician has discovered a wonderful new method, which is completely revolutionizing the treatment of rupture. This remedy is totally different from any other—no operation—no cutting, and nothing to "rub on." Anyone can use it without pain or danger and without losing an hour from work.

Relief is felt almost immediately and recovery is usually so rapid as to seem miraculous. Anyone who is ruptured may obtain full information regarding this remarkable discovery, by writing E. H. Scott, Hernia Specialist, Suite 525-F, Scott Bldg., Akron, Ohio, who will send interesting booklet in plain sealed wrapper.

VIM, VIGOR AND VITALITY IN "AFRICAN BARK"

Scientist Produces an Invigorator Superior to Gland Treatments—Wonderful Power of a Bark from Africa.

Have you lost your youth, vigor and "pep"? Does life seem dull and work a grind? Don't worry. Science has produced a new formula said to be superior even to the much discussed gland treatment. Many men and women are now quickly and easily regaining lost vim, vigor and vitality in the privacy of their homes.

The principal ingredient is an extract from the bark of an African tree. It is said to be a most remarkable invigorator. Combined with it are other efficient tonic and vitalizing elements of proved merit. In many cases the compound produces marked improvement in 24 hours. In a short time the vitality is usually raised, the circulation improved and the glow of health is felt in every part.

The laboratories producing this new vitalizer, which is called Re-Bild-Tabs, are so confident of its power that they offer new customers a large $2 supply for only $1 and guarantee to refund the money if the remedy fails to give results in one week.

Any reader of this paper may test the treatment without risk. Send no money, but just your name and address, to the Re-Bild Laboratories, 315 Gateway Station, Kansas City, Mo., and a full $2 treatment of Re-Bild-Tabs will be mailed. On delivery, pay the postman only $1 and postage. If not delighted with the results, notify the laboratories and your money will be refunded in full. Do not hesitate about accepting this offer, as it is fully guaranteed.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

IN TOUCH WITH GOD.

We may think that we are giving full expression to our religious life when we identify ourselves with some church, attend its services, engage in its work, and contribute to its expenses; but if that is all, we have made a sad mistake. The soul craves spiritual companionship, and it is only in personal communion with God that that craving is satisfied. Do we know God?—that is the all-important question. If we can answer it affirmatively, we have solved the great problem of life and we have the joy that nothing can take away. Unless we are in touch with Him, all else counts for little.

THE CHILD IN THE MIDST.

One of the most beautiful incidents in the Master's ministry is that in which he placed a little child in the midst of his disciples and, with the little one before them, taught them wonderful lessons concerning the Kingdom of God. In many ways Jesus showed his love for children and his affectionate concern for their welfare; and the fact that he chose a child as a type of the Kingdom shows that he counted them worthy of all the benefits and blessings of religion. We sometimes wonder, though, if we to-day realize the opportunity to strengthen the Kingdom that presents itself in the proper training of our children, and the obligation that rests upon us to do everything in our power to bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. We may have complete assurance as to the state of those who die before they have reached the age of accountability; but are we sufficiently concerned for their spiritual welfare as they grow into maturity? We are criminally negligent of a wonderful opportunity and a sacred obligation if we fail to use every means available for the spiritual development of these little ones. In the Sunday school and in the Junior and the Intermediate Epworth Leagues we have organizations at hand to use in the most effective kind of evangelism we can engage in. Limited in vision indeed is the pastor who fails to give his very best to the promotion of these and other organizations that minister specifically to the child life of his congregation; and blind indeed are the older members of the church who think that these organizations are merely incidentals—things of minor importance. What the Master made first, we dare not make secondary.

EQUALLY CULPABLE.

We hear a good deal about the criminality of those who are engaged in the illicit sale of liquor—the bootleggers; but how about those who patronize them? Federal Prohibition Commissioner Haynes made an address a few days ago in which he very properly called attention to the culpability of those who buy as well as those who sell. He said: "These citizens seem not yet to have realized that only one question is involved in prohibition law enforcement: Are you for or against the Constitution of the United States? It is not to be wondered at that bootleggers and criminals will violate the law for the sake of possible illegal gains, but it is difficult to understand how prominent club men, business and professional men become parties to such violations." We hear it said now and then that such men—prominent club men, business and professional men—do buy liquor from bootleggers, that they drink it themselves, and that they give it to their friends; no matter what the letter of the law may be, its spirit is plain, and they deserve the same contempt, the same opprobium, and the same penalty that are visited upon the criminal bootleggers who sell the stuff.

THE APPEAL OF THE STRENUOUS.

As we look over the newspapers and as we see what is going on all around us, we cannot fail to be impressed by the fact that people generally are interested in things that require strenuous effort to accomplish. Even those who themselves are physically indolent will watch with keen interest those exercises and sports that require the utmost endeavors of those who are engaged in them. Languid passers-by will often stop to watch a crowd of youngsters playing ball in a vacant lot, not, perhaps, because they are interested in the game as such, but because they are attracted by the abounding vitality and unrestrained enthusiasm of the young players. In a game of baseball there is interest, action, earnestness, eagerness—and the whole neighborhood knows that something is going on. It may be that a lackadaisical attitude on the part of those who are supposed to be at work is responsible for the apparent indifference of the community at large to the church. We would not, of course, draw a parallel between mere physical exercise and high spiritual endeavor; but we do believe that good use can be made in the work of the church of the fact that the strenuous appeals to the average man and woman. Do you want your church to be a live organization? Then be alive yourself.

THE VETERANS IN GRAY.

The reunion of the United Confederate Veterans is being held in New Orleans this week. The principal business streets are decorated in their honor, and the city is showing them the respect they so richly deserve and paying them the tribute of sincere respect and admiration. Not many of them are left now, and their number is constantly diminishing—but the things they stood for will never pass out of the minds of men, and the glory they achieved on the field of battle will never fade from the memory of their descendants. They fought for a "Lost Cause"—but they gained more than they lost. They believed they were right, and they laid their lives upon the altar of their country as a token of their devotion to their convictions. Noble men they were, and brave as mortals can be. We reverently pause as they pass by on parade and pray God's blessings upon them as they march on to meet the last enemy—death. May there be no "moaning at the bar when they put out to sea!"

PITIABLE.

The Baptist Record, of Jackson, Miss., is a pretty good paper—of the Baptist kind—but we are surprised that even it should perpetrate the following, which appears on the front page of its issue of March 29: "The secular press reports it as a 'good sign,' when the infant son of Princess Mary in England was 'christened' the other day, that he cried lustily all the time. We'll say it was; a sign of good sense and spiritual intuition to make vigorous protest against such a performance. But we understand that they usually do." Such reasoning—that the cry of a baby is an argument against infant baptism—would be amusing if it were not so pitiable.

NOT AIMED AT—BUT HIT.

The other day a man entered a soft drink establishment in New Orleans, pulled a pistol, and began to shoot. None of those in the room were injured—but a boy passing by was struck by a bullet and had to be carried to the hospital. He was not aimed at, but he was hit—the innocent sufferer from a lawless act. If only the guilty had to suffer for their misdeeds, we might feel that ample justice is automatically meted out to those who sin; but how often the innocent have to suffer also! Many a mother has gone to her grave of a broken heart because her boy, her girl, went off into sin and crime. "I am hurting nobody but myself," say the sinner. How tragically foolish!

SAVE THAT FOURTH.

We read this the other day: "About one-fourth of the world's work is in repairing some one's mistakes." We do not know whether that statement is literally true or not—we imagine it would take about a fourth of somebody's time to repair those we have made—but it is a very suggestive one. It is too much to hope that fallible human beings will ever be able to avoid mistakes altogether, but it probably would be possible for most of us to reduce them to a minimum by thinking more seriously and acting more carefully. It is bad enough that we ourselves should suffer by our mistakes; it is worse that others have to lose time and energy in repairing them.

EVANGELIZING IN BELGIUM WHEN ALL EUROPE IS TENSE.

By Bishop W. B. Beauchamp.

Newspapers in the United States and the newspapers in Europe are full of startling headlines and disturbing news. But even so, one cannot quite get the deep uncertainty of affairs nor realize the international suspicions unless one breathes this atmosphere.

Mr. Lloyd George said the other day in the House of Commons, "Is it cash or smash?" speaking of the Ruhr Valley situation. I am ten days longer getting to Prague from Brussels, as German trains will not pull French or Belgian cars. I am in Vienna to-day, and the kronen sells seventy thousand to the dollar! The only thing cheap in Austria is her money.

Placards are up in the hotel, saying, "If the American will give ten dollars to the Committee, this will insure one meal a day for three months to a suffering and hungry citizen"—the names of the committee guarantee the program. There is much and widespread suffering. The value of the franc, Belgian and French, is falling rapidly.

A distinguished speaker said the other day in London, "Europe needs to disarm mentally." This is very true, and the nations need just as certainly to disarm physically. But I dare not enter upon other manifest and blighting evils which have followed in the wake of war. The church of Christ has a tremendous responsibility to help the nations disarm mentally and physically. The Protestant churches in America which believe in peace and the power of the Gospel to redeem nations, have a great task in Europe. The Romanist view and method, with always a longing and plotting for material world power, is a menace to all the nations.

So here in Belgium we are carrying on under these European conditions, in faith, according to the plans of the Gospel.

I went to the market place where our colporteurs go and sing and preach and sell Christian literature and the Gospels. One night I went to the service in the hall at Aernaudt. It was full of men and women and children. They were having gospel hymns and singing with a vim! One afternoon, Thursday, I went to the Sunday school at Herstal. There were eighty children and such stirring gospel singing! Then on Sunday night I went to Antwerp and spoke to a hall full of people. Our workers are getting a hearing in this half-Catholic and half-Socialistic country. The propaganda by pamphlet and through the colporteur is going in a most remarkable way. Brother William Thonger, through this department, is doing a most remarkable piece of work.

The Christian Clinic, owned jointly by us and the National Church, is now paying its way. It is entirely too small. We ought to have a nurse training school in connection with it in order that we may be able to do a thoroughly Christian and constructive piece of work. I am sure there is a place and opportunity for such a work in Brussels.

The orphanage with fifty children is as fine in Christian spirit and management as I have ever known. The oldest girl of the orphanage is now at Herstal in Christian work in our church, and the oldest boy is taking normal school training for Christian service. The atmosphere is thoroughly Christian.

Our girls' school, Les Marrioniers, has seventy students—the only Protestant boarding school in Belgium. I am sure this school is a great need of Belgium and a great opportunity. There are special difficulties, but we can succeed and ought to plan for enlargement. None of our workers in Belgium have faced greater difficulties than our American teachers in this school, and they are facing the situation bravely and courageously.

So in this little nation of Belgium we are seeking to do our part as a great Protestant group to leaven this people with the ideals of Protestantism and of the Bible.

Vienna, Feb. 21, 1923.

EASTER.

By Rev. S. J. Davies.

Easter morn dawning again, breaking in beauty over the hills, flooding the valleys with crystal light, and filling all the glad earth with a new joy and a fresh promise of perennial life.

Easter! The glad meadows are decked with fresh garments of green, enameled with springing flowers, lighted with pearls and diamonds of chaste dewdrops, while anon Mother Nature seems to croon a melody, low and sweet, of peace, a balm of healing to all the fret and fever of a sick world. In yonder field a lark is singing, lilting his song from the dried, shriveled stalk of corn, while the daisies and grasses are whispering from the heaped rows beneath, sign and symbol of life builded on death.

Easter! Crowds hastening to the churches, children gay in garments of white; fathers sedate, smiling at the simple, glad spirit of the children; mothers radiant and with that light on their faces which no artist has yet painted; youth and maidens hatted and clad for the festal day—a new tide of hope, and joy, and gladness is sweeping over the tired world to-day. Let us rejoice; let all the people rejoice—the Lord is risen, and the fullness of life, abundant, life eternal, life divine is a surcease for all pain and sickness and sorrow, for out the mystery of Joseph's tomb in the garden, wherein was laid the broken body of Him who is Lord and victor over death and hell, comes the meaning and miracle of life everlasting.

Easter! Holy day—day of larger hope, day of glad tidings borne on the wings of ministrant angels to the broken-hearted women who had come with the dawning of this new day to the tomb wherein was laid the Christ of God!

On this empty tomb is built a revelation of life beyond, life such as the world never knew before. Oh, Mary of Magdalene, his voice and presence vouchsafed to you in that Judean garden has filled a great void in human hearts, and cheered the darkened, doubting way of countless weary ones who fare onward to other tombs, in other lands.

Easter! Death could not claim and hold him, for he was Life. Darkness could not hide him, for he was Light. Falsehood could not stay him; for he was Truth. Here faith rests secure and hope springs eternal. Risen with him, seek those things above!

SUMMER TRAINING SCHOOLS FOR CHRISTIAN LEADERS.

By Dr. J. W. Perry.

The Board of Missions, the Sunday School Board, and the Board of Education are fostering Summer Training Schools for city and rural pastors and church workers. This summer, such schools are planned in eighteen centers, covering our whole territory. The one for the territory covered by this paper will be held at Birmingham, Ala., May 31, June 14. Lectures will be given by the best qualified men the Boards have been able to secure. No pains or efforts have been spared to get the best. Each man is selected because of special fitness to give instruction on the subject assigned him. This work is designed to be helpful to our pastors in our cities, larger towns and industrial centers, as well as for those serving in the country places. The country preachers have shown great appreciation of the advantages offered by these courses, and have been greatly benefited, as their work makes evident, and large numbers of them have attended.

Our cities and industrial centers are growing rapidly, and will continue as the demand for manufactured goods increases, agriculture improves in method and output per man per acre, and as facilities for transportation and production of raw material increase. For some time the growth of churches in membership has not kept up with the increase of population in the larger centers. The message of the preacher and the program of work of the congregation must be adapted to changed and changing conditions of life. The distractions, increasing materialism, temptations and vices of our urban life must be overcome by a gospel ministry that reaches all conditions and serves in helping to "make the whole man sound." The morals of our cities will determine the character of our civilization. The preacher needs to be equipped for the tasks of this day, if he is to lead the forces of righteousness to victory. Do we not need to feed frequently our minds and our spirits that we may be strong men, growing men, with a vision, and program of work commensurate with that vision, and the demands of this age? What better way to spend a few days than in the study of these matters with teachers of ability and experience? "As iron sharpeneth iron, so does the countenance of a man his friend." The very discussion will prove helpful to any earnest man.

There will be treated this year such subjects as: Bible Study, or Bible Messages for Men of To-Day; Evangelism—Methods and Message; Social Teachings of Jesus; Social Background for a City Church; the Church School, its Program and Method. These subjects will be related to four general themes which will run through a four-year course of study: 1. The Minister's Message; 2. The Community the Church Serves; 3. The Methods the Church Needs to Employ; and, 4, the Training of Leaders.

It is confidently expected that large groups of our pastors will gather at the different centers this summer for twelve days of Christian fellowship, study and recreation. The recreation will be conducted in a way to demonstrate some of the things which can be done in any congregation without special equipment and at little cost, to provide our people, and particularly the young people, a program of wholesome recreation.

Business organizations conduct schools for their employees. Our States require the teachers of public schools to attend training schools in order to equip themselves better for their task. The leaders of the church of God must keep pace with leaders of commerce and education if they are to be real leaders of men in this modern world. The man of God must be thoroughly furnished unto all good work.

NOTES ON THE WORK OF THE RECENT LOUISIANA SUNDAY SCHOOL CONFERENCE AT ALEXANDRIA.

By Rev. P. O. Lowrey.

As an evolution of the federation of the Wesley Bible classes of the Louisiana Conference, which had been functioning for the last four years, the first regular annual meeting of the combined forces of all departments of our Louisiana Methodist Sunday schools was held in Alexandria on March 20, and lasted for three days. The program was carefully planned by the Conference Sunday School Superintendent, Rev. C. D. Atkinson, and was carried out under the presidency of Mr. T. W. Holloman, who proved himself to be a master of assemblies, as he had already proved himself to be a master of Sunday school work, and one of the coming leaders of Louisiana Methodism. As being the first State-wide Louisiana Methodist meeting over which a layman presided, and in which most of the addresses were made and work done by laymen and laywomen, this meeting was epochal in our church life, and those who have long prayed for, and looked forward to, the enlarging of the layman's sphere until he comes to his own as a kingdom worker, saw in this program a great advance over anything that we have ever realized before; and yet this is but the beginning, and its splendid success only a prophecy of what we expect to see rapidly realized under the leadership of our consecrated lay church workers. Such meetings as these challenge the best in the layman, and enlist him for work never yet undertaken by him in our church, and if he does not justify having this trust committed to him, then, to us, all of our past prophecies about him, and our present faith in him, will be a sad and unthinkable disappointment.

On reaching Alexandria, the first thing that impressed the visitors was the "good turn" work of the Methodist troop of the local Boy Scouts in meeting the guests at the train, and in other ways showing them courtesies and in rendering them service. The boys showed the finest type of citizenship training that some of us had ever seen, and set forth the best demonstration of the value of the training given by this organization in the life of a boy that could have been set forth. The fact that the members were graded 25% for Sunday school and church attendance showed that the work was closely aligned with the work of religious training, and its efficiency impressed the visitors not only with its value, but also with its practicability in any local church or community where leadership could be secured. On the "good turn" record book of the boy scout member of the family where the writer was entertained were such entries as: "Went and dug up and brought home and planted a cedar tree for mother; picked up a little girl's hat that had blown into the street," etc. These records were made daily, and were graded by the officer at each Friday night's meeting. As there was a fine spirit of rivalry among the boy members for the best record, each opportunity to do a kindness was eagerly appreciated and utilized, and recorded for credit.

Our second inspiring treat was the report, in an address of welcome by the president of the Emma Owen Bible Class, taught by the pastor's wife. With an enrollment of seventy women, thirty-eight of whom are only associate members, the class had in its social service work raised $2,059, and had "never failed to help any Methodist family for whom help was asked." The class had bought an auto passenger truck, for which they gave $825, the members paying for it themselves, and taking up each note at the bank before it was due. This truck is used in hauling people to the services of the church and Sunday school, and for general social service work, and has proved a great power for good in the work for which it was bought.

The carefully written address of the President, Mr. Holloman, was the most thorough digest, in lawyer style, of the Sunday school program that we had ever heard, and the Conference requested its publication in the Advocate. At a later period, Judge H. H. White, of Alexandria, made a likewise strong address on the program and the possibilities of week-day religious instruction now being developed and promoted by the church, which address the Conference also requested the speaker prepare and have published in the Advocate.

The Young Men's Bible Class of Mansfield made the best report on one piece of social service work of any class reporting. At a cost of $500 they had "stood by" one of their members who underwent six different surgical operations in the Touro Infirmary, and with this help they saved his life. A class in Minden reported the paying of the expenses of a Centenary College student, the support of a native missionary worker, and the custom of sending out its members to help in the work of nearby Sunday schools.

Rev. Clem Baker, Sunday School Superintendent of the Little Rock Conference, and speaker-guest on the program, reported that the larger part of the presiding elders and pastors of his Conference were taking, or had taken, some or all of the books of the teacher-training course; following his suggestion, our workers memorialized the bishops to put one of the books in each year of the Conference course of study for our undergraduate preachers.

By a unanimous vote the Conference adopted the "Harvard plan" of lodging and breakfast as its policy for expecting entertainment in the future, thus making its meetings more desirable to the smaller towns—as well as the larger—as the entertainment of the ever-growing number of attendants from year to year will more and more be a problem.

In adopting the reports of the resolutions and the "finding" committees, the Conference committed itself to advanced steps in standard, non-standard, and fifth-Sunday Institute training schools, and to teacher-training classes in the several Sunday schools; to making effective the district Sunday school conference organizations, and conferences held in each district yearly; to urging that each Sunday school come up to one of the "types" of the authorized "Programs of Work" for local schools; a loyal observance of Sunday School Day, and the bringing up on this day the $2,500 needed to carry on our Sunday school extension work. (the Sunday School Day program this year is in the form of a very impressive pageant, simply and easily prepared and rendered, and was effectively demonstrated by the Alexandria Sunday school during the session of the conference); larger utilization of Children's Week in the several congregations in the interest of child life.

As Sunday school specialists, Miss Minnie E. Kennedy and Rev. E. R. Stanford, of the General Sunday School Board, Rev. Clem Baker, of the Little Rock Conference Board, and Mr. Van Carter, of the Louisiana Sunday School Association, rendered effective and appreciated service.

"WHAT THE CENTENARY MEANS TO CHINA."

By Bishop Sam R. Hay.

The general influence of the great Centenary Movement on our work in China has been one of inspiration and enthusiasm. After a long time, we had developed steadily, but slowly. We lacked funds to extend our work into new fields and also to make permanent our work in fields already occupied. As a result of the Centenary, with moneys that have gone into China we have more than twoscore of enterprises in the way of church buildings, school buildings, hospitals, parsonages and homes for our missionaries, either finished or in course of construction. Many of these buildings are now something like halfway finished, some of them with the walls up, the roofs not on, some just excavating for foundations. The completion of these enterprises, of course, depends upon the collection of our Centenary subscriptions. The Chinese believe in the church at home and believe she will make good. They believe that funds will come to finish these enterprises.

The work has been wisely planned. No extravagant schemes have been projected. Centenary money has been used prudently and carefully. I feel sure that we have no enterprise on foot that we cannot reasonably expect to finish.

The greatest need in China to-day, as I see it, is the building of the village church what we call in America the country church. We need to-day not less than one hundred thousand dollars in gold for the building of these churches costing, I would say, $2,000 each, gold, which would be something like $4,000 in Chinese money. Many of these churches are in the Centenary askings. Some of them have been built. Many others can not be projected until more money is available. We have some great churches that have been built recently in our great centers. I mention especially Allen Memorial in Shanghai, a church that, when finished, will seat 1,800 people. And also the Institutional Church in Soochow that is now completed, which I will dedicate on my return in the summer.

All our schools are prosperous and overflowing. We have in all our schools in the China Conference about nine thousand students, from the middle school to the university. Our purpose is to make these schools not only give honest education, but also contribute more and more in the future to the building of our great Chinese Christian church.

We have now in China, both in our churches and in our schools, some splendid revivals going on. In fact, the emphasis on evangelism as a result of the Centenary has been very marked, and we are now reaping a great harvest.

Our hospitals are contributing very largely to the work of the Kingdom in China. The healing of the body is perhaps the widest door through which we enter the great heathen world. Our new hospital at Soochow was dedicated a few months ago. This is a great modern structure and would be considered an up-to-date hospital in any of our American cities. We are much in need of a new building in Changchow, where our hospital occupies old Chinese buildings. Our new hospital in Huchow will be as modern as the one at Soochow when it is completed during the next year. The walls are up and the roof is on. Our "Margaret Williamson Hospital," the woman's hospital in Shanghai, is doing marvelous work. A great new building, for which money is already in hand, will go up in the near future.

I wish to make special mention of the splendid work that has been done by Doctor Lee, one of the leading Chinese preachers, who has served during the Centenary period as its Secretary. Much of the good spiritual results of the Centenary has been due to his intelligent and enthusiastic leadership.

I wish I could give to the church the great results that have come to our work in China as a result of the Centenary. Our people are looking this way with anxious, prayerful hearts. I feel sure that the church at home will not disappoint us.

PROOF-READER, BEWARE!

In the early eighties the New York Tribune got out a political supplement in which the last syllable of Lord Macaulay's name was spelled "ley" instead of "lay." Whitelaw Reid, then editor of the Tribune, noticed the error. He had the presses stopped, the error corrected and a new page stereotyped; and then he charged to the proof-reader the cost of the paper that had already been printed—$12.50.

At another time this sentence, written by the foreign news editor, appeared at the head of a column: "In our cable dispatches herewith given the tendencies of the Oriental troubles is cited." The clipping soon appeared on a bulletin board pasted to a sheet of paper on which Mr. Reid had written: "A verb should agree with its nominative in number or there should be a disagreement between the writer and his salary. For further particulars inquire of the cashier Monday."—Selected.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Alexandria District.

Brother B. H. Sheppard, of the Jena and Jonesville charge, is not in the best of health. Brother Sheppard is one of our faithful men, who has served for a long period in the Louisiana Conference. Let us not forget him at the throne of grace that he may be restored for many years of still further usefulness.

The work of the Plaquemine and Donaldsonville charge is making good progress. Brother Hines is growing in favor with his people. His salary has been fixed at $2.050. On Easter Sunday the Knights Templars of Baton Rouge worshiped in the Baptist church at Plaquemine with a sermon from Brother Hines.

At Oakdale our work is steadily advancing. The congregation have moved into their new building. Plans are being made for its completion in the early future. On a recent Sunday $2,500 was raised toward accomplishing this.

Rev. D. B. Boddie is preaching to increasing congregations at Glenmora. This church had fine services both morning and evening on Easter. In the morning, Rev. A. M. Shaw, of Oakdale, preached the sermon while the elder was in his pulpit. In the evening the writer preached. Salaries are about up to date here.

During the week March 25-April 1, a non-standard teacher training school had been planned for this church. The plans are well arranged and the people were ready for the school, but incessant rains made it impossible for the people to get to the church, so the school had to be abandoned before anything could be accomplished.

On Easter Sunday, some seven hundred were in attendance on the Sunday school at Alexandria. This was a record attendance for this school. There was also a fine attendance on the morning church service. In the evening Rev. O. W. Bradley preached the Knights Templars sermon in the Presbyterian church.

The Methodist Men's Club at Alexandria, with Mr. R. F. White as president, is composed principally of the men of a Bible Class taught by Judge H. H. White. This club has a monthly meeting for the men of the church, when supper is served by the ladies of the Emma Owen Bible Class at a nominal cost. These meetings about the board are bringing the men of the church together in a most helpful manner.

The Emma Owen Bible Class of Alexandria, of which Mrs. A. D. Eglin is president, is doing many fine things in the church. They have purchased, and are operating a truck to bring people to the Sunday school and also to the regular church services.

The recent Sunday School Conference held here was much interfered with by great downpours of rain. However, the attendance showed more schools represented than had been true of any of the preceding conferences. The program was up to the standard, if not better than usual. Special mention cannot be made, because all the platform workers did well.

Of particular mention, however, are the pageants given on both evenings of the conference. Both of these were excellent. That one given on the first evening was a reproduction of the pageant given by Louisiana people in attendance at the Junaluska Training School last summer. It took the second prize on this occasion. Alexandria is particularly proud of this, because the pageant was written by Mr. T. W. Holloman, superintendent of the Alexandria Sunday school.

Judge H. H. White addressed the conference on the subject of religious instruction in the day schools. The people of this State should count themselves fortunate to have a man on the State Board of Education who is giving such careful and capable attention as is Judge White to this most vital question.

The Epworth Leagues of the district are making a good showing. Most of them are planning to have representatives at the Mansfield Assembly this summer.

* * *

Rev. F. P. Moss, located at Melder, on the new Melder circuit, has been much interfered with by the weather in getting the work started on this new charge. However, he is well liked by his people. He is a faithful man and will no doubt do some good constructive work here. There is a great need for Methodism to become rooted in this field. It is open to us.

W. L. DOSS, JR., P. E.

Baton Rouge District.

Easter Sunday was a great day for Baton Rouge Methodism. As a result of the Gipsy Smith meeting, which closed on March 25, quite a goodly number were added to the three churches here. First Church received one hundred and thirty; Keener Memorial will get twenty or more, a number of whom were received Easter Sunday and the rest will doubtless be received next Sunday; Istrouma gets several. Many of these were received on profession of faith. This great meeting moved the entire city mightily, and many signed up for a deeper consecration, while all the Protestant churches of the city were greatly strengthened in their membership and spiritual estate. Gipsy Smith has been invited by the Protestant churches here to return again at his earliest open date, which is October, 1925.

The second quarterly conference of the Denham Springs charge was held Easter Sunday at old Live Oak Church. We had a large attendance and a fine conference, which shows the charge was advancing along all lines. Considerable repairs had been made on the parsonage; much of the mechanical work was done by the pastor, Brother McQueen, who is pushing the work with vigor and faith in his people. There is a great opportunity on this circuit, and Brother McQueen sees it and is wide-awake to its demands. This charge has given to our Conference several of its strongest preachers, and there may be more prophets among its members to be called forth into the ministry.

The second quarterly meeting at Slaughter showed the work on the Zachary and Slaughter charge to be advancing. All the interests of the church are being ably husbanded by the diligent pastor, Brother Andrews.

The second quarterly conferences of the Clinton and Jackson, and Ethel charges showed progress under the leadership of their consecrated pastors, Brothers Wilson and Watson. Brother L. C. Wilson was laid up for several weeks with "flu," but has been active since his recovery in all the ministries incumbent upon a faithful pastor and under-shepherd, and the work is responding beautifully to his cultivation. Brother Watson at Jackson is hard at work and is succeeding admirably.

* * *

Dr. C. W. Crisler, of First Church, Baton Rouge, is recuperating from a severe attack of "flu," which prevented his taking an active part in the Gipsy Smith meeting after he had worked so faithfully to get the evangelist here. His loyal congregation has granted him a rest of a few weeks and has secured the services of Brother Lutz to fill his place while he regains his strength.

* * *

Our Centenary Set-up Meeting at Hammond was well attended and deepest interest was manifested in this great cause. The addresses were strong and helpful, and the preachers and laymen present went back to their several charges determined to collect the Centenary pledges. Dr. H. F. Brooks, of First Church, Shreveport, was with us at both places, and delivered a masterly address at each place. The meeting at Baton Rouge was greatly interfered with by an all-day rain, but in spite of rain there were quite a few present, and the interest was keen. Our pay-up week begins Sunday, April 15, and we pray that God may move his people to make all reasonable sacrifice to redeem these unpaid pledges. I believe that every pastor will be diligent to lead his flock in this noble cause.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Corinth District.

The Corinth District Conference will be held in Ripley, Miss., Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, May 15, 16, 17. The following committees have been appointed: License to Preach and Recommendation for Admission and Re-admission into the Annual Conference, W. W. Jones, R. W. Evans, J. J. Garner. For Local Deacon's and Elder's Orders: E. R. Smoot, J. D. Wroten, J. L. Nabors.

The Conference will open at 9:30 Tuesday morning, May 15. Let names of all who expect to attend be sent to Rev. S. A. Brown, Ripley, Miss., so that entertainment may be provided.

The Sunday school at Walnut church, on the Blue Mountain charge, was reorganized on the last Sunday in February, quarterly conference Sunday. Fine congregation. Brother Hammond filled his appointment in Blue Mountain that day. The second quarterly conference for Dumas charge was held at Wier Chapel. The attendance was very good, and the reports encouraging. On Sunday the Sunday school there was reorganized. Brother Brown preached and held conference Saturday. Late train.

"A great rally of the Methodist laymen of the Corinth District, North Mississippi Conference, has just been held in the Methodist church, New Albany. J. G. Houston, of the Houston Mercantile Company, and president of the local Chamber of Commerce, is the district lay leader for this district. The meeting was held at his call and was presided over by him.

"The meeting was addressed by several invited speakers. Mayor Lowe, of Corinth, delivered the opening address. Dr. J. B. Randolph, of Corinth, and Rev. Ben P. Jaco, of Winona, made very able addresses on the immediate great task before the church, particularly the great Centenary movement that is now absorbing the attention of the church. J. G. Houston outlined in a very able talk the laymen's organization as authorized by the last General Conference. Mr. Houston was the financial director of the great educational movement put on by the Methodist church two years ago. He is regarded as one of the ablest speakers among the laymen of North Mississippi. Rev. J. H. Holder made an address on 'The Corinth District for Christ,' in which he laid much emphasis on the central theme and the one great task of the church."

The reporter evidently overlooked the fact that Hon. D. H. Hall, our efficient Conference Lay Leader, was present and made a very timely address to the laymen.

The Guntown conference was held at Hebron. The attendance of the Hebron church was good. The school attended in a body. Saltillo was represented, but the officials from the other churches were conspicuous by their absence. Some sent a report by the pastor, others made NONE.

The Baldwyn conference was held at Lebanon. The weather and bad roads caused a small attendance. The Sunday school was reorganized on Sunday.

Potts Camp conference was held at Bethlehem on Friday after the Thursday night storm. Brother J. D. Wroten preached and held the quarterly conference. The attendance was not large.

* * *

We had a great congregation at Ebenezer, both Saturday and Sunday, on the Hickory Flat charge. The interest was fine and the reports good. A small increase in the salary for the pastor was allowed.

* * *

We had a good congregation and a most interesting quarterly conference at New Albany station. They have already collected nearly all their Benevolences. All departments are at work, and salaries up to date.

The Myrtle conference was held at Union Hill. Roads muddy. The mud was AFFECTIONATE. The interest was good; salary increased about $200 over last year. The pastor was receiving congratulations on the recent arrival of a prospective BISHOP.

We had two great days with the Chesterville people on the Sherman charge. Two largo congregations, well represented quarterly conference, fine reports. We reorganized the Sunday school Sunday morning.

* * *

The Wheeler conference at Hodges Chapel was not largely attended. The weather was unfavorable. Sickness in the community hindered. Plans were made to repair or rebuild the church at Hodges Chapel.

We had a great day at Wells Chapel on the New Albany circuit. Large crowd, good reports, and a fine interest manifest.

The Kossuth conference was held in the school building, as the Pleasant Hill church was so badly damaged by the storm. The churches were all represented. The reports were fairly good. Plans were perfected to repair the church.

There were at least six churches in the Corinth District damaged by the recent storm. Our people ought to protect the church property by tornado insurance. Let our pastors see to it that all our churches and parsonages are insured against both FIRE and STORM.

The great evangelist, Gipsy Smith, Jr., is here in Corinth conducting a big union revival meeting in the large tabernacle erected for the purpose. He will preach at NIGHT only until the last Sunday, April 22, when he will preach both morning and night. He has just started. His singer and pianist are both gifted. Gipsy is a strong preacher and has a charming personality. All the pastors and churches of Corinth aro co-operating in the meeting.

The Corinth District Standard Training School will be held at New Albany, June 25 to 30.

JOSEPH B. RANDOLPH, P. E.

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

As Chairman of the Church Extension Board, I want to call attention to the action taken at the Annual Conference, instructing this Board to appoint a member of the Board to visit the district conferences in the interest of the debt this Conference owes to the Washington City Representative Church.

Brother H. A. Gatlin was appointed, as the Conference Journal will show. He wrote me recently that he did not have the time to serve, and therefore resigned.

So, as Chairman of the Board, and in consideration of the need to liquidate this debt, I will undertake to visit all the district conferences, or have some one else to represent this interest. You remember that not one of you would vote, at the last Conference, to repudiate that debt. Therefore, I request every district conference to be ready to assume and pay its $225 for this year. This debt must be paid.

W. M. WILLIAMS, Chairman.

STOP! LOOK! READ!

Dear Advocate: One of our churches on the Cockrum circuit was destroyed by the cyclone that swept Savage away. It is Mount Olivet church, just a few miles northeast of Savage.

This was at one time a thickly settled community, but there are only a few people in the community now. The people of the community are not able to rebuild without help from the outside. If any who read this article desire to help a worthy cause of the Kingdom, you cannot find a more worthy one than contributing to the rebuilding of Mount Olivet church. Any donation toward this end will be greatly appreciated by the good people of the community, by Brother Woodfin, pastor of the Cockrum circuit, and by myself.

Send donations either to Rev. W. E. Woodfin, Cockrum, Miss., or to me at Sardis, Miss.

Thanking any who may answer this appeal, I am,

Sincerely,
J. TILLERY LEWIS, P. E.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES—LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

April 29 to May 6 we wish to observe as "Go to College Week." Preach an educational sermon on either Sunday. Get in touch with the high school graduates and the young people of college age. Send the names of any prospective students to our colleges.

During the spring months is a good time to collect the Educational pledges. Let this work move on steadily every month. Every one making a pledge ought to pay something for this great cause.

We want the namo of every one on the Christian Education Committee. This is a very important work, and is worthy of your best thought and effort. A working church is what we need. This will afford us an opportunity to do a big work for our church.

Revivals are being held in our churches at this season. This is a good time in which to reach our young people. It was our pleasure to hear Gipsy Smith, Jr., preach a searching gospel to many young people under a tent on the campus of our State University. It was an inspiring sight to see a large number come forward and give themselves definitely to the Lord. Through Christian education we may hope to raise up the right kind of leaders.

ALBERT S. LUTZ,
Conference Secretary of Education.

TO THE PASTOR AND EPWORTH LEAGUE PRESIDENTS OF THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

I am sure that all of you are acquainted with the fact that our last General Conference changed the date of our Epworth League Anniversary Day from May to the secod Sunday in April, or as near thereto as possible. The wording in the Discipline was also changed regarding to whom the offering is to be sent. It now reads that all the offering is to be sent to the "Conference Epworth League Treasurer," who, in our Conference, is Miss Grace Cook, 614 North Fourth Street, Monroe, La.

Brother Holmes overlooked this change when he wrote his last article for the Advocate and gave the Board Treasurer's address. So I am writing to ask that each local church immediately after observing this special day, send its entire offering to Miss Cook.

The offering reported by the brethren at the last Annual Conference was hundreds of dollars more than our treasurer received; so let us not delay this important matter, and let us send in a liberal offering, for we are counting on at least one thousand dollars.

Do it Now and may the Lord bless you.

Yours for Christ,
JAS. B. GRAMBLING.

THE CHURCH'S OPPORTUNITY.

By Bishop William B. Murrah.

The world's confusion is the church's opportunity. This statement indicates very accurately the present missionary situation and suggests the supreme duty of the hour in these momentous times.

The history of the church has been marked by well defined periods. Sometimes these periods have been epochal in their nature, but unfortunately their significance was not recognized until it was too late to seize and improve opportunities.

Sometimes leaders who were wise to discern the signs of the times have made these periods memorablo by advance movements which have created eras of conquest and victory. The Centenary movement was in striking accord with providential indications. It has already imparted a powerful and influential impulse to the church life of modern times.

If we fail to complete our task, disastrous consequences will inevitably follow.

Nothing could be more sacred and imperative than our Centenary subscriptions, and all of the authorities of the church must be employed that our obligations shall be discharged in full.

It is very evident that the emergency now confronting us has stirred the conscience and quickened the zeal of our people throughout the connection to a very encouraging degree. All possible diligence should be employed that fruitful results shall be realized in large measure.

The Call of the Conference Claimants

EDITED BY LUTHER E. TODD, SECRETARY.

Board of Finance, M. E. Church, South.

510-513 Security Building, St. Louis, Mo.

A LITTLE BIT OF SEVERAL THINGS.

The annual meeting of the Board of Finance will be held in St. Louis, April 23 and 24. All of the members of the Board have written that they expect to attend the meeting. If all of the twenty-five members attend, and I believe they will, the "forgotten man" will have to begin to get ready to change his name.

It is also expected that every Conference Board of Finance will have a representative in attendance upon the annual meeting. This will add thirty-eight more men to the group assembled for the purpose of deciding upon the details of the plan of the special effort for superannuate endowment, besides a few guests who are to be present for the purpose of studying the plans of the Board.

All who are deeply concerned for the success of the movement looking to provide adequate support for the superannuates should pray earnestly for those who have this matter in hand. The eyes of the whole church should turn toward St. Louis on April 23 and 24, and all of us should approach these days with the thought and passion—namely, "It must be done, done right, and done now." Supported by such unanimity of spirit throughout Southern Methodism, the Board of Finance cannot fail to make such plans at its April meeting that will meet the Church's expectancy concerning a proper support for her worn-out ministry.

Concerning the Amount Expected from the Special Effort for Superannuate Endowment.

1. Question. What is this amount?

Answer. A minimum of $10,000,000.

2. Question. What part of this minimum amount will each charge be expected to raise?

Answer. Each charge will be expected to raise as a minimum an amount equal to the total amount assessed for its pastor's salary and the support of its presiding elder for the Conference year 1922-23, said amount to be raised by the charge and paid to the Board of Finance within a period not to exceed five years.

3. Question. If every charge of the whole church raises its part of this minimum amount, what will be the total sum received by the Board of Finance for superannuate endowment?

Answer. The total amount will be approximately $10,300,000.

4. Question. Will each charge be expected to raise more than its part of the total minimum amount asked for?

Answer. It is desired that every charge will voluntarily increase its minimum quota, indicated in the foregoing. For example: If the minimum quota of the charge under the rule is $2,400, it is hoped that the charge will of its own accord agree to fix its quota at a higher figure.

5. Question. Will the charge be allowed to take credit on its quota for the amount it raises yearly on the regular Conference collections for the support of the claimants?

Answer. It will not. The amount to be raised by the charge in the special effort for superannuate endowment must be a matter separate and apart from what it raises on the regular Conference collections for the support of the claimants—that is, the amount to be raised in the special effort for superannuate endowment is an entirely new obligation which has no connection whatever with any other obligation.

6. Question. Will the Annual Conference be allowed to take credit for the total value of superannuate homes owned by it on its quota for superannuate endowment?

Answer. It will not.

7. Question. Will the Annual Conference be allowed to take credit for the total amount of its Conference Superannuate Endowment Fund already in hand?

Answer. It will not.

8. Question. Is it true, then, that nothing will be accepted by the Board of Finance as a payment on the quota of the charge or on that of the Annual Conference except the actual money remitted to the Board?

Answer. That is true without exception.

9. Question. To whom will the charge remit its payments on its quota for superannuate endowment?

Answer. All payments of the charge on its quota for superannuate endowment must be remitted to the Board of Finance, Security Building, St. Louis, Mo.

10. Question. Can the charge retain any part of the money it raises for superannuate endowment for the purpose of sending the part retained to the custodian of its Conference Superannuate Endowment Fund?

Answer. It cannot. The Board of Finance will receive all the money the charge raises for superannuate endowment under the plan and will divide the amounts received between the General Superannuate Endowment Fund and the Superannuate Endowment Fund of the Conference from which the amounts come.

11. Question. On what basis of division will the Board of Finance credit amounts received for superannuate endowment to the general fund and the Conference fund?

Answer. The Board of Finance will credit 50 per cent of the amounts received to the General Superannuate Endowment Fund and 50 per cent to the Superannuate Endowment Fund of the Conference which remits the amounts. This will be the rule for dividing the receipts from the special effort for superannuate endowment until the minimum total amount expected from the Annual Conference has been paid in full.

12. Question. When the minimum total amount expected from the Annual Conference for superannuate endowment has been remitted by the charges of the Annual Conference, how will the Board of Finance credit any excess of this minimum which may be remitted to it by the charges of the Annual Conference?

Answer. This question will be decided by the Board at its annual meeting April 23 and 24 and the decision published in due time.

13. Question. Who will handle the various Conference Superannuate Endowment Funds which will accrue in the hands of the Board of Finance?

Answer. All Conference Superannuate Endowment Funds accruing in the hands of the Board of Finance as a result of the special effort for superannuate endowment will be handled by the Board of Finance as trustees of the Annual Conferences to which these funds belong. The annual income from these funds will be sent yearly to the respective Annual Conference Boards of Finance for their distribution to their own claimants under their rules.

14. Question. How will the Board of Finance invest the superannuate endowment coming into their hands under the plan?

Answer. The same diligent care will be given to the safe and sane investment of these funds that has characterized the operations of the Board of Finance in the matter of investments from the time of its creation by the General Conference. The process of the Board in this regard will be constantly under the supervision of the General Conference.

Turn About Is Fair Play.—In the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, one great thing yet remains to be done. The superannuate preacher must be given the sympathy and support of a great and grateful people. The Centenary takes care of missions. The Education Movement takes care of our schools. The "worn-out" preachers must have their chance. I know our church is able and willing to do big things for them. Our spirit of unselfishness should bring us face to face with our greatest obligation—namely, the proper care and support of the men who have worn themselves out in the service of the church. As usual, they have waited until the last. Let us match their patience with a gift that shall please the heart of God and give them the comforts of life during their declining years. Our people can do it, and they will. We are calling them to a noble undertaking in the appeal of the Superannuate Endowment Fund.—Dr. W. G. Cram, Directing Secretary of the Missionary Centenary.

Let the Laymen at It.—The average layman recognizes a just debt of gratitude to the preachers and will hail with real joy the special effort for superannuate endowment so that he may express his appreciation in a substantial way. He will count it a privilege to contribute liberally to this fund in order to take care of the preachers when they retire from active service.

The layman realizes that every dollar he contributes to superannuate endowment will also help to strengthen the morale of the preachers who continue in active service. It will cheer their spirits as they sacrifice and labor, steel their arm for the conflict, and encourage them for every new task.

The layman believes that the raising of this endowment will give the business world a new appreciation of the ministry and a better estimate of the value of the church in the community and nation.

The Board of Lay Activities of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will be ready when the time comes and will gladly accept any responsibility that may be placed upon it in making the special effort for superannuate endowment a complete success. Truly this is the laymen's debt, and they will welcome the chance to pay it as a gracious privilege.—G. L. Morelock, Secretary Board of Lay Activities.

SEED THAT FELL ON GOOD GROUND.

By W. C. Page.

It was a dark, rainy afternoon; the wind blew in gusts that rattled the windows and sighed through the barren boughs of the trees.

A crowd of Elinor's little friends had come to help her write the invitations and make plans for her eleventh birthday, which was to be celebrated the next week.

Mrs. Lennox, Elinor's mother, sat near a window, sewing. She could hear what was said while busily engaged with her work.

"Elinor, have you made out the list of all girls and boys you wish to invite?" asked Betty Lano.

"Yes, I think so; our class of course, except that newcomer, Janet Wendall. We know so little about her," said Elinor.

"No, except that she lives in that old tumbled down house by the river," exclaimed Annio Wayne.

"And that she wears shabby, old-fashioned clothes and boys' shoes," said Lena Winters haughtily.

"Her father works on the dredge-boat, and wears muddy overalls," cried Beatrice.

"We can't afford to invite every poor person that moves to town," asserted Gywndolin Caruthers scornfully.

"She has nice manners and leads our class. I think you ought to invite her," exclaimed Mary Western.

"No, no," came many protesting voices.

"She has no style—I don't want her to come to my party," declared Elinor.

Mrs. Lennox's cheeks burned to hear her little daughter express such ideas.

The girls worked steadily for a time, until the last invitation was written and neatly addressed, and the envelopes stacked in piles ready to be mailed. Then they went to the kitchen to make candy. Later, they practiced songs, played duets until they were tired, then gathered around Mrs. Lennox and begged for a story.

Mrs. Lennox smiled as she folded up her work and said:

"I am not going to tell you a story about brave knights, old-world crusaders, or a rescued princess, but a homely, practical little story which I do hope you will have the hearts to understand.

"Once upon a time Madame Oriole came bustling with great excitement to where the birds of the forest were holding their weekly concert. The moment she took off her orange-colored hood she shrilly exclaimed: 'What do you think? An old-fashioned looking stranger from the country has taken Rose-Vine cottage right next door to my villa. I do not intend to call—for a time at least,' she said as she smoothed her satin dress.

"'Who is she and what is her name?' cried the others.

"'Mrs. Mary Mocking Bird,' replied Mrs. Oriole, tossing her head.

"'What a common name!' sniffed Mrs. Scarlet Tanager.

"'She must be from the South; I wonder if she is related to the Bobolink family?'

"'I do hope Birdsville is not going to be flooded by that type, for we can't afford to associate with those not of our exclusive set,' piped Mrs. Gold-Finch.

"'Mrs. Trush,' said Mrs. Magpie, 'suppose we form a committee of two to go and investigate and then report to the others'; and so it was agreed.

"Mrs. Mocking Bird was just coming out of her house. She wore a dark calico dress, an old poke bonnet tied under her chin, and had a splint basket on her arm.

"'Good morning, Mrs. Mocking-ah-bird,' said Mrs. Magpie loftily.

"'Howdy, howdy do,' replied Mrs. Mary with a kind little nod, 'I am glad to welcome my new neighbors, I am sure.'

"Mrs. Magpie was very distant and formal. She held her head high, preened her beautiful feathers, and said: 'I suppose you are not accustomed to associating with people of our rank?'

"Mrs. Mocking-Bird chuckled and her eyes twinkled. 'Well, I must be going, as I am busy repairing my house,' and she flew serenly away.

"'Why, of all things! One would suppose she owned the earth from the way she acts. The idea of her not begging us to come in!' said Mrs. Magpie angrily.

"'She has a pleasant voice and I intend to ask her to join our Choral Club and sing at our next meeting,' asserted Mrs. Thrush.

"She extended the invitation and it was accepted. Every bird for miles around was at that concert. The very last on the program was the stranger. She looked very neat in her brown suit as she lilted gracefully forward. They were so anxious to hear the newcomer that they gathered near the front.

"As the soft, sweet note swelled, the place was filled with such melody as was never heard in the woods before. She sang the song of every bird present, only in a higher, sweeter note. There was much applause when she had finished. They all rushed up to congratulate her on the beautiful voice.

"'Are you not related to the Nightingales of England?' asked one.

"'I think I knew your grandmother,' said another.

"'We want to welcome you into our club,' said Mrs. Gold-Finch. 'Who would have thought such a homely little body could sing!'

"Professor Wise Owl, who had been silent for a long time, suddenly exclaimed, 'Oftentimes it is the quiet, plain people who are best and do the most good in the world.'"

The girls silently arose, went to the table, and held a whispered consultation.

The next morning Mrs. Lennox smiled when she saw that the invitation for Janet Wendell was on top of all the rest.

An Expert.

The new night watchman at the observatory was watching some one using the big telescope. Just then a star fell. "Well," he said to himself, "that feller sure is a crack shot."—Messenger.

A New Use for Bells.

"This bell," said the well-meaning sexton, when showing the bell at a certain church to a party of visitors, "is only rung in case of a visit from the lord bishop, a fire, a flood, or some other such calamity."—Exchange.

A Real Man.

A sturdy Scotsman had been having a dispute with his wife. He had taken refuge under the bed. As she stood on guard, with a stick in her hand, he called lustily from his retreat:

Poor Fellows.

Some time ago in Seattle a man was wakened in the night to find his wife weeping uncontrollably. "My darling," he said in distress, "what is the matter?"

"A dream!" she gasped. "I have had such a horrible dream."

He begged her to tell it to him so he might comfort her. After much persuasion she was induced to say this:

"I thought I was walking down Second Avenue, and in a store window was a large placard, 'Husbands for sale.' You could get beautiful ones for $1,500, or even $1,200, and very nice-looking ones for as low as $100."

The husband asked innocently, "Did you see any that looked like me?"

The sobs became strangling. "Dozens of them," gasped the wife, "done up in bundles like asparagus, and sold for ten cents a bunch."—Exchange.

GIVE US THE NEWS.

We are trying to make the Advocate serve in the best way possible its supporting constituency. In order to accomplish this end effectively, we are eagerly desirous of getting the news that is of interest to the church as soon as possible. If we were able to maintain a staff of paid correspondents, or if we had sufficient funds to enable us to establish a telegraphic news service, or if we were gifted with a kind of prescience that would enable us to know what is going to happen at all times throughout our large territory, we could record interesting happenings as they occur; being limited in these respects, however, we are dependent upon those who are in position to do so to supply the desired information. We earnestly request all such to co-operate with us in getting the news. We are especially anxious to have reports of revival meetings—the number of converts, the number of additions to the church, and any other items of special interest in connection with the meetings. Such things can be reported in very brief form—probably in the space of a postal card—so not much time or effort would be required in getting them to us.

We have found that the department, "News from the Districts," is proving of great interest to readers of the Advocate. We ourselves look forward each week to the coming of these reports from presiding elders, and we enjoy them as we go through them before sending them to the typesetter. These reports, however, are not intended to take the place of reports from individual pastors of interesting happenings in their charges, and we hope they will feel no hesitancy in making such reports. It is the news that we want, and that the readers of the Advocate want—and we want it while it is news. So send it in, brethren—in brief form if possible, but in some form anyway.

ST. MARK'S HALL.

It is of more than local interest that St. Mark's Hall, the magnificent mission plant of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in New Orleans, will soon be formally opened and dedicated to its great work. Those who are in position to know whereof they speak, declare that this group of buildings, just about complete now, constitute one of the finest plants for city mission work in the United States. The buildings are of striking architectural design, and every provision has been made for the various forms of work that will be carried on by the efficient staff of workers. The cost of the plant has been about $150,000, the funds being supplied by the Woman's Council and the Board of Missions. All Methodist visitors to New Orleans should, if possible, go to see this great institution, at the corner of North Rampart and Governor Nicholls Streets.

THE BROOKHAVEN DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

By an unfortunate oversight, we have carried in the second round of quarterly conference announcements of the Brookhaven District the original announcement of the District Conference. On account of damage by fire to the church at Magnolia, Miss., the time and place of the District Conference were changed from April 3 to April 17, and from Magnolia to Tylertown. The correct announcement has been carried for some time in the "District Conference Schedule," on page eight of the Advocate. We trust no confusion has arisen because of this oversight. The Brookhaven District Conference, Rev. H. M. Ellis, presiding elder, will be held at Tylertown, Miss., Rev. F. B. Ormond, pastor, April 17-18.

WHEN THE ADVOCATE GOES TO PRESS.

We are not infrequently embarrassed by the request to publish articles in the Advocate that do not reach us until Monday or Tuesday of the week of publication. In most cases, unless the article is very short, it is impossible to comply with this request. Eight pages of the paper are "made up" on Friday preceding the week of publication, and the material for the other eight pages has to be put in type by Monday afternoon, when they, too, are "made up." The "first side" of the paper goes to press early Monday morning, and as soon as it is printed, the other side must be ready. Mailing begins Tuesday afternoon. When it is at all possible, all material should be in the office not later than Friday preceding the date of the issue in which its publication is desired. When we are crowded for space, as we not infrequently are, we have to follow the rule of priority, except that matters of immediate interest and importance are given right of way.

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

The Big Brothers' Class at Greenville, Miss., had an attendance of 202 on Palm Sunday.

Dr. John O. Willson, one of the leading ministers of our church in South Carolina, died recently.

Rev. C. W. Alford, formerly of Mississippi, is now serving as pastor at Safety Harbor, Florida, where he has been kindly received.

Ruston, La., one of the most progressive cities in North Louisiana, has invested $300,000 in homes within the past eighteen months.

The Louisiana Conference Preachers' Institute will be held at Centenary College, Shreveport, June 18-24. A great program is being arranged.

Brother W. R. Baker, of St. Joseph, La., has just entered upon his eighty-ninth year. He is active in all good works. May the Lord multiply his blessings!

We have the promise of some special articles by some of the leaders of Methodism in our three patronizing Conferences. We are sure they will be worth reading.

In the election held on April 3, Mr. Louis Blaylock, for many years publisher of the Texas Christian Advocate, was elected mayor of Dallas, Tex., by a decisive majority.

Dr. Goodrich C. White is now dean of the Liberal Arts Department of Emory University, succeeding Dr. Theodore Jack, who will devote all his time to the Department of History.

Bishop Warren A. Candler will preach the commencement sermon at the Virginia Military Institute, at Lexington, Va., in June. The young soldiers will hear some good preaching.

Bishop Sam R. Hay spent an hour or two in New Orleans on Monday morning of this week, being in the city just between trains. He was the guest of Rev. Ellis Smith while here.

Mrs. C. D. Atkinson, wife of the Conference Sunday School Superintendent, underwent an operation for appendicitis at Alexandria, La., on April 4. We are glad to learn that she stood the operation well.

The choir of the First Methodist Church, Laurel, Miss., rendered the cantata, "Immortality," on Easter Sunday, at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The pastor, Rev. O. S. Lewis, was the tenor soloist.

Mrs. Hume R. Steel, well known throughout the church for her activity in missionary work, has announced the approaching marriage of her daughter, Margaret McNairy, to Mr. Richard Owen, of Covington, Tenn.

The opening sermon of the Shreveport District Conference, which meets in Mansfield, La., at 11 a. m., on April 17, will be preached by Rev. W. F. Henderson, Sr., after which the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered.

Rev. W. J. Wood, of Oakland, Miss., writes: "Everything goes well with us over here on the Oakland circuit. The people are better to us than we deserve. We are highly pleased with J. T. Lewis as presiding elder—he is making good."

The pre-Easter meeting in the Epworth Methodist Church of Memphis, Tenn., in which the pastor was assisted by Dr. Mark N. Terrell, one of our general evangelists, resulted in sixty-five conversions and the addition of fifty members to the church.

News has just come to us of the death, at Fulton, Ky., of the father of Rev. J. H. Felts, presiding elder of the Greenville District, North Mississippi Conference. Our deepest sympathy goes out to Brother Felts in the great sorrow through which he is passing.

The Baraca class of the First Methodist Church, Columbus, Miss., had an attendance of 137 men on Easter Sunday. The total attendance at Sunday school was 502. This is one of the great churches of Mississippi Methodism. Rev. E. S. Lewis is the pastor.

The name of the Central Methodist Advocate, official organ of the Holston, the Tennessee, and the Memphis Conferences, has been changed to Methodist Advocate. The change was made to avoid confusion with the Central Methodist, the organ of Kentucky Methodism.

The Advocate office was honored on Friday of last week by having as a visitor Dr. J. A. B. Fry, of Stockton, Cal. Dr. Fry is one of the leaders of Methodism on the Pacific Coast. He was en route to Nashville, Tenn., to attend the meeting of the General Board of Education.

Bishop and Mrs. Edwin D. Mouzon spent last Friday in New Orleans. They were returning to Nashville from the meeting of the Woman's Council in Mobile, where the Bishop delivered an address on "The Spirit of Methodism," and officiated at the administration of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

The Methodist preachers of New Orleans held their weekly meeting last Monday at a luncheon at the Monteleone Hotel. Dr. W. Winans Drake, the presiding elder, announced that a joint quarterly conference session for all the New Orleans churches would be held at the First Methodist Church on April 26.

Rev. W. B. Hogg, of El Paso, Tex., is with Rev. W. J. Ferguson in a meeting at Yazoo City, Miss., that is expected to continue for fifteen or twenty days. Brother Hogg, a native Mississippian, has achieved distinction as one of the most effective preachers in the cnonection, and great congregations wait on his ministry.

The February number of the Millsaps College Bulletin is devoted to a discussion of the educational institutions of the Mississippi Conference, by President A. F. Watkins, of Millsaps College. It is a valuable contribution to the history of religious education in Mississippi and should be read by all who are interested in this vital subject.

The Methodist Sunday schools of Shreveport, La., report the following attendance on Easter Sunday: First Church, 1,948; Noel Memorial, 580; Mangum Memorial, 300; Texas Avenue, 210; Cedar Grove, 163; Bossier City, 90. The collections for the Methodist Orphanage at Ruston amounted to $2,600, the Sunday school of the First Methodist Church giving $2,062 of the amount.

The Gipsy Smith Jr., meeting in Baton Rouge, La., was a great success. More than three hundred members will be received by the various churches of the city, more than one hundred of the number joining the Methodist Church. The pastor of the First Methodist Church, Dr. Charles W. Crisler, suffered from an attack of the "flu" during the meeting, and Rev. A. S. Lutz filled his pulpit for him on Easter Sunday.

On Easter Sunday, a special offering was made by the congregation of the First Methodist Church, Laurel, Miss., amounting to about $1,250. Of this amount, $200 was for Centenary pledges, the balance going to the budget. A Tithers' Club is in process of organization in this church. Under the leadership of Rev. O. S. Lewis the church is growing in all departments. Forty-nine members have been received in the regular services since Conference.

During the week preceding Easter Sunday, the students of Centenary College Academy, Shreveport, La., had the privilege of hearing a number of distinguished speakers at the chapel services, among them being Dean Smith, of the College; Dr. Claude L. Jones, of the Central Christian Church; Dr. R. H. Wynn, presiding elder of the Shreveport District; Bishop C. S. Quinn, of Texas, and President George S. Sexton. The Academy paper, the "Booster," gives a fine account of the addresses.

At the second quarterly conference of the Lula-Dundee charge, North Mississippi Conference, the report of the pastor, Rev. J. M. Wyatt, showed that the erection of a splendid new church at Lula is planned for the immediate future, that the church at Dundee is to be remodeled and enlarged, and that the erection of a chapel in a rural community near Dundee is being considered. The Greenville District in general, and the Lula-Dundee charge in particular, are doing great things.

We take the following from the Grenada Sentinel of March 30: "Rev. Gayle Beauland and his wife were in Grenada last Saturday, Sunday, and Monday. Mr. Beanland filled the pulpit at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning, and accepted the invitation of the pastor of the Methodist church, Rev. Melville Johnson, to preach at the Methodist church Sunday night. Both services were highly interesting and instructive, and breathed a thorough missionary spirit. Mrs. Beanland gave a talk to the Methodist Sunday school Sunday. She is as interesting as her husband." Mrs. Beanland is the daughter of Rev. W. M. Williams, our pastor at Purvis, Miss.

LATIN AMERICA RESPONDING TO EVANGELICAL CHRISTIANITY.

By Bishop Hoyt M. Dobbs.

The Centenary movement has in five years laid sixteen million dollars on the altars of the church at home and abroad, and has witnessed an increase in pastoral support of thirty-five per cent.

"An institution is the lengthened shadow of a man." The church house is a strengthening of the outward symbol of an inner life. For the first time in the noble history of fifty years, Methodism in Brazil is adequately housed. "The church which was in the house," were words which were frequently on the lips of St. Paul. For many years in South America the only church which the toiling missionary had was "in the house." Happily to-day the church which was in the house has become in many instances the church in the center of the square, or on the mountain top.

In the Latin-American countries the institutional forms of religion carry almost as much weight as the life and teachings of its members. It is therefore evident that Methodism in Brazil has received an added impetus resulting from the houses which we have builded.

The funds have, without exception, been administered, and will continue to be administered, with wisdom and economy. The building program has not been feverishly planned. In some instances a term of years must elapse before it can be completed.

I think it safe and entirely accurate for me to say that these great gifts have not pauperized the native church. On the other hand, there is rapidly appearing a larger evidence of self-sustaining and self-supporting strength than at any other time in their history. The toiling missionaries have been greatly heartened and reinforced for their tasks for this generous act of the whole church.

It is perhaps altogether fitting and proper that I should mention the fact that evangelical Christianity in South America is to-day one of the most rapidly growing mission territories on the globe. When the heart-beats at the center are functioning normally, the extremities are always warm. The pulsations of the heart of the Mother Church are warming the thought and life of many people in all parts of the world.

Sao Paulo, Brazil.

PROGRESS AT MOUNT SEQUOYAH.

The Executive Committee of the Western Methodist Assembly met at Fayetteville, Ark., March 15, to transact business preparatory to the opening on June 20. Superintendent J. L. Bond had the program for the summer worked out. It is rich and full and covers practically all of the activities of the church.

Plans prepared by the superintendent and engineer were approved for chapel, cafeteria, two dormitories, fourteen cottages, an art building, an outdoor amphitheatre, the automobile camp, and other improvements, and the engineer was authorized to proceed immediately with construction. It is expected that all of these will be completed in less than ninety days.

It was Superintendent Bond's purpose to entertain the committee in his beautiful official residence, just completed, on Mount Sequoyah, but the heavy rains had prevented the completion of the road and made the ascent too difficult. Within thirty days the road and drives will be in good condition. Then sightseers will have their opportunity.

Seven lots were sold on the 13th and one on the 14th. Many friends are promising to buy as soon as they can see the lots. Persons interested should correspond with Superintendent J. L. Bond, Fayetteville, Ark.

Pastors and Sunday school, missionary and Epworth League leaders are urged to keep the Western Methodist Assembly in mind and before their people so that they may be prepared to attend this summer.

THE INDIAN'S TWENTY-THIRD PSALM.

The Indian language is not easily subject to translation, and in their intercourse with one another the various tribes use a sign language, more or less universal, which they have evolved. The following is a translation of the Twenty-third Psalm, which can easily be interpreted in sign language:

"The Great Father above is a Shepherd Chief. I am his, and with him I want not.

"He throws out to me a rope, and the name of the rope is Love, and he draws me, and he draws me to where the grass is green and the water not dangerous, and I eat and lie down satisfied.

"Sometimes my heart is very weak and falls down, but he lifts it up again and draws me into a good road. His name is Wonderful.

"Sometime—it may be very soon, it may be longer, or it may be a long, long time—he will draw me into a place between the mountains. It is dark there, but I will not draw back. I will be afraid not, for it is there between these mountains that the Shepherd Chief will meet me, and the hunger I have felt in my heart through this life will be satisfied. Sometimes he makes the Love rope into a whip, but afterwards he gives me a staff to lean on.

"He spreads a table before me with all kinds of food. He puts his hands on my head, and all the 'tired' is gone. My cup he fills till it runs over.

"What I tell you is true; I lie not. These roads that are away ahead will stay with me through this life, and afterwards I will go to live in the 'Big Tepee' and sit down with the Shepherd Chief forever."—Selected.

OBIE CHILDRESS HUNT, son of Pilot and Minerva Hunt, was born near Ackerman, in Choctaw County, Miss., on March 12, 1856. He was converted in early childhood and joined the Presbyterian Church. He was married to Miss Hamill on Jan. 8, 1880, and to this union were born nine children, as follows: Mrs. W. D. Frazicr, Mrs. S. C. Turner, E. F. Hunt, Mrs. Shaw, P. C. Hunt, Mrs. J. F. Suttles, Mrs. E. T. Turner, Mrs. R. G. Brown, and Rev. W. O. Hunt, a member of the North Mississippi Conferfence, and stationed at Courtland, Miss. After his marriage, Brother Hunt united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and lived a noble life to the end. Brother Hunt loved his church, and was always a friend to his pastor. His home was always a preacher's home. He was kind and courteous to his family, and in return he had the love and esteem of all of his family and neighbors. On Jan. 16, 1923, he passed to his reward and was buried at Pleasant Hill Church on Jan. 18. The services were conducted by his pastor, assisted by Rev. H. Y. McCaleb, a friend of his. A useful man, a noble husband and father and a fine Christian character has gone. May the tender mercies of an all-wise Father bless and comfort his precious family and keep them to the end.

IMPORTANT TO ALL WOMEN READERS OF THIS PAPER

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.

The subject of this sketch, J. S. THOMPSON, was born in Jasper County, Miss., June 20, 1846, and died in Collins, Covington County, March 1, 1923, at the ripe age of 76 years. Nine years ago his devoted wife, Mrs. Martha Thompson, nee Rogers, died and passed on to her heavenly home. Two daughters, Mrs. S. B. Mayfield and Mrs. J. N. Mayfield, with whom he has lived since the going of his wife, still live to mourn their loss. Brother Thompson enlisted in the war between the States at the age of 18 years, and fought valiantly in the defense of the principles of the Confederacy. He joined the M. E. Church, South, in early life, and had been a member of the Bethel Church for forty-eight years when death came to transplant him to the Church Triumphant. To his church he was loyal, attending its services, standing by his pastor, and supporting every worthy cause fostered by the church. The burial services were conducted by his pastor, J. W. Thompson, assisted by Revs. W. M. Williams, of Purvis, L. Carley, of Ellisville, and J. T. Dale, of Collins. For forty-eight years Brother Thompson lived in Covington County, and stood for those principles that have placed the county in its present state of advanced progress and prosperity.

May the grace of Him who makes no mistakes sustain those who sorrow, yet not without hope, because we believe he has joined the redeemed of God in the glory land.

J. W. THOMPSON, P. C.

MRS. PRISCILLA DEAN was born in Talladega County, Ala., Feb. 24, 1836. She died at the home of her son, Rev. Willis Fordham, Cotton Valley, La., Feb. 27, 1923, and was buried at her old home in Jackson Parish. Mrs. Dean was married to Ira F. Fordham in 1855. She united with the Baptist church in youth, but her membership was later transferred to the Protestant Methodist. Seventeen years ago she joined the M. E. Church, South, at Brooklyn. Mrs. Fordham had suffered constantly for the past seven years, and her prayer was that she might be patient; this prayer was answered, as were many of her prayers, for which she was gifted. "He prayeth best who loveth best." We know her love excelled, as two of the preacher boys of the community told how the heavens opened and God's blessings came upon them when she expressed their need during the revival seasons. Four of her five sons are preachers, which is an expression of prayer life. We can truthfully say of Mrs. Fordham: "She fought a good fight; finished her course; kept the faith, and we know a crown of righteousness awaits her."

AN APPRECIATION.

"Death loves a shining mark." We are impressed with the truth of this proverb as in loving remembrance we trace the lines and contents of this memoir. The subject of this sketch, MISS MARY ELIZA POSEY, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Posey, was born Aug. 21, 1893, and passed from death into life—eternal life—Dec. 14, 1922. And yet, "to live in the hearts of those we love is not to die." This noble young life, a gem of rarest hue, was plucked by the celestial Gardener from earth's garden of blooming roses and transplanted in the garden of paradise, a more congenial clime, to bloom and shed sweet fragrance around God's throne forever. She in youth contracted a rheumatic affection that was often annoying, and as her system yielded to its attack, the malady increased; thus, losing her health by degrees, she became a helpless invalid. She was truly a great sufferer from this painful and distressing ailment. All that medical skill could do was applied to arrest its ravages, but in vain. For three years and more she was bedridden and tortured, and, though better at intervals, was never really at ease. Her affliction was truly a severe tax on her mental, moral, and physical powers; yet, despite the extreme agony, she realized seasons of spiritual comfort, and this fact sustains the time-honored doctrine that "a hidden blessing lurks in every affliction."

In early girlhood she joined the Methodist church, and, as was her custom, the act was an honest conviction and impulse of heart life. Religion to her was more than a profession. Having yielded her heart to Christ in youth's glad morning, when hearts were young and hopes were bright, she never faltered, but pressed forward with abiding interest and kept the faith. Previous to her affliction, when in the joy of health, she not only loved the church and gave it her support, but with a laudable aim united with the Sunday school, where she, with other associates, learned to appreciate Bible training and how to live in loving fellowship with Jesus. Being thus alive with interest, she became an inspiration and blessing to other pupils. The influence of such a bright young life and Christian character is invaluable to any church or community—indeed, indispensable in winning other young hearts to God. She was true to every relationship of life, and conscientious in every expression and act. Having met life's duties so faithfully in earth, we have the assurance that she has entered upon a larger and nobler service in the better world. She died as she had lived, in the triumph of a living faith in her Redeemer, with the assurance and testimony that "She was ready at the will of the Father to meet the summons." This is truly a consolation to her loved ones, consisting of father, mother, four brothers and one sister, with a circle of warm friends.

She is gone, but the Master needed her in another field of labor. Heaven is her home. One who had gathered so many sheaves needed a garner in which they might be stored. One who had sown broadcast so many seeds of love, needed a cloudless sky beneath to watch their fruitfulness.

May her life and example be an inspiration to all who knew her, and may the Comforter of all hearts console and bless her loved ones with the saving unction of peace divine.

The parables of our Lord teach us the value of meditation. Too much of our knowledge of Christ comes through the medium of others instead of through the Spirit of God himself. ### Purpose of the Meeting.

To show that the Christian law of truth demands that we speak, act, and live the truth.

For the Leader.

Avoid theoretical discussions of situations which the Leaguers are not likely to meet. Make the meeting of practical help in the everyday life in the home, school, or office. Give some time for questions and open discussion of the application of the Christian law of truth in daily life.

For Discussion.

The law of truth in the business world.

The law of truth in social life.

Can one never tell a lie and yet be untruthful?

Is there such a thing as a "white lie"?

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Our Conference officers met in Hattiesburg at 1:30 p. m., March 31. The following answered roll call: W. D. Hawkins, President; Truman Lewis, Vice-President; L. F. Alford, Treasurer; Miss Janet Head, Era Agent; J. B. Cain, Secretary of the League Board; J. S. Purcell, Acting Dean of the Assembly; Miss Gladys Smith, Secretary Newton District; Ralph Hayes, Secretary Meridian District; B. F. Harrel, Secretary Hattiesburg District, and J. H. Weems.

Practically the entire afternoon was consumed in formulating plans for our second Assembly, which convenes at Whitworth College on June 4. A plan of advertising was decided upon, and a vigorous campaign of advertising will be put forth between now and June 4. This campaign will be handled largely by the seven district secretaries, assisted by the Conference Secretary and President.

The resignation of Miss Erma Kile as Conference Secretary was read, and the President was given authority to appoint her successor. Mr. Hawkins will give out the name of the new Secretary as soon as possible, who shall serve until the Assembly meets, when a Secretary will be elected.

We regret very much indeed that it was necessary for Miss Kile to resign She has made a most efficient Secretary and a willing worker. We wish her every success in her new field of labor at Washington, D. C.

The Council discussed the matter of expenses for the Conference and adopted regular daily and weekly rates. The rate for the week will be the same as last year, viz: six dollars, each delegate to bring his or her bed linen, etc.; for less than a week, the rate will be $1.25 per day, which includes meals and room. Please understand that the college dining room will be opened for supper Monday night; you provide your dinner Monday if you reach Brookhaven during the morning.

Next week we hope to give you a list of books to be studied this year and the names of the several teachers.

Mr. Hawkins recently visited Poplarville and spoke to the Leaguers there. This League is growing fast and will soon be in fine shape to do efficient work. Brother Williams is a preacher who loves his young people and knows the value of an Epworth League in the church, and he never fails to have a good live chapter where it is at all possible. He is preparing now to organize a Junior Chapter.

We understand that Miss Smith, of the Newton District, now has a new "Coo pay" and a driver, and she expects now to find out what her District is doing and what can be done to better conditions there.

Speaking of the Assembly, Mr. Harrel says Hattiesburg District will be there, "going strong." Mr. Hawkins and Ralph Hayes replied, "And we are not asleep in the Meridian District." Then Wray Bowie comes with this—"We wake, too."

All right, fellows, come ahead. Dr. Cooper says he has room for you all and plenty to eat—you remember the "eats" las year. Are you coming? "You ain't said you ain't. Dat make you is."

Mineralized Water Routs Chicken Lice

Tablets Dropped Into Drinking Founts Banish Vermin, Make Fowls Grow Faster and Increase Egg Yield.

Any poultry raiser can easily rid his flock of lice and mites, make chickens grow faster and increase their egg yield by simply adding minerals to the fowls' drinking water. This does away with all bother, such as dusting, greasing, dipping and spraying. The necessary minerals can now be obtained in convenient tablets, known as Paratabs. Soon after the fowls drink the mineralized water, all lice and mites leave them. The tablets also act as a t conditioner. The health of the fowls quickly improves, they grow faster and the egg yield frequently is doubled. Little chicks that drink freely of the water never will be bothered by mites or lice.

The method is especially recommended for raisers of purebred stock, as there is no risk of soiling the plumage. The tablets are warranted to impart no flavor or odor to the eggs and meat. This remarkable conditioner, egg tonic and lice remedy costs only a trifle and is sold under an absolute guarantee. The tablets are scientifically prepared, perfectly safe, and dissolve readily in water.

Any reader of this paper may try them without risk. The laboratories producing Paratabs are so confident of good results that to introduce them to every poultry raiser they offer two big packages for only $1. Send no money, just your name and address—a card will do—to the Paratab Laboratories, Dept. 914, 1100 Coca Cola Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., and the two $1 packages, enough for 100 gallons of water, will be mailed. Pay the postman $1 and postage on delivery, and if you are not delighted with results in 10 days—if your chickens are not healthier, laying more eggs and entirely free from lice and mites—your money will be promptly refunded. Don't hesitate to accept this trial offer as you are fully protected by this guarantee.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE NOTES.

On the 25th of March I had the great pleasure of visiting with Crawford Street, Vicksburg. Brother Selby preached a great sermon on the Christian Home. The people received his message well. The work seems to be moving finely. I did not get to visit Brother Cottrell at this time, though I heard from him and his work.

We planned for a District Training School, and I am thinking it will be a fine one. The folks at Vicksburg fell in line right along, and it looks good to me.

The first Sunday in April I was on the Bayou Pierre circuit. Brother Watkins is a great worker, and he is doing well. He has moved the parsonage to Center Point now, and it is a beauty, too. The whole circuit ought to be proud of that tasty, comfortable home for the preacher. We held the first Circuit Institute for the Bayou Pierre charge. We had a good meeting, and all seemed to enjoy it very much indeed.

We had the great pleasure of attending the Seashore District Conference and the Woman's Missionary Council. The District Conference moved well, and the people of Moss Point entertained it grandly. It was a treat to be in the beautiful place. Many fine reports were made.

The District Institute for the Seashore District will be at Wiggins, June 20-21. We hope to have a full attendance and a great time.

Pray for a revival.

The first money to reach the Board for Sunday school Day was, Pleasant Ridge, Bayou Pierre charge, $4.50; Shubuta, $11.10, and Poplar Springs, Harrisville charge, $6. Let the good work go on.

Please let us know about your programs. Did you get them? If you did not, write to us and let us see that you do get them.

Pray for the work and the workers.

Yours in Him,
JOHN C. CHAMBERS.

NOTES FROM NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, Sardis, Miss.

We had forty to enroll in the Columbus District Training School; twenty-one received credits; ten preachers took courses and seven received credits. Every one of these men testified to the worth of the instruction received. We had the promise of a large class in Starkville that is to continue the study of the "Life and Letters of Paul," under the direction of the pastor, Rev. W. W. Woollard. The school set in motion forces that will continue to reach out and bless the entire district. It is needless to say that Starkville was generous in her hospitality to the school.

I had the pleasure of taking part in the service at Salem, on the McCool circuit, Sunday afternoon. This school is following the C type of the Program of Work. Sunday was the close of the evangelistic program. A number of the people had read the literature sent out by the Board. One young woman gave her heart to God; only two others in the house were not members of the church. This was a happy hour for every one in the church.

Rev. J. A. Randolph, pastor at Sardis, ordered the literature on evangelism, held cottage prayer meetings, and preached every night for a week; six were received into the church and seven children were baptized. The men who are faithful to God and loyal to the church receive a reward in the present time.

One of the most successful methods of handling the Sunday School Day program is to have the teacher of the beginner children, the primary children, the junior children, and so on throughout the school, take the parts belonging to them and have the teachers give the instruction at the Sunday school hour from Sunday to Sunday until the memory work is learned. Have the school practice one or more songs at the Sunday school hour. By all means learn the new songs and carry out the entire program to get its educational meaning. To have the teachers give the instruction at the Sunday school hour does away with the worry of meeting every afternoon, and it distributes the responsibility. Here are a few reasons for observing the day:

1. The members of the school need the instruction contained in the program.
2. The members of the school, through this participation in the church service, are made to realize that the Sunday school is an integral part of the church.
3. It affords the best opportunity for giving publicity to the work the school is doing for the community.
4. An opportunity for adding members to the school.
5. The best kind of evangelistic opportunity.
6. The law of the church requires the day to be observed.
7. The Sunday School Board needs the funds contributed that day to extend the kingdom of God in our own Conference.

It is not too much to expect 50 per cent of our schools to carry out this program when we consider the fact that the presiding elder, the pastor, and the superintendent are charged with this task.

FROM FRANKLINTON, LA.

Dear Doctor Carley: We are all very happy over our Easter service at Franklinton, La. A large congregation gathered to enjoy the occasion. The program gotten out by our Publishing House was used. Miss Stella Pierce, one of our accomplished young ladies, deserves great credit for the training of the children. There were twelve members received into the church. An excellent collection was taken for the Orphanage. In fact, it made one feel that there was as much accomplished as we sometimes have in a ten days' protracted meeting.

Brother L. W. Cain is happy in his work. He is a good preacher, a good mixer, and a hard worker, and, as a result of his leadership, everything is moving on nicely on all lines of church work.

The new church enterprise will soon be under way. Brother Cain hopes to have it ready to be dedicated during our Annual Conference at Bogalusa next November. He is serving a fine people, who are standing by him.

Fraternally,
F. N. SWEENEY.

EASTER AT FIRST CHURCH, SHREVEPORT.

Easter Sunday at First Methodist Church of Shreveport, La., was marked by services, morning and evening, that are in every way worthy of special notice. Record-breaking crowds filled all the available space in the large auditorium, even the aisles, chancel, foyer, gallery and choir space being occupied. There were 1,948 in attendance at Sunday school. A large class was received into the church at the Sunday school hour. Altogether there were 88 additions to the church, 80 by vows and baptism and 6 by letter. Sixteen infants were baptized and 54 adults. There was collected for our Orphanage at Ruston $2,062 from the Sunday school and $1,033.85 from the church, making a total of $3,095.85. This worthy cause certainly met with a generous response from the congregation of First Church.

Splendid and appropriate music was rendered by the choir. Dr. Henry Felgar Brooks preached an earnest and stirring sermon on the Resurrection. Close attention was paid to his sermon, and no doubt truths were stated that comforted many in the large congregation. One was reminded, as the people crowded about the chancel for reception into the church and the administration of baptism to young and old, of some camp meeting scenes of an elder day.

This great church now has a membership of 2,300 and is growing larger at every service. Nothing is heard from the pulpit but the old doctrines of repentance toward God, faith in a crucified, now risen and living Redeemer, the hope of the world, the Saviour of sinners.

At the evening service a magnificent cantata was rendered, "The Lord of Light and Love." The orchestra was comprised of sixteen instruments, accompanying a choir of thirty-two voices. Mr. Fowler, the director, and the well trained choristers certainly deserve much credit for the presentation of this splendid composition. Appreciation was shown by the people filling the church to its full capacity.

A BOOK EVERY CHRISTIAN SHOULD READ.

Mr. L. L. Bailey has been appointed State distributing salesman for a new book, THE AMAZING STORY OF HENRY FORD, authorized edition. Mr. Ford is a most remarkable man—a man whose philanthropic activities extend to and embrace many fields of social welfare work and of education and science, and this book will prove an inspiration to all preachers, Sunday school superintendents, teachers and laymen who read it. Mr. Ford is an advanced thinker and inventor whose activities go far beyond the mere invention of the Ford car, his combination gas-steam engine being one of the most wonderful pieces of machinery ever erected. Mr. Ford is a loyal, courageous and true-hearted American, and as a benefactor to the human race may be justly ranked with Edison, Morse and Marconi. Form a Ford home study circle. Price of the book: Leather, $3; cloth, $2.25.

Mr. Bailey is also subscription salesman for all national magazines, and for WEE WISDOM, $1 per year, one of the sweetest little magazines of practical Christianity for children ever published; full of meter and prose. ## FROM ROLLING FORK, MISS.

Dear Brother Carley: Last December, at Crystal Springs, my name was read out for the fifth time in connection with the Rolling Fork charge. When I heard the announcement, my heart leaped for joy, I leaped for my suitcase, then for the train, and headed toward Rolling Fork with a light heart, and an elastic step, and a determination to make this a successful year.

We have finished the first three months of this calendar year—more than that of the Conference year—and are very well pleased with results. We received an exceedingly cordial welcome from these good people when we returned from Conference. All through the holidays, and, indeed, through all the days till now, we have had many tokens of appreciation, of which we are trying to prove ourselves worthy by doing the very best work our limitations will allow.

Our first quarterly conference was held on Feb. 25. Brother Jones, our beloved presiding elder, was with us in his usual happy mood and genial spirit. He preached a most excellent sermon, and then held the conference. The stewards advanced the pastor's salary from $2,000 to $2,500, and reported, "paid in full to date."

Our Sunday schools here and at Cary are well organized and doing admirable work. The success of these schools is due largely to the indefatigable labors of our very efficient and faithful superintendents and their loyal teachers.

The ladies at both of our churches do not allow any one to throw the dust of their charity wheels into their faces. They have their meetings regularly twice a month, and, if the weather is at all favorable, each meeting is well attended. It was largely through the efforts of these good women that our church at this place was remodeled and enlarged last year and made into a veritable Sunday school workshop. The people at Cary are building a new church that will cost about $7,500. The ladies there have money in hand to furnish the church.

We have received 17 into the church this year, without any special revival effort. We expect to begin a meeting at this place on April 8, with Rev. W. Hardy Neal, of Fayetteville, Ark., to do the preaching. We are looking for large results from the meeting, and ask the readers of the Advocate to join their prayers with ours that we may realize our most sanguine hopes.

T. J. O'NEIL.

A LETTER FROM TEXAS.

Please pardon my presumption in asking space in the Advocate, but my husband requested me to write.

For many years it was a weekly visitor in our home, but circumstances were such that we had to deny ourselves many things we desired. We have never ceased to miss the dear old Advocate, and long for it. Louisiana is the land of my nativity, and the home of Mr. Colier from early childhood. He spent eigteen years in the Louisiana Conference, traveling over North Louisiana, preaching the unsearchable riches of Christ.

Our children were born in parsonages there. They knew no other home. We love dear old Louisiana—it continues to seem like home. Though many years have intervened, the natural instinct and longing of the soul is to return. Mr. Colier would be glad to visit the places where he preached and once more tell the sweet old story of Jesus and his love. In 1899 we transferred to Texas for the benefits of the climate.

Physicians said I could no longer live in that climate, and that our little daughter, Callie Mae, must have a better climate or she would have tuberculosis. My life has been prolonged, but in 1908 dear Callie Mae was transferred to the holy and beautiful city, whose Builder and Ruler is God.

She wanted to live to work for the Lord, but, being wholly consecrated, she was submissive and said, "Thy will be done." The last few weeks of her life were heaven below to all who entered her room. Visitors said they were never in such a holy atmosphere, that it was glorious to be there. She rejoiced in love divine and often called for prayers and songs.

Two evenings before she went away she asked if we heard singing, said it was in the distance, and oh, so sweet! On the morning of the last day she called for me; as I entered the room she greeted me with a radiant face, and sweetest smiles, and said: "I am going home to-day, the Bridegroom is coming for me. I have on my 'wedding garment,' and it is beautiful." Late that evening she requested me to pray, then she prayed the little prayer taught her in infancy, "Now I lay me down to sleep," etc., then fell asleep in Jesus. Her sweet spirit went to be with the Bridegroom.

Mr. Colier and I are now with our daughter Reubie (Mrs. Wheeler). She has two children. Our son lives in San Antonio. We are glad we can say "he lives." A year ago he came to us sick—the doctors said he had tuberculosis. He was confined to his bed until November, had temperature all the while, and during the time was carried to the hospital twice, undergoing operation each time. God in his mercy heard our prayer and Frank recovered. He thinks he is well, and is working, supporting his wife and baby girl.

Mr. Colier and I are feeble, but he can attend church services, which he enjoys very much. He occasionally preaches—he craves to preach more than he did when he was younger. We rejoice in the progress of our church, the great Centenary movement and wonderful missionary activities, and pray God to send forth laborers that will be true ambassadors for Christ, These are perilous times. We need to pray and work. Satan is busy. The church needs to be endowed with "Power." if all our preachers would seek to obtain the baptism of the Holy Spirit, then lead the members into the blessed experience, we would have no trouble with "Modern Thought," "Destructive Criticism," etc. Our women would be more modest in their dress, and our church members would stay away from the "movies."

TRANSLATING THE DISCIPLINE INTO THE RUSSIAN LANGUAGE.

By J. O. J. Taylor, Vladivostok, Siberia.

We feel that it was a wise decision of Bishop Boaz which said that the first book translated by our church in Russia should be the 1922 edition of the Discipline of our church. This is in accord with the statement of the bishops that "You ought, next to the Word of God, to procure the articles and canons of the church to which you belong." The Bible you may purchase in the language of the people in any book store in the land. The British

A Calling from Japan.

From across the deep blue waters
  Comes a calling from Japan
To the people of our country;
  Go help them all you can.
Tell them of a loving Savior,
  And of all his love and care;
Let them know that He is with them,
  And is watching over there.
Take away their idol worship
  That has been their God so long,
Let them see our whole salvation
  Which our God has made so strong.
They will love Him, if they know Him.
  Extend to them a helping hand;
Send, oh, send them the word of Jesus!
  'Tis our message for Japan.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE NORTH MISSISSIPPI WOMAN'S MISSIONARY CONFERENCE.

"Whereas, Dr. J. L. Cuninggim, President of Scarritt Bible and Training School, has made the following statement:

"Our Attitude to Modern Scholarship.

"In speaking of the instructional side of our work, it is well perhaps for me to call your attention to the problem that confronts us with reference to modern scholarship. You are aware of the somewhat sharp line of cleavage in the church in regard to this matter. On the one hand there are many devout and loyal members who hold steadfastly to the formulations of faith inherited from the past and look with suspicion and alarm upon restatements in the light of modern science and philosophy. On the other hand, there are not a few devout and loyal members of the church who believe very sincerely that it is only by the restatement of truth in terms of modern scientific and philosophical thought that the church can hope to meet the challenge of our modern day. This line of cleavage in the thinking of the church is just at the present time being more sharply accentuated and with more intensity, not to say bitterness of feeling, than at any previous period. This creates for the teacher of Christian truth, and particularly for the teachers of the Bible, a very difficult problem. The problem is not peculiar to Scarritt, but one with which we, along with other similar schools, are having to deal. I am glad to say that the faculty and Board of Managers are devoting their very best efforts to dealing with this problem in the best possible way, both for the young women in training and the church at large."

Therefore, be it resolved (1), That we reaffirm our beliefe in the Articles of Religion and creed of our church.

Resolved (2): It is the sense of this body that the Woman's Missionary Council, representing the organized women of Southern Methodism, should not employ as missionaries or teachers any persons who do not believe and adhere to the Articles of Religion and creed of our church.

FROM COUSHATTA, LA.

Dear Brother Carley: Our work is progressing nicely. We closed our meeting last Sunday, and, notwithstanding the fact that the weather was very bad, we had great crowds both morning and evening. Brother Leland Clegg, of Logansport, one of the finest young men in our Conference and a most excellent preacher, did the preaching, and as a result of the meeting we had twenty-eight accessions to the church, this making a total since Conference of fifty-one; a few joined the Baptist church. The Baptists were very kind and tendered us their new church, which we gladly accepted, as our church was too small.

We have let the contract for a $2000 church, work to begin this month. Our Centeuary pledges are coming up; an advance in the pastor's salary of $600 over last year and paid to date, and a three hundred per cent increase in Sunday school attendance, so we are hoping for a good year on this charge.

IF BILIOUS, SICK!

TAKE NO CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Straightens You Up Better Than Salivating, Dangerous Calomel and Doesn't Upset You—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

You're bilious! Your liver is sluggish! You feel lazy, dizzy and all knocked out. Your head is dull, your tongue is coated; breath bad; stomach sour and bowels constipated. But don't take salivating calomel. It makes you sick, you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel crashes into sour bile liko dynamite, breaking it up. That's when you feel that awful nausea and cramping.

If you want to enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight. Your druggist or dealer sells you a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents under my personal money-back guarantee that each spoonful will clean your sluggish liver better than a dose of nasty calomel and that it won't make you sick.

Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up feeling fine, your liver will be working, your headache and dizziness gone, your stomach will be sweet and your bowels regular. You will feel like working; you'll be cheerful; full of vigor and ambition.

Dodson's Liver Tone is entirely vegetable, therefore harmless and can not salivate. Give it to your children.

TRANSLATING THE DISCIPLINE INTO THE RUSSIAN LANGUAGE.

and Foreign Bible Society has well supplied that need, as has the American Bible Society.

The writer was appointed to superintend this work of the translation, not because he was competent, but because a competent hand was not to be secured and the committee had to take the best that offered itself. Since the work had to be done on Russian soil; Messrs. Jenkins and Erwin were ruled out, and the writer was the last chance.

We are fortunate in having what we are well able to call a wonderful translator in Mrs. Pestrikiff, the Russian who is translating the work. She is the official translator of the American Consulate in Russia, and is a university woman. She is perfectly at home in Russian, German, English or French. Therefore, the work is moving smoothly. We are, however, striking one real difficulty. As some one has said of the men who read the proof for the first "Schofield Bible," "Their greatest difficulty was to keep their minds on the serving of tables."

We translate along, and then I see the eyes that always flash as they work, soften up, and she will say, "Can it be so, can it be so?"

The other night we were on the Articles of Religion. We were discussing the one on good works. The question of the forgiveness of sins and the personal relation to God came up for discussion.

She looked at me in amazement.

"Do you mean to tell me that a person can really know that his sins are forvigen?"

Tears were in her eyes. I simply turned to the Bible and read her the passage about the "Witness of the Spirit." Then for a while she could not work.

Soon we stopped for the night, and as she left, she said:

"My heart feels strangely quiet as I work on this book. I find that even the beginning has made me feel—I don't know how to say it, but—quiet, peaceful. Some day I hope I will have that joy that this book tells about."

I think she will be the first member of our church, and I know that she will soon not only feel, but know that her sins are pardoned and that Jesus saves her from all sins.

Faithful to Try work and Thee;

Of every soul within my care—
This is to-day Thy servant's prayer.

Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Other Mothers

Windom, Minn.—"I was so run-down that I was just good for nothing. I was to become the mother of my ninth child, and I thought I did not have the strength to go through with it. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has surely done all I could ask it to do and I am telling all my friends about it. I have a nice big baby girl and am feeling fine. You may use this letter to help other sick mothers." — Mrs. C. A. MOEDE, Box 634, Windom, Minn.

My First Child

Glen Allen, Alabama.—"I have been greatly benefited by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for bearing-down feelings and pains. I was troubled in this way for nearly four years following the birth of my first child, and at times could hardly stand on my feet. A neighbor recommended the Vegetable Compound to me after I had taken doctor's medicines without much benefit. It has relieved my pains and gives me strength. I recommend it and give you permission to use my testimonial letter."—Mrs. IDA RYE, Glen Allen, Alabama.

SEVERE ATTACKS OF INDIGESTION

Mississippian Says All He Dared Eat Was a Little Bread and Butter—Found Black-Draught Relieved His Trouble.

Weir, Miss.—"I had very severe attacks of indigestion," said Mr. M. H. Wade, of this place. "I would suffer for months at a time. All I dared eat was a little bread and butter... consequently I suffered from weakness. I would try to eat, then the terrible suffering of my stomach! I took medicines, but did not get any better. The druggist recommended Thedford's Black-Draught, and I decided to try it, for, as I say, I had tried others for two or more years without any improvement in my health. I soon found the Black-Draught was acting on my liver and easing the terrible pain.

"In two or three weeks, I found I could go back to eating. I only weighed 123. Now I weigh 147—eat anything I want to, and by taking Black-Draught I do not suffer."

In an attack of indigestion, one of the first things to do is to clear the stomach and bowels of all undigested food particles, and Thedford's Black-Draught has been found very helpful in doing this. A small dose, after each meal, has been found of great benefit to persons who are threatened with or who are disposed to, attacks of indigestion. Black-Draught assists the stomach to carry on its important work of digestion, and at the same time mildly stimulates the liver to do its work.

Try Black-Draught. Price 25c.

THE CENTENARY AND HOME MISSIONS

No other nation ever faced a world responsibility such as this Nation faces to-day. America is in better position to lead the world toward a Christian course than any nation has ever been.

To meet this responsibility America herself must be made genuinely Christian. Furthermore, America must be made Christian for her own sake as well as for the world's sake. Nothing less than a great spiritual awakening can save America from perils that will destroy the best in our civilization.

As one of the great denominations of America the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is seeking to do its share. No worthy Methodist will be satisfied for his Church to do less than its share.

The responsibility for Christianizing America is the responsibility of the church. No other agency is seeking such ends and no existing agency is in position to lead in such a worthy effort.

The Centenary made it possible for the Church to institute a very hopeful program in the homeland, and already much has been accomplished.

This program includes a better approach to the city problem, better work in our vast rural sections, work among foreign-speaking groups, and the maintenance of a larger force of workers in sparsely settled districts in the West and Northwest.

To halt the program now would be tragic. It would mean the loss of much that has already been achieved and to regain the position to which we have come would require larger expenditures in the future.

UNLESS CENTENARY PLEDGES ARE COLLECTED THIS GREAT PROGRAM MUST HALT.

PAYMENTS MUST BE MADE AT ONCE IF THE CHURCH IS TO HOLD ITS POSITION.

THE BEST MESSAGE.

What ought to be the message of the pulpit to-day? This is a question that we hear frequently, and see propounded in almost every newspaper or magazine we may pick up. The answers, of course, are as various and as varying as the thoughts of the questioners. Sometimes we hear that the pulpit should devote itself almost wholly to the proclamation of the social gospel; sometimes the insistence is altogether upon the doctrine of brotherhood; sometimes we are told that only subjects that deal with the industrial situation have any place in the pulpit. And so it goes. We very readily admit that all these themes may, under certain circumstances and in a proper way, have a place in the preacher's program; but the best message, it seems to us, is the one that makes men realize that they are sinners in the sight of God, lost and undone forever unless they change their ways, and that it is possible for them to make that change through the redeeming love of Christ. Most men probably read the newspapers and magazines a good deal, and they know, therefore, as much about current questions as the average preacher. In spite of all that is said to the contrary, we believe people generally do not go to church to be entertained, or to have their store of knowledge increased, so much as they go to have their consciences stirred, to have their spiritual natures refreshed, to learn more fully the way of life. The great problem in every life is the problem of sin, and it is only the gospel that can solve that problem. The gospel, of course, has application to every phase of life; but the social order can never be redeemed until the individuals who compose that order are redeemed; the supreme interest, therefore, of the preacher should have to do with personal salvation. We believe this view is confirmed by the fact that the most effective preachers in all ages have been those who have labored to bring the message of salvation home to the individual.

PAYING FOR WAR.

According to a chart prepared recently by the Bureau of Efficiency, based upon the budget report submitted to Congress by the President on December 4, 1922, the expenditures for present national defense and past wars amount to $2,327,002,667, or 85.8% of the total estimated expenditures of the Federal Government for the year 1924. Of the remaining 14.2%, 2 per cent, or $56,530,280, will be expended for research, education, and development. It is very evident that war, if not the most important enterprise of the Government, is at least the most expensive. It is not very comforting to realize that 85.8 cents of every dollar paid in federal taxes, according to these figures, go for this purpose.

CHILDREN IN THE CHURCH.

We take this suggestive paragraph from the Christian Guardian, the great Methodist organ of Canada: "As we look about our churches, the fact is brought home to us with tremendous force that the leaders in our church life to-day, both in pulpit and pew, are overwhelmingly the children of Christian homes, and a large percentage, just how large we cannot say, cannot recall the time when they did not love the Lord Jesus. We may interpret this as we please, but the fact remains that a considerable part of our present membership has been so trained by Christian parents that from earliest childhood they have been followers of Jesus Christ. And this is exactly as it should be. When the children of Christian homes go astray, we are startled, and rightly so, for the whole community expects to see the children of good men following their fathers' God. This should be the natural thing, and when it does not occur we look for light upon the home life to explain the reason why. Of course, a man may be a good man, and not a good father. A woman may be a good woman, but not a good mother. When this occurs, the child inevitably suffers and the parents themselves suffer most acutely. But when good people are good parents, their children ought naturally to grow up in the church of God, and they ought never to leave it."

STRONG WORDS—BUT TRUE.

Hon. John G. Cooper, a member of Congress from Ohio, delivered a speech in the House of Representatives on March 3, in which he said some very plain, but very true, things concerning the liquor traffic. We quote, as follows: "The history of the prohibition movement shows the liquor interests bribing public officials to wink at violations of the law, buying protection with money or political place, corrupting the electorate, and breaking whatever laws might have been adopted by the people for control of the traffic. Whether under local option or prohibition, high or low license, tavern, grocery, saloon, or dispensary system, the record is the same. There is no law the liquor element will obey but the law of self-interest. * * * The majority of the people, seeking law and order, have in their own hands the legal means to suppress the law-breaking minority. The problem is not to compromise with lawlessness, but to suppress it. Even if a compromise were offered, nothing but a complete surrender of the rights of self-government would satisfy the liquor element, since no laws touching this traffic have ever been obeyed. Either a lawless traffic or the law itself will be destroyed. * * * Neither the home, the cradle, the toil of man, the health and life of the race, the courts of justice, the temples of religion, the safety of the Republic, nothing man has loved, honored, and fought for has ever been respected by this lawless traffic. On no other terms than unconditional surrender or a war of extermination can we meet it. Our patience, through three centuries of forbearance, has been exhausted. Not only the sobriety, but the very life of America and her institutions of orderly government depend upon the issue of this conflict. The sentence has been passed against intoxicants. That sentence must be executed with firmness and without compromise." In our opinion, the Ohio Congressman has exactly stated the facts in reference to this traffic, and has plainly shown what the attitude of all law-abiding citizens toward it should be. It is a fight to the finish we are engaged in—and it is unthinkable that the enemies of law and order should win.

USES OF AN EMPTY HEAD.

We read the other day that bees have hived in the head of the Henry Clay statue in the cemetery at Lexington, Ky. The head of the statue is hollow—Clay's head was not; we have seen some people, though, in whose heads we thought there was plenty of room for a colony of bees—there did not seem to be much else there.

A GENIUS AT DOING NOTHING.

"An Indian in the Punjab writes in ink in Arabic a verse from the Koran on a grain of polished rice. The verse is written by the projected and polished finger nail of the writer, and the Arabic characters are so beautifully traced that one may read them with the naked eye. The artist, a middle-aged man, has been doing this kind of work for years." There may be other people in the world who are taking infinite pains in the accomplishment of tasks which amount to nothing after they are done. A man ought to work—but he ought to work at something worth while.

WHAT ARE THEY READING?

Do you parents know what your children are reading? Do you yourself provide them with literature, or do they have to get it where and when they can? Do you encourage them to read good books, magazines, and papers, or do you pay no attention to their intellectual equipment for life? Have you given any thought to the matter of their spiritual culture through reading? Do you realize that character is profoundly influenced by literature? If you are a church member and expect your children to become familiar with the work of the institution which means so much to you, do you put into their hands any periodical which represents the church? Do you yourself let them see that you are really interested in your church by trying to keep yourself informed as to its activities? Is the price of a year's subscription to your church paper more than you are willing to invest in the religious training of your children?

TRAVEL LETTERS FROM DR. AND MRS. I. W. COOPER.

So many wonderful experiences had crowded into the seventy days of our journey—many of which we have not written—that it seemed to us, when we came to the last stage of it, that it would be presumptuous to expect this to be a climax, and yet, it proved to be one—pre-eminently. We refer to the two days in which we visited Oxford and Stratford-on-Avon, two of the many literary Meccas of glorious old England.

Oxford came first. Here a humorous tour-director provided us, in this center of classic learning, with the most illiterate guide whom we had met in all our travels. However, he was not a "bad sort," for he knew and loved the locality—even if he had not mastered the king's English.

To spend one day at Oxford is quite insufficient to carry away either an adequate or definite impression of what is to be seen of its buildings, or learned of its complicated inner workings; so we can record only general impressions, though they were vivid enough. Naturally, the things that first caught our attention were the differences between this great English University and some of our own great educational institutions.

In our mind's eye we had, as a norm, the hundreds of acres of beautifully kept campus which enshrine Cornell University, or at least the comparative unity or correlation of grouping in the buildings of Columbia University; but here we found that the University and the town of Oxford are so built up together that to some extent the architectural impressiveness of a number of the buildings is more or less spoiled by lack of perspective. Four or five structures open right on one of the main thoroughfares of the town—High Street. It is true, however, that many of the colleges thus situated open either with handsome iron gateways, like that of Trinity College, or impressive tower-like archways, like Christ's Church College, into beautiful, cloistered courtyards, or impressive quadrangles. And these bits of campus, with their velvety grass, ancient trees, occasional small lakes, historic walks—such as Addison's Walk, the Lime Walk, and the Broad Walk—their shrubbery and flowers, often planted by distinguished men who have been students here—all these give artistic and individualizing touches to their respective colleges, and are a just source of pride and rivalry between the students.

Each separate college of the University—and there are some twenty-six or more of them—not only has its unique surroundings, but some feature of peculiar interest in its architecture. But in the variety of rectangles, octagons—and even circular buildings—and in the ornamentations of spires, bell-towers, columns and colonnades, there is a certain unity of impression due to the atmosphere of dignity and age which invests all of these ivy-covered walls with a misty, veiled beauty, most fitting for a place which is so "royally endowed with centuries of precious memories."

We had been told so often that places which we visited "dated back to the Norman Conquest" that we were glad to know that the town of Oxford antedated that period, beginning when the Saxon King Alfred established a mint here. However, William the Conqueror had to be heard from, so we found that he built a tower here. Once, in the days of Henry II, the town was, temporarily, a royal residence, and here Richard Coeur de Lion was born. So the town is much older than the University, which numbers only about seven hundred years of existence. But think of it! We count a school old when it has a hundred years to its credit!

There are four terms in the University year, at Oxford, and a vacation period of several weeks between each term. It was our fortune—good or ill, we are not quite sure which—to be there between Trinity term and Michaelmas term. We missed the sight of the student life, but we probably got to see more of the grounds and buildings.

Christ's Church College, with its great quadrangle, its Tom's Tower belfry, designed by Sir Christopher Wren, its beautiful cathedral, with Gothic arched ceiling, its handsome dining-hall, and above all, its association with our great John Wesley, was of primary interest to us. Our Methodist hearts were gladdened to see that John Wesley was not only honored here, at his Alma Mater—Christ's Church College—but also at Lincoln College, where he afterwards lectured and taught.

The dining-halls of the University were of absorbing interest to us—but not because of any association with food! The one at Christ's Church College, with its approach by a wonderful stairway and its wood-carved, paneled walls, is unusually handsome. All have certain features in common. Their walls are portrait galleries of eminent men who have been lecturers or students in this particular college of the University. Many of these portraits are the work of famous artists. Both because of their workmanship and because of the great personalities which they picture, these portraits are intended to be—and doubtless are—a great inspiration to the undergraduates who dine here. For what student of Christ's Church College has not been thrilled to think that he is now an integral part of the life of this dining-hall in just the same way as such men as Sir Thomas More, Sir Philip Sidney, Locke, Ben Johnson, the Duke of Wellington, Channing, Peel, Ruskin, Gladstone, and John and Charles Wesley—all of whose portraits look down on him—as alumni of this branch of the University? Every one of the other colleges has a similar custom, and points with equal pride to its long array of distinguished men—even down to the Prince of Wales, now claimed by Magdalen College.

By-the-way, we noticed often this Enblish—and continental—custom of placing in public dining-halls and parlors handsome portraits of those who had risen to eminence in church, State or world of letters, and we wondered if such a custom would not be helpful in this country, where there is all too little reverence and hero worship.

We were told that in most—if not all—of the colleges of the University the men were required to dine "once in so often" (frequently) in their college dining-halls, though they might get all other meals elsewhere. We learned that dinner was often a function of three or four hours; for after the meal was over, the men remained seated and took notes on discourses by various professors or visiting lecturers. Our comfort-loving American students would not relish this, for in place of dining chairs, the University men use long benches which have no rests for their backs.

Another indication of "plain living and high thinking" we found when we had the opportunity of climbing a dark and narrow stairway which led us to the suite of rooms in Pembroke College famous as the quarters of Samuel Johnson. Suite seemed to us a very complimentary term, for the study was not more than nine by twelve and without furniture, save of the simplest type. The bedroom, which opened into the study, was barely large enough to contain a single bed, a trunk and a few shelves on the wall. The kitchenette was no more than a dark closet with a dumb-waiter. And yet, English college men are so full of sentiment and reverence for the past that these rooms of Johnson's, which, according to our standards, are bare of all comforts, are often engaged years in advance by prospective students.

But there is another side to the picture. While some may live very simply at Oxford, many of the upper classmen (so we Americans would call them) have expensive quarters in town. They take with them, to Oxford, their fine horses, grooms, automobiles and valets. Gambling and other excesses, which usually go with extravagant living, are not unheard of here; though we were glad to believe that this type of student is not common.

As one would naturally expect, we find some wonderful libraries at Oxford. The best of these are Trinity College Library and the general University Library—the Bodleian. Together with its annex, the Radcliffe Camera, a circular building, it is said to be one of the largest and most choice libraries in all the world. Besides its hundreds of thousands of bound and manuscript volumes, it has over fifty thousand coins, antiquities and works of art. Among the latter are some original drawings by Michelangelo and Raphael.

We must mention one other building, the Sheldonian Theatre, a handsome, circular structure which is said to have a seating capacity of over four thousand, though it does not seem half so large. It is used by the University for all great public occasions. Here degrees and honors have been bestowed on some of the most famous men England and America have produced. Our guide gave us a graphic account of the occasion on which Mark Twain was "doctored" by the University.

In the few hours we were in Oxford, we did not attempt to visit all of the colleges nor to learn much about what seemed to us the complicated system of University government, with its chancellor, vice-chancellor, regents, masters, scholars, presidents, principals, provosts, wardens, censors, deans, proctors, and others.

We were glad to know, without visiting them, that there are now several colleges for women, at Oxford, though degrees are not yet conferred upon women.

We had seen enough of the University property to make us desire to see and to know more, and to return when a term was in full swing, so that we might enter into the spirit of this Oxford, so loved by her sons that one of them, Matthew Arnold, has described it as

"That sweet city, with her dreaming spires.
She needs not June for beauty's heightening.
Lovely at all times she lies."

TO PASTORS, SUNDAY SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS AND ADULT BIBLE CLASS LEADERS OF NORTH MISSISSIPPI.

Dear Friends and Co-workers: Without you the Conference Superintendent of Adult Bible Classes can do nothing. With your sympathetic co-operation and help, though we might not achieve great things, we might attempt some things worth while and helpful. We can hope for successful achievement, not through the wisdom or the ability of any human leader, but through His strength and leadership who has laid the great tasks of His church upon us. Hence this appeal to you, one and all, for whole-hearted co-operation in promoting that part of His program which has been assigned to the Adult Bible classes of our Sunday schools.

In these groups we have the adult life of the church organized for study and service. We have wrought well in the past; but the present brings a bigger task, a more challenging opportunity. Since personal letters to each of you are impossible, we beg your earnest, prayerful attention to this plea, made possible through the kindness of the Editor of the Advocate.

Bishop Ainsworth has made evangelism the major objective in our Conference this year. He has sought, in his own vigorous way, to put this burden upon the hearts of laymen as well as of ministers. Those of us responsible for the Adult Bible Class work in North Mississippi believe that in every active, well organized class there exists the machinery for this evangelistic task; and that under the consecrated leadership of pastors and the guidance of Heaven, the spirit of evangelism may be developed for its performance. Hence we are calling for an intensive campaign of organization and enrollment of new classes, and a vigorous drive for new members, to be put on in April and May.

Surveys of "prospects," or possible members, should be made at once, adequate plans for reaching every prospect should be formed; committees should be appointed to direct every phase of the drive to insure its success. It is wise, also, to name a specific objective as to numbers, and a definite date for its accomplishment. An inspiring slogan will be found helpful. The general slogan for the spring membership drive is, "Every available adult signed up for study and service."

Who will put on this membership drive in dead earnest at once, and keep at it till the goal indicated by the slogan is reached? We trust not one of the adult classes in the Conference will fail us, and be found wanting, when the report is made at district conferences and Sunday School Training schools, or when the roll is called at the Wesley Bible Class Federation meet at Grenada, June 6, 7 and 8.

We are asking that every adult class, not already provided with one, shall order from the General Sunday School Board, 810 Broadway, Nashville, Tenn., a wall chart giving the "Program of Service" for Adult Bible Classes. This should be made the guide and the measure of achievement in the forms of service possible to adult groups. Every class which adopts it becomes both more active and efficient.

We are pointing out, also, the responsibility of the Adult Class to sponsor the new Programs of Work of the A, B and C types, authorized by the General Sunday School Board. Who but the adults of the Sunday school can promote and make possible the attainment of these standards? The children cannot do it. The adult must.

God grant to every such class a vision of its opportunity, and the determination to meet it. On with the organization and membership drive!

Yours for co-operation and service,

MRS. J. M. WYATT.

Lula, Miss.

FROM THE PELICAN PINES.

By Rev. S. A. Steel, D.D.

A few days in my Den! Ah me, how I wish I could spend more time with the intellectual society I find there! I was deeply impressed with the graceful attentions shown to Sister Steel during her sickness by the kind people of Mansfield, the flowers and delicacies sent daily by her friends, and the thoughtful consideration of her comfort. Since I have to be away from home, the knowledge that she is among such devoted friends makes a hard task lighter, and I am deeply grateful to everybody who has helped me to carry my load by courtesies to "Meh Lady." I made a profound bow to my books, stood erect and saluted the Confederate flag, symbol of a vanished civilization of imperishable memory and glory, sent my trunk loaded with books to the station, kissed my sweetheart good-bye, went back and got another, then got in Brit's jitney, and of all the bumping! My, who is responsible for our streets? They are the roughest I ride on and a reproach to our town. Whoever is responsible for those streets, I hope somebody will slyly pour tobasco sauce on his steak, and wake him up and get a move on him.

I survived the ride to the station, caught the Cotton Belt at Shreveport, tumbled in early, and got off at 4 a. m. at Clarendon, Ark. This little town is made up of some fine folks, and we had a fine audience to hear about the Bible and Evolution. I was headed east, but was intercepted at Clarendon by wire, and urged to spend Easter Sunday in Eldorado; so I doubled back to Camden, where I was fortunate enough to get a bed in a room with two other men. Neither of them snored, and, of course, I did not; so we had a restful night. It was followed by a most fatiguing day. It tired me more to go from Camden to Eldorado, thirty miles, than to go from Mansfield to Memphis. I got a seat, for I can be active when it is necessary; but such a crowd of literally unwashed humanity I have not seen for many a day as jammed the train going to Eldorado. We passed through the famous oil field whose capital is "Smackover." The place as seen from the car window defies description. Mud world without end, and over everything, men, mules, wagons, cars, hub-deep, and often mixed with wasted oil. A forest of oil derricks rise in the woods, and gas wells are burning with reckless waste. A mob of dirty people climbed on to the already crowded train, and I was glad to reach Eldorado, and escape from such a mass of greasy mankind. They may put up with such conditions for money who want it; I'll plow before I go into that section for a job.

Eldorado has partially gotten through with the roughest stage, and is beginning to take on civilized ways. They won't put one person in a room at the hotels, because even by doubling up, they cannot accommodate visitors; but Rev. P. Q. Rorie had played on the almanac string in my case, and persuaded the manager of the very nice little hotel, the Foster, to let me have a room to myself. He said I was old and needed quiet, and what else he said I don't know; but I had a comfortable bed all to myself. Before I found out that Rorie had secured quarters for me, I went to several hotels. All were full. I registered at one, but when I saw who my room-mate was to be, I said to myself, he is built for snoring; so I cancelled immediately! None of that in mine. At one place the clerk said he could put me in with five other men. I told him he had my best wishes and adieus. Finally I stumbled on the place where Rorie had arranged for me. He had missed me in the mob at the station, where he went to meet me.

Easter Sunday was glorious. At 11 a. m. there was a vast audience in the Methodist tabernacle, the Masonic order in full regalia, and all the spectacular pomp of their impressive ceremonial. Brother Rorie, by special request, preached the annual sermon. He was a sight in his official robes, black cap, gown, cape, etc. He preached on the Resurrection, a strong, earnest sermon. In the afternoon there was another immense audience, and I gave "The Pioneers." These venerable heroes of the cross behaved with their usual attraction, and we had a great service. I have other speeches, but the brethren keep calling back "The Pioneers." There is a thrill in the story, a martial ring about the old Methodist preachers that stirs the blood like Ashby's bugles used to stir the Confederate horsemen that followed his daring plume. After the address in the tabernacle, I laid the corner stone of the magnificent new Methodist church in the presence of several thousand people. The church will cost at least $150,000, and is well on the way to completion. When it is finished, Eldorado will have a spiritual power-plant of the most modern construction and equipment. God grant that it may be a sure enough "power" plant. They tried to get a bishop for this august occasion, but failing, at the last moment, called on me. I met there some old Mississippi friends, the Greenhaws. They knew me when they were Greenhaws, and I was—a greenhorn! I can't tell the story here, but George Greenhaw got me out of a bad box at my first camp meeting. But he pulled me out of the frying pan only to pitch me in the fire. My, my, how the memories of old De Soto came thronging back as I looked on his "good gray head"!

I left his hospitable table in almost indecent haste to catch the train, but caught it, and rose refreshed and rested as we came in sight of the sky-scrapers on the bluff at Memphis. I always stop at the Gayoso, for sentimental reasons, for the hotel has associations with my childhood. I have a scar on my chin, made by a large window falling on my head, which was caught between the window and the sill, and cut deep into both chin and skull. The doctor who attended to the case said it was literally a "hair-breadth" escape from death. That was seventy years ago, and here I am yet, sound and well, I thank you. But the hotel has changed greatly. There used to be a social contact between the clerks and the guest; now they handle you as a box or bale of merchandise, and the good old way has gone. All right, let her go. The smart Alecks don't know everything, though they sure do know how to get your money.

The first Monday in the month, all the pastors meet, so I went around to get a peep at the Memphis clergy, and hoping to see my brother-in-law, Rev. Ed. Ramsey, who is one of them. I saw Nelson, the stalwart presiding elder, who punches up the brethren about the Centenary, and Lewis, and Clarke, but I did not stay. Some brother got up to read a paper on a serious topic, and I slipped out and scooted. Tired as I was I didn't propose to be bored with a homily. Monday I want to relax. Give me Jiggs and comedy, rather than serious stuff, no matter how good. I understood from my barber, one of Clarke's sheep, that the Methodists had just closed a "simultaneous revival," in which over 500 new members had been added to the roll. The result does not justify enthusiasm, but was good as far as it went. I bumped up against Dr. Meek, former editor of the New Orleans Christian Advocate, now editor of the Southern Methodist. I like Meek. He belongs to the old panel of princely Mississippians, that included such men as Bishop Galloway, and Dr. R. W. Jones, and Amos Kendall. I write for his paper now and-then; but he turned me down recently? Don't you know it was hot stuff, when even Meek would not print it! But he is "prudent," and you missed something, that is, if you take Dr. Meek's paper.

But here we go. As the street car approached the Union Station in Memphis, I said to the motorman, "I used to drive a four-ox-wagon along this street, and when I wanted to stop, I said 'Whoa, Buck,' and Buck at once threw his head up, and braced his feet." He looked at me like he thought I was crazy; so I said, "Whoa, Buck." He stopped the car, but didn't even grin. Yes, and one of the best meals I ever had was a lunch under the big trees that once grew on the site of the station. The seasoning and the sauce were a ravenous appetite that made the potatoes roasted in the fire, and the bacon broiled on the coals, and the milk from the big jug, a feast to set before a king. Away we go on the N. C. and St. L. to Jackson, Tenn. There I stopped at the Southern Hotel. It is run on the old but out-of-date "American plan." The rooms are large and comfortable, but I have become accustomed to service a la carte, and by nice white girls as waiters, and I don't like the old way. However, when in Rome, do as Rome does; so I conformed to the antique custom, and tried to forget some things. A small audience came out to hear about the grand procession of apes. The old building of the "Memphis Conference Female Institute" still stands, but looks gloomy, solitary, and neglected. For seventy-five years it was a nursery of Christian womanhood, and thousands of young women were sent from its halls "polished after the similitude of a palace" to bless the land. It is abandoned now, and, like all superannuates, it is "forgotten." Pathetic fate. But enough for the present.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE BOARD OF MISSIONS NOTICE.

All the brethren who are due to receive checks from the Board of Missions will be remembered just as soon as the Treasurer receives the spring Centenary remittance.

We regret so much not being able to meet, early, the needs of our faithful workers who serve the mission charges.

Let the brethren write us about their need, and feel free to make any reasonable request; and we will do our best to answer with a check. But we cannot write letters answering many questions. We believe that it is the money you need, and not our advice. The presiding elders have all the information you want, and will be glad to help every one.

Fraternally,

A. M. BROADFOOT, Treasurer.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Lake Charles District.

Since our last report, the church and parsonage at Henry, on the Abbeville charge, have been destroyed by fire. The people of that community are preparing to rebuild as soon as possible.

The parsonage at Abbeville has been remodeled, so Brother Miller and family are now domiciled in one of the prettiest little parsonages in the district, and the work is in fine shape.

Rev. H. N. Harrison and his good people, of New Iberia, are busy getting ready for the district conference, which convenes at that place April 18 to 20.

On March 11, we preached to a fine congregation at Lafayette. Brother McCain is much loved by his people. We hope to see a splendid new church in the near future in this progressive little city.

* * *

Rev. A. K. McLelland is happy in his work at Rayne.

Rev. A. W. Waddill began a meeting in Lake Charles on Easter Sunday. He is doing the preaching, and Brother C. E. Edwards, of Barlow, Ky., is leading the singing.

* * *

Rev. S. D. Roberts is doing good work on the Sulphur and Vinton charge.

* * *

Rev. R. M. Brown is doing a great work at Merryville. The meeting, just closed, in which Brother McCain did the preaching, was a fine meeting, the results of which were given in the Advocate last week.

* * *

Rev. A. E. Barrett is working hard at Hornbeck and Pearson.

Rev. J. A. McCormack is doing fine at Many and Robeline.

Rev. S. D. Howard is faithfully standing by the Lord's work at Lake Arthur.

Easter Sunday we spent with Rev. L. N. Hoffpauir, at Leesville, and had a great day. The Sunday school rendered a fine program. The offering amounted to $71.46 from Sunday school and $93.46 from the congregation.

* * *

Rev. Claude Mayo, at Neame and Pickering, is going forward in his work, gaining the love of his people.

* * *

Rev. P. O. Lowrey is looking after every interest of the church at Indian Bayou. The rain and bad roads have interfered with his plans, but he has everything arranged for a forward move when the sun does shine.

* * *

Rev. J. I. Hoffpauir, with his splendid laymen and women, is doing a fine work in his large territory.

* * *

Next Saturday and Sunday we will be with our pastor on the Branch charge, Rev. J. H. Hoffpauir. We always find him about his Master's work.

Rev. Alonzo Early reports a great day Easter Sunday, with 20 members received and more to come next Sunday. The new pipe organ was installed and used for the first time Easter Sunday. The church at Crowley has a fine Sunday school, with Brother Walter Fontenot as superintendent and a fine group of teachers. It is a pleasure to meet with them.

* * *

Rev. A. A. Bernard, who has charge of Gueydan and Estherwood, is doing a good work.

J. B. WILLIAMS, P. E.

Monroe District.

All of the pastors and churches are busily engaged in trying to collect the Centenary pledges. If the people respond to the call made by the leaders, I see no reason why the Monroe District should not do as has been requested. All who see this notice are urged to make a special effort to make our District 100%. If we would only realize how important it is and how much is depending upon it, we would gladly make sacrifices to redeem our pledge.

From reports over the District, the congregations on Easter Sunday surpassed all records, and the offering for the Orphanage was gratifying. It is one institution that lies near to the hearts of the people, and they are always glad to answer to the appeal of the dependent ones at Ruston.

Since last writing, three churches on the District suffered injury through wind-storm. The five-year-old brick church at Oak Grove had one wall blown in and a goodly part of the roof taken off. It will call for extensive repairs. The church at Tallulah was so damaged as to make it unsafe for use. A new building will have to be erected. The church at Mangham was slightly damaged. However, all of these congregations will do their best in providing safe quarters for the meeting of the people.

The Winnsboro church is in the midst of a gracious revival, under the leadership of Rev. J. V. Bennett, of Mississippi. Good tidings come from that field.

The second quarterly conference of the Rayville charge, held at Delhi, was a largely attended meeting. Interesting reports were made. Several accessions to the church were announced.

First Church, Monroe, is getting ready to build a new parsonage. They have an ideal lot in the choice residential section of the city. The work is progressing along all lies. Large congregations attend divine worship. The Sunday school, Epworth League, and Missionary Society are all doing most excellent work. New members are added to the church weekly.

West Monroe church is still holding the attention of an enthusiastic people. The Men's Bible Class is a notable feature in church activities.

A goodly number of our Sunday school workers attended the conference at Alexandria, and we are hoping to see better results in Sunday school work as a result of the visit.

Our District Conference will be held at Winnsboro, April 27-29. A full program is being arranged that will bring before the people the varied interests of our church. We are hoping to have a large representation of laymen to enter into the discussions. Mr. Editor, your presence is urgently requested.

W. D. KLEINSCHMIDT, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENC.

Jackson District.

The month of March has been for the Jackson District a month of bad roads, bad weather and much sickness. We hope April holds a brighter page.

The first round of quarterly conferences closed March 3. With one exception, all the reports were up to, or in advance of, last year. A number of accessions on profession of faith were reported.

* * *

The church at Edwards was called to mourn the going away of Brother C. N. Harris. He was a faithful steward, true to all the trusts committed to him. He was the son of Rev. H. J. Harris, who wrought faithfully in the early days of Mississippi.

The budget system has been adopted by several individual churches. Pelahatchie and Benton are notable instances.

Twenty Sunday schools in the district have ordered programs of efficiency, "C" type. The little band at Millsaps Memorial propose to be the first to reach the 100%. Before the year closes, may there be threescore schools that show 100% efficiency.

* * *

Rev. J. V. Bennett, Conference evangelist, conducted the Y. M. C. A. meeting at Millsaps College. They report a good meeting.

From April 1 to 8, we are hoping that every subscriber to the Centenary in this district will pay up, if possible. The money is needed, but whether it is needed or not, it is an obligation that we should meet if possible. Let every pastor, lay leader, and treasurer be ready by the morning of the 9th to report to the Centenary Treasurer that the canvass has been made and its results.

* * *

Mr. John Tyler, of the Jerry McAuley Mission, has been speaking in the Capitol Street Church for ten days. He tells a wonderful story of the power of redeeming love to save from sin.

* * *

Nearly all the pastors in the district have arranged for their evangelistic campaigns. We are expecting and praying for great revivals this year.

* * *

Dr. G. Campbell Morgan is to be in Jackson during part of the month of June. A great treat is in store for those who love the Bible and its messages.

This paragraph is to call the attention of pastors to question 9 of the quarterly conference, and to ask that the committee be called to assist the pastor in circulating Christian literature.

* * *

Rev. W. J. Ferguson, of Yazoo City, began a meeting on Easter Sunday, assisted by Rev. W. B. Hogg, of El Paso, Tex.

Miss Daisy Davies, of Atlanta, Ga., is to be in the district April 1, 2 and 3. We are hoping that her wonderful story may be heard by hundreds of Methodists.

* * *

Dr. Rolfe Hunt spent the month of February in the Jackson District. He did good work, notwithstanding the weather, on the Harrisville and Camden circuits. He will be with us again in May.

M. L. BURTON, P. E.

BULLETINS FROM THE GREENVILLE DISTRICT.

Shelby reports one-half of budget paid, and the other fifty per cent provided for. Dr. C. M. Chapman is the happy pastor of this A1 charge. Other bulletins will follow. Let every charge and pastor take notice.

Tunica is 100% and over on Centenary. All collections for the year provided for. Definite, constructive work on the part of the pastor, Rev. C. A. Parks, was a vital factor in this happy work.

Lula and Dundee 100% to date on pastor's salary and benevolences. Great revival. Careful oversight and leadership of Rev. J. M. Wyatt largely responsible. All finances of the year provided for.

JAMES H. FELTS, P. E.

FOR SALE.—Modern furnished five-room cottage, eastern exposure, on Tabernacle square, Seashore Camp Ground, third door from beach. Price, $700. Address W. W. Moore, 437 Boulevard, Shreveport, La.

THE SEASHORE DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

The Seashore District Conference convened at Moss Point April 4-5, Rev. W. M. Sullivan, P. E., presiding.

The attendance at the District Conference was fine. Only one pastor was absent, and the laymen and other members of the conference were well represented. The spirit and fellowship was great; it was indeed good to be there.

The preaching was done by Revs. J. G. Galloway, J. M. Corley, J. M. Morse, and T. H. King. These services were great spiritual feasts.

The reports on the general state of the church show a general spiritual uplift throughout the district, and all the pastors are enthusiastic in the work.

The conference was honored by the presence of the following visitors: Rev. J. M. Morse, Rev. J. C. Chambers, Rev. W. M. Williams, Rev. B. F. Lewis, Dr. J. M. Sullivan, and Mr. W. D. Hawkins.

The Centenary work was especially emphasized and the collection of pledges was urged.

The laymen's work was looked into, and the reports show that there is an increasing interest manifested in this part of our church work. Mr. W. E. Barnes was elected District Lay Leader, with Mr. Horris Hinds and Mr. A. M. Hinton as Associate Lay Leaders. H. B. Rush, J. C. Hardy, C. B. Gates, C. H. Wood, D. R. Weston, W. E. Barnes, A. B. Goff, and Mrs. C. M. Fairley were elected as delegates to the Annual Conference, and W. R. Hinton, T. M. Evans, Dr. H. P. Hopper, and John Cockran were elected alternate delegates.

A resolution commending the work of Rev. W. M. Sullivan, who is serving his fourth year as presiding elder of the district, was read and adopted by a rising vote.

Plenty of time was given for everything, and all the business of the conference was carefully attended to, and the conference adjourned to meet next year at Lumberton.

J. F. CAMPBELL, Secretary.

My Dear Co-Workers: I hope that by the time this letter reaches you through the Advocate, each church will have put on its Centenary Campaign, every subscriber seen personally by some one interested in the work of the Centenary, and every dollar been collected possible, and that each church will have reported to the presiding elder of its district, and every dollar collected will have been sent either to me direct, or deposited in the bank to the credit of John E. Edgerton, Treasurer, and report sent to me of the amount collected. If not, be sure to do this, for it is going to require every dollar possible to do that which we must do in this time of great opportunity. ## THE RETIRED PREACHER.

By Bishop William B. Murrah.

The phrase "worn-out preacher" should be discarded. Let it no longer have place among us. It is misleading. It is not descriptive of the noble veterans to whom it is often applied. It suggests inefficiency, while many of them are among the most useful members of society. They make rich contributions to the communities in which they live. Their presence is a benediction and an inspiration. They have earned the right to an honorable discharge from the exacting duties of active service, but they are not worn out. How poor our Conferences would be without them! How often have their rich experiences and the recounting of their heroic deeds, not boastfully but radiantly, thrilled our souls!

It is gratifying to note that the claims of the superannuated preacher are being recognized to a degree not known before. Several of the great denominations have been conspicuously active in his behalf. Movements well conceived and comprehensive in scope give promise of better things. But mere recognition is not enough; something more practical and helpful is called for. Immediate relief is demanded; but sporadic appeals, however earnest and compelling, will not bring the needed relief.

A widespread sentiment must be created that will crystallize in something systematic and permanent.

The claim of the superannuated Methodist preacher is peculiar and preeminent. He has thrown himself into the holy cause to which he has consecrated his life with an abandon that involves utter self-abnegation. Making no provision for the flesh, "he counts all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus, the Lord."

We shall suffer a reproach humiliating in the extreme if we allow ourselves to fall behind other denominations in providing for the retired preacher. We have all been remiss. We should confess it with shame and bring forth fruit meet for repentance.

The proposed special effort for the Superannuate Endowment Fund is a movement that should commend itself to our people everywhere. It must appeal very strongly to our laymen. It should stir patriotic fervor and call forth expressions of deep gratitude. All have been beneficiaries of the unselfish and often heroic work of these veterans who make up our honor rolls. Their devotion to Christly ideals and social purity have made possible what is best in our home life.

We cannot overestimate the extent of their influence in creating conditions which make for business prosperity, and they have always stood for and bravely fought for the highest elements in our civilization. The contributions that the preacher makes to the well-being of society were not more marked and influential in pioneer days than they are now. These soldiers of the cross by their self-sacrificing devotion are pouring a steady and constant stream of vitalizing forces into the channels of our modern life. They lead and stimulate all of the great movements and moral reforms which give added protection to life and property. We can never discharge our obligations to them, but every instinct of gratitude and patriotism should arouse enthusiastic zeal in their behalf. Economic considerations enforce the urgency of the appeal for an adequate Superannuate Endowment Fund. It has become a necessity in our great church if we are to maintain an efficient itinerant ministry.

Nothing is so paralyzing in its influence as uncertainty about the future. Self-respecting men are unwilling to depend upon occasional appeals to meet the exacting demands for the mere necessities of life. If the church and society are to have the services of a vigorous and competent ministry, they must provide something permanent and reliable.

The early preachers were stimulated by assurances that homes were open to them everywhere. Harassing cares did not disturb them, but modern conditions create a very different situation. As long as men feel that they must hold on long after health and strength have been impaired and the church hesitates to enforce retirement because no adequate provision has been made for meeting the necessities of the aged and infirm, the loss in the mere matter of working force will be incalculable and the humiliation and mortification involved will become intolerable.

If we are to escape reproach and shame, we must put to work all the activities of the church to meet the demands of a situation which becomes more acute every day. Our resources are ample. To plead poverty in extenuation of continued neglect would be a craven thing. It is my firm and confident belief that when this sacred cause is properly presented to our people the heart of our beloved church will react promptly and enthusiastically and that the results will greatly exceed the expectations of the most hopeful.

Memphis, Tenn.

"ANVIL FLASHES."

By Luther E. Todd.

Active preachers, keep on telling yourselves this truth: "Every day in every way I am getting nearer to superannuation."

• • •

A dear old worn-out preacher has just requested the Board of Finance to help him raise the money for his wife's burial. This brother received $100 at his Conference last fall for a year's living.

• • •

I have noticed that the very exceptional preacher who does not react favorably on the "Call of the Forgotten Man" rarely warms up to anything but himself.

One of the most encouraging things that has happened recently with reference to the special effort for superannuate endowment is the assurance that the women of the church are "throwing their 1923 hats into the ring."

• • •

When a layman contributes to endow the superannuate ministry of his church, his contribution also serves to endue the active ministry with power for more effective service.

Some people think that nothing should be stated publicly about the needs of the superannuates, but they think it is perfectly proper to tell the never-ending story of deprivations being suffered in the Near East.

The movement for superannuate endowment will test the mettle of the preachers. Never before did any group of men have presented to them an opportunity which embraced such far-reaching possibilities. What will we do with the chance? Let thoroughbreds answer.

Laymen should be busy as bees from now on, earnestly striving to create in every charge an enthusiasm for superannuate endowment. Come on, men; "sell" the proposition to every person you meet. It has been repeatedly stated that the laymen can hardly wait for the old preachers' "party" to begin, so anxious are they to give the veterans a jolly good "pounding." Is it the truth, men? Can we depend on you? Will you see this thing through?

To reach success, my son, you must pass through the door upon which is the word "Push."

BEN'S BANK.

It isn't on the mantelpiece,
Nor made of painted tin;
It hasn't any fancy slot
To drop the pennies in.
O, no, Ben's bank is different;
It holds a richer store
That grows in value every year,
And yields its owner more.

Benny began to fill his bank
When he was very small;
He never cried at knocks or bumps,
Or whimpered at a fall;
And so he laid up, every day,
Some coins of Courage there,
Till now, if he has need of it,
There's plenty and to spare.

Then Benny learned to store up Truth,
Obedience, Justice, too,
And Generosity—dear me,
How his deposits grew!
Year after year the sums enlarged,
A bank account indeed,
Which Benny draws upon at will
Whenever he has need.

So, when our Benny is a man
He will be good and true,
Generous and just to every one,
Courageous through and through.
His bank will never break but still
With wealth his life endow.
Have you a bank like Benny's? No?
Well, why not start one now?

—Barbara Griffiths, in Exchange.

THE REVELATION.

There were two in the office waiting for the surgeon, a girl whose beautiful gown and pale face told of wealth that had not been able to win for her the gift of health, and a young woman a few years older, plainly, almost shabbily dressed. The younger waited pensively, but the older walked back and forth with uncontrollable nervousness. Finally she stopped beside the chair of the other.

"Please forgive me," she said, "but I'm so frightened. I've got to have an operation—I've come for the last arrangements. I suppose I'm a coward, but I feel as if I must run out that door in one minute more."

The girl looked up at her, smiling. "They will be very good to you," she said. "I've been through it."

"You?" Then slowly, "If you stood it, I suppose I can."

"You will be surprised," the other told her. "You will be glad in ways you didn't guess. I was."

"But you weren't alone. Oh, I haven't any right to bother you, I know, but it—it smothers me to think of it! I suppose it's my fault. I haven't a soul belonging to me, and I didn't make friends with the others in the shop. I wish now that I had. It's so terrible to think that there won't be a soul to care!"

The girl with the beautiful gown smiled again. "That is what you have to learn," she said—"that people care. It's worth the suffering. When do you 'go to sleep?' To-morrow? You will not be told, but I am going to come and enquire for you; you may know that I shall have been here."

"But I'm a stranger!" the other cried.

"No," the girl answered, "you are not a stranger. You'll understand after to-morrow."

She had been "to sleep." As the confused dreams passed something still persisted—something pink, like sunrise, and fragrant. Finally, with a gasp of wonder, she realized. They were roses—such roses as she had never seen in her life. She closed her eyes to keep back the weak tears. The girl had kept her promise.

Later there were questions to ask—very slowly. Those pansies? A little boy in the opposite room sent them in, the nurse told her. And the little country roses?

"An old lady in Ward B. She is coming in to see you as soon as you are ready for visitors."

The girl thought over it two days—thinking was very slow work, yet. Then she beckoned the nurse.

"I want to send some of my flowers—to somebody that's lonely," she said.—Exchange.

HOW JOEY LEARNED.

"I can't do that old example," pouted Joey as he pushed his book away. Joey didn't like to study his home work, because he knew so many other ways of spending his time out of school.

Joey's father looked up from his evening newspaper in surprise. "What seems to be the trouble?" he inquired quietly.

"I don't see any use in 'rithmeic," responded Joey sullenly.

His father looked earnestly for a moment at Joey, and Joey's eyes dropped. Whenever he looked at him like that Joey somehow felt guilty. "Let's see," said his father slowly, "what is it you want to be when you're a man?"

Joey's spine stiffened and his eyes glowed. "A civil engineer," he answered firmly.

"Anr what do you want to build?"

"Bridges—and lots of other things."

Joey's father smiled. "If you want to build bridges, don't you think it would help to know arithmetic?" he asked.

Joey hesitated a little while before he answered. "You don't need to know any 'rithmetic to build a bridge-"

Mr. Robbins put down his newspaper and walked to the other end of the room. Taking two chairs, he placed them some distance apart, while Joey watched him interestedly. "Now, suppose those are the banks of a river," said Mr. Robbins, "and you had to put a bridge across it. What would you do first?"

"Why I—I—" faltered Joey.

Mr. Robbins did not appear to notice his embarrassment as he said briskly: "Now cut a piece of cardboard to fit across the space between the chairs.

Joey glanced at the make-believe river and became busy with the scissors.

"Now put your bridge over the river," commanded his father when the task was done.

Joey walked toward the chairs confidently. But to his chagrin he discovered that the cardboard was three inches short. He looked sheepish as his father took him upon his lap.

"Without arithmetic men couldn't build houses, or boats, or anything else," his father answered. "Without it there would be no banks, no business and no transportation. Before you can build a bridge over a river you must know how wide it is; you must figure the depth of the foundations and the substructure; the stress and many other things. Don't you see how important arithmetic is?"

Joey agreed, and when he picked up his book again it was with grim determination to master every example.—Robert Hage, in The Boy's Weekly.

"TIME OUT."

Why He Picked Pictish.

An English mother was visiting her son at college.

"Well, dear," she said, "what languages did you decide to take?"

"I have decided to take Pictish, mother," he replied.

"Pictish?" said the puzzled lady. "Why Pictish?"

"Only five words of it remain," he said.—Railroad Red Book.

Be What You Is.

Don't be what you ain't.
Jes' be what you is.
If you is not what you am,
Then you am not what you is.
If you're just a little tadpole,
Dont' try to be a frog.
If you're just the tail
Don't try to wag the dog.
You can always pass the plate,
If you can't exhort and preach.
If you're just a little pebble,
Don't try to be the beach.
Don't be what you ain't
Jus' be what you is,
For the man who plays it square
Is a-goin' to get "his."

"OUR CONFERENCE ORGAN."

Under the above caption, Rev. W. B. Jones, our pastor at Crystal Springs, Miss., gives, in the "Methodist Messenger," his local church bulletin, such a fine presentation of the claims of the Conference organ upon the support of its constituency that we take the privilege of reproducing it. Brother Jones says:

"The New Orleans Christian Advocate is our Conference organ. It exists primarily for giving the church news and for spreading the Kingdom of God among our folk in Mississippi and Louisiana; and it is supported by them. The price of subscription is $2.00 a year, about four cents a week. That is less than the price of a shoe shine, a shave, an ice cream cone, or a package of cigarettes or chewing gum. Yet some complain, and do not take it, because 'it is too high.' It is difficult to see how a church member, though he be a devout Christian, can be an intelligent Methodist without the church paper. To do that, it is necessary to take it and read it. There are so many great things going on in our church to-day all over the world that many of our people do not know about simply because they do not take the Advocate. Our people still perish for lack of knowledge. Therefore, being ignorant of these great movements and achievements, they do not really appreciate what a great church we have. It would make us more religious, more faithful, more liberal, and more thankful to know these things. There is no way of knowing them without the church paper. Get it and read it."

The subscription price of the Advocate—$2 a year—may seem high to some people; but when we think of the comparisons suggested by Brother Jones, it is insignificant. The price of the paper is actually a little less than four cents a week—surely a member of the Methodist Church would not consider that too much to pay for the information weekly that would keep him in touch with the great work his church is doing. We repeat the exhortation of Brother Jones—"Get it and read it."

HOW A MISSISSIPPI WOMAN WRITES ABOUT THE GOLDEN CROSS.

By Rev. Charles C. Jarrell, D.D., Secretary, General Hospital Board.

Far-sighted church leaders, both ministers and laymen, have predicted that the Golden Cross would make a well-nigh universal appeal to our church. A good beginning has been made and our General Hospital Board has organized for work. Bishop Candler bore the whole burden of correspondence himself for months, but the new Secretary is now in the office.

As fast as possible, Conference after Conference will be highly organized for the next enrollment campaign. Various centers are already moving toward hospital movements. The Board has secured at Montgomery a splendid hospital plant, whose main building is near completion. It is imperative that the Golden Cross be presented to our people until it "Covers Dixie like the Dew."

The following letter from a Mississippi woman is full of the spirit which will put the enterprise on its feet. Late our church has entered this field. She is now moving to make her ministry fourfold, according to the terms of her charter, "Go; Preach; Teach; Heal."

The letter follows in part:

"Bishop W. A. Candler,
"Atlanta, Ga.

"Dear Bishop and Friend:

"My plan to enroll a considerable number of members in our Golden Cross Society was thwarted by the failure of the consignment of membership cards you mailed us, at my request, to Greenwood, Miss., to reach me until in the very last moments before adjournment. I deeply regretted this unfortunate circumstance, for I had received a most enthusiastic response when I presented the matter in connection with my own Hospital Board report to our Missionary Conference at Greenwood. Much interest was manifested, and I was repeatedly asked for the cards from that time until their arrival. . . . I am sending herein the money for those who paid the fees, together with membership cards.

"While I regret that there was time for no more signatures to be taken, I feel sure that the cards taken home by the delegates unsigned will not be wasted, but rather used effectively to give publicity to the movement and create interest in it. I gave out the entire lot to people who appeared to be genuinely interested. I was especially generous in the number given to the Conference Superintendents of Young People and Children's Work, requesting that they enlist the active young life of our churches in the work of advertising the Golden Cross Society, and in securing members. I observed that it seemed to appeal particularly to delegates from these younger groups. I trust the seed sown in Greenwood may bear fruit in membership enrollment and promotional work throughout our Conference.

"If I can ever be of further service in this hospital work, please command me.

"Very cordially,
"MRS. J. M. WYATT."

If Mississippi has many women like this, the Golden Cross will soon be known in that State.

HOW FAR ARE OUR CHURCH SCHOOLS "CHRISTIAN?"

By Rev. P. O. Lowrey.

We are glad to see the occasional discussions on the question as to whether our church schools are fulfilling the purpose for which they are set. As a pastor and parent, there are several points of weakness charged against some of them that I think need correcting before we give them a clean bill of health before the church's and the public's board of judgment.

In the first place, our contention for the need of our schools to produce Christian laymen fit for the highest leadership in the church, must be justified by the finished product of our colleges in the type of the workers they give the church that supports the schools. How far, then, are the graduates of our denominational colleges ahead of the graduates of the State and independent colleges? The history of the church, no doubt, will amply justify the existence of the denominational colleges from the noble laymen and laywomen whom these schools have given it; but does the present-day college continue to give us such products, and to what extent? Allowing for the start given in our Christian homes and the training by the local church, how much better are the Christian products of our church schools than of our State and independent schools, judged by their actual value to the church and to the kingdom? In many instances there is no question as to the religious and church value of our school products, but in too many instances those coming from our church schools show but little training in the matter of church loyalty and church activity, and we are persuaded that more attention should be given to this part of their specialty by church institutions. It is not an unknown thing with us that graduates from some of our church schools come home to live lives unknown to the church activities, and in such cases the question is always raised as to what gain to the church there is in the investment made in their education, since, if it is only training for selfish worldliness that they were educated, the State has already amply provided for that, and there is no need of the church's having schools to do the same kind of work. And here is where we fear some of our schools are developing a weakness, stressing the cultural, and neglecting the spiritual life and the training for service in the kingdom and in the home church. How many of our present-day colleges are permeated with a deep spirituality, and are putting on earnest revival efforts, and are being satisfied with nothing less than that the last student is led into a deep spiritual and consecrated life?

Another matter about which we have thought is the question of social ideals begotten and maintained in our church schools, especially those for girls, the temptation being to invite the worldly rich into the student body, and then let them live in their erstwhile worldly ways while in college. Even the teachers themselves are not always consecrated Christian workers, but are inclined to worldliness, being chosen as literary teachers rather than Christian educators. We have in the course of our lifetime seen church college girls appear in their various public programs on the stage dressed in the regulation low cut dresses of the theatre, and no question ever raised as to its impropriety. What onlooker would justify this result from a church's consecrated efforts in education? In this case not only have the girls from worldly homes gone through school without having corrected their former worldly training, but, on the other hand, they have been permitted to stamp their lower ideals on the lives of those from the humble homes of the pious whose spiritual aims for their children are held as the most sacred of all values.

As a twin evil of this tendency to worldliness in our girls' schools, is that of tobacco using in some of our boys' schools, in some cases even the teachers themselves being addicts to this filthy and scientifically condemned habit. If the parents of our boys can't find a school home for them in their own church institutions where they can be trained to come back to them with habits at least up to what they have been taught at home, then why burden the church with heavy calls for support, when education of that class can be had at the expense of the State? To our mind, the policy of allowing tobacco using either among the faculty or the student body of our church schools for boys is but little less than suicidal, in that parents can get that kind of education for their boys without paying tuition for it, and an increasing number of the best citizens of the land, to say nothing of Christian parents, want a different environment for the boys when they leave home. If in such matters as this our schools are "not different," then why have them at all? But if we keep a clear and unblemished record on this and other similar moral and social questions, we can make a worth while appeal to parents who are looking for an ideal school home life, as well as teaching and example in social morals equal at least to the home from which our pupils go.

LOYALTY.

By Rev. W. F. Henderson, Jr.

Having spent some time in the Highland Sanitarium in Shreveport, recently, for an operation for appendicitis, I had opportunity to make a few observations, and draw a few conclusions.

I became fairly well acquainted with some of the doctors, nurses and employees of the institution, and what impressed me most was their loyalty to it. Not one word of criticism of the house surgeon, the head nurse, or any one who was in authority, or of each other; as a matter of fact, when anything pertaining to the Sanitarium and its affairs was said, it was in the nature of a boost. A man committed suicide on the lawn, but not one word was whispered about it, and we patients found it out only by reading the next morning's paper. LOYALTY!

Then, as I had so little to do, I thought a little. Now, thinking for some of us is very hard work. I wondered why the members of the same household of faith could not be loyal to their church. I wondered why they could not be loyal to the great head—Jesus Christ—and to their leaders—pastors, superintendents, teachers, etc. I believe the one thing that Protestants, Methodists, need to learn above everything else is LOYALTY.

A preacher must have at least two fresh and challenging messages a week; he must be a teacher, rightly dividing the word of truth; he must be a student of books and human nature; a physical tonic, a mental stimulus, a moral jolt, and a spiritual shock to torpid and sleepy saints; a vocational adviser to the youth of his congregation; a floor walker in his church; a business manager, a debt raiser, a claims adjuster for all sorts of folk; an after-dinner speaker, easy, entertaining, inspiring; a director of all sorts of boards within and without the church; Mrs. Winslow's soothing syrup for some one with nerves; a good fellow, a good sport, a good mixer, a good friend, and, when he has time to be, a good husband and father.

He must be a spotless model of dignity, dress, wisdom, discretion, taste, tact, patience, sympathy, faith, hope, and charity. He must have a memory like a city directory and a smile that won't come off; he must not say anything that would hurt the feelings of some old "cussin'," drinking, dancing, or card-playing member. With all these qualifications, can it be said that the life of a preacher or teacher is an easy one? Notwithstanding all these qualifications and the fact that he has a lifetime of character that has stood the most rigid tests, when some "Marble Top Willie," whom every one knows as one without any moral standing, begins to knock preacher, church, and all that pertains to it, church folk remain silent, or join in with the anvil chorus, without consideration as to what it means to the church. I have always been unable to see why a man should be more loyal to his lodge or secret order than to his church—want to keep the rules and regulations of it to the letter, and attend upon its meetings, while the church is a side issue; want to held on to membership, in order to be respectable, and still violate its every rule and ordinance.

I asked one of the young ladies who is in training for a nurse, and who is a member of the Methodist Church, and a product of the Ruston Orphanage, of whom the whole church may be proud, "How long would one remain a member of the Sanitarium family if one knocked it as some members do their church?" She replied, "About as long as it would take to pack up your things."

Marion Lawrance said, in a recent address: "I belong to the best church on earth, and you do, too; if you do not think so, you ought to get out before breakfast."

Then I turned over and went to sleep and dreamed about the millennium. So mote it be!

On the morning of Feb. 15, 1923, as JESSE BION LEFTWICH stood before the window of his room and remarked to his beloved companion: "What an exquisitely beautiful day! I have never seen the sun shine so brightly," his body fell upon the bed as his noble spirit departed from the city of Mobile, Ala., to that city of many dwellings whose maker and builder is God. He was born in Lafourche, La., Aug. 31, 1857, and when a young man he moved to Mobile, where he engaged in business. On the third day of March, 1881, he was happily united in marriage with Miss Fannie S. Case, the youngest daughter of the late Dr. D. C. Case, of New Orleans, who, with four children, survives him. Little Bion, a bright, handsome boy, when about four years of age, passed away, to be with the blessed Saviour who loves little children. The surviving children are: Mrs. Velma Lassiter, of Lake Charles, La.; Mrs. Alma Fulton and Mrs. Beulah Norquist, of Mobile, Ala., and Mr. Harold Leftwich, of Chicago, Ill. Four grandchildren complete the family circle. The bond of love that bound together this devoted family was one of unusual strength and beauty. During the last two years his health failed steadily, yet at all times he exhibited the cheerfulness and optimism which always in marked degree characterized him even amid the reverses and sad experiences that are incident to humanity. His loved ones spared not themselves in ministering to him in gentle attention as far as was humanly possible. One brother and seven sisters survivo him. As his brother-in-law I have known him intimately for many years, our acquaintance antedating his marriage, and during all these years I can bear glad testimony to his many sterling, unselfish qualities that made him indeed one of God's noblemen. I have never known him to say or do anything unworthy a Christian gentleman. His kind, genial disposition won for him a host of friends in every walk of life. In early youth he gave his heart to the Lord Jesus Christ and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in which he lived a faithful, consistent life to the end. For many years he sustained official relation to the St. Francis Methodist Church, Mobile, as Sunday school superintendent and steward, holding the latter relation at the time of his death. At one time he was president of the Board of Trustees of the Seashore Camp Ground, Mississippi. Thus having lived true to every relation in life, beloved and honored by his fellow-men, faithful in the service of his Master, happy in the knowledge that his children, walking in his footsteps, were all active, consistent members of the church, having rounded out a long and useful life, with "his house set in order," and with his last impression of earth as that of a bright, unclouded sky, his spirit gently slipped away to the realm of eternal day to meet the loved ones who preceded him and to await the great family reunion. The funeral was conducted by the Rev. James D. Hunter, D.D., pastor of the St. Francis Street Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. C. A. Rush, presiding elder of the Mobile District. The large attendance of friends and the many floral offerings attested the love and esteem in which he was held.

"Thou shalt come to thy grave in a full age, like a shock of corn cometh in his season." This promise was fully verified in the life of JAMES C. JOHNSON, who died March 3, 1923, in Natchez, Miss., at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Mittie Bullen. He was the oldest son of Rev. W. B. and Mary Osborn Johnson; born near Fayette, Miss., Aug. 24, 1832, and spent most of his useful life in Jefferson County. On July 19, 1855, he was happily married to Miss Olive D. Davis, who was reared by her uncle, Rev. John G. Jones, of precious memory. Surrounded by such splendid influences, these young people became founders of a lovely Christian home, from which six children went out to useful Christian lives. Three children were waiting for him on the other shore. The widowed mother and six children are left to mourn their loss. Two brothers and a sister survive him. As a tired child, at the close of a long day of its little pains and pleasures, lies down to rest in the arms of a tender, loving mother, so this weary and worn traveler gladly lay down to rest after his long life of loving service. He had no fears of death or the future, for his faith was firm in the promise of his Savior, "Where I am, there shall ye be also." May God bless and comfort his lonely companion!

Sleep on, beloved; sleep, and take thy rest;
Lay down thy head upon thy Savior's breast;
We love thee well, but Jesus loves thee best—
Good night! Good night!

A FRIEND.

IN MEMORIAM.

As a beautiful flower that burst forth into a world of sunshine and love, pregnant with loveliness and fragrance, but blooming for only a day, she came into the world Sept. 14, 1903—IVY MAE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Harrison, and wife of Mr. H. A. Wall, of Hickory, Miss.

Nineteen years ago she was born, and happily received by loving parents. She was the oldest daughter in the home and the pride and joy of her father and mother. From childhood she grew into womanhood—happy and full of the joy of living, and rejoicing as she went. She was a member of the Methodist Church, and a good-hearted and loving girl.

Only a year ago she married, but that year, she said before she went away, was full of sweetness and happiness. It was true; they were so happy, the young husband and wife, always together; and when she became ill in December, and did not improve as the days went by, her husband and family were overwhelmed with sorrow and fear. Patiently she bore her pain, and uncomplainingly always. It was not until the 27th of January that the Angel of Death came to relieve her from her torture and suffering.

She was aware of the approaching end and told her loved ones that she was going to Heaven. Although life had been full and sweet to her, there seemed to be no fear of the Infinite in her heart—no regret that she was going, only that she was sorry her loved ones must be unhappy. She rejoiced before she fell asleep in her coming motherhood, and yearned inexpressibly for the little life that never knew this world. Beautiful thought, that we must comfort ourselves with, is that she is happy with her baby, her loved ones, and friends! She is happy. She would not come back to us. It is we who must live good lives and meet her where there is no parting. She has gone from the world that will miss her laugh; from the hearts that yearn for her smiles; she has passed from life to the misty beyond. We shall know in the afterawhile that she is not lost or forgotten, but happy above, and free from all sorrow and pain; we'll miss her and love her forever—and then! but we know we shall meet her again!

A CALL FOR POST CARDS.

Rev. George D. Naylor, missionary, Iglesia Methodista, Guantanimo, Cuba, sends the following request: "If you have opportunity to ask some of the Sunday schools or Epworth Leagues to send us some used picture post cards, with blank paper pasted over the written side, we can use them to advantage by writing a Bible verse on the blank side and distributing them among the children. Or if any one will send us pictures and pretty advertisements, colored paper or thread, sewing-cards, etc.,—any kind of material suitable for hand-work for children—we will be grateful for it. Cuban children, especially in the poorer towns (such as Guantanamo), have so little that is bright and attractive in their homes and lives that they are delighted with little things of the kind mentioned." For mailing instructions on packages to Cuba, write Bureau of Specials.

Discovery by Science Has Replaced Them.

Science has found a newer, better way—a means as simple as Nature itself.

In perfect health a natural lubricant keeps the food waste soft and moving. But when constipation exists this natural lubricant is not sufficient. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication.

As Nujol is not a medicine or laxative, it cannot gripe and, like pure water, it is harmless and pleasant.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE NOTES.

Sunday, the 8th, it was our pleasure to be with the folks at Capitol Street for Sunday school, and at Clinton, Miss., for preaching service.

The Capitol Street Sunday school is making a definite effort to be 100%. The superintendent and assistant superintendent are both anxious for them to be so graded. The Men's Bible Class of Capitol Street pledged themselves to educate two of the girls at the Orphans' Home who finish the High School this year—$500 a year for the four years. This was mighty fine.

The Clinton Sunday school have paid their Centenary Special for this year. They are a small but loyal band. The teacher of the Bible Class reported 24 present Sunday morning. There were 75 or 100 present at preaching service. They need a new building, and plans are afoot now to get it.

The work continues to grow at Millsaps Memorial. It looks as if this will develop into an active force.

News of progress is coming in from all sources. Let us know your progress.

Since last week, Bassfield has reported $4.80 on Sunday School Day offering. Who will be next?

An accurate report will mean much to the success of the work. Many of our victories do not help because they are not known. Please try to make accurate reports whenever called upon.

Pray for the work and the workers.

Yours in Him,
JOHN C. CHAMBERS.

NOTES FROM NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, Sardis, Miss.

The law of our church provides for a Conference-wide meeting of our Sunday school workers. Such a meeting has not been held in our Conference in recent years, so we have concluded to give it a trial. This Conference will include representatives from all Adult, Young People's, Senior and Intermediate Bible classes, organized and unorganized, workers in the Junior, Primary, Beginner and Cradle Roll departments. There will be general meetings of all workers for inspiration, and sectional meetings for each group to give instruction. We shall be forced to confine ourselves to one or two items for each group, as the time is limited to June 7 to June 8 at noon. The place, Grenada College.

Up to the present time, 50 have enrolled for the Conference Standard Training School. It is of importance to all concerned that we know the course that each one means to take, that we may have an idea of the number and kind of books to order. This information is needed by the 15th of May at the latest.

There will be a course in Story Telling for those who deal with Beginner, Primary and Junior children, by a most gifted teacher; a course in Intermediate-Senior Psychology, Adult Psychology, the Principles of Religious Teaching; the School (its organization and supervision); the Bible (Old Testament). There are eight courses in all.

Be good enough to write J. E. Stephens, Grenada, or R. H. B. Gladney, Sardis, the course you prefer. Another service you can render, is to send the names of those you wish to attend the school, that I may mail them an announcement.

During this week I have been teaching a group of eight young women who have volunteered to teach classes of teachers in the circuits of our Conference during July and August. These young women have received special preparation for the service. The Sunday School Board, the presiding elders, the pastors, have planned to give help where it is most needed. Detailed information can be had from Rev. J. E. Stephens, Grenada, Miss.

FROM RIPLEY, MISS.

Dear Dr. Carley: The presiding elder may not know of all the good things being done in the Corinth District, so report from this remote corner may be of interest. Last Sunday was a great day with us. After preaching, I had the pleasure of receiving two young men and a bright ten-year-old boy into the church on profession of faith. At the evening service, we had reports from the Woman's Missionary Conference at Greenwood, after which Miss Corinne Rogers, of New Albany, Miss., gave a splendid address on "Woman's Work." It was truly a great service.

In the afternoon of the same day, our Junior congregation held a service at New Hope, one of the churches on the Dumas circuit. We carried ten automobiles full with us. The orchestra, composed of eight boys and two girls, furnished part of the music. Six teenage boys sang a song, other boys led in prayers, and two girls gave readings. Our Junior congregation now has fifty-four members. I doubt if any one of them would refuse to pray in any service if called on; all of the Junior Stewards have prayed in public, and others who have been called on have responded—none have refused. We are trying to teach them that we are trying to develop future workers in the church, and they are developing fast.

The storm of March 11 blew the steeple off our church, but did not damage the building so we cannot use it for services. Plans for building are maturing, and we hope to begin work after the district conference, May 15. The rains and impassable roads have prevented our laymen from visiting the country churches, as they had planned to do. About ten of them have volunteered to go anywhere in the country and hold services where directed.

I know of no church more able to do great things in the Kingdom than the Ripley church. We have the intelligence, the numbers, and an unusual amount of wealth for the size of congregation. When the great spiritual awakening and soul-stirring religious revival opens our eyes and unties our pursestrings, you will hear from Ripley. May the Lord hasten the day. You will be cordially welcomed to the district conference to be held here.

S. A. BROWN.

PLEASANT GROVE (MISS.) MEETING.

Dear Brother Carley: We wish to speak of our new experience in the Master's work here.

With pleasure, giving God the glory, we wish to announce that in the rural church, in spite of road and weather conditions, with competent, consecrated leadership, such as our church has in Dr. Rolfe Hunt, God will give to his waiting people a gracious revival.

Our meeting opened on March 25 and closed on April 1. It was a busy time. School interests, farming interests, rain and mud, as well as much sickness, had to be considered; and yet we rejoice to say that we had a fine meeting.

The work done was of such constructive type that we feel it will not only abide, but give a better foundation for present life and service.

One of the things that impressed us was the real desire and love for the simple gospel story, as evidenced by the presence and interest of large congregations.

We received fifteen fine young people, eight by baptism and seven by vows, into our membership. Our freewill offering should be mentioned, and many other things of an encouraging nature could be said if space would allow. But the one high point we wish to call attention to is that God seems to honor wonderfully evangelistic efforts in the rural church early in the year.

F. J. JONES, Pastor.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT.

My Dear Brethren: I wish to announce through the columns of the Advocate that I am now associated with Rev. W. A. Swift, one of our General Evangelists of Nashville, Tenn. Brother Swift is a man who has had good success as a pastor, presiding elder and evangelist. For seven years he was Editor of the Central Methodist, one of our Conference papers. He has traveled extensively, making several trips abroad, visiting Palestine and other places of interest.

For our summer and fall campaigns, we plan to use a large 60x120 foot tent. Brethren interested in putting on a revival meeting and desiring to take the matter up with us, can please communicate with Brother Swift at 1108 Chapel Avenue, Nashville, Tenn., or myself at Crumps Park, Macon, Ga.

With kindest regards and best wishes, I am yours most cordially,

MRS. PEARL SCOTT, wife of Mr. Samuel Robertson, of Pelican, La., passed to her reward from the Mansfield Sanitarium at 2:15 p. m. Saturday, Feb. 17, 1923, six days after an operation for appendicitis. The funeral services were held at the Methodist church on the same day at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, conducted by the writer, assisted by Rev. S. S. Holladay and Dr. Briscoe Carter.

Mrs. Robertson was born on July 1, 1873. Her father was a local preacher in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Very early in life she united with the Methodist Church, in which faith she lived, wrought, and died. She married Mr. Charles E. Martin, and to this union two children were born, a son and a daughter. Their boy lived only eight months. Mr. Martin died, leaving wife and daughter to mourn his loss. She lived a number of years with her mother-in-law. She married Mr. Samuel Robertson two years ago. Her life has been an open book for all. Everybody loved "Miss Pearl." The mother-in-law (Mrs. Martin) spoke of her as being one of the best women that ever lived. Mrs. Robertson will be missed by all who knew her. But the church will miss her untiring efforts and labors more than any, save her family. She never missed being at church, Sunday school, and Woman's Missionary Auxiliary if possible to attend. She has taught the Bible class for years, and has been of untold value to the church. She was Secretary of the Woman's Missionary Society. The town and church mourn her. She leaves behind two brothers, Mr. R. M. Scott, and Tiff Scott, and one daughter, Mrs. J. B. Brown, and her husband, to mourn their loss. In this hour think of her as spending her first days and weeks in the Paradise of God.

MARGARET ANNIS SESLER was born Sept. 27, 1832, in Hinds Co., Miss. Her father, Isaac Selser, was a prominent planter of Hinds County in the ante bellum days. On Dec. 13, 1855, she was married to Littleton Hardy Johnson, of Brandon. To this union were born six children. Mrs. Johnson united with the Presbyterian Church in her early teens, and later with the Methodist Church. She loved and enjoyed the Christian Advocate, Missionary Voice, and Bible, and her last days were spent in reading. She was always a quiet, reserved Christian. She loved her pastor and Christian friends. She was of a sunny disposition, always looking for the best in every one. She was ever ready to help those in need. "Many will rise up and call her blessed." Thirteen years ago her daughter-in-law died and left six small children. She took them in her home and reared them as her own. On March 12, 1923, she "fell asleep in Jesus" in Pelahatchie, Miss. Services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. W. J. Dawson, in the Methodist church, and the body was laid to rest in the Brandon cemetery, by the side of her loved ones that had preceded her. We commend the loved ones to God, and rejoice in the beauty of her life.

A FRIEND.

Mount Olivet has sustained a great loss in the death of Sister M. M. LEE, who passed to her reward March 16, 1923. Mrs. Lee was born at Temperance Hill Plantation, Jefferson County, Sept. 21, 1847. This girl grew to brighten the home and to make the parents happy. At about the age of 20 she was happily converted and joined the M. E. Church, South, in which she lived a devoted and Christian life until her death. She was a member of the Bullen family. Miss Martha Medora Bullen was married to Mr. Joe Lee, of Port Gibson, Feb. 24, 1869, the Rev. Wm. Millsaps performing the ceremony. From this place they moved to Leland Plantation, in Yazoo County, where God came a few years ago and took her husband and son away, leaving to her the great responsibility of superintending the plantation and providing for four children. She did not wait for some kind, helping hand to help her in this great task, but simply put her hands and heart in the work, trusting God for the best. The outcome is, she held her own in a material way and gave to the world two noble Christian women, Mrs. Mary Lee Dorroh, Jackson, Miss., and Mrs. Katie Lee Morris, Greenwood, Miss. She also leaves two sons, Joe Lee, of Satartia, Miss., who is a member of the M. E. Church, South, and a splendid citizen, and Lytton Lee, her youngest son, who was living with his mother when death came. We pray that her going home may be a means of bringing him to accept Jesus Christ as his Savior. Nothing was lacking in an effort to restore her to health, but it pleased God to take her. The children were with her when the end came. The pastor heard her say, "I shall reign." May God comfort the loved ones.

B. H. WILLIAMS.

After a lingering illness, MRS. MOLLIE DAVIS SKILES died on the evening of March 19, 1923, at 6:25 o'clock, at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Brannin, in Dallas, Tex. Sadness filled many hearts in Dallas when it was known that this dear, sweet, good woman had passed to her heavenly home; and also in Louisiana, where her early life was spent, there are many relatives and hosts of friends who mourn her departure. Mrs. Skiles was a woman of charming personality. She possessed many rare graces of mind and heart, but better than these and all else, she was a Christian after the Bible pattern, being consecrated and loyal in her devotion to her Lord and his worship and service. Hers was a checkered life; but whether sunshine or shadows brightened or darkened the pathway, she was brave and true, full of hope and courage and cheer. Her end was peace. Truly, at the evening tide there was light. She was the daughter of pioneer Methodist itinerants—the Rev. John Stone and Mary White Davis, of blessed memory—and a sister of the late Rev. John Davis, and Rev. R. A. Davis, the latter an honored superannuate of the Louisiana Conference. Of her immediate family one son and three daughters survive, to whom deepest sympathy is extended.

ONE WHO LOVED HER.

WE MUST REDEEM OUR PLEDGES.

By Bishop Collins Denny.

In the Apostolic church, collections for the work of the church played no small part, and in his 2d Epistle to the Corinthians the Apostle Paul treats of these collections. Promises had been made by the Corinthian church, and the Apostle urges the payment of these promises. In that day he was able to speak of the fact that "in a great trial of affliction the abundance of their joy and their deep poverty abounded unto the riches of their liberality." Indeed, he is able to say that he could bear record to their power, "yea, and beyond their power, they were willing of themselves," so willing that they prayed the Apostle and his associates "with much entreaty that they would receive the gift and take upon themselves the fellowship of ministering to the saints."

It will be helpful to all of us to read and re-read the eighth and ninth chapters of the Second Epistle to the Corinthians. The Apostle had boasted in Macedonia and Achaia of the promises of the Corinthians, and now he urges those Corinthians that they do not make him ashamed in his confident boasting. He was calling for a payment of the ready subscriptions made by the members of the Corinthian church.

With a liberality beyond anything known before in Methodism, our people made large subscriptions during the Centenary period. We must now, following the example of the Apostle, urge upon our people not to fail to pay these subscriptions. It will be to us, as it would have been to the Corinthians, a "shame" not to redeem the promises made. Our "poverty" is not so "deep" as was the deep poverty of the Corinthians, and our poverty can also abound unto the riches of our liberality.

Great as was our rejoicing when the subscriptions were made, and great as was the blessing that came to us at that time, greater still will be the rejoicing and the blessing when, with thanksgiving to God for the opportunity and ability, we shall have paid for his work and his glory the subscriptions we were so glad to make.

Institutes for Colored Women to Be Conducted in New Orleans and Shreveport, Under Auspices of Interdenominational Council.

It is gratifying to report already some splendid results of the co-operation that was planned for at the Interracial meeting recently held in New Orleans. The Interdenominational Councils in New Orleans and Shreveport are planning to put on such an Institute this summer. It was initiated by Mrs. Winnsborough, Superintendent of Woman's Work, in the Southern Presbyterian Church. She first started a school of very short term for Negro men in Tuscaloosa, Ala. She later conceived the idea of having such a conference for Negro women who were leaders in a sense, but who had had limited advantages for an education and the direction of public activities among their people, such as heads of women's societies, preachers' wives, etc. Various colored churches send their delegates to these summer conferences, which last about a week and cover Bible Study, Hygiene, Domestic Science, Sunday School and Community Work, as well as women's organizations. The fee charged each delegate is $10, $6 of which takes care of the board, the balance helping to defray expenses of the speakers and teachers. Where thirty-five or forty attend, the overhead expense is practically covered, but in order to guarantee its success, it is necessary to advance $100. The Shreveport Council decided at their last meeting to ask the colored churches for one-third of this amount; but when the colored ministers were approached on the subject, they splendidly volunteered to assume the whole responsibility of raising the advance guarantee fund, and were most happy to do so, as they said they knew it meant a source of great helpfulness to their women. It is usually held in dormitory of colored school.

Since the meeting in New Orleans, the women of the First Presbyterian Church, Shreveport, with the Methodist women of Cedar Grove (a nearby suburb), have met with the Negro Presbyterian preacher and his flock, to plan for raising funds for building them a church, as they are not financially able to do this unaided as yet. A Community Club will likely be started in this section soon.

I advise Social Service Superintendents to ask their School Boards to purchase, for the use of the Negro schools, the fine posters issued by the National Child Welfare Association, Inc., 70 Fifth Avenue, New York. Prof. C. E. Byrd, Parish Superintendent of Caddo's schools, very gladly sent $25 last week to above address for 100 of these placards. They sell for 50 cents each, but in lots of 100 are sold for $25. An exhibit of the Shreveport Commuity Club at the Negro Building at the State Fair will include a full set of these Health Posters, as it was through their efforts that they were secured. These posters were used in National Negro Health Week, April 1-7. This Club has also put on some excellent entertainments, the proceeds of which go toward a fund for Play Grounds. Mayor Thomas has written to the director of this Club that he is now working on a proposition by which he hopes to purchase for the Negroes a suitable play ground of some ten or twelve acres. It has been suggested that this park be made a Community Center. It is our hope to build thereon a library with sufficient space for recreation rooms. A Day Nursery is also included in the plans.

At a meeting of the Interdenominational Council held since the New Orleans meeting (Mrs. Abel Bliss, President), Bishop Quin, of Texas, made a most inspiring address. He is thoroughly conversant and in sympathy with the methods and sentiments expressed by our leaders in this new but promising field. The Episcopal women of Shreveport are studying Bishop Theodore Bratton's book, "Wanted—Leaders," and are ready to do some fine co-operative constructive work. As previously stated, the Presbyterians have already begun work.

The next endeavor in the Social Service Committee of the First Church, Shreveport, is to look into housing conditions. This is a big undertaking, but the plans followed in Georgia and other Southern States will be used.

The second Colored Epworth League Assembly will be put on at the C. M. E. Temple, April 9 to 13. I am going to conduct the Mission Study for them again. They tell me they have a surprise for me on the last night. I suspect it is a little pageant they have prepared from material studied in Wembo Nyama's Land last year. They call it "Work of the Southern Methodist Church in the Congo." Of course, I am looking forward eagerly to seeing this presentation.

IF SICK TODAY!
TAKE NO CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Straightens You Up Better Than Salivating, Dangerous Calomel and Doesn't Upset You—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

I discovered a vegetable compound that does the work of dangerous, sickening calomel and I want every reader of this paper to buy a bottle for a few cents and if it doesn't straighten you up better and quicker than salivating calomel just go back to the store and get your money back.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your thirty feet of bowels of the sour bile and constipation poison which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable.

I guarantee that one spoonful of this harmless liquid liver medicine will relieve the headache, biliousness, coated tongue, ague, malaria, sour stomach or any other distress caused by a torpid liver as quickly as a dose of vile, nauseating calomel, besides it will not make you sick or keep you from a day's work.

Calomel is poison—it's mercury—it attacks the bones, often causing rheumatism. Calomel is dangerous. It sickens—while my Dodson's Liver Tone is safe, pleasant and harmless. Eat anything afterwards, because it can not salivate. Give it to the children because it doesn't upset the stomach or shock the liver. Take a spoonful tonight and wake up feeling fine and ready for a full day's work.

AFTER BABY COMES

Strength Often Returns Slowly

Mothers May Depend Upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Restore a Normal Condition

Many, many letters similar to the following recommend the Vegetable Compound as a wonderful medicine for bringing the mother back to normal health and strength.

It is an excellent restorative, contains no harmful drugs and can be taken in safety by a nursing mother.

Thousands of mothers who have regained their strength by taking it are its best recommendation. Why not take it yourself?

Could Not Gain Strength

Rock Island, Ill.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a tired, run-down feeling. I was simply tired to death and could not gain strength after my baby came. After a couple of months of worry and overwork I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a tonic as it had often been recommended to me by my friends. I am now able to do my own housework, laundering and sewing, besides taking care of three small children. You may use these facts as a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. HAZEL CLARK EDWARDS, 411 5th Street, Rock Island, Illinois.

Allentown, Pa.—"After the birth of my girl I was all worn out, without a bit of strength. Nothing helped me until I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Then I picked right up and got strength to do my work. Now with the boy I have no such trouble. I take your medicine right along and won't be without it. I recommended it to a friend of mine, a young girl. She couldn't eat, had no strength and had trouble every month. She is a big strong girl now, and still takes it."—Mrs. JOSEPH S. SMITH, 634 N. Law Street, Allentown, Pa.

Gave Both of Us Strength

Hoosick Falls, N. Y.—"When my girl was born I was a weak run-down woman and very nervous. My husband advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the Liver Pills and they put me right on my feet. I have just been recommending the Vegetable Compound to my daughter and it has helped her through childbirth. It has given us both health and strength, and if this letter will be of service you can use it anywhere you like."—Mrs. ELIZA MOON, 43 Classic Street, Hoosick Falls, N. Y.

FRANK VAUGHAN.

BROTHER VAUGHAN was born at Homer, Claiborne Parish, La., June 27, 1878, and died at San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 4. 1923, living to the age of forty-four years, seven months and eight days. He was a sufferer from asthma, which gradually grew worse, undermining his health as he grew older, and which was doubtless the contributing cause to the fatal malady that took him away.

He lived to near manhood at Homer. He went to Shreveport while yet a youth and engaged in business, but on account of his health he was compelled to give up a most flattering prospect and move to Morgan City and engage there in the insurance business, remaining there until he left for San Antonio, again on account of his health.

Brother Vaughan was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, from his childhood, and was faithful in the service of the Master in every capacity in which he served. He was a faithful and efficient teacher in the Sunday school, a good steward, and ever ready to make any personal sacrifice for the church.

It was my privilege to be his pastor for four years, and I found him to be one of the most genial, accommodating and sweetest spirited Christian gentlemen whom I have ever met. He was my friend. He was modest and kind and gentle, but strong and virile where principle was involved, a man of culture and perfect refinement who was so spirit-filled and charitable that he spoke ill of no man. He was a devoted husband, a loving father, and a true friend, and his fellowship was very sweet to me. Brave as a lion, he faced death without a murmur or complaint for many long months, and our Father has taken him home to the beautiful mansion. He leaves a devoted wife and three children, a loving mother and two brothers, Rev. Robert Vaughan, of Ruston, La., and Captain Floyd Vaughan, of San Antonio, Tex.

New Gland Invigorator
Restores Vital Force

Remarkable Scientific Discovery Makes Glands Active. Easily Used at Home. Old and Young Benefited.

Thousands of men and women who want again the nerve, vigor, virility and ambition of earlier years, are finding all these through science's discovery of an invigorator, stronger and surer than even the famous gland treatment.

The amazing benefits of this discovery are largely confined to the lower spinal nerve centers and certain easily stimulated vital organs and blood vessels. Remarkable improvement is frequently evident within 24 hours and gratifying results are almost always obtained during the first week after treatment starts. Elderly people especially rejoice in their renewed flood of youthful vigor.

Physicians often recommend its use in cases that defy other treatments. Men of 60 say they have been restored to the full vigor of 30.

This remarkable compound is prepared in tablet form for convenient home use. The distributors of Vi-Tabs, which is the name of this invigorator, offer everyone the opportunity of trying a regular $2.00 double strength treatment with the full understanding that it costs nothing if it fails.

If you wish to secure for yourself the amazing results that it gives, simply send your name and address in strict confidence to the Vi-Tabs Laboratories, Dept. 121, 1018 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago, and this $2.00 double strength treatment will be immediately mailed to you. Deposit with the postman only $2.00 when package arrives in plain sealed wrapper. If, at the end of one week, you are not satisfied, the Laboratories will immediately refund your money. ## THE MOCKING BIRD.

By F. H. Murphy.

What is sweeter to the ear
  Than the mocking bird, the queen,
Who sits and sings with merry heart
  Among the trees of green?

She sings the song of every tribe.
  While through the air she glides;
She wings her way to and fro
  In graceful gratitude and pride.

She's master of the voice
  Of every bird with tongue,
There's not a single songster
  Whose song she has not sung;

She's queen of birds in music!
  We hear her voice at midnight,
And wake to lie and listen,
  At music filled with sweet delight.

With love it soothes our tired heart,
  And sweetens every thought and word;
All accomplished by the music
  Of the midnight mocking bird.

Columbus, Miss.

THE DUTY OF CHEERING UP.

It will be easier to see it as a real duty if we remember what life is like when it lacks the cheerful, hopeful outlook. Let a man get a fit of the blues, or a genuine dose of discouragement, and he is not only miserable and unhappy while it lasts, but his usefulness and efficiency are, for the time being, absolutely eclipsed. No matter how he may force himself to his tasks, or keep on going through the motions, a disheartened man is never doing good work, or measuring up to his possibilities to any degree at all. There is an old legend which says that the Evil One was at one time to be deprived of all his power to tempt man, but that he pleaded so hard to be left just one weapon of attack that he was handed discouragement, with the thought that it would not prove very effective alone, but it was discovered afterward that in it he had kept nearly all his power of deadly attack upon the human soul. The legend comes very closely home to human experience. So long as the star of hope burns brightly, we can fight any opposition or endure any hardship, but let a temptation to discouragement slide in by some back door of the soul, and how soon does courage falter and faith weaken and fine endeavor cease! And it usually is by some back door that discouragement comes, sliding in when there seems no reason for his coming. If we could keep him out how much better it would be!—The Christian Guardian.

FINANCING THE CHURCH.

It is thoroughly understood by all those who have given the slightest thought to the matter that the carrying on of the work of a great church requires a large amount of money. The local congregation necessarily has to meet certain expenses without which it is impossible for it to maintain its organization and carry forward anything like an adequate program of religious activity. Buildings must be provided, equipment must be furnished, the salary of the pastor must be secured, and various items of incidental expense must be looked after. Provision must also be made for enlargement of equipment and facilities for work as development takes place. Hence there is always a demand for funds for local use.

In addition to local needs, there are certain great connectional interests to be provided for, since a group of Christian people will not be content to minister merely to their own needs. The Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is essentially a connectional organization, and every congregation of this great church has a part—must have a part—in these connectional enterprises. These enterprises include such important matters as Home Missions, Foreign Missions, Church Extension, Education, Theological Schools, Epworth Leagues, Sunday Schools, American Bible Society, Temperance and Social Service, Support of Superannuate Preachers, Lay Activities, Hospitals, Work Among the Negroes, Orphanages, and other items necessary in the operation of a great organization.

While the support of these various causes ought to be looked upon as a privilege—and in many cases it is so looked upon—it is nevertheless true that the raising of the necessary amount of money constitutes one of the greatest problems that confront the church as it undertakes to minister to the world.

The Assessment Method.

In general, the plan of assessment is followed as a means of solving this problem, both for the local congregation and for the connectional claims. The properly constituted authorities estimate what amount will be necessary to provide for all causes, including both the local and the general work, and then lay this amount as an assessment upon the church, depending upon the loyalty and liberality of the membership to contribute at least the amount so assessed.

The "Drive" Method.

In recent years, however, as world conditions have changed and the need for increased resources to meet these changed conditions has become acute, a method of securing voluntary pledges to run through a period of years, has been devised—a method that involves widespread and intensive efforts to arouse enthusiasm, develop interest in and secure large support of particular causes. This method is characterized by what have come to be known as "drives," "campaigns," "movements," etc. In the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, we have recently had illustrations of this method in the Centenary Movement and the Christian Education Movement, in which many millions of dollars were pledged by the membership of the church; and we are even now in the midst of a special effort to secure an adequate endowment for the support of our superannuated preachers.

In an emergency, we believe these "drives," campaigns," "special efforts," etc., are fully justified. We supported the Centenary and the Christian Education Movements to the extent of our ability in every way possible, and we have no other thought but that these movements should be carried forward to complete success; likewise, we believe that the special effort in behalf of our superannuates is fully justified, and we will give to the success of that effort all the strength we possess. All these causes are in themselves worthy, the need is urgent, they have been authorized by the highest representative body of the church; not to support them would be, to us, a lack of loyalty that we should hate to be accused of.

Weaknesses of the "Drive" Method.

But there is serious risk in such a method of securing support for the permanent activities of the church, and we believe the danger involved is so great that it behooves us to give serious attention to it and to devise some better way of meeting these obligations. For the sake of clearness, we specify some of the weaknesses of this method as we see them:

1. It temporarily at least lifts the special cause being presented to a position of paramount importance in the work of the church and makes it impossible, therefore, to give proportionate attention to other equally necessary causes.

2. It necessitates such an elaborate organization and such an intensive program of preparation that other activities practically cease.

3. It encourages the assuming of obligations under the stress of special pleading and emotional excitement that more and more come to be looked upon as burdensome and that come to be discounted more or less with the passing of time.

4. It in effect diverts a large part of the available resources of the church, for a considerable period of time, to one cause.

5. The frequent use of this method gives rise to the erroneous but very damaging criticism that the church is concerned primarily with the collection of money.

6. It furnishes an excuse to many people to refuse to support the church in other ways upon the ground that they are already "tied up" to the extent of their ability.

7. When the method has been used in behalf of a connectional cause, it very often makes impossible the carrying out of local enterprises that are urgently necessary.

8. The successful working of the method makes it inevitable that the pastor spend much of his pulpit ministry in presenting the plan and urging its various features to the exclusion of other messages that may be vital to the best interests of his congregation.

Perhaps other weaknesses of this method of financing the church might be pointed out, but the above are enough, we believe, to make it appear that it will be extremely unwise to make use of it after the present movements by that method have been completed. We express it as our deliberate judgment that any further use of this method is foredoomed to failure

A Better Way.

Is there, then, a better way for enabling the church to raise the money that it needs to carry on its work—a way that will adequately finance its operations and enterprises for all time to come? We believe there is, and we shall venture to suggest it in outline.

1. With a view to abandoning ultimately altogether the assessment plan of raising money, let the present assessment for all causes remain as the maximum, to which no additions shall be made.

2. Let a General Board of Christian Stewardship be formed, whose duty it shall be to inculcate the doctrine of Christian stewardship throughout the church by as careful, systematic, intensive, and persistent campaign as possible, fixing the tithe, not as an obligatory provision of the New Testament, but as the most easily calculated, most practicable, and most equitable amount to be expected of all church members. Let this campaign be carried on without specifying the necessity of securing any given amount for any cause, but simply as a means of getting all the people to see their duty and privilege. Let the principles of Christian stewardship be taught in the Sunday school, the Epworth League, the Woman's Missionary Society, the organizations of the laymen, the pulpit, the church press, and in every other way possible.

3. As the work of the Board of Christian Stewardship progresses and the membership of the church begins to respond to the educational process carried on by it, let the other Boards more and more devote their activites to presenting the needs and opportunities in their various fields without asking for definite amounts, depending upon the interest of the people to supply the necessary funds to meet these needs and take advantage of these opportunities.

4. Let the budget plan continue in force as at present, and let all the Boards share in receipts

TRAVEL LETTERS FROM DR. AND MRS. I. W. COOPER.

Oxford for learning, Stratford-on-the-Avon for feeling! As Shakespeare has himself quaintly phrased it, "Silence is the perfectest herald of joy; I were but little happy, if I could say how much." So do not expect us to describe our exaltation of feeling that first day of September as we drove through the beautiful district between Warwick and Stratford. Was it the thought that soon we would see the birthplace of the "choice and master spirit of his age"—the man who had "a mint of phases in his brain"—and realized that

> "He that made us gave us not
> That capability and godlike reason,
> To rust in us unused?"

Was it the thought that this was the Shakespeare district that made us so happy? Or were we affected by the "nipping and the eager air," "the brave o'erhanging firmament, the majestical roof fretted with golden fire," the hedge-bordered road, the wayside stile, the perfectly cut meadows, with their numerous haystacks, the bits of woodland and the occasional glimpses we had of the glittering Avon? Whatever the cause, we found, that morning, joy in everything. Here we could not imagine the presence of "winter and rough weather," but we felt sure that like the dwellers in the Forest of Arden we could live the idyllic life—"Find tongues in trees, books in the running brooks, sermons in stones, and good in everything."

Those of us who knew our literary history had heard that when Shakespeare was in his "salad days," when "green in judgment," he forgot his own maxim, "no legacy is so rich as honesty," and joining a party of young trespassers, hunted deer, one moonlight night, in Sir Thomas Lucy's park. We stopped in front of this place. The beautiful manor house could be faintly seen in its fine setting of trees. The intervening park was "trim and lovely" to the last degree and there, beneath some of the trees not far from the road, was a group of deer, placidly feeding. Our guide said that these deer were the direct descendants of the one which Shakespeare shot that famous night. We saw the stile which prevented Shakespeare from making a "clean get-away" with his prize, for as he climbed over, the deer got caught. Shakespeare stooped to disengage the treasure and was arrested on the spot. If a tiny straw may change a current, it may not be too much to believe that to the Sir Thomas Lucy deer-stealing incident we owe the development of his genius, for English laws against poaching were severe, and we were told that Sir Thomas made life so unhappy for Shakespeare while he remained in the neighborhood that at last, in self-defense, he chose to go to London, where he became interested first in utility matters in and around the theatre, then in writing plays. This may not be true, but as we drove away from the Lucy place—still owned and occupied by descendants of Shakespeare's enemy—we could not feel hard toward Sir Thomas because of the possibility of his unintentional helpfulness to Shakespeare.

Most tourists stop first at Shakespeare's birthplace, but our car drove straight through the little town of Stratford, and two miles beyond, to Anne Hathaway's cottage. Here Shakspeare, who knew so well how to "beguile many," was "beguiled by one."

Even if we had not known the history of this place, we would have been charmed by its appearance. So many things in England look old that we will have to say that this place looked older—and quaint to the last degree. Of course, we had seen numerous pictures of it, but they do not give an adequate idea of the coloring, the thatched roof and the pretty, old-fashioned flower garden and picket fence which surround the house. Every effort has been made to keep the cottage just as it was in Shakespeare's days. We were told that this was a typical country cottage of the Elizabethan period. If so, the countryman had a better eye for the picturesque than he has now! After a little parley over the inevitable "party ticket," the "caretaker" admitted us to the rude though charmingly interesting interior. How we wish we could picture to you its crude, heavy doors, flagstone floors, occasionally covered with home-wrought rugs, its low, heavy-beamed ceilings, short, many-paned windows, simple white curtains and wide fireplaces! One of these fireplaces was equipped for cooking and by another hung an old leather bottle, bearing the following inscription:

THE LEATHER BOTTEL.

> And will no longer good liquor hold,
> Out of the side you make a clout
> To mend your shoes when they're worn out;
> Then take and hang it up on a pin,
> 'Twill do to put hinges and odd things in:
> So we hope his soul in Heaven may dwell
> Who first found out the Leather Bottel.

This "bottel" was only one of the unusual decorations, for on the chimney-piece there were various bits of china figures, quaint candlesticks and brass and pewter plates. In the kitchen, we were interested in the large sideboard with its blue dishes—like some of our grandmothers used to have. A small room was designated as the butlery. It was full of wooden household implements, but we failed to find a familiar countenance, save in the churn.

The most interesting room downstairs is the living-room, which contains the famous courting-bench on which William and Anne so often sat, while he became convinced of what he afterwards wrote in "Love's Labours Lost":

> From woman's eyes this doctrine I derive:
> They sparkle still the right Promethean fire;
> They are the books, the arts, the acadamies,
> That show, contain, and nourish all the world.

With such sentiments as these in his heart, it is hard to think that Shakespeare ever found that "the course of true love never did run smooth," but, knowing women as we do, we would say with Puck, "Lord, what fools these mortals be!"—so we are not sure that Shakespeare did not get some setbacks while sitting on this high-backed wooden bench, which would have proved too hard to be long endured, save by lovers.

Up the narrow, crude stairway we went—if such a ladder-like contrivance may be called a stairway. Here we saw only two bedrooms—those of Anne Hathaway and her parents. They looked very bare, and uncomfortable, too, because of their small windows and low ceilings—almost touched by the handsomely carved four-posted beds. One interesting thing about these beds was the rope-mattresses, as they were called. They really were not mattresses at all, but interwoven ropes, which took the place of bed-slats and springs. The family clothes-chest was the only other interesting bit of furniture.

There was no more to see, but we left this charming house with reluctance, and strolled lingeringly through the flower garden with all its collection of grandmother's posies. When our party of twenty got outside of the gate, the camera man caught us. But not even a childish delight in having our pictures made could reconcile us to the closed gate.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION MEETS.

By Dr. W. E. Hogan, Assistant Secretary.

During the next few weeks all of the general boards will hold their annual meetings. This year the Board of Education led off by holding its meeting April 11-12, at Nashville, Tenn.

Although this was the first regular meeting of the new Board which was appointed at Hot Springs last year, under the guidance of its President, Bishop E. D. Mouzon, a large amount of business was dispatched as rapidly as though its members had been working together for several years. The last General Conference increased the size of the Board from twenty-one to twenty-seven members. The personnel of the Board as now organized for this quadrennium is: Bishop E. D. Mouzon, Nashville, Tenn., President; Bishop James Cannon, Jr., Washington, D. C., Vice-President; Bishop Hoyt M. Dobbs, Anniston, Ala.; Dr. Stonewall Anderson, Nashville, Tenn., General Secretary; Dr. H. H. Sherman, Nashville, Tenn., Recording Secretary; Dr. J. L. Clark, Somerset, Ky.; Dr. C. W. Read, Florence, Ala.; Dr. Guy E. Snavely, Birmingham, Ala.; Dr. Robert Selby, Vicksburg, Miss.; Prof. R. L. Flowers, Durham, N. C.; Dr. W. F. Quillian, Macon, Ga.; Mr. L. W. Duval, Ocala, Fla.; Mr. J. H. Garner, Cisco, Texas; Judge J. S. Candler, Atlanta, Ga.; Dr. J. T. Griswold, Clarenden, Texas; Dr. Paul H. Linn, Fayette, Mo.; Dr. H. N. Snyder, Spartanburg, S. C.; Dr. R. J. York, Barboursville, W. Va.; Dr. J. A. B. Fry, Stockton, Cal.; Dr. R. E. Blackwell, Ashland, Va.; Judge J. E. Cockrell, Dallas, Tex.; Dr. L. S. Barton, Norman, Okla.; Dr. J. H. Reynolds, Conway, Ark.; Dr. R. H. Wynn, Shreveport, La.; Mr. G. L. Morelock, Nashville, Tenn.; Mr. P. D. Maddin, Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. G. T. Rowe, Nashville, Tenn.

One of the important questions—and one of far-reaching significance—which was before the Board at this meeting was the attitude which the Board will take towards the question of Religious Education. In his report to the Board, the General Secretary, Dr. Anderson, presented much valuable information as to what is being done for the moral and religious education of students in public schools and State colleges and universities throughout the country. Moreover, the General Conference last year imposed upon the General Conference Board of Education the duty of seeking "in closest possible co-operation with Annual Conference Boards to promote religious education in the homes of the people, in the institutions of the church, and in the tax-supported and independent institutions, including the public schools." In harmony with the action of the General Conference, therefore, and upon the strong recommendation of the General Secretary, the Board decided to enter this new field in all of its phases. To this end the Executive Committee of the Board was authorized to employ a secretary to head up this new department of Religious Education. A small appropriation was made to begin the development of the work which the Board proposes to do in the State institutions of higher learning and plans were projected for holding at Lake Junaluska, in the summer of 1923, an Interdenominational conference on Religious Education. An effort will be made to get together at this conference a large number of both church and State educators and other leaders. We shall watch with interest the Board's activities in this new field of work, which has within the past year become one of the great educational problems of the nation.

Since the General Conference ordered the continuation Movement, begun last quadrennium, the Board naturally gave much attention to the policies to be pursued in continuing the promotion and conservation of the first great Movement. Reports showed that about three and a quarter million dollars have been collected on the subscriptions made to this Movement in 1921, thus demonstrating that excellent progress has been made up to date in collecting these pledges.

By mutual agreement with the other Boards concerned, the time from August 1 to November 30 of this year has been set aside as the period for intensive work for the collection of subscriptions to the Christian Education Movement. Some of the outstanding features of the plan adopted by the Board for the period of intensive work are: The use of the regular organizations of the church instead of special campaign organizations; the conspicuous service to be rendered by the laymen through the organization of the Board of Lay Activities; the leadership and co-operation of the bishops, not only as a college, but each leading the work in his episcopal district.

Some interesting statistics were presented by Dr. Bennett, of the Life Service Department. Last year he reported an enrollment of 5.300 volunteers. Since that time 1,172 new names have been added. In 1922, 262 men were admitted on trial in our Annual Conferences. Of these 14 were graduates of theological seminaries, 39 attended seminaries without graduating, 53 were graduates of colleges, and 91 attended college without graduation. His report showed a regrettable increase in the number of young preachers who either fail in their Conference course of study or who do not appear at all before the examining committee. The total number who last year failed to be advanced with their class was 407.

The report of the treasurer showed slight increase in collections on General Conference assessments for education and theological schools, the amount collected last year on these assessments being $119,947.60. There was also an increase in the amount collected on the Christian Education Movement, the amount for the fiscal year 1922-23 being $1,694,741.91 as compared with $1,503,503.50 for the year 1921-22. It is gratifying to note that the collections on these pledges were better the second year than they were the first year of the collecting period.

Judging from the actions of this Board at its meeting just held, it is apparent that much aggressive, constructive work will be accomplished by the Board of Education during the quadrennium 1922-26.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL AT GRENADA COLLEGE.

By Rev. E. S. Lewis.

At a meeting at the College last Monday afternoon of the members of the Executive Committee of the Conference Sunday School Board, it was ascertained that fine progress is being made on the arrangements for the Training School to be held in the College June 8-14. About thirty have already registered for the class to be taught by Dr. Norman E. Richardson. A class of forty or at the utmost fifty is large enough for one instructor; so, if you expect to take Dr. Richardson's work, you had better send your name to Brother Stephens at Grenada. In addition to this course by Dr. Richardson, which will be fine for pastors and others, Miss Nannie Lee Frayser, of Louisville, Ky., will teach a course in Story Telling for Juniors, Primaries and Beginners. Miss Frayser is one of the most popular teachers in the church, and is in very great demand. We are most fortunate in securing her services. Those who work in either of the departments mentioned above will be very greatly delighted with the leadership of this splendid woman. Send in your name to Brother Stephens and tell him you want to join Miss Frayser's class.

Dr. A. W. Milden, of the University of Mississippi, will teach the "Principles of Teaching." Other splendid courses will be offered which will have due notice later. You see from the foregoing what we are planning to give you. We ought to have 300 of our people present. We are to have the strongest faculty we have ever had at the Grenada school. It is our purpose to make this school the beginning of greater things in the history of teacher training in North Mississippi. We need your help.

Recently, in the city of Little Rock, there was held a school very similar to the one we are planning to hold at Grenada. They had 650 present. Every presiding elder of the two Conferences in Arkansas was present at this school and took work. They not only sat in the recitation room, but even wrote the papers required daily in the course and received their certificates at the close of the school. Those of us who are projecting this work have toiled many hours and oftentimes put our own money into it when there was no other money available, in order that the teachers and pastors of North Mississippi might have the best advantages possible brought to their very door. To shut our eyes to the splendid advantages offered by this school when rich opportunity knocks at our very door is to be guilty of a stupidity that is nothing short of criminal. Let us not allow others to take the crown that by all right belongs to us. It is high time that all of us realized the urgency of the cause for which the Grenada school was established and rally to its support. We crave the support of every presiding elder in the Conference; and these men have not failed the church of God ever. This year we are hoping to see all seven of them in the forefront and taking the lead in the great program we are trying to put over for the glory of God and the extension of his kingdom. We ought to have a larger number of the pastors and superintendents present. Make your arrangements now to spend the six days of the school in an earnest effort to find out how to servo your day and generation in the best possible way. It will pay the largest kind of dividends. Try it this once.

Columbus, Miss.

LOUISIANA SUNDAY SCHOOL CONFERENCE.

"When the Lord fills appointments, they are well filled." This little bit of philosophy comes from our Conference Sunday School Superintendent, Rev. C. D. Atkinson, and may be applied to the recent gathering of our Louisiana Conference Sunday school workers in Alexandria.

A severe spell of cold weather, followed by continuous rainfall, prevented many from attending the conference. But, as Brother Atkinson says, the Lord was filling this appointment, and in many ways this conference will make on the Sunday school work of Louisiana Methodism a splendid impression. Though the number of delegates was somewhat smaller than the previous year at Mansfield, they represented the largest number of Sunday schools ever in attendance at an annual Sunday school conference. The spirit of interest and labor manifested in the general and group meetings of this conference bespeaks Louisiana Methodism's quickened interest in that which is best in modern Sunday school methods and work.

Capable leaders had been secured to lead tho program in discussion of topics of vital interest. Among those coming from out of the State were: Miss Minnie E. Kennedy and Rev. E. R. Stanford, of the General Sunday School Board, who were present with an enthusiasm and a store of information that was contagious; Rev. Clem Baker, the efficient Conference Superintendent from Aakansas, who won a high place in the esteem of the conference by his splendid addresses; Mr. T. S. Evans, director of the International Association of Daily Vacation Bible Schools, of New York.

The evening sessions of the conference were made especially attractive by the presentation of two pageants given by Alexandria talent. On Tuesday evening the Junaluska pageant, written by T. W. Holloman, and winner of second prize at Junaluska in 1922, was given, and on Wednesday evening the Sunday School Day pageant, "The Way, the Truth, and the Life," was presented.

It is utterly impossible in the scope of a brief report to give the wide range of Sunday school matters covered by the extensive program of general and departmental sessions. The reports of the committees on resolutions and findings, however, give some insight into the work that this conference undertook to do.

Report of the Committee on Resolutions.

The Committee on Resolutions submitted in part the following:

1. In the matter of leadership and teacher training, as workers in the Louisiana Methodist Sunday schools we urge upon our leaders the importance of more standard and non-standard training schools for our work and a wider use of [illegible] Sunday institutes for our rural [illegible], and of teacher training [illegible] in local schools, or groups of schools; and that the [illegible] of week-day schools of religion [illegible] be promoted as far as is practical.

2. We pledge ourselves to loyal [illegible] of our district Sunday school [illegible], and will co-operate with the [illegible] in making their respective [illegible] in reaching the local schools, and in [illegible] district and group conferences.

3. We urge that our [illegible] pastors and Sunday school superintendents bring their several schools up to the capital [illegible] of work suited to their individual grades and that they increase the grade of our Sunday school work as fast as is possible, adding grades or [illegible] with departmental groups, and graded literature, wherever it seems wise to do so.

4. Following a suggestion [illegible] of our [illegible] ets, we offer a resolution [illegible] the Bishops of our church to require our undergraduate preachers to read one each year of our teacher training books, or a similar book on Sunday school work, in our Conference course of study.

5. We pledge ourselves to a large observance of Sunday School Day throughout our Conference and for an effort on that day to raise the [illegible] needed to maintain our Conference Sunday school extension work.

Your Findings Committee, having given careful consideration to all matters relating to the work of the Sunday school conference, and having reviewed its work, submits the following report for adoption:

We recommend and urge:—

1. The attaining of the Sunday school goals as adopted at the last Annual Conference.
2. An effective Conference and district organization.
3. That each school in the Conference secure the type of "program of work" adapted to its equipment and endeavor to attain "the standard."
4. One standard training school in each district of the Conference, and as many non-standard schools as can be provided for.
5. A hearty observance of the program of Sunday School Day, with emphasis on the educational and financial aims in such observance.
6. The proper utilization of the possibilities of "Children's Week."
7. That this conference appreciates the importance of the work of week-day religious education, and that it urges the General Board to form plans as rapidly as possible by means of which the children of our great church may receive the teaching and training which is so needed at this period of our world's history.
8. Emphasis upon the importance of this State-wide conference through the year in Conference, district, and local work.

At the Thursday morning session officers were elected as follows: President, J. H. Carter, New Orleans; Vice President, B. D. Tally, [illegible]; Secretary, H. L. Johns, Cedar Grove. Conference officers were announced as follows: Conference Superintendent and Executive Secretary, C. D. Atkinson, Alexandria; Elementary Superintendent, Miss Caroline Hess, Alexandria; Intermediate-Senior Department Superintendent, H. L. Johns, Cedar Grove; Young People's Department Superintendent, Mrs. J. M. Henry, Ruston; Adult Department Superintendent, J. W. [illegible], Mansfield; Teacher Training Department Superintendent, N. E. Joyner, Ruston.

The conference adjourned with thanks and praises for the splendid hospitality of the people of Alexandria, and with a consciousness of great things yet to be done in the Sunday school work of Louisiana Methodism.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Sardis District.

Our District Conference convenes at Senatobia, May 15-17. We are working and planning toward a helpful, spiritual occasion. Let prayers be said daily, between this and our coming together, asking our Father to pour out upon us rich spiritual blessings that shall inspire us for the greatest service we are capable of rendering. It is hoped that every pastor will do his best to carry to the conference every member of the district conference from his charge. Besides the delegates elected, the following are members of the district conference: All Sunday school superintendents, recording stewards, charge lay leaders, local preachers, and the district secretary of the Woman's Missionary Society.

Brother R. G. Moore, our pastor at Coldwater, will preach the opening sermon on Monday night, May 14.

The Chairmen of Committees for the Conference are as follows: Spiritual State of the Church, W. M. Young; Missions, J. A. Randolph; Sunday School, T. M. Bradley; American Bible Society, N. G. Augustus; Finance, A. C. McCorkle; Quarterly Conference Record, W. L. Graves; Epworth League, J. M. Guinn; Ministerial Supply, W. S. Shipman; Lay Activities, Dr. L. L. Minor; Conference and General Organs, P. F. Luter.

Licensing, Recommendation, and Orders Committee, W. M. Young, T. M. Bradley and A. C. McCorkle (three committees in one).

Let every pastor see that his Quarterly Conference Record is on hand for examination.

May 15 is set as the date on which the preachers of the Sardis District are to secure in cash and subscription the assessments for Benevolences, with 20% over to insure payment. The following charges have the budget system and take care of all assessments against the church: Hernando, Senatobia, Como, Sardis, Batesville, Charleston. The preachers and the official boards of these stations always take care of all assessments, therefore we do not hesitate to report the Benevolences as secured in these charges.

Owing to much sickness and extremely bad weather during March, our pastors on the other charges have done but little in securing the Benevolences, either in cash or subscriptions. Brother Hunt, our pastor on the Courtland charge, reports 20% subscribed, also Brother Graves on the Mount Pleasant charge. Our other pastors are doing what they can, and I hope by next month to be able to report that many of the circuits have gone over the top in their pledges for the Benevolences.

* * *

We are rounding out our second round of quarterly conferences. The work of the Kingdom is being looked after with faithfulness on the part of our pastors. Both our pastors and officials love the church and are gladly giving themselves to the work of the Kingdom of God.

We are expecting "Ye Editor" at the District Conference.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

New Orleans District.

Most of our churches in New Orleans followed the Discipline in observing Epworth League Anniversary on the evening of April 8. Several of them presented the pageant prepared for the occasion.

The circle of Leagues in the New Orleans churches was completed recently when Dr. Carley organized at Felicity Street Church, not only a Senior, but also an Intermediate League. These bid fair to be effective organizations. There are other signs of an increasing spirit of hopefulness and growth in this old church, which in the past has given to the church perhaps more preachers than any other in the connection.

Dr. Duren and his congregation at Rayne Memorial are planning a wise forward move in the employment of an assistant pastor. They are looking for the right man to assist in an enlarged program of activities.

* * *

Rev. L. R. Sparks, at Franklin, has organized a League in that congregation, which has been without one for some time past. It starts out with enthusiasm. Another interesting report from that congregation is of the organization of a Golden Cross Society, which was expected to report in the neighborhood of $300 from memberships.

* * *

Rev. Martin Hebert has been actively engaged in evangelistic work all the year in spite of constantly unfavorable weather. Many calls are coming to him which offer fine openings for our work among the French. By manifest signs God is calling our church to this work.

Our church at McDonoghville, with a reported membership of only 105, made an Easter offering for the Orphanage of $223.96. This is one of our most faithful churches, always ready to do its part. The pastor, Rev. F. B. Hill, reports good signs of spiritual interest.

The Wesleyan Class at First Church on Easter Sunday reported an attendance of 264. I wonder if any class in the Conference can show a larger attendance.

Our Houma church reported a class of 18 new members Easter Sunday, making a total of 75 in the twelve months since the new church was opened.

* * *

Rev. A. D. Martin has recently opened two new preaching places not far from Houma, where he preaches to large companies of French people who have not heard our evangelical gospel before.

* * *

Rev. J. G. Snelling, in addition to the great work he is doing at the Memorial Home, has done much effective work at Louisiana Avenue. He has received 33 members since Conference in that field, which has sometimes been regarded as barren, and enthusiasm among the workers is growing.

* * *

The Parker Memorial congregation, under the leadership of their pastor, Rev. H. N. Brown, is perfecting a thorough organization in preparation for the meeting to be held by Dr. Goddard next month. We are looking for fine results from this campaign.

The meeting at Algiers, in which Rev. C. C. Wier, the pastor, was assisted by Rev. W. E. Thomas, was an unusually effective one. About 35 persons united with the church, including whole families in some instances. Some striking conversions were witnessed, and evidence of the Spirit's presence and quiet working was constantly seen.

Practically all of our churches in the city were represented in the 162 members received on Easter Sunday. Including these, probably more than 300 have been received since Conference by the New Orleans churches and more than a hundred by the churches outside the city.

A REQUEST FOR PRAYER.

Special prayers, beginning Sunday morning, April 29, for a thorough revival of religion in Duck Hill, Miss., are requested.

ALEXANDRIA DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

The fifty-third session of the Alexandria District Conference, Louisiana Conference, was held in Elizabeth, La., April 10, 11, 12, with Rev. W. L. Doss, Jr., presiding elder, in the chair. Rains began the first day and lasted throughout the entire session. The attendance was good in spite of the rain. The spirit was good and the fellowship was fine. Progress was noted throughout the district. Every church is expecting a good revival this year and the accessions should far surpass any previous year. The preaching was done by Revs. H. W. Bowman and A. D. George. Among the welcomed visitors were Briscoe Carter, Martin Hebert, A. S. Lutz, T. W. Holloman, S. S. Thomas, Mrs. H. G. Owen, District Secretary of the Woman's Missionary Society. All of the above were given an opportunity to represent their respective causes.

The following lay delegates were elected to the Annual Conference: T. W. Holloman, Alexandria; Mrs. S. L. Riggs, Opelousas; W. F. Collier, Oakdale; S. M. Abel, Rochelle; Mrs. W. T. Cunningham, Natchitoches; Dr. H. S. Joseph, Melville; Mrs. S. W. Schwing, Plaquemine; T. L. Edwards, Alexandria.

Alternates: H. L. Baker, Plattenville; Rev. F. P. Moss, Melder; R. D. Lamson, Opelousas; S. S. Thomas, Alexandria.

Mr. T. L. Edwards, Alexandria, was re-elected District Lay Leader, and Dr. H. S. Joseph, Melville, and J. P. Bond, Oakdale, were elected Associate Lay Leaders.

Oakdale and Lecompte both asked for the next session of the conference, and the conference accepted the invitation from Lecompte for the meeting place of the 1924 session.

D. B. BODDIE, Secretary.

SEASONAL SPIRITUALS.

By Dr. Walt Holcomb.

Sitting in a swing, in God's big out-doors, wondering how to respond to an editor's request for an article on the need for a general revival.

The sun is shining; the songsters are singing; the chickens are cackling; the flowers are blooming; the grass is growing; the children are playing, and the people are smiling.

The snow has melted from the hills; the icicles have dropped from the trees; the earth has thawed on the surface; the clouds have closed against the winter rains; the cold wind has ceased to howl around the corner; the thermometer is climbing away from zero.

Behold, nature is starting her annual revival. Springtime is here. Nature had blackslidden since last summer and fall. Now, she is returning from her backsliding. What a time of refreshing within the realm of nature! Back of nature is God; and this is the season of the Most High, as are all revival seasons.

Why isn't the beginning of spring the most suggestive season for a revival of the spiritual life in the Christian and the church? Then, the closing day of March will say, "Good morning, Easter Sunday"—the resurrection day, so typical of a resurrected and revived religion in the soul of man and heart of the church. As Christ arose, from the tomb of the dead, so man arises from the sepulcher of sin. The resurrection glory and power are the revival splendor and dynamics of the church. It was springtime when Christ was resurrected.

As the need is general for a revival of nature, so the need is all-inclusive for the children of men and the church of God. Not a tiny germ of grass will fail to share in the resurrecting requisites of a revival in nature. Because the need is general, the supply of life is all-sufficient. As the need is church-wide and includes those for whom the church is responsible, so the all-pervading, all-penetrating and all-powering grace of God is extensive and intensive in its scope and work.

A perennial revival is incompatible with nature, inconsistent with Scripture, and contrary to experience of saints; perennial life is in harmony with nature, in accord with Scriptures, and in keeping with the experience of saints. Thank God, I have had perennial life in my soul since I was born again. There have been seasonal revivals, as I have experienced visitations from God, in season and out of season. The church may have perennial life—amplified by seasonal revivals.

Nature's revival is quiet, still and silent. While it is fraught with expulsive force, it breaks upon the world as soft as down, as silent as the stars, as still as the dew. The songs of night are the melody of nature's revival. It is when nature backslides that storms, cyclones and cataclysms appear. When nature recovers, stillness prevails.

The deepest, truest and biggest revival is when the church that is true to the doctrines of the Bible hears the still small voice, and awakes to behold the beauty of the Lord and to inquire in his temple. Revolutions appear only when nations and churches depart from the basic truths of democratic government and orthodox Christianity. While history records revolutionary revivals, it was only when the people had forgotten or forsaken the fundamental truths of the Book and the central teachings of the church.

Thank God, the Southern Methodist Church does not need that kind of a revival to-day. Her bishops, elders, pastors, secretaries, editors, evangelists and people are the most loyal, faithful and orthodox followers of Jesus Christ in Protestant Christianity. While, now and then, a doubtful voice may be heard in some quarters, it is subdued voice; and so long as sinners are convicted, surrendering souls are saved, and believing hearts are sanctified, I am not afraid of destructive critics and atheistic evolutionists. Shouts of new-born souls will drown these uncertain voices.

What we need is a conservative revival that will carry forward the well-thought-out and well regulated life of the church, that must continue seven days in a week, fifty-two weeks in a year, and not a revolutionary revival that will throw a monkey-wrench into the church machinery for two weeks, requiring the other fifty weeks of the year to adjust the machinery of the church of God. Organized and accredited evangelism is rapidly approaching this ideal.

The kind of travail necessary for such a springtime revival is the kind of travail that the earth puts forth—too deep to be loud, too intense to be noisy, too spiritual to be superficial, and too real to be unduly emotional. Nature's travail is to create and re-create life.

Signs of spring life are abundant. Signs of church life are more in evidence. The first sign of a general revival appearing on the horizon was when our General Conference, at Hot Springs, went on record urging the church to win a million souls during this quadrennium. The next appeared when our General Evangelists, in session at Dallas, pledged their co-operation and allegiance to this call of the church. To remind and re-enforce this call, the General Committee on Evangelism appointed Drs. Perry, Cram, and Morris to prepare a paper, urging the execution of the order and plan for a church-wide awakening. Bishop Ainsworth, the first to organize his forces, called together the pastors and laymen in his Episcopal District at Macon, Jackson, and Jacksonville. This was the most auspicious and outstanding revival program of the year.

As we "listen in," we are pleasantly and agreeably surprised at the reports coming to the editors of all Conference organs and our General Organ, and the generous way in which our editors are broadcasting weekly the good news and glad tidings throughout our great church. As the encouraging reports come from along the Mason-Dixon Line to the Gulf Stream, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and, beyond the rolling seas, from far-away Belgium, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Siberia-Manchuria, Korea, Brazil, Japan, and China, let us take courage and push forward the most aggressive and progressive revival campaign, till Conference meets, that Southern Methodism has known in her glorious past.

SHALL THE LINE BREAK?

By Bishop James E. Dickey.

We have not forgotten the tense days of 1917-18, when the thin line across the frontiers of Belgium and France was bending and falling back, and bending again. We waited with bated breath when the newsboys cried, "The Drive's On!" Strong men gripped hands and asked, "Will the line break?" Pale-faced women fled to their closets and prayed that the line would not break, for if it should break, a besom of destruction would sweep on to Paris, across the channel, and then deluge a wide world.

There is a thin line in Belgium to-day under the leadership of Bishop Beauchamp, another in far-away Manchuria-Siberia under Bishop Boaz, another in China under Bishop Hay, another in Africa under Bishop Cannon, and another to the far South, under the Southern Cross, directed by Bishop Dobbs. These men, with their devoted followers, are there bearing aloft Immanuel's banner in the face of fearful odds. Humanity with all its hopes and all its fears hangs upon the destiny of those thin lines. Shall the line break?

In order to sustain the cause of the Allies in Europe, we gave the choicest of our youth, and poured out our treasure. No self-denial was thought severe, if needed to ration and equip those legions. Shall we hesitate now to make needful sacrifice in order to sustain the army of the Lord of Hosts in foreign fields? Shall the line break? God forbid.

SAFETY SIGNALS.

By Rev. S. J. [illegible].

The currents of life and thought nowadays are as swift and changeable as the winds. Yesterday it was the wireless, ether, radio, and all the related wonders thereof; today it is archaeology. Tut—long u. Toot, hath you—is now sounding his horn, long silent, throughout the world! He was just about as wise as some modern men about the use of wealth. In fact, the glory of his golden paraphernalia lasted through centuries because he had it buried. Buried in a tomb of [illegible] or covetousness, wealth is just about as useless to the race, and more damaging to the individual possessing it. But this is only one moral with which I would adorn this screed.

Down in Central America the diggers are unearthing other remains of a people's life, long hidden and unknown. Brought to the light of day and their rude picture writings deciphered, hideous and revolting systems of religion in which human sacrifice plays a chief part, are revealed. No wonder these nations perished, for idolatry in any form ends in death.

But now comes your modern moralist, who moralizes without morals, or at least draws conclusions so far afield that they are irrelevant and their tendency is evil. Hear him as he preaches through magazine and newspaper. Because these systems and hideous cults are doomed and dead, so, too, shall Christian civilization pass from the earth.

Every student of history, of course, is interested in the wonderful discoveries of these earnest and fathful men who are adding to the sum of human knowledge by their labors. But why some giddy, foolish women want to dress like Tut-Ankh—Amen's wife, to me, is like wrapping the cerements of the dead about the living, or why men, who should have better sense, draw in [illegible] comparisons between our present civilization and systems which were neither civil nor humane, to my mind is simply fatuous. A system of government and laws that enslaved the masses to the vagaries of a superstitious cult, and the whims of an autocrat, cannot be dignified as citizens. Egypt's ancient life was as dark as the enclosed tomb of its Pharaohs. Your archaeologist cannot find anything in its Past better than the Present.

This leads on to other thought. Lord Carnarvon, scientist, explorer, archaeologist, died from the inflammation following the bite of a mosquito. Such a man was of value to the world, for there are two ways of reckoning human worth. All men are born free and equal, said the author of a well known State paper. Let this be granted. Yet none of us are factors in the world when newly born—just squalling, squirming, helpless little tots of humanity. It's the aftergrowth that counts. It is not intrinsic value, but relative value. So I think that Carnarvon was worth ten Egyptian kings, dead, dried and forgotten. George Washington, in the great scheme of things, was and is by force of his courage and devotion to human rights, and liberty, of incalculably more value to this country than all the ancient horde of African descent who claimed to be his body servants.

Mind you, I do not claim the lesser man has no soul and is not a subject of redeeming grace as well as the greatest man; but the latter uses his soul and its powers to a larger purpose. And it is the larger purpose in life that makes men truly great and of immense relative value. Rest in peace, Carnarvon. I do not know what your religion was. Most sensible, great Englishmen are Christians. We just write this little tribute to your life and memory. You dug up some things that started the world thinking. You belonged to a nation whose leaders have planted civilization on the outer posts of earth's borderlands. You are in a class with Raleigh, Hastings, Rhodes, empire builders and discoverers. Your fame is known at home and abroad. Rest in peace!

THAT YOU MAY KNOW WHAT OTHERS THINK.

Sucking an Orange Dry.

All of us know what an ordinary thing it is to suck an orange dry and then throw it aside as a useless thing. Suppose that the orange represented a personality and that we had been vitally benefited by it and that for this and other reasons we are obligated to preserve it, we would be doing, of course, an immoral thing in sucking that orange dry and casting it aside.

"Far-fetched and fanciful," you say. Well, let us see if it is so "far-fetched and fanciful" after all. Here is a man who has given the best years of his life to preaching the gospel of Jesus. He has laid by no money. As a workman in the field of souls he has had no time for money-making. He has heen a man of one work. His salary has been small. He has made sacrifices innumerable to be true to his great mission. With worn and feeble body he comes to the place where he must step aside and let a stronger man take his place. He himself must live. The problem would be solved if he only had a salary. But the tragic fact is that he has no salary, for what was his salary is now paid to his successor. He has been used by his church so long as he has been able to do a full day's work. Now that he is ineffective, his high calling and past labors are forgotten, so far as a competence is concerned. He is virtually regarded as not worthy a salary and is cast aside.

In all this do we not have the spectacle of a church sucking a human orange dry and then casting it aside? How does it look to you from the viewpoint of humanitarianism? How does it look to you from the viewpoint of common justice and gratitude? How does it look to you from the viewpoint of Christian brotherhood? Can a Christian church which sucks its orange dry and casts it aside expect to receive God's richest blessings?—T. N. Ivey, Editor Christian Advocate, Nashville, Tenn.

A Puzzle and a Prophecy.

One of the puzzles of Methodism to anyone acquainted with the facts is that the church did not sooner awake to its obligation to make some adequate provision for those who have worn themselves out in her ministry. A Methodist preacher is requested to go where he is sent and, going, to devote himself wholly to his work for the church. He has rare opportunity if he does his work faithfully to lay up anything for his support in the inevitable day when he can no longer work. It is the imperative duty of the church to provide for him and his family when that day comes.

The singularity of the case lies in the fact that every Methodist recognizes this duty, not one will be found to deny it, and yet the actual performance of it has never been undertaken in any adequate measure. Now it will be different. The plan adopted by the General Conference in outline and the particulars of the plan as worked out by the General Board of Finance present to the church an admirable method for meeting this responsibility.

That the obligation will be met goes without saying. It can and will be accomplished by teamwork, each member giving to superannuate endowment as requested by the Board. No burden will be imposed on any one, but all of us should cheerfully give as we are able and respond together to this sacred call until we more than meet it.—A. J. Lamar and John W. Barton, Publishing Agents.

What the Women Will Do.

When it was decided at the General Conference that, among the various organizations of the church scheduled to assist in the special effort for superannuate endowment, the Woman's Missionary Societies should be included, the response from the women was immediate and favorable. The Woman's Missionary Council is glad to offer its machinery, its organized groups of workers, and its prayerful sympathy to another division of church work for such an hour as this.

There can be no dissenting voice as to the necessity of providing for those who have been "God's indispensables" and who continue to be a powerful influence in the work of the church through the converts they have won, the members they have trained, and the personal influence they exert. Now that they have come to the sunset of life with its failing energies, it is the duty of the church to see that they have adequate support. And this not only because of what they have been and for what they will be as long as life permits them to pour out consecration and prayers.

To aid in this effort to establish a competence for our retired workers is a privilege and a commanding opportunity. It is an obligation not alone upon one Board of the Church but upon the whole membership working together in unity and harmony, determined to make the movement a prompt and complete success. To this end the women of the church will gladly co-operate.—Mrs. F. F. Stephens, Vice President Woman's Missionary Council.

The Payment of an Honest Debt.

The leadership of the church in the establishment of civilization is undisputed. It is a matter of history that she has been first at the outposts of all frontiers. Whenever and wherever there has been occasion for enlightened people to explore and to claim uncharted wildernesses for better things, the church has inevitably been prompt to blaze the path.

In the field of education the church has a record that not only proved her vision but emphasized her potency. All of the great universities of the world had their beginnings under the faith and guidance of the church. The world owes more to this one institution for the intellectual training of its inhabitants than to all other forces combined.

Likewise the promotion and activities in social service have been sponsored chiefly by the church. The great eleemosynary institutions of the world started with her faith and practice, and they live and thrive to-day by the tenets of her teachings.

But whatever the church has accomplished in these and many other fields it has been done by her preachers. Her one great shame is the fact that she has failed to give proper attention to these men who made her what she is. If her records could be examined, it would be found that she actually owes more than ten million dollars in salaries promised her preachers that she did not pay.

Worst of all, the said reproach resting upon the church for her terrible neglect of her worn-out preachers makes her a shining mark for the world's scorn. But the special effort for superannuate endowment which will now be undertaken gives her an unparalleled opportunity to square herself with the judgment of a critical public by paying the debt she owes to those who have grown old and physically impaired in her wonderful service to mankind.—Mrs. J. W. Downs, Secretary of the Board of Missions, Woman's Department.

A LITTLE CHILD.

Dear Lord, I do not ask
That thou shouldst give me some high work of thine,
Some noble calling or some wondrous task;
Give me a little hand to hold in mine.

Give me a little child to point the way
Over the strange, sweet path that leads to thee;
Give me a little voice to teach to pray;
Give two shining eyes thy face to see.

The only crown I ask, dear Lord, to wear,
Is this—that I may teach a little child.

I do not ask that I should ever stand
Among the wise, the worthy or the great;
I only ask that, softly, hand in hand,
A child and I may enter at the gate.

—Marion B. Craig.

THE GIANT WHO WANTED TO WORK.

"Please read me a story, mother," pleaded little Edith.

"I would like to, dear, but I must finish the ironing and then put the baby to sleep."

"I know you have a lot to do, mother, but you will never let me help you," pleaded little Edith.

Edith's mother laughed. She knew that her little girl was always asking to help, but she did really think that Edith was not big enough. She was only seven.

"Well, I'll tell you what I'll do," said mother. "When I am rocking the baby to sleep, I will read you a short story."

So mother read the story about the wood-cutter who did not like to work. This wood-cutter was so lazy that he went to a wise man and asked for a giant to do his work for him. The wise man gave him a giant, but told the lazy man that he would have to keep the giant busy, or else the giant would kill him.

The lazy man told the giant to cut down all the trees in the forest. In five minutes the task was completed.

"What else is there for me to do?" roared the giant.

The lazy man told the giant to build him a city where the forest stood. In five minutes the city was built.

In five minutes the pearls were in great banks by the sea.

"Quick! What is there for me to do?" roared the giant.

The lazy man now became thoroughly frightened and could think of no more work. Just then he noticed his dog. "Take the curl out of my dog's tail," he ordered.

The giant tried and tried, but the dog's tail remained as curly as ever.

At last he said to the lazy man: "If you will let me off this time, I will never trouble you again.'"

The lazy man was glad to let the giant off and go back to his own work. He had had a hard lesson.

Mother put the baby to bed and was just stopping to pick up some scattered toys when little Edith caught her around the waist and exclaimed: "I am the big giant. What is there for me to do?"

Mother smiled. "Well, Mr. Giant, you may pick up the playthings."

Little Edith went to work with a will, and soon all the playthings were neatly packed in their box.

"What is there for me to do?" roared little Edith again.

Mother entered into the game and said: "Go and get me a bucketful of chips."

"Here is your bucketful of chips. What is there for me to do?" roared little Edith in a few minutes.

"I believe that is all," said mother.

"Quick!" roared little Edith, deep in the game. "What is there for me to do?" roared little Edith.

Mother looked puzzled. "Fold these tea towels and put them in the cupboard."

"What is there for me to do?"roared little Edith.

"The work is all done now," said mother. She sank into a chair and pulled little Edith into her lap. "My dear little giant, you will have to take the curl out of the puppy's tail."

Little Edith's face grew long, and she said: "O mother, dear, I'm like the giant in the story, I can't do that."

"Well, never mind, dear," said mother. "I am very proud of my little giant, and I shall call on her every day after this to help me keep the house in order."

So every day after that little Edith played the new game with mother and found that it grew more and more fun as the giant learned to do harder and harder things to help. She even told the baby that just as soon as he was old enough to play there were going to be two giants in their house the kind of giants that really like to work.

JACK'S TRADE.

By Kate S. Gates.

Uncle Jack was on the front porch apparently absorbed in his newspaper. His nephew and namesake was near by on the lawn trying to trade a knife to Bob Kenney. The knife looked all right, but Uncle Jack knew that it was not good for much. He also knew that Jack was perfectly aware of its worthlessness. And yet he heard him saying persuasively: "You won't very often run up against a better-looking knife. Better take it while you can get it. I've got two others, so you see I do not really need it."

After a little more urging, Bob took it, and Jack came up the steps whistling, a half-dollar in his pocket in the place of the knife.

"Good trade that!" he said complacently as he dropped into the hammock.

"Was it?" said Uncle Jack soberly.

"Well—perhaps it was better for me than it was for Bob, but that was his lookout, not mine. I did not say a word that was not true. I said it was a mighty nice-looking knife, and it is. It was up to him to find out whether it was good for anything or not. Guess there wouldn't be many trades made if folks ran their own goods down."

"I was rather interested in a little story I happened to run across the other day," said Uncle Jack presently. "A wealthy American living in Paris was suspicious that he was harboring a thief in his household. Various articles mysteriously disappeared from time to time, and occasionally small sums of money were missing from his purse; but do his best, he could get no clew to the thief.

"Finally, he hit upon an experiment. He procured a small vial of a certain acid and put it in a little case on his dressing table with several coins. If any one attempted to remove one of the coins he would upset the vial, and the acid would stain the hands of the thief an indelible yellow.

"The very next day he found the case had been tampered with, two of the coins were missing, and the vial had been upset. Shortly after he discovered the telltale stains on his valet's hands. Very likely the fellow, though he may not have suspected the trap, was dismayed when he saw the stain; but I sometimes wonder if we realize that every time we say, or do, or act falsely, it leaves an ugly stain, not on our hands but on our souls. No matter how small and insignificant the sin seems to us it makes a wretched stain."

Jack made no comment, but his uncle saw him glance involuntarily at his hands as if half expecting to find yellow marks, and very soon he got up and strolled down into the orchard. Somehow he did not feel so proud over his trade as he had. Perhaps, after all, it wasn't smart to "do" a fellow like that. When you stopped really to think about it, it did seem very much like cheating.

"Uncle Jack never preaches at a fellow, but he always manages to have a story to tell that makes you feel mean when you've done anything out of the way," he thought. "I might as well hunt up Bob and buy the knife back. I won't have any peace of mind until I do that's sure."

North Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. H. Felts, Rev. T. H. Lipscomb, Rev. J. W. Dorman.

DIRECTIONS.

All checks and money orders should be made payable to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

Communications pertaining to subscriptions and other business matters should be addressed to the Manager, or to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after three or four weeks, notify us, and we will make it right.

Communications intended for the Editor should be directed to him at 12 Camp Street. Correspondents will observe the following rules: 1. Write on only one side of the paper. 2. If you have a typewriter, by all means use it; otherwise use a good quality of black ink. 3. Leave a space of at least two inches at the top of the first page; leave a margin of at least one inch on the left-hand side of the page; do not crowd the words and the lines together. 4. Take special pains to write proper-names correctly and legibly. 5. Use letter paper if you can get it—not note paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

FINANCING THE CHURCH.

on as equitable a basis as can be devised, the present basis being presumably equitable.

5. Upon an appropriate day or days, let the whole budget be presented to the congregation for free-will offerings, care being taken that the entire membership is given opportunity to contribute.

6. Let it be definitely understood that the tithe is looked upon as the minimum amount that a Christian ought ordinarily to give; but let it also be definitely understood that no movement of the church will be enterprised that involves the expenditure of more than the tithe may be expected to produce.

7. Let a Sinking Fund be set apart out of the annual collections out of which emergency needs in any department of the work of the church may be met, this fund being administered sacredly to meet only temporary and emergency needs.

The Whole Point.

The suggestions above may be crude and subject to all sorts of amendments, corrections, and additions; but they seem to us to be at least valuable in pointing out a better way for financing the church. Our whole point is this: If we would devote as much time and energy to inculcating the principles of Christian stewardship throughout the church as we do in putting on special "drives," "campaigns," "movements," etc., we should in a reasonably short time have a method of meeting all our needs that would be adequate, permanent, and absolutely fair to all the interests involved.

Spiritual Life Basal.

After all, the church can really grow only in proportion to the spiritual life of its membership, and it is this spiritual life that determines the material progress of the church. If spiritual life abounds, all the money necessary for real needs will be forthcoming; if spiritual life does not abound, all sorts of expedients will have to be adopted to secure the money. It is possible to undertake a program of extension in secular business that the resources at command do not justify; and it is just as possible for the church to run ahead of the available resources of the membership. If the generator on an automobile fails to work, the battery will soon "go dead," and the automobile will be out of commission until the battery is recharged. Making application of this fact, we believe it is time for us to begin to think seriously about "recharging the battery."

TWO VALUABLE PUBLICATIONS.

We have just received, through the courtesy of the publishers, the Southern Methodist Handbook for 1923, and the Minutes of the Annual Conferences for 1922.

These publications seem to us to be almost absolutely necessary for the Methodist who would have at instant command essential facts concerning the work of the church at large. Dr. T. N. Ivey, the editor of the Handbook, knows just what to include and what to exclude; and he has produced a volume which is worth a great deal more than the fifty cents charged for it. The Minutes of the Annual Conference are edited by Curtis B. Haley, and consist of the official reports of these bodies. The price is one dollar. Both these volumes may be had of the Publishing House.

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

Rev. W. D. Bass, of Corinth, Miss., will hold some tent meetings in Louisiana this spring.

Rev. J. V. Bennett, Mississippi Conference evangelist, recently assisted Rev. J. M. Alford, in a fine meeting at Winnsboro, La.

Mr. D. A. McKinnon, of Pachuta, Miss., in a business note to the Advocate, speaks very highly of Rev. G. G. Yeager, pastor of the Rose Hill charge.

Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Johns, of Cedar Grove, La., have both been victims of the "flu" recently. We are glad to know that they have practically recovered.

Rev. J. M. Alford was recently with Rev. H. W. Cudd at a meeting at Waterproof, La. Fine interest was developed at the meeting, and gracious results followed.

The MacDonell lectures at Scarritt Bible and Training School will be delivered this week by Dr. Wilbur F. Tillett. The general theme is, "The Paths that Lead to God."

Miss Martha Rye, of Amory, Miss., in renewing her subscription to the Advocate, states that she has been reading it for more than 35 years. We appreciate her kind words concerning the paper.

Five hundred people attended the Sunday School Day exercises of the First Methodist Church, Columbus, Miss., on April 15. The pageant, "The Way, the Truth, and the Light," was presented.

Rev. H. J. Moore, our pastor at Forest, Miss., reports that the meeting at Morton, Miss., in which he was assisted by Rev. Earl B. Moll, was attended by gracious results. There were twelve accessions to the church.

A fine list of subscriptions to the Advocate was recently secured by members of the Epworth League of the Court Street Church of Hattiesburg, Miss. We appreciate very greatly this fine work of these energetic young people.

In the recent fire at Coahoma, Miss., the pews, furniture, and bell of the Methodist church, which were stored in the Fant Building, while the new church was being built, were destroyed. The loss was about $1,200, with no insurance.

A good report comes to us from the Greenwood Springs charge, North Mississippi Conference. All assessments will be paid in full this year, one new church is being built, and all indications point toward a great year. Rev. W. M. Hester is the pastor.

The Lauderdale County Herald, published at Meridian, Miss., has made its appearance. It is published by Mr. James Faulk, formerly editor of the Green County Herald. The first appearance indicates that Mr. Faulk will produce a highly creditable paper.

Rev. H. Whitehead, formerly of the Louisiana Conference, and at one time connected with the New Orleans Christian Advocate, paid the Advocate office an appreciated call on Thursday of last week. Brother Whitehead is now one of our pastors in Birmingham, Ala.

Rev. Leon I. McCain recently assisted Rev. R. T. Ware in a great meeting at Vivian, La. There were 137 additions to the membership of the church, 70 tithers enrolled, and 13 family altars established. Several new subscriptions to the Advocate were also secured.

The tabernacle at Laurel, Miss., in which the Gipsy Smith meeting will be held, was dedicated last Sunday evening. Members of the "Flying Squadron" from Jackson and Hattiesburg were present and made addresses. The Gipsy Smith meeting will begin next Sunday evening.

The Methodist church at New Iberia, La., will celebrate its one hundredth anniversary next Sunday, April 29. Dr. Fitzgerald S. Parker and Dr. W. Winans Drake will be the principal speakers. We hope to have an account of this historic congregation for publication in the near future.

Rev. John F. Foster, pastor of St. Mark's, is now occupying the apartments in St. Mark's Building, 1136 North Rampart Street. Brother Foster, who is President of the Louisiana Conference Board of Finance, is attending a meeting of the General Board of Finance in St. Louis this week.

Brother J. J. Baird, the great teacher of the Big Brothers' Class, Greenville, Miss., has reentered the ministry, and is serving as pastor of the Evansville and Dubbs charge, filling the vacancy caused by the retirement of Rev. T. H. Mills, who was forced to give up the work on account of ill health.

April 26 is being observed by Belzoni, Miss., as "Methodist Day," the purpose being to raise a sufficient amount of money to begin at once the building of a new Methodist church. More than $4,000 has already been collected. Rev. H. P. Lewis is the energetic leader of the Methodist forces at Belzoni.

Rev. W. M. Sullivan, presiding elder of the Seashore District, Mississippi Conference, desires the address of Rev. C. L. Stewart, local preacher. If this notice should fall under the eyes of Brother Stewart or any one who knows his address, a card to Brother Sullivan at Gulfport, Miss., will be greatly appreciated.

The old parsonage of the Bayou Pierre circuit has been sold and a new one built at Glancy. It is a very comfortable home for the preacher's family. The good women of the charge have added needed new furniture, and they plan to keep it supplied with all necessary fixtures. Rev. S. B. Watkins is the pastor.

Dr. E. H. Galloway, of Jackson, Miss., son of the lamented Bishop Charles B. Galloway, spent several days in New Orleans last week. He was accompanied by his young son, Charles. Dr. Galloway bears a striking resemblance to his distinguished father, and he has proved himself a worthy son of that great leader of Methodism.

We thank Rev. A. T. McIlwain, presiding elder of the Columbus District, North Mississippi Conference, for a cordial invitation to attend his district conference, which is in session at Ackerman this week. The opening sermon of the conference was preached on the evening of April 25 by Dr. J. R. Countiss, President of Grenada College.

Rev. S. B. Watkins, pastor of the Bayou Pierre circuit, Mississippi Conference, announces that Gipsy Smith, Jr., will be with him for an all-day service at the Pleasant Valley church, Wednesday, May 23. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend this meeting, and several thou-and people are expected to attend. Special music will be furnished by a selected choir.

We learn with great sorrow of the death of Mr. Emory Holloman, on Wednesday morning, April 18, at Alexandria, La. He has been in ill health for some time, and the end was not unexpected. He was a young man of sterling Christian character. He was a brother of Mr. T. W. Holloman, one of the leading laymen of the Louisiana Conference. The Advocate extends sincere sympathy to his sorrowing loved ones and friends.

---

In the appeal of Rev. J. Tillery Lewis, presiding elder of the Sardis District, North Mississippi Conference, in the Advocate of April 12, for help in rebuilding the church near Savage, Miss., which was destroyed by a cyclone, the statement was made that it was on the Cockrum circuit; it should have been the Arkabutla circuit, and the address of the pastor, Rev. R. E. Woodfin, is Arkabutla instead of Cockrum. We trust the appeal has met with generous response.

---

After thirty-two years of fatihful service, during seventeen of which he was general manager, Mr. T. B. Enochs has retired from active participation in the conduct of the large business interests of Enochs Brothers in Pike, Walthall, and Marion Counties, Miss., and will take a well-earned rest. Mr. Enochs has made large contributions to the industrial and moral welfare of Mississippi, and the Advocate extends its hearty good wishes to him as he enters upon a vacation so well deserved.

---

Rev. Waldo W. Moore, pastor of the Wesley Memorial charge, Biloxi, Miss., writes: "I acknowledge with thanks donations on the Ford car and a few donations to the Bible fund from the following: J. L. Jordan, Brother Barnes, Mrs. Dora Barr Elder, Mrs. Christian Keefier, Mrs. Hamblen, Mrs. Mary Lampton, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Reid, Mrs. D. Zable, Mr. and Mrs. Widner, Woman's Missionary Society of Wiggins, Miss., Miss Cammack, Mrs. Jas. Stribling (of Tennessee). We use the Ford car on the Mission here. It is very useful, with the pulpit attached and the folding organ carried on it to have open-air services, and we thus use it. Some of the Testaments given are in the hands of sailors who are, at this writing, on the great sea, followed by the prayer that God will touch their hearts through His Word. We have not paid in full for the car. We hope other friends will help."

OFFICIAL CALL FOR THE NINTH CONVENTION OF THE WORLD'S SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION.

To the Sunday School Workers in Every Land,
Greeting:

In the name of the Sunday school workers of Great Britain and Ireland we, the officers of the World's Sunday School Association, invite Sunday school workers from all nations to attend the World's Ninth Sunday School Convention to be held in Glasgow, Scotland, June 18-26, 1924.

It is nearly three years since the Sunday school workers of the world assembled in Tokyo. Some of the results of that Convention are already known, especially the change in the attitude of the Far East toward Christian teaching; where there was oftentimes distrust there is now open-minded inquiry.

The influence of the Christian churches and the thirty millions and more members of the Sunday schools of the world ought to be a force sufficiently intelligent and influential to create a mind and a heart attitude that is Christian among the youth of the oncoming generations that will forever cast out the spirit that breeds war.

Christian education is beset with problems in every land and it is time for us to meet and commune together that we may receive fresh vigor and knowledge to face the serious conditions with which we are confronted.

This Ninth Convention will have as its motto: "THAT THE WORLD MAY KNOW THAT THOU HAST SENT ME." The daily program will cover every phase of Sunday school work at home and in the mission fields.

At Tokyo the Scottish National Sabbath School Union invited the World's Sunday School Association to come to Glasgow, and the invitation is peculiarly fitting. Glasgow—in which city the meetings are to be held—has for its civic motto: "LET GLASGOW FLOURISH BY THE PREACHING OF THE WORD." The city, though known chiefly as a commercial and shipping center, founded by Saint Kentigern about 450 A. D., is an ancient cathedral and university town.

Scotland, on which the eyes of the religious world will be set in 1924, has long been known as a Bible-loving country, whose Christian people have in time of persecution bled and died for their faith. It is the land of John Knox, David Livingstone, John G. Paton, and James Chalmers, and many others renowned in the history of missionary work.

Scottish hospitality is cordially offered and a warm welcome is assured to all who find their way to the Convention. All who purpose attending should make early application for membership. Delegates from India, Continental Europe and Great Britain should communicate with the General Secretary, World's Sunday School Convention, 70 Bothwell Street, Glasgow, and all others with the General Secretary, the World's Sunday School Association, 216 Metropolitan Tower, New York City.

Let all who are interested pray for the officers and committees charged with the responsibility of the Convention plans, to the end that great glory be given to the name of Jesus in whose Name the world can have peace.

Issued in the name of
THE HON. J. J. MACLAREN, D.C.L., LLD.,
Justice of the Appellate Court of Canada,
President of the World's Sunday School Assn.
ARTHUR M. HARRIS, New York,
Chairman of Executive Committee—W. S. S. A.
W. G. LANDES, C.E.D.,
General Secretary—W. S. S. A.
THE RT. HON. LORD PENTLAND, G.C.S.I.,
President of the Convention Council.
JAMES KELLY, M.A.,
General Secretary of the Convention.

VICTOR HUGO STEPHENSON.

Victor Hugo Stephenson was born Dec. 25, 1878, in Booneville, Miss. He died of pneumonia Feb. 28, 1923. In little more than forty-four years were crowded the events of his full life. On Dec. 3, 1916, he was married to Miss Laura Wright of Enterprise, Miss. Their home was blessed with two sweet little girls, his pride and joy—Laura Miller, five years, and Victoria, ten months old. Victor was orphaned early, but found more than one mother in other loving hearts. He was the pet and favorite of the entire town. Everybody loved him. He professed Christ as Savior and joined the Methodist Church early in life. All his life he was active in church work; in the Sunday school and Epworth League he found his field of work. For ten years he was the Conference treasurer of the Epworth League. He was faithful in every trust. In the latter years of his life he sponsored the movement for a great hospital in Booneville, which stands to-day as a monument to his memory as it goes on dispensing its blessings of mercy. He was a great lover. No man loved his friends more than he. His last days, while full of suffering, were days of blessed fellowship with his Savior and the ones so dear in his home. He sorrowed in the parting, but rejoiced in the home-going. We shall clasp his hands in the Father's Home when time for us has ceased.

Whereas Brother R. D. CALDWELL, of Harmony Chapel Church, was removed by death from his earthly field of labor on Dec. 25, 1922; and

Whereas Brother Caldwell had been a life-long Methodist, and had been for many years a steward in his church, and an earnest and consecrated worker and Christian, a faithful father and husband, and a loyal citizen of our country; be it

Resolved by this Conference, That while we deplore the loss of our fellow-worker, we bow to the will of Him who doeth all things well, and give to his bereaved loved ones our Christian sympathy, and pray God's blessing and comforting Spirit upon them.

MRS. LIZZIE HORNBEAK was born at Farmersville, La., Oct. 3, 1844. She was married to J. R. Callen on April 25, 1861, who died on Nov. 5, 1871, leaving three daughters, two of whom died in 1873, Mary Alice Felton being the only one now living by this union. After the death of her first husband, she married E. M. Hornbeak. To this union was born one son, James Benton. Sister Hornbeak was converted at an early age and joined the Presbyterian Church. Later, after moving to Mer Rouge, La., and finding no Presbyterian church there, she united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. I have known Sister Hornbeak for the past three and a half years. She was a devout Christian, loved her church and her pastor, and was always present at the church services when her health would permit. She was a good mother, a good neighbor, and was loved by all who knew her. She died on March 30, 1923, of pneumonia. She fought a wonderful battle, she gained the victory, and she has gone to be with her Lord.

Her Pastor,
J. R. ROY.

WHATEVER IS PAST.

By Ida M. Thomas.

Whatever is past, is over,
  With it you've no more to do
Than the butterfly with the chrysalis,
  Or the bird with the egg-shell blue.

If it was trouble or sorrow,
  With all your energy strive
To forget it; by brooding constantly,
  You will only keep it alive.

And if you've proven a failure,
  Beaten by storm and by stress,
Remember, as long as there's life, you still
  Have another chance at success.

Perhaps you have sinned—you're human,
  Gone the wrong road by mistake.
A bad dream it was; let it fade away.
  You are all right, now you're awake.

Whatever is past, is over;
  Sorrow, or failure, or sin.

Let yesterday's losses forgotten be
  And to-day a new life begin.

"DOCTOR JACK"

JOHN CARLISLE KILGO
Former President of Trinity College and Late Bishop of the M. E. Church, South

¶ We know now that it was characteristic of an intimate love inspired in their hearts by his fatherly advice and counsel. The morning chapel hour frequently was occasion for a short talk by Dr. Kilgo on some practical question of Christian living. In this he was a master. His talks won the confidence and love of his students, destroyed their doubts, strengthened their resolve, and created a lasting desire to practice within their own lives these great teachings of Christian faith.

¶ The best of these masterly talks were stenographically reported by D. W. NEWSOM, Treasurer of Trinity College, and are now published under the title of "CHAPEL TALKS, by John Carlisle Kilgo."

¶ They have a message for you, and through their reading you will come to know and love him as do his former students. You too will know him as a great man, a great leader, a great teacher, and as "Doctor Jack."

MISSISSIPPI EPWORTH LEAGUE CONFERENCE.

Mr. Hawkins has announced the appointment of Miss M[illegible] Cooper as Secretary of the Mississippi Epworth League Conference, to succeed Miss Erma Kile, resigned. Miss Cooper's address is Meridian, Miss., P. O. Box 566. Miss Cooper has already actively engaged in the work, and from what we hear of her she is going to make us an excellent Secretary. Influenza
Physicians advise keeping the bowels open as a safeguard against Grippe or Influenza.
When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication.
Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe. Try it today.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE NOTES.

At the present writing it looks as if we are to have a Standard Training School at McComb for the Brookhave District. I trust that it shall be so indeed in truth. I enjoyed being at the Brookhaven District Conference. There was a fine representation there and much interest. We had a most delightful visit.

Sunday, the 15th, was spent at Foxworth, as well as the 16th. The Foxworth school is in good shape as to average attendance and finances. They have added two Sunday school rooms to their building. They are in shape now to do big things for the religious education of their childhood. Brother Price is getting things lined up for a forward move. The three days spent at Foxworth were much enjoyed.

We had the pleasure of visiting the Brookhaven revival. From all the reports that I heard, Brother Jones is indeed a great preacher. The night I was there was very rainy, but there was a good congregation—many more than I thought. The regret of this meeting seemed to be the fact that it was closing too soon.

La Branch Street, McComb, reports $5.01 Sunday School Day; Mount Pleasant, on the Gallman charge, $2.95; Ellisville, $11.25; Knoxo, on Fernwood charge, $2; Sumrall, $6; Bolton, $4.10; Rankin Street, $10.70; Pachuta, $10.77. This makes a total of 13 schools sending in offerings. If it will come in thick and fast, it will help a whole lot.

A county-wide Institute will be held at Hazlehurst, May 2 and 3. Let all Sunday school worers in the county take due notice of this and come to these services. Send names to Rev. W. H. Saunders.

Poplar Springs and Harrisville, both on the Harrisville circuit, are in the race for 100% "C" type schools. Who will be first? This is a very fine ambition on the part of a school.

So far as I am able to judge, the Sunday school work of the Mississippi Conference is way ahead of anything it has been in the last six years. We are on the high-water mark. May we press on to undreamed of victories! Life and power are coming to the schools. Pray for these earnest, consecrated men and women who are making this possible. More schools are in operation, more pupils in these schools, more training work, a higher average of attendance, better equipment, more definite teaching. Pray for great victories.

The Sunday schools of the Mississippi Conference lead the church on the per cent of the pledge paid in the Centenary—84.4% paid. Can we not make it 100% by Conference time? My, would that not be fine! Direct all monthly missionary offerings to the Centenary and send the money to John E. Edgerton, Lambuth Building, Nashville, Tenn.

Pray for the work and the workers.

Yours in Him,

JOHN C. CHAMBERS.

"CONTEMPT OF COURT."

Dear Brother Carley: A former governor of Mississipi is now serving a thirty days' sentence in the Lafayette County jail for contempt of court. The charge by the judge was "willful and conspicuous defiance of the court's process."

As I was reading this in yesterday's Commercial-Appeal the thought came to me that many of us are guilty of willful and conspicuous defiance of the church's process.

Are not the laws made by the General Conference the process of the church? Are not the resolutions adopted by our Annual Conferences and all other business of that body the process of the church?

Is not every constitutional meeting and every law as well as all the rules that govern and control the church, from the General Conference down to the mid-week prayer meeting, the church's process?

Is the bishop, the elder, the preacher in charge, the Sunday school superintendent, the teacher, every member of the official board, the regular member, from the oldest to the youngest, who repudiates a Centenary pledge, a Christian Education pledge or a regular church assessment, or who knowingly violates any rule of the church, guilty of willful and conspicuous defiance of the church's process?

What about the member dressed in costly apparel, who is looked to by the young folks as a leader in society and to whom the boys and girls go for information concerning the salvation of their souls, but who boastingly declares he does not believe in Conference collections, and who thinks he can invest $2 in many other ways that will do more good than by subscribing to the Advocate?

If these thoughts will help any one to see that willful and conspicuous defiance of the church's process will do more to disorganize and corrupt society and to break down our Christian civilization than willful and consuicuous defiance of the court's process, however demoralizing such defiance may be. I should like for them to be published in the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

Things are moving along nicely with us on the Duck Hill circuit; our revival meeting will start the fifth Sunday in April.

Let us all pray that there will be no willful and conspienous defiance of any moral or civil law. May God make us a law-abiding people. Jesus said the law would not be destroyed. Let us keep it; there is great beauty in the law, and much grace in keeping it.

GUY D. BURT.

MRS. J. O. BENNETT. ✓

MARGARET VIRDIE ESTES, wife of Rev. J. O. Bennett, of the Louisiana Conference, was born at Moresville, Lee County, Miss., Feb. 26, 1861, and died at Haughton, La., March 21, 1923, and was buried at Colfax, La., being sixty-one years and one month of age. Assisted by Rev. H. B. Thomason, the Colfax pastor; Rev. K. W. Dodson, presiding elder of the Ruston District, and Rev. W. L. Doss, Jr., presiding elder of the Alexandria District, the funeral was conducted by Rev. R. H. Wynn, presiding elder of the Shreveport District, Louisiana Conference. Sister Bennett was converted at fourteen years of age, and lived a devoted and consistent Christian life, and died an unusually triumphant death. She was married to Rev. J. O. Bennett at Moresville, Miss., Dec. 28, 1879, and for forty-two years she lived a life devoted to the interests of her husband and his work as a preacher of the gospel, being at all times a faithful companion and a loyal helper in the arduous work of the ministry. To them were born six children, two of whom, Charlie Howard, who died at the age of three years and ten days, and Joseph Carl, who died on Nov. 21, 1892, at the age of ten years and eleven months, preceded her to the heavenly home. Of the other four, Mrs. A. S. J. Neil, wife of our pastor there, lives at Belcher, La.; Will A. Bennett lives at Westline, Mo.; Robert C. Bennett lives at Colfax, La., and Miss Ethel, a graduate of our Mansfield Female College, and a school teacher, lives with her father at Haughton, La., it having been her rule for a number of years to accept only such positions as would allow her to be with and to help minister to the needs of her afflicted mother.

At the Beginning of the writer's ministry on the Farmerville circuit in 1896-1897, it was his good fortune to have as his nearest pastor Brother Bennett on the Downsville circuit, and there began a friendship for him and his Christian family that has grown and ripened with the intervening years, and we looked upon Sister Bennett as one of our dearest friends, and feel that in her going we have lost one of our own "mothers in Israel." Her hospitality to visitors, and her motherly care for her own household were of the old type of Sarah-like women, who "looketh well to the ways of her household, and eateth not the bread of idleness. She stretcheth out her hand to the poor; yea, she stretcheth forth her hand to the needy. Her children arise up and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her." Her household was so well ordered, and the fruits of her industry and motherly management were so abundant, that her home was ever a haven to those who chanced to be her guests, and it was our happy lot during the last twenty-five and more years to have many times been blessed in this hospitality; and in her home we felt all but as free as if in our own. The natural fruits of such a motherhood and home-making would be the filial devotion that the children of such love and care should and did show to such a mother during the nineteen years of her affliction that she suffered preceding her death, being practically helpless for the greater part of this time; and the life that she lived was the natural preparation for the victorious death, of the old-type Christian, that she died.

In the days and hours preceding her going, Sister Bennett was so rapturous in her victorious faith that her attending physician was led to acclaim: "This is holy ground; I have never seen the like before." Brother Bennett, in a personal letter, tells us of many of these expressions of dying victory. "Heaven is not far away, there is no darkness here, it is all light," she said one time; "Don't cry, don't weep for me, I am so tired, I am so anxious to go, I suffer so much. I want to go where I can rest," she said at another time. "It is all right, my hand is in His, and He is leading me;" "Jesus is with me, and is comforting me—he is my only hope," at another time; again on opening her eyes she said: "The angels are here!" Oh how glorious! Glory hallelujah! What victory, what victory!" As her voice was failing and she could only speak in a whisper, she said: "You have all been good to me; I have wanted for nothing, and I will have to tell them when I get to heaven. I see the children" (who had died), "I see papa" (who died when she was twelve). Such a death, following such a life, is Christianity's greatest "evidence." Such Methodists as these still "die well."

"How blest the righteous when he dies,
When sinks a weary soul to rest,
How mildly beam the closing eyes!
How gently heaves th' expiring breast!

"Life's duty done, as sinks the clay,
Light from its load the spirit flies;
While heaven and earth combine to say,
'How blest the righteous when he dies!'"

EVANGELIZE UNDEVELOPED FIELDS.

There is not any better way on earth that money could be spent that would bring quicker and larger results than for the church or the rich to furnish the funds with which to put trained revivalists in the neglected fields in our home land. Hundreds of thousands are not being reached in the ordinary way from year to year. The annual appropriations to mission circuits are good as far as they go. Many densely populated portions of the rural districts that were missions many years ago are missions yet. Most of said charges would support their preachers if properly developed. It is a long lane that never turns. In most cases the so-called poor circuits are not poor financially. Many of them are as able, in dollars and cents, to support a preacher as good station charges are. They are only poor in point of education on their obligations to God. Of course, it is understood that the class of charges referred to have some fine, intelligent families who are doing their part already, but they are too far in the minority to support properly a pastor, when so many of their neighbors are not co-operating with them. By proper management, many churches could be developed in one evangelistic revival that would be self-sustaining from the outset. But there is no successful way to do this work without the necessary expense funds, and capable men to accomplish it. The church has the men and the money. Will it do it? A good per cent of the unpaid balance of the Centenary subscriptions could be easily collected for this purpose. There are undeveloped multitudes at our doors who are starving to death spiritually for the ministry of experienced men who know how to preach the great doctrines of our Methodism in a way that will be convincing and acceptable to the people, and at the same time be revival and soul-saving preaching. All preaching should be done in the power of the Spirit.

I will say, by way of example, that perhaps others may be helped on the same line. I have preached the Bible on tithing and had shouts in the congregation, and occasionally have seen weak churches become stations and half-stations in point of ministerial support. I have preached the Bible mode of baptism and had conversions, and additions, and at times scores of immersionists have given their hands as evidence that they enjoyed the sermon. (This is unusual, but it's true.) It's the way a thing is done that counts. The people are entitled to hear the truth on all Bible questions, and then make their own decisions. In trying to meet conditions as they exist, I do not preach the Bible mode of baptism in a union meeting, or in evangelistic revivals in our own church, unless requested to do so by the pastor. The way to preach baptism effectively is to teach what the Book says, in the Spirit, without criticising in a personal way what other people believe. Some of the most genuine revivals I have ever witnessed have resulted from a special course of Methodist Bible doctrines. Our church has always been broad enough to recognize the fact that there are Christians in all branches of the church, regardless of minor doctrinal differences. Sometimes we have been more liberal than wise, and have lost much ground thereby. However, I never preach a series of doctrinal sermons without arrangements to that effect beforehand. The chief work of the evangelist is to get people saved. There is no doubt but that our pastors should preach our great Bible doctrines more than they do. Pastors of other churches are doing it with telling effect.

The writer has a number of tent meeting dates with some of our best pastors in good fields, where there will be great congregations. A preacher must first have plenty of people to get large numbers saved. I have some vacant time for the fall months.

MRS. C. A. NEAL, Chairman.
MRS. H. E. PERKINS, Secretary.

Extension of Work.

We, your Committee on Extension of Work, make the following recommendations:

1. That since we regard the deepening of the spiritual life of our women as their greatest need and also their greatest asset, we urge the erection of family altars in their homes and that they pledge loyalty to the Daily Bible Reading League.

2. (a) That for the purpose of reaching and developing the waste and remote sections of our Conference, the zonal or county plan of organization; (b) That we respectfully ask co-operation of the District secretaries in the movement which is to serve as "first aid" to them in their districts. (c) We suggest, 1, that the District secretaries list their auxiliaries in groups of four, to be known as zones, or sisterhoods of societies, to co-operate for the development of Christian fellowship, exchange of ideas, and inspiration in the work of Missions; 2. That the District secretaries furnish lists to Conference Corresponding Secretaries of the key women of the Districts, from whom shall be chosen zonal or county chairmen and secretaries; 3. That these zones or county organizations hold quarterly rallies with the different constituent auxiliaries or hostess; 4. ### Negroes Express Appreciation.

The Friendship Negro Club, an organization composed of the several Negro churches and societies of Lake Charles, La., held a special meeting some time ago to formally express the appreciation of the Negro people of that city to Mrs. W. W. Holmes, wife of the pastor of the Broad Street Methodist Church, who was to be transferred to another charge. Mrs. Holmes has always been interested in the welfare of the Negro, having acted in the capacity of adviser and helper in the development of their community life. Through the Friendship Club, she had been influential in purchasing three acres of ground near the Negro school for a community park for Negro children. The white Civilian Relief Organization had always looked after the sick and distressed Negroes until Mrs. Holmes organized a Negro Civilian Relief Work. She has conducted lectures, addresses, encouraging physical, moral, and community development of the Negro race, and before leaving Lake Charles had planned for the creation of a day nursery where little children of the Negro servants could be taken care of while their mothers were at work; besides a free clinic for the Negro people of St. Charles. It was in appreciation of these labors that the leading Negroes of the city met together. The high regard in which she was held by the Negro people of the city was fully attested by the manner in which they expressed their regrets at her departure. During the presentation speech, when a beautiful mahogany serving tray was given her, there were few dry eyes in the audience.

A Correction.

The proper address of the Lake Charles District Secretary is: Mrs. Joe Wynn, Rayne, La. It was previously given as Lake Charles. If you have sent your reports to the wrong address, please send a duplicate to her immediately.

Elise Traut relates the legend that on every Christmas Eve the little Christ-child wanders all over the world bearing on its shoulders a bundle of evergreens. Through city streets and country lanes, up and down hill, to proudest castle and lowliest hovel, through cold and storm and sleet and ice, this holy child travels, to be welcomed or rejected at the doors at which he pleads for succor. Those who would invite him and long for his coming set a lighted candle in the window to guide him on his way hither. They also believe that he comes to them in the guise of any almsgiving, wandering person who knocks humbly at their doors for sustenance, thus testing their benevolence. In many places the aid rendered the beggar is looked upon as hospitality shown to Christ.

GOOD QUALITIES OF THE REFUGEES.

The refugees of Asia Minor are doing wonders in the way of self-support. Ten thousand women and girls are making a living by carrying on their accustomed industries of weaving, embroidery and lace-making. The little girls at the orphanage at Chazir on the slopes of Lebanon earn by their needlework $150 a month, which they turn into the treasury of the orphanage. The relief workers at a certain point of concentration of refugees have stated that six months after 22,000 were gathered there, only five hundred required the help of the Near East Relief.

The desire of the refugees to live in organized communities manifests itself over and over again. A church is frequently their first building in their villages. A certain group of fugitives from Cilicia constructed a shed in which seventy-five children go to school. There are plans in mind to remodel the abandoned waterworks into a schoolhouse and community center.

Just outside of Athens a refugee city of mud huts is rising. These huts, rude as they necessarily are, are placed in orderely fashion on properly laid-out streets.

So the reports come in with constant confirmations of the belief that these people are consistently religious, thrifty and orderly.

WOMAN SICK TWO YEARS

Caused by Troubles Women Often Have—Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Medina, New York.—"I had a great deal of trouble such as women often have, and this affected my nerves. For over two years I suffered this way, then I read in the 'Buffalo Times' about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and have taken it with very good results. I am very much better and feel justified in praising the Vegetable Compound to my friends and neighbors who suffer from anything of the kind."—Mrs. Wm. H. ADKINS, 311 Erin Road, Medina, N. Y.

IF SICK, BILIOUS!
START YOUR LIVER

Don't Take Calomel! "Dodson's Liver Tone" Acts Better and Doesn't Gripe, Salivate or Make You Sick—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile, crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

IF WE KNEW WHAT IS INVOLVED.

By Bishop H. A. Boaz.

The Emergency Centenary Pay-Up Campaign is rapidly drawing to a close. Only a few weeks more and the campaign will be over.

Many of us who know the vital importance of this campaign are waiting with much concern the final report. If our people here could fully realize the importance of the issue involved and could know of the heart-hunger of the millions who are yet in heathen darkness awaiting the coming of the Gospel of Christ, there would be no question about the payment of these Centenary pledges. These pledges were made in the fear of God and in loving interest in the kingdom of our Christ. They must be redeemed or we will be discounted in the eyes of the world and in the eyes of our native Christians in the foreign lands.

The confidence that our Japanese and Korean Christians have in the church in America is beautiful, almost surprising. I am sure it is the same in all our mission fields. They confidently expect that the church in America will meet the obligations made and fulfill the promise in the building of new churches and in the assistance that has been promised to our schools and many other enterprises in the foreign fields. New missionaries have been promised and much assistance for the various enterprises of the church. Our missionaries on the far-flung battle lines are expecting us to meet these obligations and send them the necessary assistance. They are holding aloft the gospel torch that enlightened these darkened lands, but their strength is failing. Shall we pay up our pledges and send them the necessary funds, or shall we leave them discouraged and helpless to stand alone in those benighted lands? They are heroes and heroines of the highest order; to fail them in this critical time would almost break their hearts and disgrace the church at home,

But we will not fail them. I have visited more than sixty churches since my return to America, and almost every one has promised to pay in full. The outlook is very hopeful. Because of the infinite need of all men everywhere who are without Christ, and because of the infinite possibilities of all who make Christ the Lord of their lives, and because of the wonderful opportunities that are before us now, and because of the constraining memories of the cross, and because of the great commission given by our Lord so long neglected, every one of us should do his best to measure up to the great responsibility of this hour.

FROM HAYNESVILLE, LA.

Easter Sunday marked the beginning of a 10-day real revival at Haynesville. On Tuesday Rev. J. L Evans, of West Monroe, came to lead the singing, and on Wednesday Dr. H. F. Brooks, of First Church, Shreveport, arrived to do the preaching. Heavy roads and hard rains hindered some, but congregations were good and the singing and preaching highly spiritual. The church was greatly revived, and twenty-seven new members were added to the church.

Dr. Brooks is the kind of preacher who considers the pulpit the place to talk about religion. He is not afraid to preach the Scriptural doctrines and emphasize what Wesley taught. His kind of preaching leaves the pastor with a better membership and more faithful workers. His life is godly, and when he is gone the people speak his name reverently. The Haynesville congregation is delighted with his services and the leadership of Brother Evans in song.

A. J. GEARHEARD.

FROM CALHOUN CITY, MISS.

Dear Brother Carley: A word from Calhoun City, Miss. Prayer meeting is good; we are doing some good work with the Boy Scouts; have good congregations to preach to all over the work; had fifteen to give their names for membership in the Methodist church last Sunday here at Calhoun City.

Brother Campbell will be with us in a meeting beginning the third Sunday in May, here at the city. Brother T. H. Lipscomb will be with us at Pittsboro, the meeting to begin the fifth Sunday in April.

We have bought a new parsonage just across the street from the church, and will soon be living in a brand-new house that will be so much more convenient for the preacher. We are building three more Sunday school rooms to the church.

We are working and praying for the best year in the history of the Calhoun City charge.

Yours in the work,

B. F. BULLARD.

DIMENSIONS OF HEAVEN.

Captain J. B. Sankey, measurer of vessels in the surveyor's office, Boston Custom House, has made the following calculation as to the dimensions of heaven: "And he measured the city with reed, 12,000 furlongs. The length and the breadth and the height are equal" (Rev. xxxi, 6). Twelve thousand furlongs—7,920,000 feet cubed, which equals 497,793,088,000,000,000,000 feet. Reserving one-half of this space for the throne and court of heaven, and one-half of the balance for streets, we have 124,198,172,000,000,000.000 feet cubic. Divide this by 4,096 cubit feet in a room sixteen feet square, and there will be 30,321,843,750,000,000 rooms. We will now suppose the world always did and always will contain 999,000,000 inhabitants, and that a generation lasts thirty-three and a third years, making in all 2,970,000,000 every century, and that the world will stand 1,000,000 years, or 10,000 centuries, 29,700,000,000,000 inhabitants. Now suppose there were one hundred worlds like this, equal in number of inhabitants and duration of years, a total of 2,970,000,000,000.000 persons, there would be one hundred rooms, sixteen feet square, for each and every person.—Selected.

The preacher who can tell a story that would make a horse laugh need not be surprised when men refuse to believe him when he tells them the way to heaven.—Selected.

Arkansas Lady Says Mother Gave Her Cardui and She Had No More Trouble of This Kind.

Lamar, Ark.—Mrs. Edith Seeman, here, recently made the following statement describing her experience in the use of Cardui:

"I had pain in my back and sides; had sick headaches and my nose would bleed. I couldn't sit up at all.

"My mother gave me Cardui. I took about a half bottle, and at this . . . I was able to get up and help with the work. Next time I took it again, and now, after taking two bottles, I do not have any trouble at all at this time. I gained, by skin cleared up, I am healthy and strong.

"My mother took Cardui for a weak, run-down condition. It did her more good for weakness and nervousness than any medicine she has ever taken. She took six bottles in all. We recommend it and certainly know its worth."

The foregoing is one out of thousands of statements which have been received from users of Cardui, the woman's tonic. If you are a sufferer from womanly ailments try Cardui. It may be just what you need. Get it at the drug store.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

BEATING THE AIR.

The Great Apostle made a very significant statement when he said: "I therefore so run, not as uncertainly; so fight I, not as one that beateth the air." We will not insist upon the exegetical correctness of our application of his words, but we find in them a very pertinent suggestion concerning efforts in behalf of the community welfare. It would be well for all social and religious workers to ask themselves the direct question, "What does this community need?" before they begin to expend their energies in an agitation for social betterment that has nothing definite in view. When a hunter goes into the field, he first tries to find the game; having found it, he aims his gun before he fires—random shooting seldom bags a bird. What is the matter with your community? —find out, and concentrate your energies upon remedying the trouble.

ETERNALLY SIGNIFICANT.

Several weeks ago, when several hundred tourists arrived in New York from a cruise around the world, they were interviewed by reporters representing the leading newspapers and press associations. Of all the interviews, only two were printed. The first had to do with world conditions as seen through the eyes of an official of one of the gretest business organizations in the world; the second was with a Westerner, a man typical in stature and thought of the country he helped to develop. When asked by the reporter what he considered the most impressive sight he had witnessed on the entire trip around the world, he said: "When I stood on the Mount of Olives at sunset and looked out over the River Jordan and the Dead Sea, I saw the most beautiful sight of the entire cruise. It seemed that time had turned back nearly two thousand years, and I realized the beauty and immortality of the scene." The Son of Man gives significance to that scene because he lived and labored there—just as he gives eternal significance to-day to all life wherever his gospel is preached.

WHEN SCHOOL IS OUT.

The time will soon be at hand when our schools and colleges will close their sessions and thousands of young people will go back to their homes to spend the vacation season. We know pretty well what these young people have been doing while they were in school; but what are they going to do when they get home? We hope they will be thoroughly refreshed by the temporary cessation of their studies—but we hope, also, that they will not feel that they are released from the responsibilities which their college opportunities impose upon them. There is something fundamental in the doctrine of noblesse oblige—the doctrine that rank imposes obligation. We do not contend that the college student is exalted by a social rank that lifts him above others who do not enjoy his privileges, but we do maintain that he is under obligation to serve his community to the fullest possible extent by reason of the advantages he has enjoyed. If these young people will throw themselves heartily into the church life of their home towns and make their influence felt on the side of right in all their social activities, they will be doubly blessed—receiving as well as giving. We believe that many of them will count it a privilege thus to serve while at home.

STILL ANOTHER ADDITION.

In reading a review recently of several books dealing with the business system in its several aspects—industrial, commecial, financial—we came across this suggestive paragraph: "Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler recently remarked that the mechanism of modern life has outrun our moral and intellectual capacity. There is a plain reason why the machine has mastered the man. The reason is that civilization has developed new centers of social control that are administered without social responsibility. Not since the passing of the church of Hildebrand, the spiritual power of the Middle Ages, has there risen in the world any majesty that can compare with the actual authority of financial credit. Mr. Frank Vonderlip says that nothing can save Europe but a spiritual revival. He might have added that the revival must come through a financial renaissance." And we should like to add that the financial renaissance must come through the application of the teachings of Jesus Christ to the lives and activities of those who are in control of this tremendous factor of financial credit.

"I CAN. WORK MY EARS."

We once heard the inimitable George Stuart tell the story of "The Gifted Children," which runs about as follows: A pastor was calling on a family of his congregation in which there were three children, two girls and a boy. At an appropriate time, the proud parents called upon the little girls to display their accomplishments. One of them played the piano very prettily, and the other sang a pleasing little song. After the pastor had complimented them both upon their evident talent, he noticed that the little boy was standing, somewhat in the background, with an expression that indicated that he felt keenly the fact that he was not considered gifted enough by his parents to display his accomplishments. To relieve his embarrassment, the pastor said to him, "Son, what can you do?" Quick as a flash the little fellow replied, "I can work my ears;" and he immediately proceeded to give a demonstration of his skill in performing that difficult feat. The point of the story is in the fact that everybody can do something, and its application is specifically to church work. Not every member will, but every member can do something that will add to the effectiveness of congregational activity. The wise pastor will devote much time to discovering and making use of the talents of his people.

HAVE YOU? IF NOT, WILL YOU?

The Disciplinary rule providing for the observance of Sunday School Day on the third Sunday in April, or as near thereto as practicable, is so definite that we have never been able to understand why it is that so many pastors and Sunday school superintendents apparently pay no attention to it. The observance is needed, not so much for the sake of the money that is contributed for Sunday school work—though that is an important consideration—as for the sake of getting the religious interests of the children definitely and appealingly before the church as a whole. Where anything like adequate preparation is made for this event, we have never seen it fail to attract a large attendance of the parents and older people who are not identified with the Sunday school; and its effect upon the church life of the community is wholesome and inspiring. Brother Pastor, Brother Superintendent, have you observed the day? If you have not already done so, will you begin to plan for it at once?

MOTHER'S DAY.

The sentiment connected with Mother's Day, which is to be observed this year on Sunday, May 13, is so sacred that it is almost impossible to think of its being commercialized. But exactly that thing seems to have come to pass. We read the other day that white carnations, the emblems of this observance, have become too costly for widespread use, and a button with a carnation stamped upon it is being adopted. We suppose it is the old excuse—the demand justifies the increased price which is alleged for so many otherwise inexplicable advances in cost. The sweetest flower, though, that can be worn in memory of mother is the radiant one of a chaste and beautiful life.

START RIGHT.

The end of the journey may not be in sight, and along the way there may be many byways to entice the traveler from the main road; but he has only himself to blame if he starts in the wrong direction or by the wrong course. Start right—and the odds are in favor of a successful journey.

INCOMPLETENESS.

I wonder if ever a song was sung,
But the singer's heart sang sweeter;
I wonder if ever a rhyme was rung,
But the thought surpassed the metre.

I wonder if ever a sculptor wrought,
Till the cold stone echoed his ardent thought;
Or if ever a painter, with light or shade,
The thought of his inmost soul portrayed.

I wonder if ever a rose was found,
And there might not be a fairer;
Or if ever a glittering gem was ground,
And we dreamed not of a rarer.

Never on earth shall we find the best,
But it waits for us in the Land of Rest;
A perfect thing will we never behold,
Till we enter the shining Gates of Gold.

TRAVEL LETTERS FROM DR. AND MRS. I. W. COOPER.

Shakespeare's own home—his birthplace—is on the principal street of Stratford. It is not so picturesque as Anne Hathaway's cottage, though it is more prosperous and pretentious in appearance. Like most English homes, it "gives on the street"—which is to say that, like our city houses, it has little or no porch or entrance-way on the exterior. It is kept in fine repair and is not very different in appearance from the neighboring houses. The interior was rather disappointing to us because it has now taken on much more the character of a literary museum than the nature of a restored dwelling. All the rooms downstairs seemed merely show-rooms for portraits, first editions and other mementoes of Shakespeare. The room upstairs in which the poet was born was more "livable," in spite of the fact that it was almost bare of furniture. At least it was not full of glass cases to get in the way of the imagination which wished to construct a fireside picture! The most delightful part of this visit was a stroll through the charming "court-garden" in the rear of the house. It was much more formal, in its precisely placed walks, fountain and bird-bath, and in character of its shrubs and flowers than was Anne Hathaway's little paradise, and yet this had a beauty of its own.

Just across the street from the Shakespeare home is a curio shop, so full of mementoes of this Shakespeare neighborhood and such pretty antiques of various kinds that our tour-director had to grow very cross and impatient before he could pull his "American souvenir hunters" away from the spot. He was right, too, in wishing us to leave, for bargaining for material things was not the kind of preparation our minds needed for the next stop we made—at Holy Trinity Church, where rest the ashes of Shakespeare.

Westminster Abbey, which contains a beautiful bust of Shakespeare, might have been, from some standpoints, a more appropriate mausoleum for the great poet, but nothing could be better for the repose of his beauty-loving spirit than this country church, with its peaceful, picturesque setting of trees, river and burying-ground. We wonder if he had this place in mind when he wrote, in King John, "Now my soul has elbow-room!" It would scarcely have had it in Westminster's crowded aisles!

We passed down the long avenue of stately elms and into the comparatively simple though elegant little church. Very near the door we found the Parish Register with its interesting records of the baptism of William Shakespeare, and other important events in his life and the lives of members of his family. Much nearer the chancel, beneath a storied window, is a small marble bust of Shakespeare, and below this, a stone which bears the well-known inscription:

Good Friend, for Jesus' sake forbear
To dig the dust enclosed here.
Blest be the man that spares these stones,
And curst be he that moves my bones.

We did not blame Shakespeare for calling down a malediction on any one who might wish to take his body from this beautiful spot, but we wished that another tablet might be placed above this one, bearing the words which he wrote of another, but which would be so appropriate an epitaph for him,

To make the weeper laugh, the laugher weep,
He had the dialect and the different skill,
Catching all passion in his craft of will.

Reverently we left the shaded light of the church and stepped out into the warm sunshine which fell over the graves of many fathers and mothers of the hamlet. It did not trouble us to see the signs of the great harvest reaped by Death, for we realized that though it seems, at first thought, sad that even genius such as Shakespeare's cannot "stay mortality's strong hand," there is, within the hearts and minds of men, an imperishable life.

We were running behind schedule time, so we had to content ourselves with only the exterior of the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre, which is also a museum and Shakespearean library. It is by far the handsomest building in Stratford, a semi-circular stone structure. Here each year gifted American and English actors stage some of the greatest of the Shakespearean plays.

With hearts and minds full of beautiful memories of Stratford, we drove back to Warwick. At 6 o'clock that afternoon, our Temple Tour party broke up. Some went immediately to Liverpool, to take ship for America. We returned to London, where we stayed for three weeks longer, enjoying the Ecumenical Conference and the sights of London, of which we have written in some previous letters.

The day we sailed for Southampton we were happy to turn our faces homeward, but we were sorry, too, to know that our beautiful trip was at an end. Most of all, we were sorry to leave England, and, as our ship slipped out of harbor, we breathed a benediction on this land—one much less eloquent though just as sincere as that which Shakespeare wrote in King Richard:

This fortress, built by Nature for herself
Against infection and the hand of war,
This happy breed of men, this little world,
This precious stone set in the silver sea,
This blessed plot, this earth, this realm, this England!

"THE LAND OF BEGINNING AGAIN."

By Rev. F. B. Hill.

In writing this article, please allow me to thank the many correspondents who appreciated the insertion of the poem with the above title in your (our) excellent paper some time ago. It has revealed to me how widely it is read. The thought I had in view when I sent it was different from the one recently taken and so ably rendered in the poem composed by Brother Tucker. His view is quite correct, for I often preach the hope that in the "new heaven and the new earth" we may begin again:

"There shall we see, and hear, and know
All we desiro and wished below,
And every power find sweet employ
In that eternal world of joy."

But it is such a joy to me always to preach the gospel of a second chance. I did so a few days ago in a special sermon to men, from Jeremiah's visit to the Potter. I used these illustrations rather more than is usual with me. I said that Jesus Christ has no scrap-heap—he utilizes waste material; if marred in the making, he can still make "another vessel." Living so long on the English coast and seeing so many shipwrecks, I know that in most seaports there is an official who hangs out over his office on the quay "a shingle" that says he is a "receiver of wrecks." I have not seen it in this country. When there is a wreck on the coast, he goes at once and looks after the shipwrecked sailors and the wrecked vessel. Ultimately the hull may be sold and got off and repaired for future voyages. Jesus Christ is a "receiver of wrecks." Dr. Conkey has given me two illustrations. In common with many of your readers, I have gone over and under Brooklyn Bridge, New York. It is a wonderful piece of work. A clever man designed and planned its construction. The many girders, bolts, bars, etc., all make it a marvel of engineering skill. Before it was completed, the engineer who planned the bridge and supervised its construction was taken seriously ill. It looked as if he would not live to see its completion. But, nursed by his faithful wife, he slowly recovered, so far that the day before its official opening he asked his doctor's permission to be carried down to see the bridge, complete and ready for the gala day of opening. Permission was given, and, with his wife, he was carried down to see it. Long and lovingly did he look at this his masterpiece, until looking up into his wife's face he said, "It is just like the plan—just like the plan." Happy for any of us who some day will hear the Great Architect say the approving words that HE has been able to see His plan completed in us. Alas—alas, some of us are marred vessels in the hands of the Potter; "so He makes it another vessel." A severe storm once did great damage to one of our English cathedrals and a beautiful stained glass window was wrecked. The next morning, among the many visitors who came to see what damage had been done, one man noticed that the janitor was gathering up the broken pieces of glass, and on inquiry was told that it was to be thrown away as useless. The stranger asked that he might have these pieces and that they be taken to his address. Permission was given. Some time after, the stranger made known to the trustees of the cathedral that he had made out of the debris a replica of the broken window, as like the former window as could be, which he offered as a present to the trustees. Jesus Christ is a wonderful mender of broken lives, always keen on gathering up "the fragments, that nothing be lost."

Lovers of the game of chess, as I am, will understand this story. In the art gallery of one of our English towns there is a strange painting. A man is playing a game of chess with the devil. The latter has won (apparently) the game, and with a leer and a grin has said the word that is usual when the game is won, "checkmate." Two men, keen lovers of the game of chess, went to the art gallery on purpose to see this strange picture. Personally, I am no art critic, I am too ignorant of art. I know when to admire, but not to criticise. I do know by what I read that some artists make mistakes. These two men stood looking intently, their eyes fastened on the board and the pieces, when one of the men suddenly grasped the arm of his companion and said—irreverently—"Good God, mate, the man has another move." It was true, the artist had made an error. Yes, tell the men and everybody else, and to preacher also, that there is a "land of beginning again," another move, a second chance. The next text I take on that subject will be from the story of Samson, whose hair grew again. If I wanted a sensational text—which I do not—I would call it a sermon on "Bobbed Hair." Thank God for the opportunity of a second chance!

HISTORICAL—LOOKING INTO AN OLD REGISTER OF WOODVILLE STATION.

By Rev. Henry G. Hawkins.

It has been pouring down rain all day and into the night, shutting in. For an hour or two I read some pages of Fairbairn's "Philosophy of the Christian Religion"; and then decided that I would for lighter reading peruse an old Register of the Woodville Station. This is a leather-bound volume, of the form printed for the purpose by our Nashville Publishing House in 1857, Thomas O. Summers, Editor. The book began to be used in 1860, during the pastorate of J. A. Godfrey. It begins with the following note in Godfrey's handwriting: "Woodville Station was organized A. D. 1836. The presiding elders and pastors thereof to the present time have been as follows, with dates of their service given: 1836—B. M. Drake, presiding elder; William Winans, pastor," etc. Then follows his list of other years until 1861, after which it is continued by other writers until 1890, when, during the pastorate of H. W. Featherstun, the book was replaced by the one which is in use by the congregation at the present time.

The following are the names of the other pastors during the period, most of them serving for only one or two years: C. K. Marshall, R. S. Collins, Elijah Steel, Ben Jones, R. Kennard, J. H. Muse, H. M. Boothe, L. Pearce, Wm. H. Watkins, G. C. Light, J. L. Forsythe, W. P. Barton, W. B. Hines, J. J. Wheat, W. G. Millsaps, E. M. Marvin, W. T. J. Sullivan, P. Lane, C. C. Chamberlin, T. B. Holloman, J. P. Drake, T. S. West, B. F. Jones.

W. G. Millsaps (brother, doubtless, of Major R. W. Millsaps), having served as pastor during 1861, was assigned to Woodville again for 1862, but early in the year joined the Confederate Army. E. M. Marvin (afterwards Bishop) got through the Federal lines on his way from St. Louis to the General Conference which had been appointed for New Orleans, but was never held; reached Woodville, and filled out the year as pastor, to the delight of the congregation.

The first name in the roll of members is Edward McGehee, with the notation, "steward since 1836." This is the man "who became the most illustrious layman of Southern Methodism," founder of colleges and builder of churches, entertaining in his home all the bishops of the earlier day, from McKendree down.

Under the heading, "How and When Disposed of," we note such as the following: Backslidden, out of church; Died in Peace 1862; Expelled 1864 for leaving his wife; Killed near Petersburg, 1864, greatly lamented; Died in faith, a good pauper; Died calmly 1863; Killed at Richmond; Voted out, bad conduct, read out; Joined Baptists; Joined Campbellites.

The book also gives the names of probationers, the last of whom in the list was Wm. A. Simrall, admitted as a probationer, Nov. 6, 1864, and disposed of later by being received into full membership.

Interesting is the church membership certificate found loose in this old Register, in the form of a four-page folder. On the first page is the picture of a church building, and two stanzas of the hymn, "I love thy church, O God." The second page has about 300 words of advice and exhortation, ending thus: "But let not the richness, nor the poverty, the purple and fine linen, nor plain clothes, spires, pews, and damask cushions, nor the plain log meeting-house, the reading of sermons, the existence of organs, choirs, and Christians sitting in time of prayer, nor congregational singing, nor a humble, earnest company, keep you out of the church that has done so much for you. With all their different ways, are they not God's chosen ones, 'a holy nation, a royal priesthood, a peculiar people?' Say in the language of Scripture, 'I will go with you.' May the Lord bless you in all your relations in your new home, and make you holy, useful, and happy—a living branch of the true vine!"

The reader should not infer from the first paragraph above that the history of the Woodville congregation began in 1836. Prior to that date it had been a part of the Wilkinson circuit, sometimes in the Washington District, but at the time of formation into a station in the fall of 1835, in the New Orleans District, Mississippi Conference. The Conference met at Woodville that year, as also twice thereafter before the Civil War.

We quote as follows from "Woodville Methodism," an article by H. W. Featherstun, appearing in the New Orleans Christian Advocate, Aug. 13, 1891: "In 1824 Edward McGehee, John S. Lewis and others built a church in Woodville on a lot given by John S. Lewis. That church, somewhat enlarged by the addition of a Sunday school room in the rear, and improved by sundry changes made at various times, still stands, sacred with beautiful memories, and hallowed by heroic events, the worshiping place of Woodville Methodists. This writer stands Sunday after Sunday on the spot where have stood those 'sons of thunder,' Bishops Soule, Capers, and Marvin; Drs. Drake, Winans, and Marshall; where for two years preached 'the seraphic Steele.' The State of Mississippi contains no spot more sacred than this church lot."

After thirty-three years these words of Dr. Featherstun can be used verbatim by the present writer; and it may be added that on each Sabbath grandchildren of Edward McGehee and John S. Lewis worship in this same place; and several of them are officials of the Woodville church today.

THE ASCENSION OF JESUS.

Read Acts 1:1-9.

By Payton A. Sowell.

The "Passion Week," as observed by the church, has passed, and is a part of the centuries of Christian history.

The real climax appeared at Easter, and it also has followed and swelled the verities of the "good news" of grace.

The "Forty Days" are slipping by—with the falling sands of the hour glass—and soon we shall have "Ascension Day."

We have, more times than we can recall, heard repeated the fact of the "Ascension"; but it was made in heated discourse, or in glowing peroration. Who of us recalls the hearing of a simple, clear discussion of the "Ascension"?

It often occurs to me to ask: "What could the church do without the Acts of the Apostles?" Spiritual pauperism would follow.

St. Luke addressed his two messages—his gospel and the Acts—to an individual, a choice spirit named Theophilus. His name sounds like as of Greek origin, yet it appears shot through with Hebrew faith in God.

These letters were too gracious and rich, too great, to remain private property. Multiplied millions of them are printed in hundreds of languages, and they are being read in every part of the world.

Whatever is employed to set Christ more clearly before the eyes and hearts of men, whether it be language, or time, or men, such service only enriches the instrumentalities employed. Luke and his letters, as well as Theophilus, are known to the ages because of such service.

There were three events in the life of Jesus that were peaks on the high mountain range of his life.

They were the "Incarnation," which, when accepted, gives vigor to faith so that credence is possible to receive all the other great things; then the "Resurrection," and the "Ascension."

There could have been no Ascension save as it found rooting and was correlated with the Incarnation and Resurrection.

But some way, by the time we discover ourselves after the amazing beliefs and benefits of the two, our sensibilities for amazement are silent before the Ascension, and it seems more commonplace.

Although the Ascension appears less startling than the Incarnation and the Resurrection, it nevertheless finds full setting in the statements of the Scripture. In 1st Peter: "Who is gone into heaven"; "when the chief shepherd shall appear." Acts: "Whom the heavens must receive." 1st Thess.: "To wait for his Son from heaven." Col.: "Seek those things which are above where Christ sitteth."

In our childhood and even to our old age, we think of "Ascension" as literally a matter of perpendicularity. Our eyes look up, as we suppose, when we think of heaven. And so, it may be, we think of Jesus in his Ascension as climbing that Mysterious Mountain reaching from the earthly to the heavenly. In reality it may be that it is not far or high to the realm into which Jesus passed.

It is true the angels stated, "This same Jesus you see ascending shall in like manner descend." But, we recall what Jesus himself said: "As the lightning cometh out of the east and shineth unto the west, so shall the coming of the Son of man be."

His going was disappearing, "a cloud hid him"; his return will be a revelation. When he ascended he was hid from our view, but in no sense were we hid from his view, as we have seen glass that prevented all who were outside from seeing those who were inside, but did not prevent those inside beholding those who were outside.

His ascension was an artistic finale to his life and ministry; it was the last touch to a great drama.

Of his own will he became flesh; of his own will he rose from the dead; of his own will he ascended.

It was "expedient" that he ascend. Had he not gone out of sight, then his kingdom and he must have a local, earthly center. He might have chosen Jerusalem, or Rome, or Paris, or New York, or Chicago. But the Center would have been local. Every plan and purpose of his church must have been submitted to him, by courier, or letter, or telegraph, or wireless, before they could be put into execution.

His ascension made way for the coming of the Holy Spirit, under whose direction the kingdom is administered.

Now, "He takes of the things of the Father, and shows them unto the least and unto the greatest." The direction of the kingdom is not in pope, or priest, or council, but the Holy Ghost directs.

Now, it is possible for the humble believer, without sight of the King under a wide permit of the Holy Ghost, to make plans as wide as the generation in which he lives. One soul can plan and pray for Africa or China, and know he pleases his ascended King. Now, it is the universal privilege: "Whom, having not seen, we love."

The Ascension of Jesus crowned with the greatest honor the human race. For when he went behind that cloud, he carried into the splendors of the eternities a glorified and risen human body and soul. The Ascension Day should be to us a real, personal ascension, from the low to the high.

Biloxi, Miss.

Make us good soldiers in the army of the followers of Christ, our Father, that we may have our portion also in his joy of victory. In all the companionship of his suffering may we feel the beating of his great heart of love. Give us courage to go on through difficult ways and painful experiences; and may we never make our brother's lot more hard to bear by our complaining. In this fellowship of endurance make us one with all our brothers of trial, kin to all strong and patient souls on earth. And in our darkest hour forsake us not; but bring us, even by the road of the cross, to our place in thy house at last. In the name of Christ. Amen.—Isaac Ogden Rankin.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Ruston District.

Rev. O. L. Tucker is doing good work on the Bernice charge. He and the superintendents of the Sunday schools are planning for one of the non-standard teacher training schools of the district.

At Spring Hill we held our second quarterly conference on April 4, at 7:30 p. m. Notwithstanding we had a heavy rain and the largest hailstones I have ever seen, we had a splendid service and good quarterly conference at the appointed hour. Rev. T. W. St. John, the pastor, has had sickness in his home, but the work is moving on. Some of our very best laymen live in Spring Hill.

Our second quarterly conference, Elmore charge, was held at New Prospect, with preaching on Saturday at 11 a. m., and dinner on the ground. The official board was well represented—written reports from most of the departments. Brother Smart is planning one of the non-standard training schools.

We were at Cotton Valley on the 10th, Thursday. It happened to be a good day for planting corn and cotton, but some of the stewards quit their plowing and came ten and twelve miles to attend to the business of the quarterly conference. I know they got a blessing from it—but I felt like taking off my hat to them. Rev. D. F. Anders is the pastor. He is planning and executing his work well.

* * *

On the 14th of April I was met by Brother Boltz at Simsboro. We drove out in a Ford car to Antioch, where we had one of the best congregations for Saturday that I have seen. After dinner on the ground, we had quarterly conference, and good services on Sunday. I trust and believe they have a new and greater vision on the Simsboro work, and I am expecting a good year. Brother Boltz is one of our best pastors.

On the 16th I traveled over a good part of Bienville Parish on the train down through Arcadia and Gibsland, and ended up at Saline, where I spent the night with Brother and Sister Mayfield. Brother Moreland is a wide-awake pastor.

We were in the Easter sevice at Lisbon on the Dubach work. We had the quarterly conference on Saturday before. The reports showed the work in good condition and also co-operation between pastor and people. They are planning to buy a car for their pastor, which is much needed.

* * *

At Farmerville, on the 22nd, we had three splendid services. They have a good Sunday school for their membership and the best average attendance that I have heard of. Brother Whiteman is the teacher of the Bible class. I had the privilege of hearing his talk, and I am not surprised at the average attendance of his people. They are well organized and doing splendid work.

Haynesville is the place where we are to have our district conference. They have just had revival services. Dr. Brooks, of Shreveport, did the preaching, and Rev. J. L. Evans, of West Monroe, conducted the singing. I had the privilege of being with them one day and night. While I do not know the results, I understand that they had a great meeting.

* * *

I hope to be able to give you definite figures of the Centenary drive and Orphanage collection after the reports are all in at the District Conference. I feel encouraged at the work and outlook of the district.

K. W. DODSON, P. E.

Shreveport District.

Since last report, the presiding elder has held conferences at Gilliam, on the Belcher charge; Hosston, on the Ida charge; Mitchell, on the Pelican charge; Grand Cane, and Logansport.

Brother Neill is to be commended for the careful preparation he makes in the matter of quarterly conference reports and all details as required by the Discipline. The best lay leader's report so far presented has been made by W. L. Byers, of this charge. The little church at Gilliam is beautifully furnished and the property is embellished with carefully laid out flowerbeds permanently outlined with cement coping. This is due to the untiring interest of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Douglas.

Brother Aiken reported that substantial improvements have been made in the parsonage at Ida, all the churches on the charge having contributed thereto; also, that there are evidences of advance at every church. The pastor is in favor with his people and is very hopeful.

The Grand Cane church, which is located on the Jefferson Highway, has recently been painted, and presents an attractive appearance. The parsonage will soon be painted also. Brother Lipscomb reported interest in the organized activities of all the churches on the charge. He is doing faithful and successful work.

The new church at Logansport is going rapidly forward to completion and promises to present a very artistic architectural effect and ample accommodation for the Sunday school. An opening service will be announced in a few weeks by the pastor, Brother Clegg. The Sunday school is one hundred per cent in payment of Centenary pledges, and has made a high-water mark in attendance.

The Mitchell church is in an interesting rural community. It is liberally supplied with Standard Church Hymnals, an exceptional thing in the country. Brother Holladay's report showed that the work as a whole is prospering. The pastor is in good favor with the people. The Pelican church is also 100 per cent in payment of Sunday school Centenary pledges.

* * *

Brother Holladay, who is on the Conference Honor Roll, and lives in his own home in Pelican, wields a great spiritual influence in the entire territory where he has labored. He still preaches and prays with great unction. The conference showed its appreciation of him in a material way.

A great revival meeting has been held in Vivian, with the assistance of Rev. Leon I. McCain, resulting in 130 accessions. A splendid meeting has also been held in Oil City, conducted by Evangelist Earl B. Moll, resulting in 30 accessions.

The presiding elder enjoyed the privilege of a visit to Nashville, in attendance on the General Board of Education. He found himself popular around the Publishing House on the ground of being "Pearson's presiding elder." It was a great pleasure to have fellowship with Doctor Fitz Parker, Henry Ahrens, and Tom Carter. The latter was the writer's room-mate more than thirty years ago in Wesley Hall. The two subjects receiving the most attention in the Board meeting were the collection of Education pledges, and Week-Day Religious Education.

Dr. Charles C. Selecman, President of S. M. U., will speak to a union Shreveport audience in the Coliseum on the State Fair Grounds on next Sunday, under the auspices of the City Church Extension Society. We are looking forward to a great day, and are busy making preparations for the unique event. An audience of several thousand is anticipated.

Easter Sunday was observed by practically all the churches in the District in the interest of the Orphanage; and Sunday School Day is being observed more generally than before. First Church raised $1,000 on Sunday School Day, which is said to be the largest offering of its kind in our connection.

The District Conference has just concluded a profitable session in Mansfield, of which the Advocate will receive a special account.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Aberdeen District.

Rev. W. M. Commander, our pastor at Toccopola, died suddenly last Friday, the 20th. He was buried at Houlka, on Sunday, the 22nd. Services were conducted by the presiding elder, assisted by Rev. A. A. Martin, our pastor at Houlka. Brother Commander was born in 1850. He had been a local preacher for about 40 years, and had done the work of a faithful supply for about 20 years. He leaves a widow and eight children (three sons and five daughters) to mourn their loss. He was loved and trusted by those who knew him, particularly by the people on the Toccopola circuit, whom he was serving when the end came. Prayers are desired, especially for the stricken widow.

The Aberdeen District Conference will be held at Verona, June 19-21. The conference will open on Tuesday, the 19th, at 2 o'clock p. m., and will close some time during Thursday, the 21st. All who have business with us or others who wish to visit us are cordially invited.

Brothers Baker, at Europa and Mabin, and Hester, of the Greenwood Springs charge, have made fine beginnings to raise all benevolences in full. In my next report I hope to give a definite as well as an encouraging account of what has been done by each charge in the district to provide for the raising of all assessments in full. It is believed that each pastor will give special attention to this important matter during the month of May.

* * *

Dr. S. A. Steel preached a series of fine sermons at Okolona recently, which were thoroughly enjoyed, as well as helpful to all who heard him.

* * *

The second round of quarterly conferences, up to this time, has been unusually satisfactory. Preachers and people everywhere seem to have plans, and are working to them, looking to a good year in every way.

T. H. DORSEY, P. E.

Greenville District.

Sunday Schools:

Shaw, Mrs. M. E. Dakin, Superintendent, is making about the best record in the District. Church membership, 215. Sunday school membership larger; Bible class of nearly 100; actual attendance ranging around 80 all the while. New church imperative.

Jonestown, C. P. Shelby, Superintendent, is a close second. Shelby never lets up. He dreams Sunday school. There is a better day ahead for this congregation.

Merigold, W. H. Sabine, Superintendent, is right on the map. Think of a Big Brothers' Bible class having every Protestant man in the town actually present save one, and he promised to help make it one hundred per cent.

Alligator, Mrs. R. S. Moore, Superintendent, a small but really great school. Practically the whole Protestant population of the town present regularly. Mrs. Moore has personality, consecration, tireless energy.

Big Brothers:

The Big Brothers' Class, Greenville, seems to renew its strength every Sunday. I had the pleasure of teaching some one hundred and twenty-five men there last Sunday, then went with them to Hollandale in the afternoon for an inspirational service and the organization of another class. It was a success. They have an orchestra that is a real joy. This class constantly swarms, carries its enthusiasm into the regions round about, organizes other classes, holds special services, and the like. Two weeks since they organized a class of fifty-two at Benoit. Merigold, Shaw, Benoit and a few other places, are becoming real rivals in numbers and enthusiasm.

Congregations:

At practically every point in the District pastors are preaching to the greatest congregations in the history of our church here. The most notable feature is found in the fact, for fact it is, that the men present all but uniformly outnumber the women. There seems to be a new spirit among the men. I am sure these Bible classes are largely responsible for this change. To hear men testify as to their faith and hope regardless of the numbers present is refreshing. And the number and fine spirit continue to grow. No sleepy pastor has the shadow of a chance in this region now. The livest of them are all but dazed in the face of these greater opportunities.

Centenary:

I hardly know how to "diagnose" the case just now. At some points all but notable things are being done. At all points the pastors are faithful, and it seems safe to say that the District as a whole will make a creditable record. Our final clean-up effort will be made immediately after the District Conference at Leland.

Miss Davies will be heard at Clarksdale on Sunday, May 6, at 11 a. m., and at Shelby at the evening hour. Then she is to bring the opening message at Leland, Monday evening, May 7, at 8 o'clock. It is expected that she will speak to representatives of the whole District.

In the meantime the men are at work, some of them having already "made the landing," others in sight, and so on. Also, the regular budget is not lagging. It really looks as if practically every charge would report everything actually provided for in the way of running expenses for the year at the approaching District Conference.

S.T.S.:

Leland will witness the opening hours of this important school, Monday, May 7, 3:30 to 4:30 p. m. The interest is growing. One hundred should be the minimum present. On time, brethren, AND EVERYBODY IN IT.

JAMES H. FELTS, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

Owing to the fact of the fire in the church at Magnolia, which damaged the building and pipe organ considerably, it was necessary for the conference to be changed to another place. Tylertown graciously opened its doors and received us with great cordiality and a hearty welcome. No district conference, possibly, has ever been more beautifully entertained. These are royal people, and they have a new church building that would do credit to a much larger place, one, inded, of which they may well be proud. It is admirably adapted for an Annual Conference, and the hope is that they may see fit to invite the Conference at no distant date; and the further hope is that the Conference will accept the first invitation.

The district conference was called to order at 9:30 a. m., Tuesday, April 17, by the presiding elder, Rev. H. M. Ellis, who conducted the devotional services, and requested the secretary of the last conference to call the roll. Forty-nine answered to their names at the morning session, and sixteen additional answered at the afternoon roll call. Others came in during the session, and the attendance was quite good all the way through. During the two days' session there were no idle or dull moments. Business was dispatched in an orderly way, and the presiding elder guided the affairs of the body in a firm, dignified, and brotherly manner, and all went away saying that it was a most pleasant and profitable conference.

The following were among the visitors representing various interests of the church: B. F. Lewis, Orphans' Home; J. C. Chambers, Sunday School Field Secretary; O. C. Hull, Assistant Secretary; Mrs. Mamie Myers, District Secretary, W. M. S.; Dr. J. G. Snelling, of the Memorial Home, New Orleans; Dr. J. M. Sullivan, Millsaps College; W. D. Hawkins, Centenary; W. M. Williams, Board of Church Extension; Dr. I. W. Cooper, Whitworth College; L. W. Cain and F. N. Sweeney, of the Louisiana Conference, and H. A. Gatlin, of Canton, were also welcome visitors. The preaching during the conference was done by W. H. Saunders, H. L. Norton, and H. A. Gatlin. Of course, it was well done by these faithful pastors.

There were two applicants for license to preach—Ernest Watkins Brown and George Hawkins Jones, both of Crystal Springs. These are students in Millsaps College. The conference was pleased to grant them license to preach by unanimous vote. None was recommended for admission on trial.

The following were elected delegates to the Annual Conference: J. T. Lewis, J. S. Decell, Dr. Henry Flowers, Mrs. Mamie Myers, R. E. Bennett, V. D. Youngblood, Mrs. H. M. Ellis, A. D. Breland. Alternates, W. W. Godbold, and F. J. Jones.

When the question of the place of meeting of the next conference was called, Meadville, Summit, and Magnolia extended cordial invitations, and the brethren seemed to wish that they could accept each, but Meadville was selected, and the vote made unanimous.

W. M. Williams addressed the conference on the subject of the district's indebtedness on assessment for the Representative Church, Washington City. Subscriptions were taken for this purpose, and $250 realized.

A. S. Oliver spoke on the subject of our share in the building of a church near the Mississippi State Woman's College, Columbus, in connection with the North Mississippi Conference; a collection was taken, and $75 in cash and subscriptions was raised, sufficient to cover our share at the present time.

The character of all the local brethren was passed, and the license of the local preachers was renewed. It is regrettable that not all of them make written reports to the conference, as required by the law of the church; a number of them, however, made their reports in due order.

On nomination of the presiding elder, A. M. Broadfoot, Dr. I. W. Cooper, G. H. Thompson, and J. S. Purcell were elected the Licensing Committee; J. E. Carruth was elected District Lay Leader, and R. M. Carothers and J. M. Wood, Assistants.

Rev. E. L. Alford, a member of the Mississippi Conference, who had to give up his work recently on account of ill health, resides at the seat of the conference, and it was regretted that he was unable to be with us. Many of the brethren called on him, and the conference, by a standing vote, unanimously adopted the following resolution, which was ordered published in the Advocate: "We, the district conference of the Brookhaven District, now in session at Tylertown, hereby express our sympathy for Brother Alford in his affliction, and pledge our prayers for his speedy recovery."

The reports of the preachers in charge, made in tabular form, were summarized by the various committees, and showed advancement along the usual lines of work. It is hoped that this will be the best year in the history of the district, and each pastor and layman seems willing to do what he can to make it so.

W. B. JONES, Secretary.

VICKSBURG DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

The Vicksburg District Conference met at Centerville, Miss., April 24-26, inclusive. Rev. V. G. Clifford and his loyal co-workers are masters in the art of entertaining. The town was in gala attire.

The attendance was good. The spirit was fine. The preaching was done by Revs. C. A. Schultz, G. P. McKeown, Rolfe Hunt, and A. F. Watkins.

The reports showed progress in every branch of endeavor. It was indeed gratifying to hear of the activities of the laymen. The spiritual life is at high tide in many sections. Interest is growing almost everywhere.

The conference heard from the following visitors: Mr. W. D. Hawkins, Rev. B. F. Lewis, Rev. J. M. Morse, Dr. J. M. Sullivan, Prof. D. S. Hogg, Rev. A. S. Oliver, Dr. A. F. Watkins, Dr. I. W. Cooper, Rev. H. W. Van Hook, Rev. J. C. Chambers, Mr. O. C. Hull, Rev. J. G. Snelling.

Wednesday afternoon was devoted to the Sunday school work, a large part of Wednesday night to the Centenary.

Delegates elected to the Annual Conference were: C. S. Elliot, Rolfe Hunt, Mrs. Z. D. Clark, Mrs. Carl Lehman, J. L. Ash, E. E. Richardson, Mrs. W. L. Haygood, Mrs. T. B. Cottrell. Alternates: T. D. Fontaine and Mrs. W. H. Huntley.

W. S. Sharbrough was elected district lay leader. J. L. Ash and D. S. Hogg were chosen associate lay leaders.

A very affecting incident occurred on the last morning. Resolutions of appreciation for the efficient administration of Rev. J. R. Jones during the quadrennium were adopted unanimously. Some one started singing, "Blest be the Tie That Binds," and all moved to the altar to shake hands with Brother Jones. His considerate treatment has endeared him to the entire district.

B. M. HUNT, Secretary.

SEASHORE DIVINITY SCHOOL.

The Fifteenth Session of Seashore Divinity School will open at 8 p. m., Tuesday, June 12, and close with the service at the same hour Thursday, the 21st. The program promises to be one of the best ever held. All three of the bishops presiding over the participating Conferences will be present and share in the platform work.

Bishop W. B. Murrah, in charge of the Alabama Conference, will bring the opening message at 8 p. m., Tuesday, June 12, concerning the need of the church in the present crisis. We hope to have the good Bishop, so loved in Mississippi, remain through the session.

Bishop W. A. Candler, in charge of the Louisiana Conference, will take up the work Wednesday at 11 a. m., speaking at both principal hours daily through Saturday on the great messages of God's inspired Word. He always stirs the soul. We trust to have him with us through the session.

Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, in charge of the Mississippi Conferences, will then begin his series of messages, speaking at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. through the remainder of the session, to better enable the preacher to realize the greatness of his privileges and responsibilities in the present hour.

The Undergraduate classes will be under the charge of competent and painstaking instructors, each patronizing Conference being represented. Examinations, acceptable to the Conference Examining Committee, will be given those who have previously read the Course prescribed for their Class. This is certainly the best place for the Undergraduates of these Conferences to finish their studies, for here will be present competent instructors to explain difficult problems and reply to questions the students may find it necessary to ask. Here the young preacher may complete his Course early in the year.

There will also be instructors for the Class for Admission on Trial, who will teach the Course of Study and examine those who have previously read the books. Please take note of this, all you presiding elders.

Now as to the expense: Arrangements have been made with Brother Van Hook for room in Keller Lodge (two in a bed) and meals at $1.50 per day, and for room in the Red House (each furnishing his own sheets, pillow and towels) and meals at $1.00 a day. Higher board can be had elsewhere, if desired.

The usual fee of $2.50 a session, or 50 cents a day, will be charged. Superannuates admitted free.

Buy your railroad tickets, using Clery Permits, to Gulfport or Biloxi, Miss., and then take the street car to Seashore Camp Ground.

And don't forget the date—June 12 to 21, 1923. Let's all go.

H. M. ELLIS, President.

The Call of the Conference Claimants

EDITED BY LUTHER E. TODD, SECRETARY

Board of Finance, M. E. Church, South.

510-513 Security Building, St. Louis, Mo.

IT MUST BE DONE, AND WE MUST DO IT.

By Bishop U. V. W. Darlington.

When an itinerant preacher in the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, stands at the bar of the Conference to be admitted into full connection, he is asked this question: "Are you resolved to devote yourself wholly to God and his work?" And further: "It is, therefore, your duty to employ your time in the manner which we direct. Above all, if you labor with us in the Lord's vineyard, it is needful that you should do that part of the work which we advised at those times and places which we judge most for his glory."

If he gives a satisfactory answer to this and other questions, the Conference may admit him into the traveling connection. Standing in the presence of God and his brethren at such a time as this every Methodist preacher can well afford to repeat: "'Tis done. Another great transaction is done. I am my Lord's in a very peculiar sense; yes, in a relation that is peculiarly sacred." He agrees to use all of his time and all of his talents in going where the Church sends him and in doing those things which the Church assigns him. Here is a most sacred compact between the Church and the preacher. The Church, through its constituted authorities, asks a man to do certain things, and that man agrees to do those certain things. Therefore that man has a right to expect the Church to take care of him and his family while he does those things which the Church has put upon him.

At the same time there is another very serious side to this whole matter. If the preacher expects the Church to care for him and his family while he does the Lord's work, then he ought to feel honor-bound to give the Church all of his time and all of his talents. To be absolutely frank about this question let me say that I do not think that a preacher who spends part of his time promoting his own selfish interests, such as selling stocks and dealing in real estate and writing life insurance, should have any part or lot in the proceeds of a fund provided by the Church for the care of those men who have spent their days doing the one work which they promised to do. To my mind, this is a serious matter and should not be winked at by any of us. I believe with all my heart that the Church will care for the old men who have worn themselves out in the work of saving men, and I thank God that we are standing upon the threshold of a better day in this matter. Our great Church is awakening to the real situation. Some of our old heroes are not as comfortable as they deserve to be. Scores of them have fought well in the itinerant ranks, and they are now sitting in the shadows and some of them in the midst of real shadows.

I recall the face and form of a man who was my mother's preacher when I was but a boy. True, I am still looking upon him through the eyes of a boy. But, in spite of all that, the truth remains that he was really a great preacher and a great servant of the Church. Time rolled on, and he joined the itinerancy. This same old man was going out just about the time I was coming in. According to the custom of the Church, he was placed upon the list of superannuates by the consent of the Conference, and from year to year received his small allowance from the Joint Board. It is hardly necessary to say that the allowance was a pittance, but through it all I never heard him complain. Days continued to come and go; the old man's step became more uncertain. I happened to be on the same train one day just as the beautiful days of May were beginning to do their work in Central Kentucky. The grass was springing into life, the birds were singing, the buds bursting, and all the world seemed happy. I did not speak to this old man but chose to sit and look upon his face in admiration, thinking of the days long gone when the admiring crowds hung upon his ministry. When the train stopped at a certain station, another gentleman boarded it. This certain gentleman knew the old preacher very well and, stopping to speak to him, said: "Where are you going, Doctor?" The old man replied: "You know I have no earthly home, but I am going to Brother ——— to spend a few weeks, and it may be that I shall go to heaven from there. I have no earthly home." Hear it, ye who are spending your days under a kindly roof which God has permitted you to call yours. From the date of my meeting this old "forgotten man" on the train to this day I have done what I could to help them in their declining years.

Touching the coming campaign for our Superannuate Endowment Fund, I can do nothing better than use the words of St. Paul, "I am debtor; I am ready; I am not ashamed; so as much as in me is," the Church can have for this great work.

Huntington, W. Va.

THE OLD PREACHER.

All his life
In kindly gentle ways
He toiled
To mend mankind:
Preached mercy,
Fed the poor,
Gave oft the welcome hand
To passing strangers,
And in his daily course
Comforted
Sad lives.
But when his hair grew gray
And his thin voice
Reached only the middle
Of the church,
His congregation
Generously
Gave him
The key to the street.

—Don S. Seitz, in Watchman-Examiner.

GOLDEN THOUGHTS.

Love never turns its microscope on our faults.

He alone succeeds in life who lives it unto God.

Only the hungry heart can taste the bread of life.

Spiritual indifference is often only mental indolence.

Every real prayer touches the universe to the quick.

The trumpet of fame assembles more foes than friends.

Obedience to the known will of God is the highest evidence of sincerity and belief.

We have to know a good many people to become well acquainted with ourselves.—Selected.

MOTHER'S SPECTACLES.

By W. C. Page.

Only a pair o' glasses, bent an' worn an' old,
But to me they are dearer than those o' finest gold.
A pair of worn spectacles are not much, you say?
Yes, because they were mother's before she went away.
Often at twilight, when her day's work was done,
She would light the candle an' say to me: "Now, son,
Find mother's glasses, for she is tired to-night;
Lock fast the door, an' draw the curtains tight."

After reading the Scripture, she would kneel an' pray—
She always did this after father went away—
Then, in a low, sweet voice, a hymn or two she'd sing:
"The day was past and gone," an' 'bout the Heavenly King.
Then she would take her glasses off an' hold them in her hand,
And tell us sweet stories 'bout the far-off Happy Land.
Then she'd say softly: "Sons, you ~~must be~~ good an' true;
Always be straight an' honest; never, never any evil do."

Then she would softly kiss us an' tuck us in to sleep,
And ask the Lord to bless, our souls alway to keep.
A pair o' old worn glasses are not much, you say?
They are, because they were mother's before she went away.

THE BUSY BEAVER.

Gerald was having such a fine time whittling! Mother had to speak twice to make him realize that she must have wood for the kitchen fire in order to bake a cake for supper.

When he was bringing the last armful she said, "Dear me, Gerald, I wish you could take lessons of an industrious beaver."

He looked up in surprise. "What's a beaver, mumsy?"

"One of Mother Nature's smartest animals. Call Beatrice from the nursery and I will tell you both something about beaver life, while I am seeding raisins."

Soon the fire was crackling merrily and Gerald and his sister were ready for mother's story.

"In my childhood," she began, "I used to watch plump, bright-eyed beavers working and playing in our forest-bordered pond. These shy animals are usually about a yard long and look like hump-backed woodchucks, except that their tails are very broad and flat. Strangely enough, the hind feet are webbed like ducks' feet, so that they swim easily and gracefully."

"When father and I went fishing," Gerald interrupted, "we didn't see any beavers."

"They are very scarce nowadays, for trappers have killed them by the wholesale to get their soft, furry skins for making caps, muffs and neck-wraps."

"What a pity!" little Beatrice exclaimed.

"That's so," agreed Gerald; "but, mother, if beavers are so smart, why do they get caught?"

"They are clumsy on land; but in the water they are spry enough, as you would think if you saw what skillful carpenters they are."

"Ho, now you are fooling!" laughed Gerald.

"Indeed, I'm not. Beavers make wonderful houses, several feet high, out of sticks, mud and stones. These waterproof huts are built in the water or near it, with entrances away from the land to keep wild beasts out. There the beaver family spend the winter, resting and eating bark and leaves from trees which they have cut down and stored near by."

"What—can they cut down trees?" Gerald cried.

"Yes, children, they can fell trees, and, besides, they can build dams with them across streams too shallow for safe swimming."

"Truly, mother?"

"Yes, truly. Shall I tell you how? Several strong beavers swim ashore and with their sharp front teeth chip away for hours at a tree, until it falls. After cutting it into shorter lengths, they drag and push these into the water and guide them to the desired place. When they have anchored a sufficient number of logs and branches, they bring roots, stones and mud in their paws. By working very fast they fill up all the spaces until their dam is able to hold back the water. There, don't you think it a real compliment to tell a person that he works like a beaver?"

"I should say so!" said Gerald. "It makes me feel pretty lazy when I think what those little fellows can do, with just their teeth and paws. After this, I'll play that I'm a beaver. Of course, I'll never be so smart as they are, for I can't saw wood with my teeth!"

"You can do your best, boy-fashion, just as they do their best, beaver-fashion," said mother, as she seeded the last raisin.—J. L. Pratt, in Child Life.

A MODEL SCHOOL CREED.

The Jefferson Gazette, a paper published in Jefferson, the county seat of Ashtahula County, Northern Ohio, prints the following students' creed subscribed to by the pupils of Dorset High School. Dorset is one of the older towns of the Western Reserve.

This creed of ethics is worthy of a wide circulation. If it could be accepted and practiced by the students of our grammar schools, high schools, church schools, what fine citizens the boys and girls, the young men and women of the coming generation, will prove to be.

Dorset School Creed.

We, the students of Dorset School, wish to be equipped mentally, morally, and physically to live in the most serviceable manner possible. As an aid in accomplishing our purpose we have formulated this creed of ethics:

To be loyal to our teachers, our school, and to one another.

To show our love for our country by obeying its laws and respecting its flag.

To work together at all times for the good of our school, our community, and our country.

To so use our rights as not to abuse those of our neighbors.

To perform our daily tasks with smiling faces and joyous hearts.

To be courteous, thoughtful, friendly, and frank.

To try each day to make some other life a little happier or a little better.

To cultivate habits of thrift in its various phases.

To care for our bodies to the very best of our knowledge so that we may be able to do our part in a life of service.

To remember that we are proud to call ourselves a Christian nation and that all good comes from above.—Anna Breed, in Zion's Herald.

"TIME OUT."

Companions in Sorrow.

Tom and Bill were late for school and were called to account for it. "What made you late, Bill?" asked the teacher.

"Please, sir, I was dreaming I was going to California, and I thought the school-bell was the steamboat I was going on," exclaimed Bill.

"You did, eh!" said the teacher. "And now, sir," turning to the second boy, "what have you to say for yourself?"

"Please, sir, I—I was just waiting to see Tom off."—Exchange.

Well Said.

Elder Thomas, from Cooper Hollow, attended services in the city for the first time, and reported to his wife. "And what is an anthem?" "Well," explained the elder, "I cannot tell you exactly, but if I were to say, 'Betsy, the cows are in the corn,' that wouldn't be an anthem. But if I say, 'Betsy, Betsy, Betsy, the cows, the Holstein cows, the Jersey cows, the muley cows, the spotted cows, all the cows are in, are in the corn, in the corn, corn, Amen, Amen, and Amen,' why, that'd be an anthem."—Tuskegee Church Bulletin.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE DATES.

At the meeting of the College of Bishops, held in Nashville, Tenn., last week, the dates of the Annual Conferences were fixed and announced. We have received no official statement, but from press dispatches we learn that the following are the dates for our patronizing Conferences:

North Mississippi, Greenville, November 7.
Mississippi, Gulfport, November 14.
Louisiana, Bogalusa, November 21.

DEATH OF REV. H. B. VANDENBURG.

A note from Rev. W. L. Doss, Jr., presiding elder of the Alexandria District, brings the sad news of the death of Rev. H. B. Vandenburg, at Pineville, La., on Thursday morning, April 26. The funeral services were held on the following day, being conducted by Rev. C. K. Smith, of Pineville, and Brother Doss.

Brother Vandenburg was a superannuate member of the Louisiana Conference. He had been in poor health for several years, and his death was not unexpected. Brother Vandenburg came to the Louisiana Conference from the Mississippi Conference. He rendered fatihful service in the various charges to which he was appointed, and he has many friends in both Conferences who will learn with sorrow of his passing away. We extend sincere sympathy to his sorrowing loved ones, and pray that sustaining grace may be given them in their bereavement. We hope to have a suitable memoir for publication in due time.

THE NEW PRESIDENT OF MANSFIELD COLLEGE.

When the news went abroad that Mr. R. E. Bobbitt had resigned the presidency of Mansfield College, there was a feeling of widespread regret, for he had wrought so well in that important position and had achieved such notable success that he had almost come to be looked upon as part of the institution itself. Facing the inevitable, however, the Board of Trustees immediately began to look for his successor; and it has just announced that it has succeeded in finding a man in every way qualified to continue the work President Bobbitt relinquished. The committee appointed to select another president announces that it has chosen Mr. W. M. Bratton, of Dixon, Tenn., to the presidency of the college. In making the announcement, the committee says:

"Mr. Bratton is a school man of marked ability and unusual success, having taught in the State institutions of both Tennessee and Georgia for the past fifteen years. He is a graduate of Peabody College, and at the present time is in charge, as principal, of one of the State institutions of Tennessee, located at Dixon, Tenn.

"After learning of the ability and success of Mr. Bratton, the committee had him visit Mansfield and look over the situation; and, after conferring with him, the committee was of the unanimous opinion that he was just the man needed to succeed Mr. Bobbitt at this time.

"With the inauguration of Mr. Bratton as president of the Mansfield Female College, the Board contemplates a great forward movement in education for young women in Louisiana through the Mansfield Female College. A campaign will be put on within the next few months to secure additional endowment and equipment, which will make the college second to none in the State and the South."

We assure the newly-elected president that he will have a cordial welcome in Louisiana; and we bespeak for him the hearty co-operation of all the Methodists in the great work he has entered upon.

DEATH OF REV. W. M. COMMANDER.

Rev. W. M. Commander, our pastor at Toccopola, Miss., died suddenly on Friday, April 20. He was not a member of the Conference, but had rendered faithful service as a supply for a number of years. His death removes an honored and successful preacher of the gospel, and brings great sorrow to a large circle of friends and loved ones. The Advocate extends sincere sympathy to those who are bereaved in his going, and prays that the grace of God may sustain them in their great sorrow. We trust we shall be furnished with a suitable memoir for publication in due time.

COLUMBUS DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

The fifty-third annual session of the Columbus District Conference, North Mississippi Conference of the M. E. Church, South, was convened in the Methodist church at Ackerman, Miss., April 26, 1923, with Rev. A. T. McIlwain, the presiding elder, in the chair.

On the evening of the 25th, the opening sermon of the conference was preached by Rev. J. R. Countiss, President of Grenada College, who brought a most helpful message from John 3:16.

The conference was called to order at 8:30 a. m. on Thursday, with Rev. A. T. McIlwain presiding. On the calling of the roll, it was found that every pastor of the district was present. They are as follows: W. L. Storment, of Ackerman and Weir; H. M. Young, of Artesia; A. L. Davenport, of Brooksville; R. T. Hollingsworth, of Caledonia; O. A. Clark, of Cedar Bluff; J. A. Biffle, of Chester; E. S. Lewis, of Columbus, First Church; A. S. Raper, of Columbus, Central Church; C. W. Avery, of Crawford and Shaeffers; R. L. Ellis, of Ethel; W. W. Woollard, of Starkville; W. A. Bowlin, of Kosciusko circuit; Olin Ray, of Kosciusko station; Guy Ray, of McCool; S. H. Caffey, of Macon station; M. A. Burns, of Macon circuit; T. J. Hopper, of Mashulaville; W. R. Goudelock, of Noxapater; Seaman Rhea, of Shuqualak; R. S. Lawsen, of Sturgis; T. H. Lipscomb, of West Point; Wade Heath, of High Point; J. R. James, of Mayhew and Sessums; J. W. Dorman, of Louisville. Not only was this an unusual conference in that every pastor of the district was present, but the district was well represented by the Sunday school superintendents and laymen of the district.

J. H. McKinnon, of Weir, was elected secretary of the conference, with Rev. S. H. Caffey as assistant secretary. The following were introduced to the conference: Rev. R. P. Neblett, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Durant; Mrs. W. M. Campbell, of West Point; Mrs. A. M. Weir, Mrs. J. C. McElroy, and Mrs. J. H. McKinnon, of Weir, and Rev. Mr. Roebuck, of the Baptist Church.

The pastors, in their reports from their respective charges, revealed the fact that every department of the church is in a prosperous condition. At no time since we have attended the conference has the spiritual interest of the district been so good. The goal set for the district by our presiding elder was one thousand conversions during the year, and that set by the lay leader, that there must be a MEN'S PRAYER MEETING and Sunday school in every church in the Columbus District. We are sure this goal is not too high, though it cannot be attained without an effort put forth by both minister and layman.

Mrs. Kemp Williams, of West Point, District Secretary of the Woman's Work, gave a splendid report of the results of their labors.

Mrs. Alma Riley, of the Methodist Orphans' Home, of Jackson, made a report of the work of that institution, and made an earnest appeal for funds to meet the immediate needs in its repair. It is hoped that her strong appeal will meet a glorious response.

Dr. C. A. Bowen, Professor of Religious Education in Millsaps College, spoke encouragingly of the work done there, and of the standing of the college among the educators of the State.

Rev. J. H. Holder, Conference Educational Secretary, delivered a splendid address upon the subject of "Christian Education."

Rev. B. P. Jaco, Conference Centenary Secretary, brought a stirring message on the Centenary. He made his appeal in the name of Christ, and the needs of the peoples of the world.

In the absence of Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, our Sunday School Field Secretary, the work of the Sunday school was presented by Rev. E. S. Lewis, President of the Conference Sunday School Board.

William L. Robinson, and John D. Humphreys were licensed to preach. The conference was delighted to license these splendid young men for the minstry, and predicts for them a great future. We hope that the number of those applying for the ministry will continue to increase.

William L. Robinson, John D. Humphreys, Wade Heath, and Samuel E. Ashmore were recommended to the Annual Conference for admission on trial.

Rev. W. W. Woollard, Rev. T. H. Lipscomb, Rev. E. S. Lewis, and Rev. H. M. Young were appointed as Licensing Committee.

J. H. McKinnon was elected lay leader for the district, and Prof. H. H. Ellis and Whitman Davis were elected as associate lay leaders.

Brooksville was selected as the place for the next meeting.

The conference was inspired by the helpful sermons delivered by Rev. R. L. Lawson, Rev. J. W. Dorman, and Rev. W. W. Woollard, and the messages at the devotional hours by Rev. T. H. Lipscomb, Rev. C. W. Avery, Rev. W. R. Goudelock, and Rev. W. A. Bowlin. The messages brought by these pastors were both inspirational and uplifting.

The conference came to a close at the end of the second day with a consecration service conducted by Rev. J. W. Dorman. The members of the conference present were unanimous in their opinion that this was one of the most pleasant and spiritual sessions of a district conference that they had ever attended. This was due largely to the planning and efficient leadership of our much beloved presiding elder, Rev. A. T. McIlwain.

The good people of Ackerman were most royal in their entertainment of the conference, and Rev. W. L. Storment did not leave anything undone that could add to the comfort of the guests.

J. H. McKINNON, Secretary.

LIGHT ON FARTHER HILLS.

The clouds upon the mountain rest,
A gloom is on the autumn day;
But down the valley, in the west,
The hidden sunlight breaks its way—
A light lies on the farther hills.

Forget thy sorrow, heart of mine!
Though shadows fall and fades the leaf,
Somewhere is joy, though 'tis not thine,
The Power that sent can heal thy grief—
A light lies on the farther hills.

Thou wouldst not with the world be one,
If ne'er thou knewest hurt and wrong;
Take comfort, though the darkened sun
Never again bring gleam or song—
The light lies on the farther hills.

VIRGIL A. MITCHELTREE was born near New Iberia, La., July 29, 1873, and died in Shreveport, La., Jan. 30, 1923. He was buried in Jewella cemetery of that city. He joined the Methodist Church in his youth, and lived a conscientious Christian life. Death found him rich in the faith.

He began his active Christian life as an exhorter, and served in every office of our local church. His membership was at Queensborough when he died. He was effective in prayer, and worked zealously to advance the kingdom.

He married Miss Martha Turner, a sister of Rev. A. W. Turner, June 6, 1906. Together they braved the trials that come to all who are willing to face duty and smooth the paths for those who follow. To this happy union were given three children, two boys and a girl. On Dec. 15, 1922, God called home their little six-year-old girl. This severe shock caused general paralysis after four years of bad health. He realized that he would not be here long, for in his lamentation over the body of his child he cried: "You are cold, Sister, but daddy will soon be with you." In expressing his readiness he quoted the Psalmist, that "in the valley of death he would fear no evil."

To mourn his departure he leaves his beloved wife and two children, his aged mother, a sister and brother, and many friends. We shall miss him from the path along which the blessings of his life were strewn, and others will miss him, too, when they mark the absence of the testimony he bore to the faith.

We join the host of friends in prayer and sympathy for his loved ones and commend them to God, who doeth all things for our good.

MRS. M. J. CAMPBELL was born of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Blackwell in Somerville, Ala., June 21, 1859, and died April 10, 1923. Her parents moved to Mississippi when she was four years of age. She joined the M. E. Church, South, at old Bethel, at the tender age of twelve, and continued her membership at Bethel until 1908, when she moved to Independence, Miss.

Mrs. Campbell was married to D. G. Campbell June 10, 1878, and to this union were born three children, two daughters and one son, all of whom are grown and still living. One daughter is married, but the other two children are at home with their father.

Mrs. Campbell had almost reached the sixty-fourth mile on the way. A long and useful life it was. All these years she has been faithful to God, and her pathway grew brighter and brighter as she came to the perfect day. She had many friends, who loved and honored her for her devout Christian friendship. She was a good woman, and to know her was to love her.

Mrs. Campbell was almost a lifelong member of the Methodist church, having been a member for 52 years. She loved her church very dearly, and when it was possible she was found in her place at every service.

She died as she had lived, holding on to God with an unshaken faith. One of the last things that she wrote was a letter to one of her friends in which she told her not to fear the stormy winds, but to trust in God. Thank God for a faith like that!

May the tender mercies of an all-wise God, bless and comfort her precious family and keep them to the end.

Fold her, O Father! in thine arms, and let her henceforth be a messenger of love between our human hearts and thee.

Still let her mild rebuking stand
Between us and the wrong,
And her dear memory serve to make
Our faith in goodness strong.

JOSEPH JACKSON BODDIE was born Dec. 3, 1862, and died at his home in Bienville Parish, March 25, 1923. In 1883 he was happily married to Miss Margaret McCoy, of Bienville La. Of this union six children were born, four sons and two daughters, all living except the first son, who died in infancy. Besides his wife, he leaves the following children and one stepdaughter, to mourn their loss: Ed. Boddie, of Bienville; Oliver Boddie, of Bryceland; Eugene Boddie, of Shreveport; Mrs. J. C. Chaffin, of Bryceland; Mrs. C. F. McBride, of Bastrop, and Miss Georgia Chisholm (stepdaughter), of Bienville, La.

It was the privilege and pleasure of the writer to be Brother Boddie's pastor for four years. During that time I learned to love and appreciate him. I was in his home often, and he seemed always to enjoy my visits. He was not very demonstrative in his religious life, but sound in faith and loyal to his church. He loved the church, helped to support it, and stood by his pastor. He joined the M. E. Church, South, early in life, and remained a faithful member till death. As a husband and father he tried to meet all his obligations as best he knew them. He was perfectly devoted to his children, and they, with the stepdaughter, likewise to him. He was a good citizen, and had a great many friends. He will be missed as few men are.

Although I had not been his pastor for more than a year, a few days before he died he expressed a desire that I conduct his funeral. The family carried out his request, and on the 27th of March, 1923, with the assistance of the present pastor at Bienville, Rev. L. P. Moreland, in the presence of a large concourse of friends and relatives, we placed the remains in the cemetery at Bear Creek church, near Bienville. We pray that the bereaved family may be comforted of God. We know that all things do work together for good to them that love the Lord.

MRS. ELIZABETH A. WARE.

Early on the morning of Feb. 3, 1923, the death angel claimed all that was mortal of MRS. ELIZABETH A. WALKER-KIRKLAND-WARE.

Elizabeth Walker was born in Lauderdale County, Miss., where the city of Meridian now stands, Nov. 1, 1841. At the age of fifteen she was married to John Kirkland, and to them was born a son, Mansel Kirkland.

Early in their married life, death claimed the husband, and she afterwards married F. M. Ware, who preceded her to the great beyond thirty years ago. To them were born seven children, four of whom are still living: Rev. R. T. Ware, of the Louisiana Conference; Mrs. Loula Hesters, Mrs. Kittie McAlpine, and Mrs. Annie Meadows.

Early in life she joined the Baptist Church, in which she lived a consistent life. She loved all Christian people, regardless of church affiliation. It was the writer's privilege to visit her often in her last months. She never complained of suffering, though at times it was intense. She gave many evidences that she was ready—just waiting the will of her Heavenly Father. She never failed to have the Bible brought and ask that prayer be held. Surely a good woman is gone!

Sister Ware was in her eighty-third year. She honored God with all she had, and he honored her with a long life. She was the mother of eight children, forty-one grandchildren, eighty-six great-grandchildren, and nine great-great-grandchildren.

The funeral was conducted by her pastor, Rev. J. P. Williams, and her body laid to rest in the family cemetery near Low, Miss.

The commercialized amusement promoter pretends to clamor for the rights of the laboring people, who, he claims, can find no other time than Sunday for diversions such as the picture show, for instance. Then he proceeds to charge them extra prices for Sunday shows. Did that ever strike you as funny?

The Pharisees made foolish interpretations of the Sabbath law. Are we in danger of doing the same thing in our anxiety to preserve the observance of the Sabbath day as an American institution?

We once heard a minister say that if folks never got religion before they got an automobile they would probably never get religion at all. Has the auto and its use brought increased disregard for the Sabbath?

When Henry Ford bought the Detroit and Ironton Railroad, running from Detroit to Ironton, Ohio, he stopped Sunday trains, established an eight-hour day, and increased the pay of the men. When an orphanage at Columbus begged him to take the children out into the country on Sunday, he refused, telling them he was unable to see any good reason why they could not have their excursion on Saturday.

"YOU AREN'T REALLY GOING BACK?"

By Garfield Evans.

"You aren't really going back?" How often the missionary who is home on his first furlough hears that question! So many people at home think it so strange, and a foolish thing to return to the field. They argue that seven years of one's life given to such work should be more than enough. Here is the answer one missionary doctor gives:

"When I first came out here, I picked up a small boy with long hair down his back and paid him a dollar and a half a month to work in the clinic and do dressings. He was bright and caught on to things with ease. To-day he is a graduate doctor and has gone to America to do post-graduate study.

"Fourteen years ago there was a little black-eyed girl here who proved to be bright and studious. She went through school, married this doctor, and for the past three years has been teaching the missionary children music lessons. She also runs a big night school and is one of the finest teachers in Korea. It is like taking a rough stone and working it into a beautiful diamond—only this is by far the greater process."

Do you understand why the missionary always wants to get back to the field? Have you ever known the joy of transforming a rough stone into a diamond?

AN EXCELLENT NEW BOOK.

By John R. Pepper.

Mr. M. W. Brabham, some time Superintendent of the Department of Administration of the General Sunday School Board of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has just published a most valuable book entitled, "The Sunday School at Work in Town and Country."

This writer has read every line of said book from title page to bibliography and questions for thought and discussion.

Having been reared in the mountains of old Virginia, for years in boyhood days he walked two or three miles to a regular country Sunday school. For the past thirty-six years he has been chairman of the Sunday School Board of the Memphis Conference, with supervision over about 600 Sunday schools, the large majority of which are strictly rural schools; and with these schools he has communicated constantly year by year, and has visited very many of them. Therefore, this writer claims to have a fair first-hand knowledge of conditions and methods of the average town and country school as it exists to-day.

The chapter titles of the said book are logical and very suggestive, while the treatment of each subject is simple and exceedingly helpful. In fact, every phase of present-day Sunday school work is discussed in such plain and untechnical language that the most unlearned can understand and be stimulated by its fine teachings.

No rural pastor, superintendent, or teacher can do his best work without reading and studying this splendid contribution to our Sunday school literature. Possessing and having read most of the books on the various subjects of Sunday school activities published during the past twenty-five years, I beg to say deliberately and without hesitation, that for practical purposes, and for reaching the vast constituency of the small town and rural schools, "The Sunday School at Work in Town and Country," according to my humble judgment, is the best, and will be the most abidingly helpful book yet written, or that will be written until material changes are made in our fundamental methods of work.

In order that I may endorse the foregoing publication more substantially than by mere words, I have ordered fifty copies sent to the Superintendent of Sunday School Work of the Memphis Conference and by him to be given with my personal compliments to fifty rural pastors who will promise to read carefully the volume, and then see to it that each Sunday school superintendent on his charge does likewise.

If this is done, we will surely raise the level of several hundred rural Sunday schools in the Memphis Conference.

NOTES FROM NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, Sardis, Miss.

Up to date, 25 schools in the Aberdeen District have ordered Sunday School Day programs; 25 in the Columbus District; 35 in the Corinth District; 17 in the Greenville District; 11 in the Greenwood District; 24 in the Grenada District, and 31 in the Sardis District, a total of 170 for the Conference. We must have 80 more schools to order that we do half as much as we ought to do. If you have not received your programs, say so. Let's be orthodox in conduct as well as in creed.

We are to hold a Conference-wide conference of all our Sunday school forces from noon, June 7, to noon, June 8, at Grenada. This meeting will include the Wesley Bible Class Federation and Elementary Council. We have not held such a meeting in the past; we need to get representatives of all our Sunday school workers together for a short time that we may see the work as a whole. We shall have sectional or departmental meetings for specific instruction. The roads will be good, cars are plentiful, and we ought to have 500 of our people at Grenada. Three meals at the College for one dollar. Write Rev. J. E. Stephens, Grenada, for a room.

The Training School to be held at Grenada promises to be the best we have ever held. We are hoping to enroll one hundred from Grenada and vicinity, and one hundred and fifty from over the Conference. Miss Nannie Lee Frayser, of Louisville, Ky., is to teach the course in Story Telling for all who deal with beginner, primary, and junior children. Miss Frayser is an instructor of psychology in the schools of religious education of the University of Vermont; in Dartmouth University, of New Hampshire; the Auburn Theological Seminary, of Auburn, N. Y.; the Connecticut College, of New London, Conn.; the Northern New England School of Religion, of Northfield, Mass., and New Jersey School of Religion, at Asbury Park, N. J. In most of these schools Miss Frayser has taught for the past ten consecutive seasons. It is worth a trip to Grenada to hear her tell one story. No such opportunity has been offered our teachers in the past; we cannot tell when it will be offered again. If you want a room, you had better reserve it before it is too late.

The Greenwood District school will be held at Sunflower, May 28-June 2. Write Rev. Frank H. McGee and let him know you are coming.

The Corinth District school will be held at New Albany, June 25-30.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Sunday School Institute at Pleasant Hill, La.

The Sunday School Rally at Pleasant Hill was in session at that place at 3 o'clock on Sunday, April 22, Rev. C. D. Atkinson presiding. The devotional exercise consisted of songs and a prayer, the latter by Mr. Joyner, superintendent of Pelican Sunday school.

The Sunday schools represented were: Pelican, 4; Pleasant Hill, 23. The total attendance was 45.

A general discussion was conducted, in which the "hindrances" and "helps" to the Sunday school work were suggested as follows:

Hindrances—1. Lack of prepared lessons; 2. Lack of community interest in getting attendance; 3. Lack of parental interest—home at fault; 4. Lack of properly equipped and interested teachers; 5. Need of Sunday school not realized; 6. Truth gleaned not put into practice—classes are hearers of the word, and not doers; 7. Lack of building equipment.

Brother Atkinson climaxed the hindrances with: "Lack of educational consciousness; lack of appreciation of the value of religious education—Jesus and his plan and program of work, the best example of a remedy for this condition." He further added that the greatest church of the future will be the teaching church.

Helps—1. Good attendance; 2. New church; 3. We are helped because we get what we put into it; 4. Sunday school spirit is being created with reference to country community.

Here again the leader supplemented the discussion by emphasizing the value of the country community to the church.

In this connection, organization was emphatically stressed as the best means by which anything may properly and profitably function.

After this discussion, a census or picture of the Sunday schools represented was taken, giving our Conference Secretary just the glimpse of the Sunday school he must have, in order for him to know our needs, before he can give help.

The session closed with an exhortation for more whole-hearted, consecrated work in Sunday school, for by this means only will the church and God's cause best prosper. Voluntary prayers were offered, the burden of which was for vision and consecration for future Sunday school work.

The session was inspirational and very helpful.

MRS, J. W. CUNNINGHAM,
Secretary of Rally.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE SUNDAY SCHOOL NOTES.

I will try to have a complete list of Sunday School Day offerings by districts in next week's Advocate. They are coming in well. If the present increase in offerings continues, we will break all past records on Sunday School Day.

Two District Institutes have been held, Vicksburg, and Hattiesburg. At the Vicksburg District Institute there were 25 written reports from Sunday schools, and 50 laymen and 18 preachers present. These twenty-five reports showed an increase in Sunday school enrollment in the district of 50% since the report to Annual Conference as published in the Minutes. The finances also show a material gain.

The Hattiesburg District Institute had 56 laymen and 22 preachers present. One charge only was not represented. There were 30 reports, some of these to be handed in later. The reports in hand show a fine increase in membership and in finances. If these gains hold through the year these two districts alone will report at the Annual Conference the net increase the Sunday School Board asked for at last Conference.

This is the sixth series of Institutes I have conducted. I feel they are the best of the six. Certainly there is more interest, and, from the expressions of those present, they were enjoyed.

Brother Hull is making good; they are receiving him gladly everywhere, and he is doing fine service.

Who wants a County-wide Methodist Institute? Please write me. Who wants a Conference-wide Institute?

Don't forget the Centenary needs the Sunday school offering. We are within sight of being out. Won't you lend your aid to be out at Conference? It will be great if we can do so.

I spent the fourth Sunday at Thomasville with Brother L. M. Sharp. The night before we had the pictures; they did not show well, but what the folks could see they enjoyed.

Sunday morning we conducted the services at Thomasville. We had a very delightful service. Many asked for prayers, and one came forward for a dedication of life to God. Brother Sharp is doing a good work and the folks are responding. Thomasville as a community is going forward, and progress means the church must go forward, too.

Do not fail to pray for the work and the workers.

JOHN C. CHAMBERS.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

In the beautiful First Church of Laurel, the Woman's Missionary Society of the Mississippi Conference held its twelfth Annual Meeting, March 27 to 30—the initial service being a Workers' Conference, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. H. L. McCleskey led the discussion on the following questions:

1. Are Circles in Auxiliaries a success?
2. How Can the Rural Districts be Organized?
3. Is the Missionary Society Projecting Missionary Spirit Into the Church?

Interesting and heated discussions developed the facts that: 1. Circle Plans have been a decided success in Auxiliaries having at least fifteen members to a Circle. 2. Circle Plans can be used to develop the Rural Districts. 3. The church, through the Missionary Society and the missionary periodicals, is becoming a missionary church.

The first evening service was opened with the congregation singing, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." A fitting prelude to the service was a couple of organ selections by the Presbyterian organist, Rev. P. W. McClintoch.

Rev. T. A. Ferguson, pastor of Kingston Church, Laurel, read the Scripture lesson from the 2nd Psalm. After prayer by Brother Ferguson, Miss Grace McCristy sang a beautiful solo.

Mrs. J. H, Hill expressed in beautiful words the cordial welcome already made manifest in the many homes opened wide to the visitors. To the greeting, Mrs. F. L. Matthews, of Hattiesburg, graciously responded.

Mrs. P. L. Cobb, Council Superintendent of Young People's Work, of Nashville, Tenn., gave the address of the evening. Mrs. Cobb gave an excellent survey of the "Woman's Work at Home and its Problems"—stating that one-half of the people in the United States to-day do not attend church; that 61% of the public school teachers to-day have foreign-born parents, and come from NON-CHRISTIAN HOMES. "The Educational System must be Christianized."

Rev. Osmond S. Lewis, pastor of First Methodist Church, Laurel, invited delegates and hostesses to a reception held in the substory of the church. The delightful entertainment was given to the Young Woman's Auxiliary of First Methodist Church.

Across the rear of the church auditorium was stretched a banner bearing the following words:

"OUR GOAL .
AN AUXILIARY IN EVERY CHURCH
EVERY WOMAN AND CHILD A MEMBER."

In a couple of Sunday school rooms in the rear of the church, the Wesley Houses had on display exhibits of fancy work, etc., made by the children of the Wesley Houses. The many maps, banners and posters on display were beautiful.

On Wednesday evening, Miss Grace Kittrell, the gifted organist of First Church, delighted the congregation with a selection on the beautiful new organ. Mrs. B. F. Lewis read the Scripture lesson from the 62nd Psalm. Mrs. H. L. McCleskey, the first speaker of the evening, touched briefly the work in tho seven foreign fields where we have workers. "Each woman of the home church is responsible for 500 women in the Foreign Fields." "If every woman in the home Auxiliaries would TITHE, every expense would be paid in full and ten millions would be left." In "Telling the Story of Africa," Mrs. McCleskey stated that the women of the Wembo-Nyama Missionary Society tithe.

Miss Hallie Bule, in her charming way, presented her work among the Koreans. The congregation was impressed with her message and delighted with the many curios and costumes shown.

The Children and Young People of the Conference had charge of the last evening service. The devotional service opened with the singing of the hymn, "Onward, Christian Soldier." The Scripture lesson was taken from St. Matthew and read by little Miss Julia DeLoach, of Galloway Memorial Church, Jackson.

Miss Loretta Bietteh and Master James Moore, Laurel, delighted the large congregation with several violin selections. Mrs. Journey, of Laurel, sang "My Task."

"The Elixir of Life" was presented by Misses Sarah Bennett and Aneil Round, of Meadville.

"The Children's Missionary Society at Work" was presented by the Juniors of First Methodist Church, little Miss Ann Stevens Lewis being the superintendent of the demonstration.

Both demonstrations were helpful and entertaining—each and every child taking part carried out his or her part in a splendid manner.

The Hattiesburg Young People staged "The Missionary Clinic," Miss Tiems being the efficient physician.

Mr. W. D. Hawkins spoke briefly on the "Unfinished Task of the Centenary."

The business sessions of the Conference were well attended.

Mrs. Lewis, in her annual report as President, touched briefly on the work accomplished during 1922, and urged a greater efficiency through our opportunities of education, of finance, of service, and of intercession.

Mrs. McCleskey, the Corresponding Secretary, reported 24 Adult Auxiliaries, 6 Young People, and 9 Juniors on the Honor Roll.

The Treasurer's report showed the pledge to Council of $17,500 paid in full.

Reports from the Superintendents and District Secretaries were encouraging and showed the work going forward.

The outstanding hour of the Conference, looked forward to both by the visiting delegates and the Laurel women, was the Quiet Hour, conducted by Mrs. P. L. Cobb, of Nashville. During the three days, Mrs. Cobb took as her general subject "Evangelism," the theme of the Conference.

On the first day, using the eighth verse of the first chapter of Acts as the basis for her remarks, Mrs. Cobb briefly outlined the history of the first evangels, witnessing for Christ, and showed that the churches of to-day must, through the same preaching, power and policies, become missonary evangels.

On the second day, Mrs. Cobb, in her matchless way, presented the message of "The Power of Christ," basing her remarks on portions from St. Matthew and St. Mark, touching on the last message Christ gave his Disciples, "All power in Heaven and ON earth is given UNTO ME." Mrs. Cobb made us see as never before that we, too, believing, can make all things possible through God's power in us.

On the last morning Mrs. Cobb, reading the fifteenth and eighteenth verses of the twenty-first chapter of the Gospel of St. John, brought a message on "Love for Jesus Christ." Do we love him supremely?

After prayer, the twelfth Annual meeting of the Mississippi Conference was declared ajourned.

REVIVAL AT RAYNE, LA.

The evening service of April 10 marked the close of the most successful revival meeting that this church has witnessed for many years. From the very beginning there was manifested an unusual interest, and the crowds increased with each service. The membership of the church was faithful and loyal in attendance and earnest in its work for the success of the revival.

Brother J. W. Pearson, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Mansfield, brought to us the messages of the occasion, and every sermon that he gave was deeply spiritual. The man, like the message, was Spirit-filled and, in the closeness of the Master, preached as only one filled with the Spirit can preach. The deep spirituality of the message and the consecration of the man of God created an atmospbere that was tense with the power of the Holy Spirit. The hearts of the people were touched mightily and the entire congregation came under the spell of God's Holy Spirit.

To indicate some of the great themes discussed by Brother Pearson, the following are given:

"The Purpose and Power of the Holy Spirit."

1. "The Great Prophecy Concerning the Work of the Spirit."
2. "The Meaning of Pentecost."
3. "Union with Christ and Communion with the Holy Spirit."
4. "Guidance of the Spirit."
5. "Witness of the Holy Spirit."
6. "Peril of Rejectiug the Holy Spirit."
7. "The Marks of a Triumphant Church."

The above series of sermons on the work of the Holy Spirit was given at the morning services. These messages did not deal with the outgrowth of the many ways that some have interpreted the work of the Holy Spirit, but with the power of Scriptural holiness as we understand was taught in the early days of Methodism.

The outstanding messages of the evening service were:

"The Resurrected Life and the Revival Needed."

"The Greatest Thing in the World—The Christian Home."

"Good Soldiers of Jesus Christ."

"The Call and Challenge of the Hour."

Brother Pearson made us understand at the very outset of the meeting that we should work aud pray for the revival needed rather than the revival wanted. This is what actually took place. Our church has received a great spiritual baptism—just what all of us felt the need of. A large number of our church members have reconsecrated their lives to Christ. We have received into the church as a result of the meeting sixteen new members, and others will come in as they will be instructed.

The people of both Catholic and Protestant faith attended the revival services and, without any compromise of our faith and the doctrines of the church, there was no offense given to any one of any faith. There was created a feeling of respect among others and a closer feeling of brotherly love among our own people.

Rev. James B. Grambling, of Epworth Church, New Orleans, conducted the song service of the revival, and did this in only the way Grambling can do it. His own singing as well as the congregational singing added very much to the spiritual atmosphere of the service. His singing was an added personal evangelism in song. But his singing was not the best work that he did; it was among the young people of the church. With all the earnestness that is characteristic of him in League work, he labored to give the young people a greater vision of the opportunities that the church held for them in the young people's organizations. Through his kindness and earnest effort to help the young people, he gave to them almost the equivalent of a League institute. It was by this help that the young people became enthusiastic over their work and have entered into this work zealously and earnestly.

The blessings and the prayers of the people of this church go and abide with these two men of God.

W. K. McLELLAN.

JUDGE ROBERT B. DAWKINS—AN APPRECIATION.

In our first appointment, after joining the Louisiana Conference in 1896, we chanced to be located in Farmerville, La., the home town of Governors Heard and Pleasant, and of State Treasurer A. M. Smith, and of Secretary Edwin Everette. Judge R. B. Dawkins was then a young lawyer there, and was our Sunday school superintendent, and a steward in our church, and as such paid us the first $5 that ever came into our hands as a regularly appointed Methodist pastor. His wife's mother and Governor Heard's wife's mother were sisters and Brutons, which family was of the old-type Methodist stock, and religiously and socially were "the salt of the earth." Mrs. Dawkins gave me my only lessons in piano music, and I in turn taught Brother Dawkins to sing bass. Along with Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Jameson, with whom I boarded my first year, this family did the benevolent part of mothering the boy preacher who had been sent to them, and never did an inexperienced beginner in the ministry have better friends than were these. How loving their sympathy, and how unstinted their kindness and attention to the needs of their young pastor! Theirs was a friendship that through the intervening years has never grown cold, and never was sweeter nor more precious than when renewed in their happy home, around their loving fireside, during the 1919 session of our Conference that met in Ruston, where Judge Dawkins had lived since he was promoted to the judicial bench. While others might pretend to love you for what position you should chance to hold, or for your rank at the bank and in the marts of trade, or disown you for the lack of those worldly appendages. Judge Dawkins and his family loved their friends for their own worth—for their character, and as long as character lasted their friendship held true. How unmeasurable and beyond estimate is the love of friends like these!

As a combination of the sense of justice, brotherly sympathy, reverence, and unselfishness, Judge Dawkins was a rare model, and it was from him more than from any other jurist that we learned most about the principles of law. His thinking was deep, and when one had an idea to elaborate on the principles of righteous law, one always had a painstaking listener in him. It was he more than any other man who listened to our suggestion—which we passed on to the recent Constitutional Convention of Louisiana, and has since been embodied in the proposed anti-lynching bill before the Congress of the United States—that to cure the lynching crime the public should be penalized in a heavy money fine to the family of the one whose life is taken without a constitutional and legal trial, and the officers entrusted with the life of such a prisoner who allow his life thus murderously to be taken, should automatically lose their offices, just as the old Roman officers lost their heads when their prisoners escaped. He had years before this told us of how nearly he, as a defender, came to losing the life of an innocent negro boy, who was seen associated with a murderer, and whose life was only saved at the last minute by discovering that the old, run-down shoes that he wore did not correspond with the tracks in the field around the murdered man's body, and as a consequent lesson how unthinkable that an angry mob could, without the deliberations of a court of justice, discover the guilt or innocence of a prisoner. To have heard Judge Dawkins converse on the tendencies and cause of crime was like taking a course in the psychology of moral cause and effect. His was a mind by nature and by grace fitted to consider seriously the rightness and the wrongness of things, as judged by the "judge of all the earth, who will do right," and without whose righteous approval no judicial decision is ever just. To us he was more like William McKinley than any other public man whom we have known well enough to properly estimate his character, and had we been called on to select a president for this Christian republic, Judge Robert B. Dawkins would have been the man chosen. But his was a disposition too retiring and unassuming for him to have ever, so far as we know, aspired to anything higher than the judgeship of his own district. He was too noble to crave anything but to be a server of his fellows, disdaining any obeisance or plaudits of men, and, like the "rose that is born to blush unseen," could only be known at his worth in the intimacy of his home life and in confidential friendship.

Judge Dawkins died in Hotel Dieu in New Orleans on March 9, and from his daughter, Miss Edith Cordie Dawkins, of Chicago, we learn that his death was due to a nervous breakdown, following a too close and constant application to his work.

On the grave of a friend so true, a layman in the church so consecrated, and a public citizen and servant so noble, we place this tribute of our love, "Alas, my brother!"

Milwaukee, Wisconsin.—"I feel that I ought to tell you [illegible] about my case. I was young and could hardly do my housework and washing I was so run-down, just from having one child. ## DEDICATION AT CENTRAL, MERIDIAN.

The erection of our beautiful church building at Central, Meridian, in 1918, was a triumph of the faith and leadership of the lamented Herbert Watkins, who was then in his third year as pastor. Mr. C. W. Cochran and Mr. G. C. Kendall, chairman and treasurer of the building committee, together with as loyal a membership as can be found, supported their pastor in his endeavors to "build God a house."

When the present pastor arrived, April 30, 1921, there was an indebtedness against church and parsonage of $36,000. Realizing $11,500 from sale of property, the membership paid in the first twenty-three months $24,500 in cash on the debt besides meeting current and special assessments. Material gifts when offered as "White Gifts to the King" are not to be discounted.

Unity, sacrifice, and service explain the splendid achievements of this congregation, in erecting a magnificent and beautiful building for the true worship of God, and providing a pastor's home, one of the best in the church.

Dedication Day—Easter Sunday—dawned bright and glorious. It was a great day in every respect—great in significance to the world's hope, to Meridian, great crowds and great sermons. Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, of Macon, Ga., preached the dedicatory sermon. He was at his best as he preached to an audience that filled the spacious auditorium, on the text in Acts 20:28, "Feed the church of God which he hath purchased with his own blood." In establishing his argument and amplifying the truth that the church is everything to God, to the Christian, and to the world, the Bishop built solidly from Scripture, history, nature, science, and philosophy, grandly reaching a climatic peroration that was overwhelmingly convincing and powerful. After the sermon, the building committee, through its chairman, Mr. C. W. Cochran, presented the building to the Bishop for dedication. After the Bishop's pronouncement of the dedicatory ritual, the mortgages on both church and parsonage were burned. With smoke ascending the congregation sang, "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow."

At the evening hour Dr. H. W. Featherstun, a former pastor, preached a most appropriate sermon, which linked right on to the message of the morning. He used Isa. 56:7, "Mine house shall be called an house of prayer for all people," developing in a most practical and effective manner the supreme place of prayer in the church—that while music, organization, eloquent preaching, all occupied important places within the divine arrangement of the church, yet the first of all places is prayer. Thus ended a perfect day!

Central Church, with a bona fide residential membership of 1,200—not several hundred unknowables, but revised down to date—rejoiced on dedication day, not because we had reached a place to stop, but that we had just ascended another hilltop from which we could see taller peaks in the distance. We are in the hour of a bigger and better day! We will not go backward—not an inch!

The writer acknowledges the blessing of God, the helpful influence of the life and ministry of former pastors, the responsive co-operation of his people, and his own unworthiness in the reception of 315 members; and liquidation of all indebtedness and the dedication of the church within the first two years of his pastorate.

TAKING ON THE PILOT.

By Garfield Evans.

In our age of enlightenment it is hard to believe that only ninety miles from the mainland of the United States a condition could be found such as the following statement gives from newspaper clipping from Santiago de Cuba:

"The nation-wide campaign against voodooism or 'naniguismo' began here last night with the raiding by the local police of a temple of the cult, with the arrest of twelve medicine men and women. When the raiders broke into the temple, they found the priests and priestesses performing weird dances in absolute nudity before an altar with enshrined carved wooden images of deities worshipped under various names. The idols, together with various material used in their sacrifice, were confiscated. In a sacrificial dish, which occupied a prominent place on the altar, were found shriveled parts of flesh from a previous sacrifice. This will be examined by medical experts to determine if it is human remains, in which case murder charges will be brought against the prisoners."

A few days before this, a young white girl disappeared from a small village. Her mutilated body was found later, in which it was shown that she had been kidnaped for the purpose of cutting out her heart to offer as a sacrifice in the voodoo worship described above.

Some will say that this is an exception and should not be quoted as a fair representation of the Latin people. But I would make these inferences: Although there was some publicity given to it, there did not seem to be any outspoken determination save in the locality where it occurred. Furthermore, the problem of the church is to lift ~~the~~ race that would permit to grow up among them such a cult that could be so beastly.

With every distressing problem I find some evidence by which I can rejoice. Looking at the letterhead of a business man who is the steward in one of our churches, I observe that opposite the statement of his business he has the words in Spanish, "steward of the Methodist Church." Somehow I wonder if the ordinary steward back home considers his office of that much importance and honour.

I was making inquiry of a group of Epworth League officers as to why and how they had become Christians. An elderly lady who was chaperoning some of the girls said, "I became a Christian from hearing the testimony of other Christians, and it impressed me more than any of the sermons I heard."

The other day on entering the harbor at Habana our boat slowed up as it met a little launch. An ordinary man climbed on board, and in a few minutes our ship was under way again. He was the harbor pilot, and our ship could not safely enter the harbor without him. In discussing Cuba's future, I find many who advocate the idea that only American intervention by annexation can save the country. Others say that American or British capital must control all industries for them to be safe. This may all be true, but I cannot believe these are the most important things. Certainly graft must be abolished and a proper regard for the law established.

But the other day down in the Oriente, in the little town around Nippe Bay, the lone missionary there with his wife told me that far up in the mountains, three days' journey on horseback, he would meet people who, when he had told them the Gospel story, would tell him that one by the name of Caperton had once been there and told them of God. And who was Caperton? He was just a missionary who fell at his post. But Caperton loved his people with an undying love. He stayed in the Oriente when his health demanded that he should work in another part of the island or leave it entirely. But he would not leave the Oriente because it was a hard field and but few people understood the problems of the Oriente and really knew how to love the people there. And Caperton loved and stayed, and loved and worked. But it cost his life. But Caperton is not dead; those poor people far up in the mountain fastness know something about God in their crude way, because they knew Caperton.

The blood of martyrs has not perished from the earth. Who follows in his train?

PUSHING THE CAMPAIGN.

We are just a little more concerned about the success of the campaign of evangelism throughout the church than we are about anything else at the present time. We are, of course, interested in everything that has to do with the promotion of the Kingdom of God upon earth, and so far as we are able we are ready to give assistance to every good cause; but the promotion of the general welfare of the Kingdom is conditioned upon bringing individuals into a saving relationship with God, and this means evangelism. Are we pushing the campaign of evangelism as vigorously as we should push it? If we really believe that sin condemns men to an eternity of unhappiness, it will be impossible for us to look complacently upon the multitudes of people thronging the wide way that leads to destruction. If some loathsome disease should make its appearance in a home or in a comunity, we would at once and with the utmost urgency call upon every possible aid in stamping it out. If some sovereign remedy should be discovered for that disease, we would spare no expense or effort to get it and to give it to those who were afflicted. There is a sovereign remedy for sin, the most loathsome of all afflictions, and it can be had without money and without price—the grace of God made available through the atoning death of Jesus Christ. Are we proclaiming the good news as insistently as we ought to do? Are we telling men as passionately as we ought to tell them that they can be saved from their sins? Are we pushing the campaign of evangelism in all our churches with the desperateness of men who are trying to save perishing souls from everlasting death? There are many things to be done, but this one thing transcends all others in importance and urgency. It must not be neglected.

"THOSE WOMEN."

It was our privilege a few days ago to sit in a meeting with a group of women who had assembled to transact the business of the church in which their organization was especially interested. Nearly a score of them were there—women who could find time in the midst of their household cares and social obligations to come together for practically a whole afternoon to do religious work. They were well informed, business-like, interested, enthusiastic; and the reports of work already done and the plans formed for future activities showed that they constitute a great force in the community for righteousness. So it is all over the land. If the women of the church should lose their interest in its work, become slack in their efforts to promote its welfare, turn aside from its activities—well, the church would face a sad situation. They can get along very well without any special assistance from other sources, but they are certainly entitled to all the honor that may be conferred upon them for their faithfulness and efficiency in the affairs of the Kingdom. In some places at least the apostolic injunction to "help those women" may very well be turned into a commendation of their willingness and ability to "help" the men, who too often are indifferent to the claims of the church upon their time and talents. "Those women"—God bless them!

A GAMBLERS' PLATFORM.

It would be an unsophisticated man indeed who would maintain to-day that horse racing could be carried on successfully at any of the great race tracks of the country without gambling. As a matter of fact, it is conceded by the advocates of racing that gambling is a necessary adjunct of the race track. It must follow, therefore, that any candidate for the governorship of Louisiana who declares that he is in favor of permitting racing is running on a gamblers' platform and is bidding for the support of an element whose business by its very nature debauches public morals. A governor of Louisiana may be elected on a gamblers' platform—but we shall refuse to believe it is possible until it has actually come to pass. We pray that this great State may be spared the humiliation of so sad a spectacle.

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF RICHES.

According to the recent financial statement of the Ford Motor Company, Mr. Henry Ford is probably the richest man in the world. The statement showed the assets of the company to be $536,351,939, of which $150,000,000 was cash on hand. On the basis of these figures, it is estimated that Mr. Ford's personal fortune amounts to between $600,000,000 and $750,000,000, perhaps more. It is not hard to realize that the romance of business is not a thing of the past when it is remembered that this immense fortune has been accumulated within the past twenty years. We take it that the simple explanation of Mr. Ford's remarkable business success is in the fact that he manufactures an article the people want and sells it at a price they can afford to pay. Let those who may be envious of Mr. Ford remember that the possession of such vast wealth imposes obligations and responsibilities that no man can measure. What would you do if you had all his millions? (What are you doing with what you have?)

THEY OUGHT TO LOSE IT.

It appears that conviction on a second charge of violation of the Volstead Act may carry with it the loss of citizenship. A first violation constitutes a misdemeanor, but a second offense is punishable by a maximum fine of $2000 or five years in the federal prison, and the loss of citizenship privileges. If the courts will function as it seems they should and impose the maximum penalty, we shall soon have a body of disreputables who no longer enjoy the privilege that every real man prizes most highly—the privilege of voting. We have the feeling that a man who will deliberately disregard the Constitution even once ought to be disfranchised; certainly one who persistently violates it ought not to be allowed to claim the privilege of a voice in the government of the nation.

WORTH TRYING.

We read the other day that a girl in Brooklyn who is noted for her beautiful hands explained that she made them so by washing dishes. We imagine there are those who will say that she was speaking in jest; she may have been—but we venture the guess that her mother's hands are also more beautiful if her daughter has really helped with this necessary but unpopular task of the household. After all, the most beautiful hands are those that do useful labor.

---

THEY DESERVE WHAT THEY GET.

In spite of the "crime wave" which is sweeping over the country, there are still those who seem to think that a convicted criminal is a persecuted person who ought to have all kinds of favors shown him and upon whom many expressions of tender sympathy should be lavished. It is to the credit of humanity's heart that it is moved to pity by suffering; but it is a poor commentary upon its common sense that it forgets the crime through pity for the criminal. Most criminals deserve at least as much punishment as they receive, and it is conducive neither to justice nor good morals to bestow upon them the blubbering sympathy of sentimental weaklings. It is not only expedient, but also eternally right that the guilty should be punished.

THE BARE GIFT.

Since it is motive that gives moral value to an act, men should learn to look more into the hearts of people and less upon the outward expressions of their life before passing sentence of condemnation. And in the performance of those deeds that are intended to confer benefits, they should remember that the mere act loses much of its significance if it is not a part of the doer himself. A cup of cold water in the Master's name is worth more than a million dollars to a soul that is famishing for a drop of tender human sympathy. "The gift without the giver is bare"—how true that sentiment of the poet is!

MILLSAPS COLLEGE AND ITS APPROACHING COMMENCEMENT.

The authorities at Millsaps College have decided to have the examinations for all below the graduating class after the commencement exercises this year.

This places the commencement sermon on Sunday, May 27, and the graduation exercises on Tuesday, May 29. The regular axaminations will then begin on May 30, and will close on June 5, the date published for the closing of the thirty-first session of the college.

Dr. Alfred F. Smith, of St. Louis, Mo., will preach the sermon, and Hon. Barney E. Eaton, an alumnus of the college, will deliver the Annual Address.

The entire program for the commencement exercises is as follows:

Saturday, May 26—10:30 o'clock a. m., contest for Buie Medal in Declamation.

Sunday, May 27—11 o'clock a. m., commencement sermon, Rev. Alfred F. Smith, D.D., St. Louis, Mo.; 8 o'clock p. m., sermon before the Christian Associations, Rev. J. Lloyd Decell, Meridian, Miss.

Monday, May 28—9 o'clock a. m., annual meeting of the Board of Trustees; 10:30 o'clock a. m., Senior oratorical contest for Carter medal; 8 o'clock p. m., Alumni meeting; 9 o'clock p. m., Alumni banquet.

Tuesday, May 29—11 o'clock a. m., Annual address, Hon. Barney E. Eaton, Gulfport, Miss.; announcement of honors and prizes, conferring degrees, and awarding diplomas.

All of these exercises, except the sermon Sunday night and the Alumni banquet, will be held in the college chapel. The sermon will be in Galloway Memorial Church, and the banquet in the dining room of the new dormitory.

This session has been the most successful in point of attendance upon the college classes of any of the thirty-one in the history of the institution. The total enrollment for the regular session is 328; to this must be added the attendance upon the summer school, which has now become a prominent feature in the work of the college. When those who are counted twice are omitted the enrollment for the year is 387.

There have been no preparatory students registered this year, as the Academy (the Preparatory Department) was discontinued by the Board of Trustees at their meeting in June, 1922. As a result, the entire enrollment is smaller than that of last session, but it will be a matter of only a few years until the deficiency will be made up with students of college grade.

There will be a vacancy in the faculty at the close of the present session, inasmuch as Assistant Professor Patch has signified his purpose to resign that he may continue his studies in Industrial Chemistry in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The work of Professor Patch has been eminently satifactory to the heads of the Departments of Chemistry and Mathematics. He has also taken an active part in community affairs, being a member of the choir of Galloway Memorial Church and of two musical organizations of the city. He will be missed by both the college and the city when he leaves.

So far as the internal workings of the college are concerned, it might be well to say that when the vacancy mentioned above is filled and a few adjustments are made, the work can be carried on for a number of years without further increase in the number of the faculty. There are now seventeen in the teaching force, including one instructor who is selected each year from the student body to fill the teaching fellowship. There are, in addition, three student instructors giving some assistance in the Departments of Chemistry and English.

The Freshman class has grown to be so large that there are at least four sections in all of the subjects required of all Freshmen. During the present session there was an abnormal enrollment in Freshman History because of a change in the curriculum. This, however, will not be the case next year.

It is gratifying to the writer to note the growth in the college. He remembers when the entire Freshman class was no larger than one of the four sections now needed in that class, and when the total enrollment was as small as the present Freshman enrollment.

He is also gratified to be a part of this great institution and to have a part in shaping its destinies. Aside from his family, there is nothing to which he is so devoted as to his Alma Mater. It is his great desire so to organize the Alumni that they will be a mighty force in pushing the college on to greater success. Let the Alumni rally at this commencement occasion as never before and say we stand ready to shoulder any burden that is for the betterment of the college.

A new precedent has been set in that Mr. Eaton is the first Alumnus to be selected to deliver the Annual Address. This writer, in an article in the Christian Advocate soon after the commencement of 1290, said that now, since the ice has been broken by having "Ole Doc" preach the commencement sermon, it would be well to use some of the men that he turned out to serve the college in the capacity of preacher or speaker. He is glad to note that the ice has further been broken, and trusts that others of the Alumni will be used by the college in these positions of honor. The college that uses its Alumni in any of its activities will in return have the hearty support of its sons.

In this connection it may be of interest, and certainly a record of a bit of history, to give the names of those who have preached the commencement sermon and delivered the Annual Address for each year since the college was founded. It is a matter of pride, then, that to this list of distinguished men the college now begins to add names of her own sons. The honor is all the greater because of the conservatism in the matter.

This list is given that the names of those who have delivered the principal addresses and sermons on the commencement occasion may be put in a form for ready reference. It will be noted that in two years, 1893 and 1917, more than one name occurs for the address. In 1893, the first commencement, it is natural that there should have been an address as well as a dedicatory poem by Professor W. R. Sims.

In 1917, the twenty-fifth anniversary, Dr. J. A. Rice delivered the Annual Address, Dr. W. A. Webb represented the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, Dr. Stonewall Anderson represented the General Board of Education of the M. E. Church, South, and Professor D. H. Bishop represented the colleges of the State.

The college has conferred degrees upon nearly eight hundred young men and women.

It has conferred only four honorary degrees in its history. It will be the policy of the institution to confer only a few such degrees from time to time, there being a resolution of the Board of Trustees suggesting a limit to the number that may be conferred at any one time.

In concluding, permit the writer to extend a most cordial invitation to all the Alumni and other friends to come to the approaching commencement.

HATTIESBURG DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

The Hattiesburg District Conference of the Mississippi Annual Conference convened in the Methodist church at Richton, Miss., April 26, 1923, and continued its deliberations until the evening hour of the 27th.

Rev. W. W. Graves, the efficient presiding elder, directed the proceedings of the conference with ease and dignity.

The attendance at the district conference was very good. All of the pastors were present except two, and fifty-three lay delegates were in attendance. Rev. L. Carley, one of our honored superannuates and the father of the editor of the Advocate, graced the conference with his saintly presence. Wives of pastors attending the conference were: Mrs. M. W. Porter, Mrs. H. R. McKee, Mrs. J. C. Jackson, Mrs. J. W. Thompson, Mrs. A. W. O'Bryant, and Mrs. H. S. Westbrook. The interest manifested in our deliberations was magnanimous.

The reports from the different pastoral charges were exceptionally fine, and indicated progress, optimism and faithful service. Worthy of special note is the fact that they showed that every pastor was praying for and expecting a gracious revival in every church on his charge.

Dr. I. W. Cooper, President and Financial Agent of Whitworth College; Rev. John C. Chambers, the Sunday School Field Secretary of the Mississippi Conference, and Mr. O. C. Hull, the Assistant Sunday School Field Secretary; Rev. J. M. Morse, Conference Secretary of Christian Education; Dr. J. M. Sullivan, Conference Lay Leader; and Mr. W. D. Hawkins, Centenary Secretary and Treasurer of the Mississippi Conference, honored the conference with their presence and gave brief but stimulating reports of the important work committed to their oversight.

The presiding elder appointed the Whitworth College Endowment Committee, which was authorized by the conference, as follows: Lay, H. S. Stevens, James Hand, W. S. F. Tatum, H. V. Waits, C. H. Stevens, Dr. J. T. Burnham, and W. U. Corley; Clerical, Rev. J. T. Leggett, Rev. J. L. Greenway, Rev. J. H. Jolly, Rev. J. B. Cain, Rev. A. J. Davis, Rev. W. M. Williams, and Rev. J. W. Thompson.

The district officers for the Sunday school work were elected as follows: J. R. Baynes, Secretary; Miss Bernice Whatley, Superintendent of the Elementary Department; Rev. D. R. Campbell, Superintendent of Missions and Education; Rev. H. R. McKee, Superintendent of Young People's Work; Rev. J. B. Cain, Superintendent of Intermediate Department.

K. T. Moore, of Hattiesburg, Miss., was chosen District Lay Leader, with J. R. Baynes and D. R. Campbell as Associate Lay Leaders.

Rev. J. T. Leggett, Rev. C. M. Crossley, Rev. A. J. Davis and Rev. S. C. Moody were constituted as a Licensing Committee to serve until the ensuing Annual Conference.

The preaching of the occasion, which was well done by Rev. A. J. Davis, Rev. P. H. Howse, Rev. W. M. Williams; and Rev. J. W. Thompson, was of a high spiritual order and deeply impressive. The messages were all shot through with the spirit of evangelism. They proclaimed the Gospel of the Son of God in great earnestness, with confidence in the Holy Scriptures, and with manifest devotion to the Heavenly Father and the church that we love so well.

The following were elected delegates to the Annual Conference: J. M. Sartin, L. C. Thompson, R. M. Byrd, D. B. Jordan, H. V. Waits, John A. McLeod, W. S. F. Tatum, and Mrs. H. R. McKee; and Miss Bernice Whatley, V. M. Scanlan, T. L. Venable and Mrs. R. H. Draughn were elected alternate delegates.

On motion, the secretary of the conference was requested to send a telegram of sympathy to the Rev. E. L. Alford, expressing our love and sympathy in his illness.

Rev. W. M. Williams addressed the conference in the interest of the Washington City Church, and in the absence of Rev. A. S. Oliver, he spoke in the interest of the Columbus church, at Columbus, Miss.

The entertainment afforded the district conference and attendance upon its sessions are things in which the Richton people surpassed, extending as they did a very generous hospitality and manifesting a very hearty interest in each day's proceedings. There was not an idle moment; it was, indeed, a remarkable conference, full of interest, deeply spiritual, and delightful in every particular. It was good to be there.

Nothing was skimmed over, plenty of time was given to round out the business of the conference creditably, and the conference adjourned with the benediction, which was pronounced by the Rev. W. W. Graves, to meet at Purvis, Miss., next year.

SHREVEPORT DISTRICT CONFERENC.

The Shreveport District Conference, meeting in Mansfield, La., April 17-18, 1923, proved one of the happiest gatherings of North Louisiana Methodists ever held. A spirit of optimism and progress seemed to pervade the district, productive of many excellent things for the Kingdom since the Annual Conference, which looks forward to the completion of a year of advance and achievement.

Dr. R. H. Wynn, presiding elder, was in the chair during the conference sessions, and was careful that every interest of Methodism was presented. Dr. Wynn facilitated the work of the conference by having prepared typewritten questionnaires dealing with all activities of the charges. Every charge in the district used the report form, and the material thus gathered was given to the various committees for their consideration and report.

Mansfield is a happy place for a district conference. The Mansfield people abound in hospitality, and the pastor, Rev. J. W. Pearson, with his capable assistant, C. D. Baker, excelled in kindnesses. Mansfield Female College and President R. E. Bobbitt added greatly to the occasion.

The opening sermon of the conference was preached by Rev. W. F. Henderson, Sr., of Cedar Grove, and on Tuesday evening of the conference a sermon was delivered by Rev. W. W. Holmes, of Noel Memorial Church, Shreveport.

The conference was well attended. Twenty-eight traveling preachers, one local preacher, and sixty-seven lay delegates were officially enrolled, and many others were present.

Reports were made on the floor of the conference by each pastor. In the reports of conference committees, a total of 295 members were reported received by profession of faith and 307 by certificate since the Annual Conference, a total of 602. New church buildings were reported under construction at Logansport, Plain Dealing, and Benton. Twelve candidates for the ministry and several volunteers for the mission field indicated spiritual life. The district raised on Easter Sunday a total of $5,554.09 for the Ruston Orphanage, the largest single amount being that given by First Church, Shreveport. A new record for the entire connection was set by the same church for the Sunday School Day offering, when $936 was raised.

Inspiring and instructive addresses, presenting the varied interests of the church, were made. Dr. George S. Sexton and Dean R. E. Smith spoke of the work of Centenary College. Dr. Briscoe Carter represented the Louisiana Methodist Orphanage. Dr. W. W. Drake, presiding elder of the New Orleans District, brought a stirring message on the opportunity of Methodism in the evangelization of Southern Louisiana. Mr. Stephen S. Thomas represented the cause of the Centenary. President R. E. Bobbitt spoke of his eleven years' service as President of Mansfield Female College, and urged a more effective support of the college by Louisiana Methodists. Mrs. J. M. Collins, District Secretary, spoke of the work of the Woman's Missionary Society, and announced a district meeting for May 10, at Belcher. S. S. Thomas and R. E. Bobhitt presented the work of the Lay Activities Board. The Conference Superintendent, C. D. Atkinson, spoke of the Sunday school work and found ready response from pastors and laymen in accepting district Sunday school goals. Dr. A. W. Turner spoke on moral and social questions. C. D. Baker spoke on the activities of the Boy Scouts.

The work of the New Orleans Memorial Home was presented, and it was recommended that special offerings be taken on Mother's Day, May 13, for this cause.

A letter regretting unavoidable absence was read from Dr. H. T. Carley, editor of the New Orleans Christian Advocate, and the cause of the Advocate was presented by Dr. Wynn, the presiding elder.

Reports were received from the following local preachers: J. C. Alford, J. H. Jordan, Sr., D. F. Osteen, and C. F. Greene. Licenses to local licentiates were renewed as follows: G. H. Corry, Harry W. Brown, H. J. Marshall, T. A. Spinks, B. C. Taylor, J. T Little and Drew J, Wilson. P. N. Clements, recommended by the Pittsburg, Tex., District Conference, was granted license.

Brother J. S. Sanders, of Shreveport, was present and requested that he be received into the church from the Nazarene Church, and that his elder's orders be recognized. Brother Sanders was received and recommended to the Annual Conference for recognition of orders.

The conference elected S. O. Williams, Shreveport, as district lay leader; S. P. Peters, Vivian, associate district lay leader, and C. J. Lolin, Mansfield, as associate district lay leader.

Delegates to the Annual Conference were elected as follows: R. T. Moore, Shreveport; S. A. Alexander, Greenwood; Mrs. R. E. Smith, Shreveport; J. M. Nabors, Mansfield; W. C. [illegible], Shreveport; S. O. Williams, Shreveport; J. S. Sanders, Shreveport; Mrs. N. L. [illegible], Sr., Cedar Grove. Alternates: S. P. Peters, Vivian; A. Hoffpauir, Plain Dealing.

Rev. A. S. Lutz was named as the district representative in the Conference-wide Training School in Ruston.

The district licensing committee was appointed as follows: W. W. Holmes, R. E. Smith, R. S. Walton, and A. H. Parker.

H. L. JOHNS, Secretary.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES, LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

The observance of "Go to College Week" will, no doubt, bring before the young people the value and importance of a thorough college education and acquaint them with some of the salient features of the schools supported by our Conferences.

On Sunday, May 6, every Sunday school is asked to carry out a "Go to College Program" for the opening exercises. This program is to be used at the opening of the Sunday school and is not intended to interfere with the lesson. The pastors of the churches have been urged to preach a sermon on Christian Education, in which they will call the attention of parents and young people to the importance of college training, especially that type of education where they will be trained in character while they are pursuing intellectual culture.

One of the great outstanding needs of the hour is for trained leadership in all walks of life. James J. Hill, the great railroad builder of the West, said: "The small Christian college is the hope of America. Character is essential to statesmanship, and these colleges are vital factors in the development of sterling character." Only one in a hundred Americans attend college; yet twenty-three out of every hundred of the leaders in all departments of national life come from those who go to college. The outstanding fact is that college groups are leaders in the communities in which they live and work.

ALBERT S. LUTZ,
Conference Secretary of Education

BATON ROUGE DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

The Baton Rouge District Conference will convene at Kentwood, La., May 23-25, opening Tuesday evening with a sermon by Rev. Elmer C. Gunn, of Bogalusa. The first session of the conference will open at 9 a.m., May 23.

Let the preachers bring their quarterly conference records to conference for examination. I would suggest that each pastor urge his delegates to attend this conference in order that we might have a good attendance and a good conference.

The following committees have been appointed: License and Recommendation—Dr. C. W. Crisler, J. W. Booth, J. E. Selfe. Orders—C. C. Miller, L. W. Cain, B. H. Andrews.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Columbus District.

Our district conference, held at Ackerman, April 26, 27, was in many respects a good conference. The attendance, while not up to what we would like to see, was the best we have had since the writer has been on the district. We had one hundred per cent attendance on the part of the preachers. Reports from pastors indicated that progress was being made along all lines. The spirit of the conference was fine and all seemed to enjoy every session. A full report of the proceedings of the conference will be given by the secretary.

Plans are rapidly shaping for the evangelistic campaign. A few meetings have already been held in the district, with good results at most places. Most of the pastors on large circuits have already made arrangements for their revivals, to be held later in the year. We are planning to group several churches, where this is possible, for these revival campaigns, and we are glad to report that our people are taking enthusiastically to the plan.

Our District Standard Training School was held at Starkville, March 25-31. The attendance was not up to what we had hoped it would be, but some very fine work was done by the instructors. The writer enjoyed a course given by Dr. Howard, "Life and Letters of St. Paul." Several of our pastors attended and took one of the courses offered. One of our pastors who took "Organization and Administration of the Sunday School," given by Brother Melville Johnson, said he found out how little he knew about Sunday school work and he intends to learn more. These schools are doing a great work, and when we can induce a sufficient number of our people to attend it will mean a new day in the Sunday school work of our church.

We are nearing the close of our second round. The reports made at the conferences the second round show a considerable increase in finances over last year. Prospects are good for a much better financial report this year than was made last year. We have set 100% on all assessments for the year and prospects are good for success. Flower Ridge, on Noxapater charge, reported the Benevolent assessment paid in full at the second quarterly conference. Brooksville reported paid to date on this assessment. About half of the charges have this assessment provided for in the budget. Others are now making the canvass and hope to have it covered by subscription in the near future.

We are glad to report that our laymen are getting very active over the district. Reports at district conference showed that quite a number of services had been conducted by the laymen over the district, and as soon as the roads will permit there will be more work of this kind done by the laymen. The laymen are becoming more and more interested in this line of work and the preachers are beginning to call for them. Brother J. H. McKinnon, our new district lay leader, says he wants to organize a Sunday school and a prayer meeting in every church in the district before Annual Conference. I am sure every pastor in the district will give him hearty co-operation and assist in reaching this worthy goal.

* * *

We are glad to report that the Sunday school interest throughout the district is improving. Several schools have been organized during this quarter, and the interest generally is better. A large number of schools have already observed Sunday School Day and many others are planning to observe this important occasion later. At the second quarterly conference for Ackerman and Wier, the superintendent of the Ackerman school reported that he was using three dozen Snowden's Sunday School Notes in his school and that he would have to order another dozen. Talking with one of the teachers of this school, he said "introduction of this additional lesson help had added more to the interest of his class than anything he had done." Would like to commend this to more of our schools. If any one wishes to know how to get classes to study these Sunday school helps, write to R. B. Fulcher, Ackerman, and he will tell you how it works in his school.

A. T. McILWAIN, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Jackson District Notes.

Let every pastor during the month of May elect delegates to the district conference, sending the names to Rev. H. M. Johnson, Bolton, Miss., and to me.

* * *

Mother's Day is the second Sunday in May. The goal for the Sunday school and church services for that day for this district is, every man connected with the Methodist Church at Sunday school and church. Let the pastors, superintendents, and teachers see to it that all are invited. Let the day be a great one.

* * *

A revival conducted by Rev. W. B. Hogg at Yazoo City is reported to have stirred the entire church and town.

* * *

Rev. J. V. Bennett begins a meeting with Rev. J. H. Foreman at Flora the first Sunday in May.

The goal for the Jackson District by the preachers and laymen is everything in full by Conference. The resolution by the Evangelistic Committee set the 15th of May as the time that collections should be either in hand or provided for by subscriptions. Let us not forget this.

* * *

Rev. W. N. Ware, wife, and little baby are to sail on the 6th of June for Africa. Brother Ware has been serving the Sharon circuit since he graduated at Millsaps College last summer. We regret to see him go, but pray that he may in the larger field be abundantly useful. Bishop Ainsworth authorizes the appointment of A. W. Bailey, a classmate of Brother Ware's at Millsaps College, as his successor.

* * *

Rev. Otto Porter will graduate in a few weeks from Emory University. He comes to Jackson to be assistant pastor to Rev. E. K. Means at Galloway Memorial Church. Brother Means will have choice help in the person of Brother Porter and Miss Addie Greely, who comes in a few weeks to take the place as pastor's helper.

A number of our circuits have organized the circuit institute, holding meetings quarterly. It was my pleasure to spend Sunday, the 29th, in one of these meetings at Mount Pisgah, on the Harrisville circuit. A creditable program was carried out, and many things indicate advance and progress in the rural Sunday school.

* * *

Rev. H. Walter Featherstun, D.D., makes his home with his son-in-law, Judge Morgan Stevens, in Jackson. He finds time to be useful to the pastors near by as well as in the city. He made a notable and cheerful talk to the young preachers, students of Millsaps College, at Rankin Street Church, where they were given a social evening by the congregation.

* * *

Our Annual Conference meets in Gulfport, Nov. 14, two weeks earlier than last year. Whatever we do in our planning, we must remember that we have two weeks less to work than we had last year, so let us not put off until to-morrow what we ought to do to-day.

* * *

It is to be regretted that the health of Rev. G. H. Boyles is such that he is giving up his charge, the Yazoo City circuit. He has done faithful work and his friends earnestly pray for the recovery of his health.

M. L. BURTON, P. E.

Meridian District.

Evangelist J. M. Smith assisted Rev. T. M. Ainsworth in a revival meeting at Stonewall, which began on April 1 and continued twelve days. Large congregations waited on the preaching of the Word, and there were, perhaps, fifty professions of conversion and reclamation. Twenty-three united with the church. The Enterprise and Stonewall charge is prospering under the pastorate of Brother Ainsworth.

Our wide-awake presiding elder, Brother Hardin, is instant in season and out of season, and looks faithfully after the spiritual and temporal interests of the district. Under his leadership the church is going forward. He reports that the following charges have already provided for the general assessments: Lauderdale and Electric Mills, Quitman, Shubuta, Waynesboro, Central, East End, Fifth Street, Hawkins' Memorial, and Poplar Springs.

* * *

Brother W. A. Terry reports a remarkable revival at Shubuta, in which he was assisted by Rev. J. M. Smith and Chorister Paul Templeton, both of Meridian. The meetings embraced three Sundays, and reached the entire town. The church was crowded at almost every service, and many were wonderfully blessed. There were twenty additions to the church.

* * *

Rev. M. L. White is in the midst of his fourth year on the De Kalb charge, and is greatly beloved by his people, and justly so. He has done a great work up there. With his own hands he recently gave the parsonage a new coat of paint. The church at De Kalb is to be repaired and painted at an early date. Brother White is one of our most useful men.

Meridian Notes.

Meridian Methodism is looking forward to the Gipsy Smith meeting, which opens on May 27. All our churches will participate, and are now active in the program of preparation. We are praying and hoping that this meeting will be a season of gracious revival.

Brother Vickers, of the Seventh Avenue charge, begins a meeting Sunday, May 6, at Marion. He will be assisted by Rev. J. M. Smith, Conference evangelist. The Seventh Avenue charge has a splendid Woman's Missionary Society, and has recently organized a Junior Society of twenty members.

At Hawkins Memorial all departments of church work are very active. The Sunday school attendance shows a considerable increase the last month, and the Epworth League has taken on new life. The prayer meeting has an average attendance of forty-five. Plans are afoot for the complete renovation of the church building. Brother Lewis is in high favor with his people.

The results of the February-March revival at Fifth Street abide. Brother Sells reports an average prayer meeting attendance of more than one hundred for the last month. The Sunday school attendance has gone beyond the three hundred mark. The young people are organized in splendid Leagues. The outlook is very hopeful for all departments of the work.

Central Church rejoices over the liquidation of all indebtedness on church property. Since the Annual Conference this congregation has raised $16,500 on indebtedness, and has easily taken care of all current expenses. The dedication on Easter Sunday, by Bishop Ainsworth, was a gracious occasion. Brother Decell has received forty members into the church since Dec. 1.

There is a fine spirit of co-operation at East End, and the work moves on encouragingly. The Sunday school attendance shows a steady increase. Brother Lewis, the pastor, has organized a Teacher Training class of seventeen members, and they have recently studied "The Pupil," by Barclay. Seven took the examination. Monthly payments are now being made on church indebtedness. The pastor has received thirty-five into the church since Conference.

The work at Poplar Springs is full of promise. The Sunday school attendance shows an increase the last few weeks, and the interest is very good. League work is in splendid condition. The Seniors are studying "What Every Methodist Should Know," by Dr. George Stuart. The Juniors are doing excellent work under the supervision of Mrs. M. P. Johnston, Junior Superintendent. This fine band of youngsters recently presented the church with a handsome pulpit Bible. The Woman's Missionary Society is well organized and enthusiastically active. This society has contributed $430 to various causes since the Annual Conference. A new piano has recently been purchased for the League room, and new carpet laid in the main auditorium of the church. Several members have been added to the membership roll since Conference. This church recently had the privilege of entertaining the district conference, which proved to be a delightful, spiritual and otherwise profitable time to all who attended.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Alexandria District.

The Alexandria District Conference was held in the midst of floods of rain. At times the downpour was so deafening that those speaking could hardly be heard.

The preaching was done by Rev. H. W. Bowman and Rev. A. D. George. It was well done.

A few of the preachers were kept away from the conference through sickness and other matters. On the whole, it was a good conference. The reports of the preachers showed that progress is being made along all lines in the work of the church. A large number have been received into the church since the Annual Conference. The exact figures are not at hand just now.

We were glad to have Brother Martin Hebert with us to represent the work of the French Mission. He is doing a sacrificial work in that difficult field.

Rev. Briscoe Carter, D.D., Rev. A. S. Lutz, and Rev. C. D. Atkinson were present to represent the interests with whose welfare they have been charged.

Mr. T. W. Holloman, Conference lay leader, was present, and made a stirring address on the work of the Laymen's Movement.

The district conference adopted a resolution setting aside Mother's Day as a time for presenting the work of the Memorial Home and asking the people for a contribution to that important work.

Rev. C. W. Lahey and the people at Melville are pressing the work of their church building, and hope soon to be able to dedicate it. Rev. A. S. Lutz will assist in a revival meeting at this point.

* * *

Rev. Louis Hoffpauir reported that he had received something more than fifty people into the church at Coushatta since the Annual Conference. He has recently had Rev. Leland Clegg with him in a revival meeting that brought much good to the church.

The contract has been let at Coushatta for a new brick church building. The contract price is $19,500. The building is to be completed by August. It will seat some four hundred and fifty people, and will have adequate provision for the Sunday school. This charge increased the preacher's salary $600 over last year, and is paid up to date with the preacher and the presiding elder.

* * *

Rev. L. E. Crooks, of Campti, is pressing his work faithfully. He reports a fine Sunday school at St. Maurice, where a few years ago a Sunday school could hardly be operated.

* * *

Rev. H. W. Bowman has just closed a successful revival at Lecompte, in which the preaching was done by Brother R. W. Tucker, of Homer, and the singing was led by Rev. C. K. Smith, of Pineville. The meeting resulted in some fourteen or fifteen accessions by profession and in greatly strengthening the membership of the church in their religious faith.

* * *

Rev. L. I. McCain, of Lafayette, is now assisting Rev. S. L. Riggs in a revival meeting at Opelousas. We are looking for a helpful meeting in this difficult field. Brother Riggs is leading his forces forward at Opelousas. They expect soon to begin the work of building some needed Sunday school rooms to their church. There is some talk of a modern brick building.

* * *

The support of the ministry is well up on the Colfax circuit. Brother H. B. Thomason is pastor on this circuit and is endeavoring to promote the cause of the Master.

* * *

Rev. O. W. Bradley is now conducting a meeting in West Alexandria in the tabernacle building erected there for reaching a neglected section of the town. He is doing the preaching himself, and has the assistance of Brother C. V. Breithaupt and Brother C. K. Smith in the singing.

* * *

The Alexandria church will have a Standard Training School during the week, June 3-8. They hope to do a good work at this time and invite the neighboring schools to share in this work with them.

* * *

Our Pineville church was damaged to some extent by the cyclone that recently visited that town. However, the church carried tornado insurance. Damages have been collected and the church has been repaired.

THE PASTORS' SCHOOLS HELD BY BOARD OF MISSIONS.

The school for the North Mississippi and the Mississippi Conferences will be held at Birmingham, Ala., from the 31st of May to the 11th of June. Rev. Robert H. Ruff, Secretary of Rural Work of our Board of Missions, will be in charge. The faculty is to be made up of the following:

Dr. Rolvix Harland, Department Rural Sociology, Richmond College.

Prof. Ludd M. Spivey, Birmingham-Southern College.

Dr. C. N. Clark, pastor, Lafayette Park Memorial Church, St. Louis, Mo.

Rev. Robert H. Ruff, Secretary Rural Work, Board of Home Missions.

Rev. Edwin L. Earp, Drew Theological Seminary.

Dr. James J. Coale, Superintendent City Work, Baltimore Presbytery, Baltimore.

Prof. H. H. Harris, Department Religious Education, Emory University.

Prof. Roy E. Hoke, Department of Education, Birmingham-Southern College.

Mr. Charles Stapleton, Recreation Director, Y. M. C. A., Birmingham.

The platform speakers will be Bishop W. B. Murrah, Dr. Henry F. Cope, and Dr. Charles L. Goodell.

From the above, one can readily see that there will be courses offered that are well worth while, and that would be hard to find. I have had the privilege of attending two such schools, and the only objection I had to find was that there was so much good to get that a fellow had a hard time finding just what he wanted to take. I know of no better way that a pastor or church worker could spend his vacation than by attending one of these schools. If some of the influential laymen will make it possible for their pastors to attend, they will find a different man when he returns, I dare say. Take notice and govern yourselves accordingly.

EDITED BY LUTHER E. TODD, SECRETARY

Board of Finance, M. E. Church, South.

LET US RISE UP AND WIPE AWAY THIS STAIN.

By Bishop Edwin D. Mouzon.

The Methodist preacher is under the most solemn vows to consecrate himself wholly to the work of the ministry. When he first stands at the bar of the Conference asking for admission into full connection, this question is put to him: "Are you resolved to devote yourself wholly to God and his work?" And he is not admitted unless he answers affirmatively. When he is set apart to the office of deacon, he takes upon himself yet more solemn obligations. And when he comes up for ordination as elder, it is not until after he is exhorted "to give himself wholly to this office so that as much as lieth in him he will apply himself wholly to this one thing and draw all his cares and studies this way" that he is set apart to the office and work of an elder in the Church.

It is evident, then, that by a most solemn act of self-dedication and by the usage and law of the Church the Methodist preacher is set apart as "a man of one work." He gives all his energies to God and the Church. He has neither time nor opportunity to work for self. And this is in accordance with the principle laid down by St. Paul: "No soldier on service entalgleth himself in the affairs of this life, that he may please him who enrolled him as a soldier." (2 Tim. ii, 4.) One cannot be a "soldier on service" and a business man at one and the same time. One cannot be a Methodist preacher and have time and opportunity to lay aside something for his old age or for wife and children in case he be taken from them. By the very terms of his induction into the ministry this is made impossible. And it is also made impossible by the smallness of the amount he receives for his services.

A few preachers receive enough money to lay by a little, but as yet the number is so limited as to be negligible.

I do not like to hear a preacher talk about his "salary." Preachers are not "salaried men." A preacher might talk about his stipend, but not his salary. For if a man with fair education and sound sense and good health could not make more money at some trade or business or profession than he receives for his services as a Methodist preacher, then he ought to be ashamed of himself. Sometimes (rarely, and only rarely, let us thank God) we see a preacher who has turned his ministry into a money-making trade and thus prostituted his high calling. But the majority, the vast majority, of preachers are true throughout life to their earlier vows. They can say with the apostle: "We are not making merchandise of the word of God: but as of sincerity, but as of God, in the sight of God, speak we in Christ." (2 Cor. ii. 17.)

The Church, therefore, owes a duty to these men. It is a shame, it is nothing less than a disgrace to us, that we have neglected it so long. We call upon our men to agree in advance that they will give all their time and thought to the ministry; we pay them a bare pittance sometimes and a good living at best, and then when old age comes upon them and the Church calls for younger men we set them aside to be objects of charity. Or if they should fall in the prime and vigor of life, we leave their wives and children—wives who have come out of the best homes in the land and children capable of being the best and doing the most in life—we leave them to make their way somehow, anyhow. This is not right. It is wrong. There is no longer any excuse for it. We are not a poor Church now. Our people are rich in this world's goods. The time has come for us to do more than talk about it. We must rise up and wipe away this stain from our honor.

SUPERANNUATE SUPPORT.

By Bishop John M. Moore.

The Church has kept her ministers moving, and they have been unable to make for themselves homes and fix their abodes in chosen localities. Their moving expenses have been heavy, and the breaking up house and fixing up again have been exhaustive of finances.

In many cases pastoral charges have not only set low salaries but have even failed to pay what they promised and have allowed their pastors to go away financially embarrassed. Stewards have not always been conscientious of the discharge of their duties in caring for their pastors. The people would have met the responsibility if the stewards had done their duty. Many a preacher has been accused of having poor or no business sense when his financial shortcomings were due to stewards having poor or no financial conscience.

Whatever may be the cause, the fact is well known that there are many superannuated Methodist preachers without decent support. What shall be done about it? The superannuate is the man the Church loves to honor, and he is universally held in high esteem. It now appears that an endowment fund is the logical, sensible, and practicable way of doing what should be done to supplement his support to a point of reasonable comfort.

The movement to provide such an endowment fund cannot fail to enlist the sympathy and service of every Methodist who will give the matter a moment's consideration. Every thoughtful and loyal Methodist will welcome the opportunity to contribute to such a fund in a creditable way. The pioneer Methodist preacher has been the pathfinder and the waymaker of American civilization. He has had no little to do in saving this country to the ideals and labors that have made it a nation of the first rank in the world's ongoing. Many a community owes its substantial character to the sacrificial labors of a Methodist preacher. Men know this and acknowledge it, and now they want to show their appreciation by doing something worth while for the man they honor. The Superannuate Endowment Fund appeals to the South's substantial citizens.

Nobody is whining for what has not been done. Everybody is shouting for what now ought to be done. Nobody is being criticized for what has not been done, but everybody is clamoring for a proper, honest, and an adequate provision for these men of honor in the days just adawning.

It will mean much to the church to do her duty. It will mean much for those who toil through the thin and weary years and come to the end with scant provision for even time. It will mean much for the coming ministry when it sees that the church has a heart to care for those who sacrificed in her behalf.

An adequate Superannuate Fund is the only hope for adequate support for the men we honor. To build it is now the outstanding goal of Southern Methodism.

The Home Circle

HOME.

A man can build a mansion,
And furnish it throughout;
A man can build a palace
With lofty walls and stout;
A man can build a temple
With high and spacious dome;
But no man in the world can build
That precious thing called "Home."

No, 'tis our happy faculty,
Of women, far and wide,
To turn a cot or palace
Into something else beside,
Where brothers, sons, and husbands, tired,
With willing footsteps come—
A place of rest, where love abounds—
A perfect kingdom—Home.

A FLOWER STORY.

One year long ago—so the fairies say—winter stayed so late that it began to look as if spring were never coming again. At last Mother Nature made up her mind that the flowers, at least, must do their part. She hurried to the pussy-willow tree and said, "It is cold, I know, but you must let your buds come out. Quick, buds, quick! Out of your hiding-places!"

So out popped the willow buds and threw open their brown coats as they came. The sun was shining at that moment, and the air was not so cold; but soon a north wind rushed down the valley, and the buds shivered.

"Oh! Oh!" they wept. "The tears are freezing on our faces."

Mother Nature, who was busy talking to some of the other flowers, heard the pussy-willow buds and hurried to her storehouse. There she found a pile of gray fur. Snip, snip went her flying scissors, and soon every little willow bud was toasting warm in a new fur coat.

But scarcely had the pussy-willows been attended to before there was a sound of sobbing down in the marsh.

"Dear, dear" cried a hundred little voices in chorus. "It is so chilly in the marsh! Our ears are aching!"

"My poor skunk-cabbages!" said Mother Nature. So she rushed off to her storehouse again. There was no more fur there, but she found some reddish-brown leather, and out of that she made hoods. When the homely little skunk-cabbages got those neat hoods on they were comfortable and from a distance almost good-looking.

But soon cries of distress came from the hillside. The hepaticas were shivering and calling in the sharp wind, and were so cold that they were blue. Once again Mother Nature hurried to her storehouse. There was no more fur and no more leather; but at last she found in a corner some soft wool. Five minutes later the shivering bodies of the hepaticas were wrapped in silky wool.

When the bloodroot came peeping through the dry leaves Mother Nature did not know what to do. The sun was growing warmer, but the breeze was still cold, and the bloodroot began to shake. The fur, the leather, and the wool were all gone, and there was nothing else to use.

"You will just have to cuddle up in your own leaves," Mother Nature said.

So the bloodroot wrapped its leaves round itself like a cape and stood up sturdily.

Down in the woods the anemones began to shake out their delicate pink muslin petticoats, and on green banks the violets came curtsying in pretty purple hoods.

"O my stars!" said Mother Nature to herself. "Suppose they catch cold! I haven't a single scrap to cover them with, and they can do nothing for themselves."

But then suddenly she noticed that the air had grown so warm that the little flowers had no reason to complain. Spring had come at last.

"Why did you wait so long?" asked Mother Nature.

"It was the fault of the sun and the wind," Spring [illegible] as they should. But when they [illegible] that all the flower children [illegible] the sun and the wind [illegible] and began to hurry."

"Then [illegible] I coaxed the flowers out," Mother Nature said. "But I hope I shall never have to [illegible] again."—[illegible] L. Folts, in The Youth's Companion.

A QUEER CALL.

Ethel ran down the front steps and peered under the piazza; she was looking for the thimble that her mother had dropped. There it lay in plain sight. She stooped to get it, but she jumped up again with a little scream; she had nearly put her hand right into the middle of a great cobweb.

"Mother," she called, "I can't get it! There's a big spider's web in the way."

Her mother laughed. "How long has my daughter been afraid of a cobweb?"

"Well," explained Ethel, "I do believe there's a big spider right near it somewhere."

Mrs. Spencer put her sewing aside and came down the steps. "Good!" she said gaily. "Let's call on him."

"Call on him!" echoed Ethel, who was much puzzled. "How can we? I don't even see him. And, besides, if he sees us, he'll run away."

She had never called on a spider, and she could not imagine how she should act.

The web was one of the wonderful great wheels that certain kinds of spiders spin new almost every morning. They are always alike, yet no one has ever found out how their owners learn to build them. The owner of this particular wheel was nowhere to be seen.

"He isn't very polite," said Ethel, thinking of the rhyme that begins:

"Won't you step into my parlor?" said the spider to the fly.
"It's the prettiest little parlor that ever you did spy."

"He ought to come right down and ask us in."

"Perhaps he's in his own room," answered her mother. "Do you see that little thread that starts from the very middle of the web and runs up and backward to the under side of the piazza?"

Ethel had not seen it before, because, like other little girls and boys, she did not observe carefully. But there it was, and, as she followed it up, she saw, at the very end, right under the piazza floor, Mr. Spider himself.

"Why, he's upside down, mother!" she cried. "Don't you suppose it makes his head ache? And he has kept his feet on the line that runs to the web, as if he were coming down."

She shivered and moved away a little.

"No," said Mrs. Spencer, "he's not coming down. He's waiting for his doorbell to ring."

"His doorbell!" echoed Ethel. "Mother, what do you mean?"

"Well, you see," explained Mrs. Spencer, "a big spider looks so terrifying to the little flies that he must stay out of sight if he wants to catch a dinner. So he spins that telegraph line from the middle of the web to his hiding place, and keeps his foot on it. When a fly gets caught, it shakes the web and signals to Mr. Spider that his dinner has come. Then he runs down and makes sure of his meal by tying the poor fly all around with his strong, sticky web until he has his prisoner held safe.

"Now, let's ring the bell," Mrs. Spencer continued. She picked up a very light stalk of grass and gently touched one edge of the web; she took good care not to break it. The spider became alert at once; he felt of his telegraph line two or three times with his foot, as if to make sure of the message; then down he rushed to the middle of his web, and out to the edge where the tip of grass was. He felt of it for a minute, and then, deciding that it was not good to eat, hurried back to his hiding place to wait for a real meal.

"Well," said Ethel, when she had picked up the thimble and was back on the piazza, "that was an interesting call."—Norman B. Cole, in Youth's Companion.

There will be new heroism; there still will be room for noble deeds as we envisage humanity in a great commonwealth, for we shall find that it requires as much courage to live for peace and right fellowship as to die for the liberties of mankind. There is but one aristocracy, the aristocracy of him who serves, and but one democracy, the frank friendship of the human race.—Selected.

SEASHORE DIVINITY SCHOOL—AS GOOD AS THE BEST.

We desire to call special attention to the fifteenth session of the Seashore Divinity School, which will open at 8 p. m., Tuesday, June 12, and close at the same hour on Thursday, June 21, the session being held, as usual, at the beautiful and historic Seashore Camp Grounds.

The demand for gatherings during the summer where our preachers especiallly may gather for study, inspiration, and recreation, has become so great that the authorities of the church have provided summer schools at points accessible to most of our people—notably at Lake Junaluska, N. C., and Mount Sequoyah, Ark. All these schools are well worth attending; but the point we wish to make is that the Seashore Divinity School is second to none in the work it professes to do, and that its location is unsurpassed for beauty and general attractiveness.

The program this year includes addresses by three bishops—Bishop W. B. Murrah, Bishop W. A. Candler, and Bishop W. N. Ainsworth. Any one of these distinguished chief pastors is worth going a long way to hear; those who attend the Divinity School and remain throughout the session will have the privilege of hearing all of them. In addition, those who have not yet completed their Conference courses of study will have the opportunity of doing so under instructors whose examinations will be accepted by the Conference Examining Committees.

The cost of attending the Divinity School is remarkably reasonable, and the advantages to be enjoyed are of the very finest kind. We hope that this will be one of the best attended sessions in the history of the School. Those who may desire further information may secure it by addressing the president, Rev. H. M. Ellis, Brookhaven, Miss.

WHITWORTH COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT.

Sunday evening, 8 o'clock, Sermon to the Y. W. C. A. by Rev. J. Early Gray, of Moss Point, Miss.

Monday morning, 11 o'clock, Alumnae Program; Monday evening, 8 o'clock, Annual Concert.

Tuesday afternoon, 5:30 o'clock, Class Day Exercises; Tuesday evening, 8 o'clock, Graduating Exercises, with address by Colonel Prescott, of the Louisiana State University.

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

The Editor of the Advocate will attend several of the North Mississippi district conferences this week and next.

Dr. Luther E. Todd will preach the commencement sermon for the Mississippi State College for Women, at Columbus, Miss., on June 3.

Rev. A. S. Raper, pastor of the Central Methodist Church, Columbus, Miss., preached the commencement sermon for the Verona High School on April 29.

The North Mississippi Conference School for Leadership Training will be held at Grenada, Miss., June 8-14. Full information concerning it may be had by addressing Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, Sardis, Miss.

One of the members of our church at Kosciusko, Miss., has deeded a beautiful home to the church for a parsonage, the value of the home being estimated at $8,000.

Our congregation at Starkville, Miss., under the leadership of Rev. W. W. Woollard, is planning to erect a new church, at a cost of about $80,000. The plans are assuming definite shape.

The congregation of the First Methodist Church, Columbus, Miss., is raising funds to repair the auditorium, at a cost of about $4,000. The work will be undertaken at once. Rev. E. S. Lewis is the pastor.

Rev. E. S. Lewis, pastor of the First Methodist Chruch, Columbus, Miss., will preach the commencement sermon for the Brooksville High School on May 20, and for the Booneville High School on May 27.

Rev. Charles Assaf, Mississippi Conference Syrian missionary, is spending several days in New Orleans. He is especially interested in the work among the members of his race who reside here. He paid the Advocate office an appreciated call on Thursday of last week.

Rev. H. W. Cudd, our pastor at Waterproof, La., writes: "Please state in the Advocate that, owing to commencement sermon being preached on my Sunday at St. Joseph, I shall be glad to assist a brother in a meeting embracing the third Sunday in May."

The union Methodist rally at Shreveport, La., held in the Coliseum at the State Fair Grounds on Sunday, April 29, was attended by about 3,000 people. Dr. C. C. Selecman, president of Southern Methodist University, delivered a great message, and a collection amounting to nearly $8,000 was taken for local church extension work.

Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Schultz, of Anguilla, Miss., announce the marriage of their daughter, Verna, to Mr. Eugene Percy Tyler, on Sunday, April 29, the ceremony being performed by Rev. J. R. Jones, presiding elder of the Vicksburg District. The young couple will make their home at Jackson, Miss. The Advocate extends heartiest good wishes to them.

Rev. L. C. Wilson, our pastor at Clinton, La., reports a fine meeting recently held at Clinton, in which he was assisted by Rev. E. C. Gunn, of Bogalusa, La. The faculty and students of Silliman College co-operated in the meeting, as did the members of other churches. There were five additions to the Methodist church, and two additions to other churches.

Rev. Elmer C. Gunn, our pastor at Bogalusa, La., has been appointed chairman of the Americanization work of the American Legion in Louisiana. Brother Gunn stands high in the councils of the Legion and his ability is recognized by the national officers. In connection with the work of the Americanization committee, he is arranging to offer college scholarships to high school students throughout the State for the best composition on the subject, "Americanism—Its History and Ideals."

The Headquarters Committee of the Louisiana Anti-Saloon League held a meeting in New Orleans last week. The committee is composed of Dr. W. Winans Drake, chairman; Dr. W. W. Hamilton, secretary; T. B. Carre, J. R. Abels, Delos R. Johnson, R. B. Butler, A. M. Mayo. Rev. A. W. Turner was continued as State Superintendent, and Rev. O. L. Jones, of Columbia, S. C., was elected Associate Superintendent. Dr. P. A. Baker and Mr. E. H. Cherrington, of the National Headquarters, attended the meeting.

METHODIST CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION AT NEW IBERIA.

A very interesting and significant event was the celebration, on April 29, of the hundredth anniversary of the organization of the Methodist church in New Iberia, La. It is unfortunate that in the past we have been so careless with the records of our work in its beginnings, and whenever the data are available for the celebration of a centennial of Methodism in this section, it is wise and helpful to make a great occasion of it. Some facts of the early history of New Iberia Methodism having been brought to light, the pastor and congregation of our church in that important center of South Louisiana began some time ago to plan for a suitable celebration of the event.

The program of the day was in charge of Mr. Henry N. Pharr, chairman of the Board of Stewards, and for years superintendent of the Sunday school, whose influence and work have meant much to the progress of the congregation. The service began with a processional anthem, during which the members of all the organizations of the church, led by the smallest children of the Sunday school, marched into the auditorium. It was impressive to see the marshaled forces of the church, including the boards of stewards and trustees, the membership of the Woman's Missionary Society, and the other organizations march in in procession with suitable banners.

The ladies of the church had arranged beautiful and tasteful decorations of flowers and foliage, and the figures 1823 and 1923 stood out prominently on either side of the chancel. The large choir, directed by Miss Louise Taylor, who has been for years the faithful and accomplished organist, rendered an impressive program of music, which included great hymns of the church as well as special numbers.

It was the privilege of the writer, chiefly because he is a grandson of one of the preachers who organized the church, to give the historical statement of the early history. It will be interesting to your readers to repeat briefly here the main facts as recorded in an article written by the Rev. Benjamin M. Drake in the New Orleans Christian Advocate of March 15, 1860.

At the close of the Mississippi Conference of 1822, B. M. Drake and Thomas Clinton were appointed to the Attakapas and Rapides circuit, including all South Louisiana, from twenty miles north of Alexandria to Rice's Island in Berwick Bay. In all this territory there were reported that year 49 white and 90 colored members. A few churches had been organized earlier in parts of the territory, and there had doubtless been occasional preaching at New Iberia for a number of years before. In the beginning of the year Mr. Drake, accompanied by his predecessor, Rev. Daniel Devinne, visited New Iberia and spent several days trying to secure a place in which to preach. For some unrecorded reason, the town hall was denied them, and no other place seemed available; so that they were ready to depart in discouragement, when their attention was attracted by a small trading vessel in Bayou Techo opposite the town. Their curiosity to see the little ship led them to go aboard, and they soon discovered that the crew were New England Methodists. Captain Gladding, of Providence, Rhode Island, the master of the ship, was a "whole-souled Methodist," and when he met the preachers, there was a love feast aboard the boat. At once he began to arrange for a preaching service that evening on the boat. He went out to invite his friends in the town to come to the service. He soon met a friend, a Mr. Stein, who was regarded as an unbeliever, but who gave a cordial invitation to hold the service at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. French, which would be more convenient for the people of the town. This initial service led to a regular appointment in the same home, and the itinerants were from that time welcome guests in that home as well. "Some time in the course of the spring" that same year, Rev. R. M. Drake and Rev. Thomas Clinton together held a meeting, during which there were nine or ten conversions, and a church was organized. Among its charter members were Mrs. French, her mother, sister, and brother. Ever since that time Methodism has had an existence in New Iberia. Probably in about 1842 a church was erected, the men of the congregation, including Thomas Johnson, Eli Riggs, John Reynolds, John French, and several others, going to the woods, hewing out the timbers and building the church by their own labor. This building was used until the fall of 1859, when it was replaced by a more suitable building, when the former house was set apart for a school under the direction of the pastor, Rev. Thomas B. White. In 1892, under the pastorate of Dr. Fitzgerald S. Parker, a beautiful and tasteful brick church was erected, which is still in use. This building, however, was partially destroyed by fire and rebuilt in 1907, during the pastorate of Dr. C. W. Carter.

A suitable memorial service commemorating the great company who, during this century, have contributed to the success of the church and have passed on, was led by Rev. J. I. Hoffpauir. The communion service appropriately followed the memorial address.

The evening service continued the celebration, and included a very appropriate and informing address by Mr. Porteous R. Burke, a prominent attorney of New Iberia, on "What Methodism has Meant to New Iberia." Mr. Burke produced a number of interesting legal records of deeds and charters, and pointed out how the Methodist congregation had been identified in various ways with the moral and social progress of the community, citing the fact particularly that Eli Riggs, one of the original congregation, was the first person to donate a lot for a public school in the parish, and how Colonel F. D. Richardson, a prominent Methodist of the community, had later been largely responsible for the organization of the Parish of Iberia as a separate parish.

The chief speaker at both morning and evening services was appropriately Dr. Fitzgerald S. Parker, who spent four years as pastor, building the first brick church for the congregation, and so living himself into the heart and life of the community that after thirty years he still occupies a unique place in the affections of the congregation. At both the morning and the evening hour, Dr. Parker preached able and eloquent sermons on phases of the meaning and responsibility of the church, which were received with appreciation and interest by the congregations.

The house was crowded to capacity with audiences that showed enthusiastic interest, and a thank offering amounting to nearly three thousand dollars to meet certain material needs of the church was quietly pledged at the close of the service.

Altogether the occasion was one of unusual interest, and the pastor, Rev. H. N. Harrison, who has labored incessantly to make it a sucess, and the entire congregation, are to be congratulated upon it.

HOME REQUESTS OFFERING ON MOTHER'S DAY.

On Feb. 14, the Board of Managers of the Memorial Home for Young Women, in New Orleans, met and passed the following resolution: "Be it resolved, That the preachers of the Louisiana and the two Mississippi Conferences be requested to give the offering taken on Mother's Day to the Memorial Home for Young Women." We do not ask for a collection, nor do we wish to have the cause presented, but simply that you send us the free-will offering taken on Mother's Day. We are having considerable expense for repairs to the building at this time, and are in need of your help.

Hoping that you will grant this request, we are,

Yours sincerely,

BOARD OF MANAGERS,
J. G. Snelling, Superintendent.

MEETING OF THE BOARD OF FINANCE.

By Rev. Jno. F. Foster, President Louisiana Conference Board of Finance.

On call of Rev. Dr. L. E. Todd, the Secretary of the Board of Finance, representatives of each Annual Conference assembled in St. Louis as the guests of the Parent Board of Finance to participate in their annual meeting held April 23-24.

Practically all the Board were in attendance, and judging from the number of Conference representatives, I think I may say that all the Conference Boards sent delegates.

Sitting with the Board were seven or eight invited guests, among whom were noted Drs. S. H. C. Burgin, W. H. Nelson, and C. C. Selecman.

Four of the bishops were present, viz.: Bishops W. F. McMurry, W. N. Ainsworth, U. V. W. Darlington, and S. R. Hay.

Bishop McMurry presided and dispatched business with marked facility but without haste.

The Secretary, Dr. Todd, had matters well in hand, and his report was remarkable for clearness and foresight, while his plans for the campaign planned showed Dr. Todd to be a master of detail and an unusually exact man.

The financial exhibit showed all funds well secured and in the hands of expert financiers. The Board has to date not lost a dollar of principal or interest, so carefully have its moneys been handled, though the Board handles over a million dollars.

The special business before the Board was the campaign for $10,000,000 as an Endowment Fund for the superannuate minister, known as the "Forgotten Man." The campaign is not to be on the basis of former campaigns and there are to be no field representatives, high-salaried officers, conference secretaries and treasurers.

The responsibility for the success of the campaign is placed upon each quarterly conference, with the presiding elder as the man in charge and the one to whom the church shall look, the responsibility for putting over the campaign being with him.

The quota for each charge, as requested by the General Conference, is as follows:

Minimum quota for each charge to be an amount equal to the salary paid by the individual charge to both pastor and presiding elder during the Conference year of 1922-23.

To this minimum the charge may add whatever amount they see fit, making a maximum quota as large as their vision and Christian liberality may dictate.

The maximum quota may be paid in cash or placed in the budget and paid by the Board of Stewards in one or more payments or be paid annually for five years.

If pledges are made by the members, they may be paid as rapidly as wished or may be made on the five-year basis. The campaign for subscriptions is to be preceded by six weeks intensive publicity.

The day for the drive is March 16, 1924, and if not completed on said day to be followed by "Follow-up Week."

The Annual Conferences of the fall are each to have a special hour given over to this cause, and an inspirational meeting is to be held on the night or evening of the same day.

The funds as collected are to be forwarded by the charge treasurer to the Board of Finance in St. Louis, thus saving time, labor and confusion.

In noting the figures presented to the Board I was impressed by the following, viz.: Total present endowment is $921,820.32, an increase over the amount in hand Sept. 1, 1918, of $175,740.07.

The increase for the fiscal year March 31, 1922, to March 31, 1923, was $105,831.25.

The amount appropriated by the Board to superannuates in March, 1918, was $15,337.53, while in March, 1923, it was $41,169.75, an increase of $26,132.25.

I noted that the North Georgia Conference had the largest number of claimants, viz: 122, with Virginia next, with 115, while Mississippi and North Mississippi each had 59, and Louisiana only 37 claimants on the Board.

The reports at the last Conference showed that the following amounts were distributed by the Conferences: North Mississippi, $13,891; Mississippi, $13,659; Louisiana, $12,580.

Louisiana paid last year a larger average per capita to the superannuates than any other Conference in the church, save the Baltimore, and led the entire church in the average per capita paid the widows of deceased ministers.

The Louisiana Conference has a Conference Endowment Fund of $113,700; Mississippi, $30,363; North Mississippi, $11,916; Missouri, $137,813; North Alabama, $137,700, and North Carolina, $163,823.

All funds received, after expenses of campaign are paid, are to be divided with each Conference on the fifty-fifty basis, half raised in each Conference going to the general fund and half to the Conference fund.

Questions are to be asked, in each quarterly conference, by the presiding elder pressing this cause and developing the facts with regard to campaign and the collections which follow.

Obituaries

Obituaries not over 200 words in length will be published free of charge. All over 200 words must be paid for at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and be sure to send the amount necessary with the obituary. That will save trouble all around. We cannot make discriminations. Memorial resolutions are subject to the same rule as obituaries.

Just before the dawn on Sunday morning, March 10, 1923, the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Graves, of Marion, La., and took away Mrs. Graves' mother, MRS. M. A. WHITE, who had been ill for several weeks. The remains were laid to rest Sunday afternoon in the Concord Cemetery, near her home.

Mrs. White, who was Miss Allen before her marriage to Mr. M. A. White, was born in North Carolina nearly ninety-five years ago. She spent twenty-three years of her life in Tennessee, moving to Louisiana in 1851. She was the mother of nine children, eight girls, and one boy. The husband and several of the girls have already preceded the wife and mother into the great unknown.

When a very young girl, Mrs. White joined the Methodist Church, and for nearly eighty years was an ardent Christian. God was her ever-present help in time of trouble, and to him she clung through all the yaers with a never-faltering faith.

Her Bible was to her an inspiration, and from its sacred pages she daily received strength for the conflicts of life.

It was a pleasure to hear her talk of our country, as it was nearly a century ago. Through it all she could see the hand of the great Omnipotent, directing those who sought divine aid.

Her life is a beautiful example of what faith in God, brotherly love and Christian fortitude may mean to an individual.

For her there was no fear of death. She was ready to go, and trustingly said that she hoped to see her Savior face to face when she had crossed the Bar.

ALMA BURCH.

LOUISA CATHARIN NORWOOD was born in East Feliciana Parish, La., Oct. 12, 1843. She was married to J. W. Haygood Dec. 17, 1873. She died March 27, 1923, in Avoyelles Parish, near Simmsport, La. She was nearly eighty years old. In her early twenties she was converted and joined the M. E. Church, South, living a faithful and consistent Christian life until called home. Fifty-odd years of her life were given in the service of her Master. Several of her relatives and friends said to me: "We never saw her angry—she lived in a large way for others." Her young life was often filled with sad experiences, but she was patient and uncomplaining. Five of her children are yet living, with three sisters and three brothers. The writer, her pastor, conducted her funeral services on March 29, in the Methodist church in Simmsport, La., a large crowd of her relatives and friends being present. May the influence of her quiet spiritual life guide the lives of her loved ones left behind!

Her Pastor,
J. H. FRENCH.

REV. W. C. HARRIS—IN MEMORIAM

It is with a sense of inability and unworthiness that I undertake to write these few words of appreciation of one whom I have found to be worthy of the highest confidence and esteem. The effort is like a novice trying to make the finishing strokes on a masterpiece of art.

WILLIAM CLAUDIUS HARRIS was born near McCool, in Attala, County, Miss., March 3, 1859. He was the son of Robert and Elizabeth Duke Harris. He married Miss Mary Anderson, April 14, 1891, to which union seven children were born; three sons, Robert, who died early in infancy; Wm. C., Jr., and Riggs Duke, who proved themselves to be worthy sons during the illness of their father; four daughters, all of whom survive him; Mrs. Dorothy Spratt, of Los Angeles, Cal.; Misses Eva, Mary, and Lois.

Brother Harris was licensed to preach by the quarterly conference at Bethel, French Camp circuit, Winona District, Aug. 5, 1884, of which conference Thomas Y. Ramsey was presiding elder, and E. A. P. Lucas was Secretary. He joined the North Mississippi Conference that fall (place not remembered by Sister Harris), and was assigned as pastor of the Walthall charge, which he served for three years, 1884-5-6-7. He served Tibbie, 1887-89; 1889-1891, Arcola and Holland; 1891-92, Kossuth; 1892-94, Iuka; 1894-96, Corinth; 1896-98, Friars Point; 1898-99, Shaw; 1899-1900, Cleveland; 1990-1, Indianola; 1901-3, Sardis; 1903-4-5-6-7, he lived in the district parsonage at Booneville, and was presiding elder of the Corinth District; 1907-9, New Albany. Here, because of failing health, he was forced to go to another climate. He came to Texas and took work as a member of the Central Texas Conference and was assigned to the Talpa circuit, which he served for one year, 1909-10. 1910-11 he served Hico station, but at the end of that year he transferred back to his home Conference, and took the superannuate relation. With his family he moved to Uvalde, Tex., where he lived until July, 1921, when they moved to Dallas, Tex., where, from his home, 728 Montreal Street, his spirit took its flight April 18, 1923. In his last days and hours he had the constant care of his devoted wife and family and a host of friends. The funeral service was held in Brooklyn Avenue Methodist Church, South, by the pastor, Rev. L. C. Beasley, assisted by Rev. J. A. Sage, Drs. J. H. Groseclose and G. M. Gibson, and his body laid to rest in the Oak Cliff Cemetery.

Brother Harris was ordained deacon at West Point, Miss., Dec. 5, 1886, by Bishop Wm. Wallace Duncan, and was ordained elder at Starkville, Miss., Dec. 16, 1888, by Bishop Charles B. Galloway. He ever ministered as became one of these high offices.

For several years Brother Harris was not able to do very much in the active service as preacher, yet he always gave no uncertain testimony by the beautiful, consistent life he lived. He was keenly interested in all the movements and work of the church, both local and at large, and wherever he lived he influenced the church and the community quite as much as the regular pastor. In the midst of his broken physical condition he was strong spiritually and mentally, and always very cheerful and happy.

As I thought on his life and pondered its meaning to the world, I thought of a day that dawned with all of the rich promises that early morning could hold, and as the hours passed, richness was added to the glory, till at the noontide the day shone with resplendent beauty and we said it is a perfect day. But in the afternoon clouds gathered low in the Western sky, and the perfect day was marred. Later, I lifted my eyes and the clouds were pillars of silver, fringed with gold—billows of glory that only added more glory to the perfect day. So it was with the life and sufferings of W. C. Harris, who has passed from labors to reward. We thank God for the victory and influence of such a life. God's blessings on the loved ones and friends.

REV. L. C. BEASLEY,
His Family Pastor.

RESOLUTIONS.

Whereas, on March 30, 1923, the Grim Reaper, Death, took from us our beloved sister in the faith, MRS. DELONA BROWN MAILHOS; and,

Whereas, in her death the church has lost a truly consecrated Christian worker; our town, a friend loved by all who knew her; her husband, a devoted wife and companion; her children, a truly loving and patient mother; therefore,

Be it resolved, That we extend to her bereaved loved ones our heartfelt sympathy, and pray for the richest blessings of life to rest upon them, and as they journey through life may the memory of her ever direct their vision, and ours, to the Pearly Gates within whose portals loved ones meet to part no more.

Be it further resolved, That a copy of this resolution be given the family of the deceased; a copy sent to the Christian Advocate, the Oakdale American, and Woodville, Tex., papers for publication.

Death plucks our fairest flowers.
Transplanted into bliss, they now
Adorn immortal bowers."

A BANNER DAY AT PINE GROVE (LA.) CHURCH.

Pine Grove church dates back nearly seventy years as a Methodist organization, and during this whole period there has never been a time that it was not registered in some way or other with the regular routine of activity prescribed by the Methodist Church.

Its membership is of that type that always stands for the best of everything. There has been in constant working order a Sunday school of the best type to be found in the country church.

This church has a record of paying its obligations as they are assessed upon it each year, and they have a great deal of pride in that fact. Its membership is made up of sturdy men and women who believe in the tenets of the Christian religion; they bank on their faith in His holy promise.

On April 29, 1923, there was gathered at this church one of the greatest crowds, if not the greatest crowd, that ever gathered there at one time. Some one might ask what meaneth all this ado, why all this concourse of people. Well, it was a Sunday School Rally of the Sibley charge; all of the Sunday schools gathered at this church for a day of study and fellowship in that particular line of church activity.

Through the efforts of the pastor, Rev. J. F. Dring, there was a program arranged, in which every minute of the day was taken; beginning at 10 a. m., it was one continued meeting until 4 p. m.

There was song, prayer, and praise, continually ringing. Dr. Longino, of Minden, La., made a very inspiring talk on the men's class and adult work in the Sunday school. There was a pageant, "The Way, the Truth, and the Life," which was very effective, the characters that made up the pageant being members of the Pine Grove Sunday school.

Talks from superintendents of the different schools were made, and their difficulties presented, and suggestions made as to how they might be overcome. After this a social hour was given, that all of the schools might get better acquainted.

Dinner was served by the ladies of the different communities. Oh my, I wish you might have been there—such bounty, such loving hospitality, and brotherly fellowship make us believe that God, of a truth, is with us.

In the afternoon, we had the Men's Chorus, from Minden, to present several splendid numbers, which were enjoyed by all. Van Carter, one of the State Sunday school workers, gave a talk on the work at Camp Lassa. It was decided to send at least five of our girls and boys to this Camp for spiritual instruction.

The last number of the program was the rededication of Pine Grove Church. This was in charge of Rev. W. C. Childress, pastor of Minden church. After a very effective sermon, an offering was taken, and the church debt was cleared, and the dedication in regular form was made. The program being completed, the benediction was pronounced, and every one said, "of a truth, Pine Grove is doing things in a big way." Sibley circuit has set the pace; let every charge fall in line and make the Sunday school, a real SCHOOL.

SALIENT SAYINGS.

By Walt Holcomb

The Centenary Emergency Campaign has presented the exigencies of the situation and has inspired a response that will meet the emergency.

The day of impossibility was buried when Christ arose from the dead.

If Germany had been a missionary nation instead of a military nation, she would never have plunged the world into a World War.

The Centenary Movement gave the Gospel of Christ the biggest send-off, in its mission around the globe, since the start on the day of Pentecost.

The Holy Spirit inspired our Centenary subscriptions and has hovered over the subscribers, keeping alive the pledges, during the years of depression and confusion.

The greatest revival period known in Southern Methodism followed upon the heel of the Centenary subscriptions. A greater revival will follow the payment of these pledges. All of our old missionary fields have been enlarged and new fields have been opened up, making it possible for a still greater, far-reaching revival.

Some Methodists have borrowed money to pay their pledges; others were generous enough to pay the pledges of some who had moved away or died; and still others, who had already paid their pledges in full, have made new subscriptions. Can you find such loyalty, devotion and sacrifice anywhere else in the world?

After campaigning in the Baltimore, Virginia, Western North Carolina, and the North Carolina Conferences in the interest of the Centenary, I have seen such love for the church and interest in the Centenary program that I am prouder to-day of the Methodist Church than ever before in my life.

Our Centenary Team, Number One, was composed of the finest spirits that we have known: Dr. E. H. Rawlings, leader, assisted by Drs. Hounshell, Onderdonk, Ivey, and Mrs. Lipscomb. The Conference Secretaries, Drs. Blakemore, Carey, and Courtney, had planned the itinerary with the utmost care. Bishops Candler, DuBose, Cannon, and Hay rendered distinguished and efficient service.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your thirty feet of bowels of the sour bile and constipation poison which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable.

I guarantee that one spoonful of this harmless liquid liver medicine will relieve the headache, biliousness, coated tongue, ague, malaria, sour stomach or any other distress caused by a torpid liver as quickly as a dose of vile, nauseating calomel, besides it will not make you sick or keep you from a day's work.

Calomel is poison—it's mercury—it attacks the bones, often causing rheumatism. Calomel is dangerous. It sickens—while my Dodson's Liver Tone is safe, pleasant and harmless. Eat anything afterwards, because it can not salivate. Give it to the children because it doesn't upset the stomach or shock the liver. Take a spoonful tonight and wake up feeling fine and ready for a full day's work.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE NOTES.

The Meridian District Institute was conducted at Poplar Springs Church, Meridian, May 30. Forty delegates and seventeen preachers were present. We had a good program. Rev. J. L. Ferguson, Jr., of the Department of Religious Education of Millsaps College, gave us two fine addresses. We had much talk on programs of work, and reports and questions. I think there is a good list of officers for another year, and the Meridian District will go forward. Only a very few schools reported. One school has reported since, and many promised to see that the report came in. I trust it will.

Wednesday and Thursday, the Copiah County Sunday School Institute was held. There are seven pastoral charges in the county and eighteen Sunday schools. Six pastors were present and representatives from fourteen Sunday schools. Every charge was represented at every service. This representative attendance was very gratifying indeed. The Institute was organized permanently with the following officers: President, V. D. Youngblood; Vice-President, R. J. Fairchilds; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Hunter Garth, Jr.; Superintendent Young People-Adult, W. B. McCluney; Superintendent Intermediate-Senior, M. O. Eady; Superintendent Elementary Department, Mrs. J. H. Green; Superintendent Missions and Tithing, Rev. F. A. Grimes; Superintendent Teacher Training, Mrs. L. H. Featherstun.

Goals for the schools to reach before the next meeting: 1. A Program of Work ordered and placed in the church and explained; 2. Sunday School Day observed by each school; 3. Point 7 on Program of Work "C" to be reached and maintained by each school. Two other things were agreed to without setting them as definite goals—that the membership of each school be increased, and that the grounds and buildings of each school be put in first-class condition.

We had a good program. Most of the time was spent in asking and answering questions. Rev. C. A. Bowen, of the Department of Religious Education of Millsaps, gave a great address Wednesday night. Thursday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., Rev. B. F. Lewis, Superintendent of the Methodist Orphanage, gave two great addresses on the Bible. Brother Hull did fine work. Brother H. M. Ellis, the presiding elder, gave three wonderful messages on Love. Mrs. J. H. Green presented the Elementary Goals for 1923. She is a fine worker. Rev. J. L. Carter, the Secretary of the Sunday School Board, was present and presented the cause of Sunday School Day. We had a mighty good time. The folks were just lovely to us.

This meeting is a result of the request of Rev. W. H. Saunders. He thought it would do good and asked for it to be held. I feel sure that the meeting did do good and all who were present were much helped.

Here is the list of the Sunday School Day reports:

NOTES FROM NORTH MISSISSIPPI.

By R. H. B. Gladney, Sardis, Miss.

If you want to know how your school stands by its Centenary pledge, write me a line for the information. Pray through and you can pay up. Several schools have paid every dollar pledged and are ready to take more stock in Missions.

The school at Alligator has made a remarkable record under the supervision of Mrs. R. S. Moore. The school has only eight children enrolled, but the school observed Sunday School Day and sent eight dollars to the Treasurer.

Shaw is the first school to organize every class above the juniors and enroll every class. This school has eight points on the "C" Program of work. The next thing you hear from this school it will be one hundred per cent. Let us have the picture of the school that is making progress without trained leaders. Mrs. Dakin, the superintendent, did not have an easy time getting this work done, but she counted it worth while and did not mind the work.

Make a ring around the date, June 7-8, to remind you of the Conference-wide Sunday School Conference to be held at Grenada. This meeting is to include the Wesley Bible Class Federation and the Elementary Council. Quite a number of classes are doing a wonderful work in spreading the "good news." We ought to have one hundred classes to join in this work. We have a few departments that are doing excellent work for the children, but we ought to have one hundred who are willing to attain a still higher standard. This meeting will tone up and strengthen every phase of church work. There is good in getting together to let heart touch heart.

Check the course you wish to take in the training school to be held June 8-14, and mail the card to me that you may be sure of the proper consideration. Already several reservations have been made for rooms. You had better send your name to J. E. Stephens, Registrar, that you may have a room. The prospects are that we shall be crowded at the College.

N. B.—Do the best you can to use the advertising matter sent out by the Sunday School Board; show it to all the people you can, talk about these important meetings, and do your best to have one hundred schools represented at Grenada.

ELEMENTARY CONFERENCE, SHAW, MISS., MAY 2, 1923.

When you love your work, and you know it is the most important, far-reaching, fouudational in which the church is engaged, it is a great joy to meet with other workers of like mind. To have your heart thrill with theirs to the challenge of the task, to get new light on the how of the work, and to deepen conviction as to the why, are experiences to be coveted.

The Elementary Conference at Shaw, Miss, May 2, had all these qualities. It followed the example of the Apostolic church in teaching, fellowship, breaking of bread, and prayer. The workers studied together how to lead the children committed to our care to a conscious knowledge of God, our Heavenly Father, and Jesus Christ our Savior. All of us that were there were instructed, inspired, and encouraged for the task that is before us; those that did not go missed a season of refreshing.

Shaw extended a cordial, friendly welcome to all the visitors and entertained us royally. Mrs. M. E. Dakin is the very efficient superintendent of the Sunday school. She and Brother Simpson left nothing undone that would add to the helpfulness of the meeting.

The topics of the program were well presented, the general discussions were thought-provoking, and the whole meeting contributed to that equipment for service which furnishes workmen that need not to be ashamed.

Mrs. V. R. McDONALD.

GIVING GOD A CHANCE.

God can do a host of surprising things. He can paint a rainbow at the back of a retreating storm. He can grow a snow-white lily from the black ooze of a muddy pond. But he never can put a quart of water into a pint cup; nor can He make a two-karat diamond out of a one-karat stone. All His blessings are partnership affairs. We provide the vessel which holds the oil of His gladness. When men complain of the niggardliness of heaven the trouble is plain: they are expecting God to furnish both vessel and oil, which He never does. One day Carlyle and a few friends were discussing Titian's paintings. "There is his wonderful drawing," said one. "And his gorgeous coloring," said another. "And here I sit," growled Carlyle, "a man made in the image of God, who knew nothing about Titian, and care nothing about Titian, and that is another fact about Titian." "Pardon," interrupted Thackeray, "but that is not another fact about Titian; it is a most lamentable fact about Carlyle." God cannot crowd into an unresponsive mind the joy of beauty, even.—George Clarke Peck.

NOTICE ABOUT THE JUNE PROGRAM.

Literature setting forth the Belle H. Bennett Memorial will be sent the Auxiliaries for the June program. It is asked by the Council that this material be substituted for the social service literature which has already been mailed. However, the following suggestions are made:

1. If your society has more than one meeting a month, use the social service topic in one of your extra sessions.

2. Plan for an all-day meeting, using both the Bennett Memorial literature and the social service literature.

3. Use the Bennett Memorial program for your regular meeting and hold an extra session during the month of June for the presentation of social service.

Stomach Trouble Disappeared

Baptist Minister, of North Carolina, Says He Owes His Good Health to the Use of Black-Draught.

Summit, N. C.—"My health is good and I can say with pleasure I owe it to Black-Draught," writes the Rev. J. H. Wilcoxen, local Baptist minister at this place. In the statement given here, Mr. Wilcoxen said that Black-Draught had been used in his home for fifteen to eighteen years.

"I have had a stomach trouble," said Mr. Wilcoxen, "so that after meals I would break out in perspiration and feel tight in the chest. I would go to my shelf, take a good dose of Black-Draught, and in less than an hour all this disagreeable tightness would disappear.

"I used it with my children for colds and constipation. I find it is a splendid remedy for gas and sour stomach and I would not be without it."

Mrs. Wilcoxen said: "In the spring when I would feel sluggish, havo a bad taste in my mouth and a ligh feeling in my head when I would stoop over when about my work, I knew it was torpid liver, and that I must take something. Black-Draught is the best thing I know of. I use it in big doses at first, then small. It is fine—made me feel so much better. We feel that we couldn't get along without it."

The genuine, old, original Black-Draught powdered liver medicine has been used for over 80 years. Insist upon, and see that you get, the genuine—Thedford's. Sold everywhere; 25c.

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS.

The election of a President, Vice-President, and three members of the Executivo Committee of the Council was an important matter to come before the members at its session in Mobile. Mrs. F. F. Stephens was elected by a good majority as President of the Woman's Missionary Council for the remainder of the quadrennium; Mrs. J. W. Perry, former Council Superintendent of Young People, was made Vice-President. And the three members of the Board of Missions elected to membership on the Council Executive Committee were as follows: Mrs. J. H. Spillman, Harrodsburg, Ky.; Mrs. R. L. Hobdy, Union Springs, Ala., and Mrs. Lee Britt, of Suffolk, Va.

After a lively and amusing program given by the delegates from Tampa, Fla., and Winston-Salem, N. C., a vote was taken to decide on which of the two cities should be the host for the Council meeting in 1924. Despite the advantages to be gained in beholding wonders and beauties of the State of the long-leafed pine, the Council cast its vote for Tampa, Fla., where the celebrated fountain of youth is supposed to exist.

The Council voted in Mobile to make the Laura Haygood Normal Demonstration School building in Soochow, China, and the Bethlehem Community Center, in Nashville, Tenn., its Week of Prayer Specials for 1923-24.

Tho Social Service Committee brought in the following recommendation, which was passed:

REPORT OF HARRISVILLE (MISS.) SUNDAY SCHOOL INSTITUTE.

The second one of our Four-Times-a-Year Sunday School Institutes for the year 1922-23 was held at Mount Pisgah Church, Harrisville charge, on the 29th of April. The Sunday school session was in charge of Mrs. W. L. White, superintendent of the Poplar Springs school. Teachers from the various schools heard the classes. Mrs. White handled the school as she does her own, and gave some very helpful suggestions, from the standpoint of a superintendent, one of the best of which was the Question Box, which they have during the closing exercises. This has been the means of stimulating interest in the study of the Bible and the reading of the Word of God.

Following this, Brother Burton, our presiding elder, preached to us. The sermon was enjoyed by all, and will be the means of helping us all in our work.

After dinner the program of the Institute was taken up. In the absence of the president, I. T. Bell, Rev. Drury Hilton, the vice-president, took the chair. Miss Lucile Berry was elected secretary in the absence of Mrs. Ainsworth, the regular secretary. The program consisted of several songs, among them one by Miss Margaret White, who is just ten years old. She sang, "Jesus Wants Me for a Sunbeam." Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Ball, O. N. Sebren, and Drury Hilton gave us several selections, also. Miss Louise White drew the map of Palestine, which, with one exception, was perfect. Brother Burton took the subject of "The Discouraged Teacher," and handled it with ease and grace. We then took up the discussion of the goals, which were the points on the Program of Work for the "C" Type School that had not yet been reached, together with the reports of the schools. Poplar Springs school was leading with six points reached, and others in the process thereof. Harrisville was a close second, and Rexford not far behind. One of the most gratifying things of the report was the financial report, which showed that both Harrisville and Poplar Springs had doubled in their offerings from last quarter. Both of these schools are working hard to be the first 100% "C" Type school reported.

Rexford, though a little behind in some respects, yet is leading in others. The superintendent, Rev. Drury Hilton, has gone out in a neglected community and organized a school, which he has under his supervision, though they have a superintendent in their own community.

On account of a heavy rain the night before, many were kept away, but at the same time there were enough there to carry out the program in good shape. There were over two hundred people there by actual count. The building would not seat all that were there, but those on the outside behaved well, and listened as they could. All in all, we had a good day, and each of us left with a determination to be a better worker, and to make our school better during the coming quarter.

The next Institute will be held at Rexford, on the fifth Sunday in July.

A Successful Man

Among the notable professional men of this country who achieved great success along strictly legitimate lines was Dr. R. V. Pierce. Devoting his attention to the specialty of women's diseases, he became a recognized authority in that line.

Over fifty years ago this noted physician gave to the world a Prescription which has never been equaled for the weaknesses of women. Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., long since found out what is naturally best for women's diseases. He learned it all thru treating thousands of cases. The result of his studies was a medicine called Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This medicine is made of vegetable growths that nature surely intended for backache, headache, weakening pains, and for the many disorders common to women in all ages of life. Women who take this standard remedy know that in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription they are getting a safe woman's tonic so good that druggists everywhere sell it in both tablet and fluid form.

Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for trial pkg. Write for free medical advice.

On the Topic.

Most of the Psalms are made up in large measure of prayer. But what do we mean by prayer? In a general way we know, but it will be well for the leader to ask for definitions by members. Don't spring the question suddenly; ask a number in advance to be ready to answer. Let us note what parts of prayer we have in this Psalm. Petition, accompanied by reasons (vs. 1, 2, 3, 4, 11, 16, 17). The confession of trust and confidence, which is mingled with ascriptions of greatness and goodness to God (vs. 5, 8-10, 15). Bits of his own experience and professions of purpose (vs. 7, 12, 13). Confession of sin; there is none here, but in many of the Psalms we have the language of confession for all times and conditions.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

A very neat little blotter has been gotten out by the officers of the Epworth League Conference, to be held at Grenada College in June, and has been placed in the hands of pastors and other workers. This should assist in keeping the dates, June 4, 5, 6, before the Leagues; let nothing get in the way of the Conference.

Rev. L. H. Estes, of Memphis, a member of the General Epworth League Board, and President emeritus of the Memphis Conference Epworth League organization, has been asked to have part on the program, and will be a member of the faculty.

The music of the Conference will be in the hands of Grenada College girls largely; while others will assist, several young ladies will be leading with piano, violin and voice. We are very fortunate to secure the services of these gifted young ladies.

Clarksdale, in the Greenville District, has recently elected officers, with J. A. Tabor as President; A. W. Hackett, Vice-President; Mrs. A. K. Schaeffer, Recording Secretary; Mrs. J. A. Tabor, Corresponding Secretary; Bradford Dye, Treasurer.

A musical program was given by this League, under the direction of their fine orchestra, Sunday evening, April 29. What this League is doing, others can do. Let the forces of the young people be rallied throughout the entire Conference, so that there will be a splendid company of earnest workers at Grenada College in June.

Mississippi Conference.

Most all of our Chapters have elected officers for the year. Don't fail to report your elections to your district secretary. This is important, and your failure to do this will lose for you one point on your standard of efficiency.

Some of our district secretaries report their inability to secure quarterly reports from their Chapter presidents. This chops off another ten per cent from your rating. It takes only two cents and about two cents' worth of time to make these reports, and you have it to do only one time each quarter. Why not have every Chapter reporting every quarter?

Mr. Truman Lewis has been elected president of the Broad Street Chapter, Hattiesburg District, the retiring president having served seven years as president of this Chapter. You all know Truman, and look out for this Chapter at the Assembly. He will be there with his delegation as large as it was last year.

Our President, Mr. Hawkins, has been representing the Epworth League at the different district conferences, and needless to say our interest has been well taken care of. During his rounds he has held one or two Epworth League conferences or instititutes, and organized some League Chapters. One of these is at Tylertown, Miss., in the Brookhaven District, which promises well for a live, wide-awake League. Tylertown has a very fine lot of young folks, and we predict for them a Gold Seal Chapter in the near future.

The Brookhaven District is now reporting 36 Chapters, divided as follows: Senior, 19; Intermediate, 11; Junior, 6. Mr. Hawkins reports this District seems to be in fine shape.

HAVE YOU ELECTED YOUR DELEGATES TO THE ASSEMBLY?

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Alexandria District.

Dear Alexandria District: I have just sent in my report for the fourth qaurter, and I'm sure you are going to be just as ashamed of it as I am when I tell you about it. In the first place, I had only seven reports out of fifteen that should have come in to make my report from. They were from Bunkie, Campti, Evergreen, Glenmora, Oakdale, Standard, and Winnfield. Where were the rest of you? I might state that I wouldn't ignore them if you would send them even now.

Glenmora and Oakdale have 100% Leagues. The Junior League at Oakdale is also 100%. I wonder if there is another in the State? Oakdale also has the only Chautauqua-League Reading Course in the State, so far as we know.

Here are the things I am ashamed of (I hope nobody except the Alexandria District folks will read this): Four Leagues have a definite program of social service and of recreational activities; four subscribed their quota of Eras, making 10 copies taken. Four maintain the Quiet Hour and Fellow Workers' Covenants, and three the Stewardship. There are Mission Study Classes. Four subscribed $8 to the Missionary Special.

The old year has ended, you know, so start the new year, which began April 1, right by electing new officers at once and sending me a list of them.

Don't get insulted if I send you a card and ask if you exist, because, if I haven't heard from you in a long time, that's what I'm going to do in order to "clean house" before the Assembly.

Expect your annual blanks before very long, and then see if you can't beat your record in sending in reports.

RUTH BRYAN,
District Secretary.

A LETTER FROM REV. CLAUDE M. SIMPSON.

My Dear Brother Carley: I can hardly believe that it has been twenty-five years ago since we met for the first time on Millsaps College campus. How time does drift away! I carry a vivid memory of those days, in which lasting friendships were set up. My first football experience came in playing center on the first football team of Millsaps College. Our first game was with Tulane, and the second with L. S. U., both of whom beat us in great shape; but we turned the tables on L. S. U. on Thanksgiving and beat them badly. Following those experiences. I had four years' experience on the team at Vanderbilt, in which various experiences registered in the make-up of those college days. On leaving Vanderbilt, my destiny, sort of by accident, fell in Texas. These folks have been mighty good to me, and have given me more than I deserved.

On rounding out four years' experience as a presiding elder, at the last session of our North Texas Conference I had the joy of inheriting a fine pastorate at First Church, Wichita Falls. This town is the product of the discovery of oil in every direction nearby. In the last ten years it has grown from a small village to 51,500 population, which makes it larger than either Waco or Galveston. I know of no greater opportunity anywhere in the world. We are having a most delighteful year every way. After a most delightful reception by all the people, we set out upon our year's program. The first item was to get subscribed the $25,000 budget for the local church. This doesn't include the benevolences. This was followed by the Christian Education campaign round-up, which brought in on regular and special contributions $21,455. This was immediately followed by the annual Christmas Orphans' Home offering, which amounted to $2,220, the largest offering the church ever made and the largest in the State. This, in turn, was immediately followed by the Centenary round-up, during which we interviewed every single individual subscriber, and either got his money or his definite promise as to when he would pay it. A very small amount remains yet to be paid. On a quota of $22,060, this church has paid $25,830, which does not count a good many thousands paid by Floral Heights Church on the original subscription made at this church by members who went out to help form that church, and does not count more than $10,000 paid in the form of credits during the same period.

The Centenary behind us, we began our next plan on the pre-Easter campaign for new members to the church. Up to two weeks before Easter, 201 new members had been added to the church at the regular Sunday services. Dr. L. E. Todd, of St. Louis, came to us and preached every night for two weeks, climaxing on Easter Sunday, at which time the number had been increased to 313 who have come into the church during the first five months of our year. Easter Sunday was a great day every way. After baptizing a long line of infants, a great host of new members were received. The Sunday school attendance, just a little better than the preceding Sunday, was 1,066. This is all we can care for until we get larger quarters. Every available seat in the entire auditorium, including the Sunday school part of the building, was taken both morning and night, and people were turned away. As further evidence of fine, even growth, a new Senior Epworth League Number Two, which involves the high school age of our young life, has been organized with fine membership. The membership of the Woman's Missionary Society, which was already one of the largest in the country, has been very greatly increased.

This campaign having ben finished, we turn now to the next great need, the construction of a great $200,000 Sunday school and recreational building, which is needed to take care of the various activities of our congregation, which now numbers 1,842. The details of this plan have been in the process of being worked out since Jan. 1. The architect has been employed, and the Building Committee has already done a great deal of its work, which includes the definite pledging of a number of magnificent gifts toward the project. In the very near future, we expect to have the campaign on. We expect to put 2,000 in our Sunday school attendance as soon as we get this building. This is a great church every way. For a good many years more than 300 new members have been added to its roll each year, and last year, without debt raising or hurting being involved, it raised $[illegible] for all purposes.

I wish you would come to see me.

BACK ACHED TERRIBLY

Mrs. Robinson Tells How She Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Amarillo, Texas.—"My back was my greatest trouble. It would ache so that it would almost kill me and I would have cramps. I suffered in this way about three years; then a lady friend suggested that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have had better health since, keep house and am able to do my work. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends as it has certainly given me great relief."—Mrs. C. B. ROBINSON, 608 N. Lincoln St., Amarillo, Tex.

The Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for women. It relieves the troubles which cause such symptoms as backache, painful times, irregularity, tired and worn-out feelings and nervousness. This is shown again and again by such letters as Mrs. Robinson writes as well as by one woman telling another. These women know what it did for them. It is surely worth your trial.

Housewives make a great mistake in allowing themselves to become so ill that it is well-nigh impossible for them to attend to their necessary household duties.

THE STAR PRESIDENT, OR DR. COOPER AT FRANKLINTON, LA.

On Sunday, April 29, the Rev. I. W. Cooper, D.D., President of Whitworth College, Brookhaven, Miss., preached the Commencement Sermon for the Sunny Hill (La.) High School at 11 a. m., motored over to Franklinton, La., in the afternoon in a Star car, and at 8 p. m. preached a truly great gospel sermon in my church to a large and appreciative audience. I did not hear him at eleven o'clock, but was informed by the principal of the school that the Sunny Hill folk were highly pleased with the sermon.

Dr. Cooper is a profound thinker, an impressive speaker, and the sparkle of the brand new Star that brought him to Franklinton can not be compared with his brilliancy in the pulpit. And he may also be properly styled the bright and distinguished "Star President."

PROVIDING FOR SUPERANNUATES.

By James H. Walker.

In the early days of the settling up of our beloved country there was a very remarkable figure, which came into recognition, scarcely without support; answered the call to go and preach good tidings to the lost who were settling up the various corners of the wilderness, mountains, and deserts; with a few exceptions, not a change of garments for his comfort; many times he walked over rugged roads, with only scant lunches, in all kinds of weather; sometimes on a borrowed horse, stopping along the way to let the horse graze to satisfy his hunger, awhile he rested on the ground with his mind and soul absorbed in the deep things of the spiritual world; not forgetting, never absent from his mind and heart, the precious, consecrated companion God had given him as wife, who was back in a little log house many miles away, praying for him, living mostly on water and bread that her husband might be instrumental in aiding in laying the foundation for a great cause to be used for the salvation of the coming generation. which now is here.

When we consider the great sacrifices that the pioneer preachers and their companions made for us, in the way of planting righteousness that we might reap and enjoy, not once should we ever neglect our obligation to them, in the way of caring for them by providing comfortable homes, food and raiment.

THE IMMORTAL SOUL.

At a dinner given to Victor Hugo, in Paris some years ago, he delivered an impromptu address, in which he gave expression to his faith in the infinite and in the soul's immortality. His friend, Houssaye, who was present, says:

"Hugo at that time was a man of steel, with no sign of old age about him, but with all the agility, the suppleness, the ease and grace of his best years." He was contradicting the atheist, and his friend says, "his face was bright with the heavenly halo, and his eyes shone like burning coals."

"There are no occult forces," he said; "there are only luminous forces. Occult force is chaos; the luminous force is God. Man is an infinite little copy of God. This is glory enough for man. I am a man, an invisible atom, a drop in the ocean, a grain of sand on the shore. Little as I am, I feel the God in me, because I can also bring forth out of my chaos. I make books which are creations. I feel in myself the future life. I am like a forest which has been more than once cut down; the new shoots are stronger and livelier than ever. I am rising, I know, toward the sky. The sunshine is on my head. The earth gives me the reflection of unknown worlds. You say the soul is nothing but the result of bodily powers. Why, then, is my soul more luminous when my bodily powers begin to fail? Winter is on my head, and eternal spring is in my heart. There I breathe at this hour the fragrance of the lilacs, the violets, and the roses as at twenty years ago. The nearer I approach the end the plainer I hear around me the immortal symphonies of the worlds which invite me. It is marvelous, yet simple. It is a fairy tale, and it is historic. For half a century I have been writing my thoughts in prose, and verse, history, philosophy, drama, romance, tradition, satire, ode, and song. I have tried all, but I feel I have not said a thousandth part of what is in me. When I go down to the grave, I can say, like many others, I have finished my day's work, but I cannot say I have finished my life. My days will begin again next morning. The tomb is not a blind alley; it is a thoroughfare. It closes on the twilight to open on the dawn."—L'Univers.

The preacher who can tell a story that would make a horse laugh need not be surprised when men refuse to believe him when he tells them the way to heaven.

NEW GLAND INVIGORATOR RESTORES VITAL FORCE

Remarkable Scientific Discovery Makes Glands Active. Easily Used at Home. Old and Young Benefited.

Thousands of men and women who want again the nerve, vigor, virility and ambition of earlier years, are finding all these through science's discovery of an invigorator, stronger and surer than even the famous gland treatment.

The amazing benefits of this discovery are largely confined to the lower spinal nerve centers and certain easily stimulated vital organs and blood vessels. Remarkable improvement is frequently evident within 24 hours and gratifying results are almost always obtained during the first week after treatment starts. Elderly people especially rejoice in their renewal flood of youthful vigor.

Physicians often recommend its use in cases that defy other treatments. Men of 60 say they have been restored to the full vigor of 30.

This remarkable compound is prepared in tablet form for convenient home use. The distributors of Vi-Tabs, which is the name of this invigorator, offer everyone the opportunity of trying a regular $2.00 double strength treatment with the full understanding that it costs nothing if it fails.

If you wish to secure for yourself the amazing results that it gives, simply send your name and address in strict confidence to the Vi-Tabs Laboratories, Dept. 121, 1018 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago, and this $2.00 double strength treatment will be immediately mailed to you. Deposit with the postman only $2.00 when package arrives in plain, sealed wrapper. If, at the end of one week, you are not satisfied, the Laboratories will immediately refund your money. This guarantee is protected by deposits in two large Chicago banks, so do not hesitate to accept this offer.

A MESSAGE FROM THE BISHOPS.

To the Ministers and Members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Beloved Brethren in Christ Jesus Our Lord: Grace and peace be multiplied unto you through the knowledge of God and of Jesus Christ, according as his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of Him that hath called us to glory and virtue.

Your general superintendents, after carefully reviewing the work of our beloved church during the year just passed and taking minute account of the conditions prevalent throughout all its borders, rejoice to inform you that its prosperity is very marked and its program most cheering.

Upon all the fields in which it labors, both at home and abroad, have fallen refreshing visitations of grace which have steadied its faith, quickened its zeal, and increased its fruitage of its toils.

The number of its members is nearing 2,500,000 souls, of whom nearly or quite 50,000 are in the churches on foreign fields.

The success of our foreign missions is very gratifying. The bishops who have had charge of those fields report to their colleagues pleasing and promising conditions in the work of Methodism in those needy lands. The people are more eager for the gospel of Christ than ever before. They crowd our places of worship and hang upon the preaching of our ministry with a pathetic interest and pleading attention of starving souls. Neither the churches we have erected for them nor the faithful efforts of all our missionaries, assisted by the zealous activity of nearly three hundred native preachers, suffice to meet the demands of the multiplied thousands who seek from them the light of life.

The capacity of our Christian schools in these benighted lands is exceeded greatly by the number of students who desire the instruction which they offer.

Our hospitals and other humane enterprises are unable to do all the work of healing and help asked of them.

In Latin America, in Europe, in Asia, and in Africa we are glad to report that evangelical Christianity is advancing rapidly. The work in Korea is truly marvelous, and in China a fervent evangelism is propagating rapidly pure and undefiled religion.

Not in vainglory do we recount these victories of faith and love, but rather in humble gratitude would we spread these trophies at the feet of our Redeemer and crown him Lord of all.

With the greatest satisfaction we find peace and harmony prevailing generally throughout the church, notwithstanding some dissonant voices here and there, such as have been raised in divisive cries from the days of the apostles and the primitive church to the present time.

With the manifest favor of our risen and glorified Lord resting upon the labors of our beloved church, with an ecclesiastical polity which in all its past history has yielded most blessed results and which needs little amendment now, and with credal confessions and established standards of doctrine protected by constitutional defenses which even the highest legislative body of the church—the General Conference—cannot ignore or set aside, there is little or no occasion for bitter controversies and estranging contentions among our preachers and people.

We have received from the wise and devoted fathers of Methodism an inhertance in both a deposit of faith and a legacy of government which no man under any plea of individual liberty should dare impair and with which all devout souls should be abundantly satisfied.

The doctrinal platform of our Methodism is supported by both reason and revelation, and it is protected, as it should be, by constitutional safeguards. No one can be admitted to membership in the church without confessing steadfast belief of that venerable symbol of doctrine known as the "Apostles' Creed" and accepted by the great body of the faithful in all the churches. No pastor is authorized to receive into our communion any person who cannot or who will not make such a confession of his faith. As a condition of admittance into the order of deacons every preacher is required to declare that he "unfeignedly believes all the canonical Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments."

In the Apostles' Creed, our Articles of Religion, and our impressive Ritual, the deity of Christ, his miraculous birth, his atoning sacrifice, and his resurrection from the dead are affirmed most clearly and unmistakably. With equal emphasis in these historic forms are set forth the revealed truths which concern personal salvation in the world that now is and the hope of life everlasting in the world to come.

As no one can obtain membership in our church or entrance into its ministry who denies or minimizes these great verities of our faith, it follows that any one who desires to remain within its pale or retain a place in its service must continue to abide by its teachings. Otherwise its privileges must be surrendered or they must be held under false pretenses.

It is of the last importance that this faith be maintained in its pristine purity, proclaimed with authority to all who hear us, and propagated with burning zeal to the ends of the earth. In its maintenance and propagation is laid the mission of our Methodism; and if by any possibility our preachers and people should prove unfaithful to this mission, our church would cease to have a reason for its existence.

At no time in our history was the fervent proclamation of the gospel committed to Methodism more necessary than it now is, or the conditions more favorable for its world-wide propagation.

A war-worn, grief-stricken, and sin-cursed world lies before us calling piteously for the gospel of our Lord's redeeming grace. No discoveries of science, no progress of modern thought requires the revision of this gospel to adapt it to the wants of a weary and sinful race. Least of all can its negation be endured. It is so reasonable and roomy that it needs neither modification nor enlargement for the freest exercise of Christian liberty within it, and few, if any, feel their rightful freedom abridged by the acceptance of its saving truths.

The situation which confronts us calls for fidelity to this gospel and tireless effort to impart it to those who have it not. We are not called to the impossible task of discovering a newer and better gospel, but to the work of delivering to those who know it not that which in all ages has been and is now the power of God unto salvation. To all men everywhere, as far as in us lies, we are constrained by every sacred obligation of gratitude to our Lord and every tender consideration for the welfare of our humanity to proclaim this gospel with the power of the Holy Ghost sent down from heaven. And this will we do by the help of God.

To this end our Centenary campaign was undertaken most opportunely. It was brought forward when the world had been prostrated by the most dreadful war in the history of mankind. The European nations in which were found the largest and most zealous bodies of evangelical Christians were bereft of multiplied thousands of their sons and greatly impoverished in their resources. Upon our country no such suffering fell. To the people of the United States the war brought sore grief, perplexing problems, and heavy burdens, but it left them with increased wealth. And the Methodists share well with their fellow citizens the unprecented opulence of the land. We were, therefore, prepared to respond to the appeal of such a movement as the Centenary campaign, calling for millions of money to meet the needs of an appalling crisis. The response of our church to that epochal movement led other churches to put forth similar efforts, by which vast sums were devoted to the cause of missions. Who can say what direful consequences to Christianity in unevangelized lands might have followed the world war if these American churches had not been willing to do these unusual things at a time when the spiritual needs of mankind were so urgent and the resources of the evangelical churches in Europe were so depleted? The Centenary Movement in the light of all these facts seems to have been divinely inspired and quite providential.

Our God has been graciously pleased to accept and bless the offerings of our people made through it, and we cannot now without sin turn back from the complete fulfillment of its great purpose. We must carry it to the consummation which we have set by the pledges that we have made for the glory of our Lord and the blessing of millions who sit in the dark places of the earth under the shadow of death.

Having set our hands to the plow, we dare not make ourselves unfit for Christ's kingdom by looking backward. In His name we must go forward. The offerings which we have solemnly vowed to God we must place with joy upon his altar.

And our Christian Education Movement must receive equal consideration by us. Besides being directly and vitally related to every part of the life and work of the church, it is complementary to the cause of missions and indispensable to it. For the work in our foreign mission fields thoroughly furnished missionaries are required. Pauline culture as well as Pauline consecration is necessary to fit one for an apostolic ministry among people who have never heard the message of salvation. And this type of culture cannot be secured by schools and colleges which are not penetrated by the gospel and filled with the Spirit of Christ. Secular institutions produce few ministers for the home field and fewer foreign missionaries.

Without our Methodist colleges and universities we cannot maintain the work of the church at home or abroad. From its earliest beginnings Methodism has recognized the necessity of highly educated men as well as devout men of limited culture to carry on its work. And nothing could be worse for evangelical Christianity than to have it identified with ignorance and superstition. "For the soul to be without knowledge is not good"; and just because the common people hear gladly the preaching of our church as they did the words of our Lord, we must provide for their educational needs. Methodism seems to have been anointed with a special unction for preaching the gospel to the poor, and hence to the children of the poor who are saved through its ministrations it must bring educational opportunities and privileges.

A MESSAGE FROM THE BISHOPS.

And the people of larger means also need Christian schools. Otherwise their sons and daughters will be educated outside the church and away from it. We see, therefore, that we are under weighty obligations to all classes to establish and maintain colleges and universities in which the highest education and the most elevated culture may be offered to all who will take it.

Upon the members of the faculties who serve in our institutions of learning rests a responsibility scarcely less than that which rests upon the preachers who minister at the altars of our churches for propagating the purest form of Christianity. They are the agents and ministers of the church for the enlightenment and development of its youth. In the fear of God they must teach the youth committed to their instruction by both example and precept. Nothing that dishonors our Savior or is contrary to the accepted standards of our church must issue from their lips lest they set fermenting an evil leaven of unbelief and ungodliness. It behooves them to seek the salvation of the souls of their pupils not less than the improvement of their intellects. A vain and sterile intellectualism must not be allowed to displace or subordinate the higher spiritual purposes for the achievement of which the church establishes and maintains institutions of learning.

We are living in a high-powered world, and its power through processes of knowledge seems to be increasing more rapidly than its spiritual capacity for directing its enormous force to right ends. Already its culture outruns its conscience, and its power imperils its safety. Its self-destruction is inevitable unless its spiritual life shall speedily overtake and dominate its intellectual resources. Unholy aspirations for knowledge, inspired by diabolic subtlety, blighted paradise, and godless education, may eventually curse the whole earth if it be not overcome by the Christian learning which casts down imaginations and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God and brings into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ.

We cannot have such learning among our people if we withhold from our colleges and universities the support to which they are entitled.

Christian education in the United States is in a far worse case than it would have been if the churches had been more faithful and generous to their institutions of learning. The estrangement of colleges from the faith of their pious founders through the negligence and niggardliness of their rightful owners has been all too common in America, and Methodism has not always escaped this hurtful and humiliating process of alienation of educational enterprises.

Our Christian Education Movement will check; if it does not entirely arrest, this evil. If the pledges made to it are redeemed, a new era in our educational history will begin and shine more and more to the day of perfect deliverance from the menace of secularism.

It would be unreasonable to expect that every one of all our institutions of learning should be entirely exempt from every possible defect and perfectly clear of everything objectionable; but in no schools in the world can be found a more Scriptural type of Christianity or a purer spiritual atmosphere. Where else can we look for religious education if not to them? Whatever may be their failings, they have no faults which justify punishing them with the wretched confinement of an imprisoning poverty on a diet of bread and water. Generous support of them by the church will fasten upon them obligations to the church whereby their purity and their abiding influence for good will be more certainly assured. Neglect of them will weaken the hold of the church upon them and tend to make them the prey of a devouring secularism.

In the name of our divine Savior and Heavenly Sovereign we entreat you to promote these great missionaries and educational enterprises of the church with scrupulous care and abounding liberality.

You will set forward also with renewed zeal all the great work committed to us by God. Participate in the evangelism of the church. Rebuild the altars of prayer in the homes where they have fallen and rekindle their holy fires. Attend the worship of God's house, cultivate the fellowship of his people, and enter with joyousness into the communion of saints.

In this day of restlessness, disquietude, and distraction, when so many are tossed to and fro and carried about by every gust of windy doctrine, "be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not vain in the Lord."

Now the God of peace that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus Christ, that great Shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant, make you perfect in every good work to do his will, working in you that which is well pleasing in his sight, through Jesus Christ, to whom be glory forever and ever.

STATEMENT BY THE BISHOPS.

Whereas, the last General Conference in response to memorials from different sections of the church concerning loyalty to our standards of doctrines, for which as a church we have stood from the beginning—doctrines that have been the foundation and substance of our message through all the years; and,

Whereas, the General Conference appointed a special committee on standards of doctrine to which all memorials on the doctrines of the church were referred; and,

Whereas, this special committee submitted a report to the General Conference, which report was adopted by an almost unanimous vote on May 16, 1922; and,

Whereas, this report reaffirmed in no uncertain way the necessity for fidelity to the "time-honored and universally accepted doctrines of our Methodism"; and,

Whereas, this report called "upon all Annual Conferences, Boards of Trustees of institutions of learning, and other responsible officers of our church to take all necessary steps to banish and drive away all erroneous and strange doctrines contrary to God's Word"; and,

Whereas, there continues in some sections of the church hurtful agitation on the subject of the doctrinal teaching of some of our preachers and teachers, at home and in the foreign field, causing confusion, discouragement and divisions among our people, and resulting in some cases in the repudiation of financial obligations already made and in defeating in some degree the evangelistic program of the church;

Therefore, resolved,

1. That we call the attention of the Board of Missions, the secretaries of the Board of Missions, and the Committee on Candidates to the facts as set out above, and urge that great care be exercised in selecting men and women for the mission fields of the church, and especially on the points of doctrinal soundness, personal experience and fidelity to the church.

2. That we strongly recommend that any missionaries who may find themselves out of harmony with the doctrine or polity of the church and are unable to accept the doctrinal statement of the General Conference, be discontinued as representatives of our church on the mission fields.

3. We pledge ourselves to keep before our brethren and sisters who are charged especially with the responsibility of training our young men and women for Christian work, the importance of looking carefully to the doctrinal and experimental soundness of teachers in our schools and institutes.

Resolved, 4, That we name a committee of three, of whom our chairman shall be a member, to bring this action to the attention of the Board of Missions, the Missionary Secretaries, and to the active heads of our schools and institutes.

MERIDIAN DISTRICT SUNDAY SCHOOL INSTITUTE AND DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

The Meridian District Sunday School Institute began at 2:30 p. m., May 1, at Poplar Springs church, with Rev. J. C. Chambers in charge. Quite a number of the churches were represented, and both the day and night sessions were of deep interest. While not nearly all of the churches sent in reports, yet there were many evidences of an abiding interest in the Sunday school work in this District. Some, if not all, of the schools in Meridian are making rapid progress, two of them having a larger enrollment in the Sunday school than of church membership. The speeches of J. C. Chambers and O. C. Hull, his fine asisstant, were to the point and very helpful. Prof. J. L. Ferguson, of Millsaps College, with his splendid address on Bible Study, added much to the interest of the Institute.

On Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, the District Conference was called to order by the presiding elder, Rev. Paul D. Hardin, who conducted appropriate devotional services. J. L. Sells was chosen secretary, and H. A. Wood, assistant. All the pastors of the district were present on the opening day except two, and one of those came on the second day. The attendance was away out of the ordinary, there being 3 superannuates, 22 preachers, 6 local preachers, 6 lay leaders, and 66 delegates in attendance, making 103 in all. The reports of the pastors were most heartening. Several very fine revivals have already been held, while many others are being ararnged for. Financial conditions are hopeful, reports indicating that more charges would pay all benevolent claims this year than ever before.

Among the visitors were: Rev. W. M. Williams, of Purvis; Rev. B. F. Lewis, from our Orphanage at Jackson; Rev. J. M. Morse, of Jackson; Dr. I. W. Cooper, of Whitworth College; Prof. J. L. Ferguson, of Millsaps College; Miss Elizabeth Hughes, former missionary in China; Miss Palmore, deaconess from our Wesley House; Rev. Algie Oliver, from McComb City. Most of these visitors made telling speeches about their respective interests, that added much to the pleasure of the Conference.

De Kalb was chosen as the place of the next Conference.

Lay delegates to the next Annual Conference were elected as follows: J. J. Houston, S. M. Graham, J. B. Holland, S. J. Creekmore, L. P. Brown, Mrs. P. D. Hardin, W. D. Hawkins, Dr. H. F. Tatum. Alternates: C. W. Cochran, D. W. Heidelberg, T. G. Bennett, C. G. Stokes.

The Ad Interim Licensing Committee consists of J. L. Decell, W. H. Lewis, W. A. Hays, J. M. Lewis, J. L. Sells. One very promising young man was licensed to preach, Leroy L. Matheny. The preaching of the Conference was done by Rev. M. A. Massey, of Waynesboro circuit, and Rev. John D. Ellis, of Quitman, who both gave characteristic and helpful messages.

Mrs. W. I. Denton, District Secretary of the Woman's Missionary Society, made a fine address about the work committed to her care; W. D. Hawkins was alert to all the interests of the Centenary; S. M. Graham, District Lay Leader, reported fine progress in his department.

Much interest was manifested in the coming Gipsy Smith revival, to be held soon in Meridian.

Through the wise and courteous guidance of the presiding elder, every matter coming before the Conference was given due attention, so that the adjournment was had at 4:30 Wednesday afternoon. Thus closed one of the best district conferences this writer has known.

JAMES L. SELLS, Secretary.

LAKE CHARLES DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

The fifty-fourth session of the District Conference of the Lake Charles District, Methodist Church, held in New Iberia, April 18, 19 and 20, will be long remembered by the church and by the delegates for the high spiritual atmosphere that characterized the entire session.

The preaching morning and evening was of an unusually good order.

Rev. J. B. Williams, presiding elder, was in the chair, to the delight and ease of the delegates, throughout the entire sessions.

Nearly every charge was represented, and the few absences were for very good reasons. Some time before the meeting the presiding elder sent to every pastor a questionnaire, which greatly facilitated the business of the conference. These reports were referred to a committee, who made a summary of them.

The lay members were there, almost every charge was represented. Several of the Conference Secretaries were present and represented their interests: Rev. A. S. Lutz, Secretary of Education; Rev. Briscoe Carter, Financial Secretary of the Orphanage at Ruston; Mr. S. S. Thomas, Secretary-Treasurer of the Missionary-Centenary; Rev. George S. Sexton, D.D., President of Centenary College; Rev. C. D. Atkinson, Conference Superintendent of Sunday School Work; Miss Caroline Hess, Elementary Superintendent of Sunday School Work.

The Conference unanimously adopted the goals of organization, method and quotas for Sunday School Day offering that were suggested by the Superintendent.

All of the District Sunday School officers were present but one. It was found that there were thirty-five Sunday schools in the district, also four union Sunday schools. Of the thirty-five, ten are of the B type, and twenty-five of the C type.

Reports were made of the general work and the elementary work in the schools by all of the B type and twenty-four of the C type; that at least 340 pieces on Sunday school booklets, on evangelism, organization and methods had been sent to the workers; that over 126 letters have been written.

Brother Atkinson reported we were the banner parish in attendance of district officers and the largest number of reports received from the schools.

The lay delegates elected to Annual Conference were: R. H. Nelson, A. M. Mayo, W. J. Bernard, J. W. Wynn, W. L. Doss, Mrs. B. M. Lambert, W. H. Moore, and Mrs. Leon I. McCain; alternates, Robert J. O'Neal, J. J. Davidson, H. B. Morgan, and Mrs. Crow Girard.

Merryville was selected as the place for the next conference, over Lafayette.

The following resolution was offered and, after some discussion pro and con, was passed by a vote of 19 for and 11 against:

Whereas, there is considerable complaint that skepticism, under the guise of so-called "modernism," is prevalent to some extent in a majority of our educational institutions, some pupils, and even among those of high secretarial position in our church; and,

Whereas, distrust and suspicion, to some extent, are thus being created among our people as to the soundness of some of our missionaries, ministry, press, and educational institutions; and,

Whereas, we believe that our people and ministry are, for the most part, loyal and true to our Lord, his word, and our church; and

Whereas, we do not believe that any man, teacher or preacher, accused of heresy who is innocent, for the reason that he has every reason and opportunity to correct such impressions, and his chief duty is to defend and expound the Bible; and,

Whereas, so-called "modernism" is extremely obnoxious to those of God's Word in the sense that our founders and fathers of Methodim accepted it; and,

Whereas, considering the position held by some who are suspected of "modernism" in our church, the very foundations of our existence as a church are threatened; and,

Whereas, the collection of funds for our mission work and educational institutions is being hindered by the suspicion above mentioned; therefore, be it resolved:

That we sincerely deplore this condition.

That we believe, in view of the history of so-called "modernism" in its relation to Christianity from the days of the Apostles till now, and of its effect upon our church in the teaching of it by an institution, until recently supposed to be ours, that the time has come for strong and drastic action on the part of those of us, both laymen and preachers, who are loyal to the Bible and love of Methodism.

That we call upon all loyal Methodists of our great church, everywhere, to gird themselves for the fight that is upon us, and that by the help of our God, we free our church of this stigma and danger.

That the Secretary of this, the Lake Charles District Conference, be instructed to send a copy of these resolutions to the New Orleans Christian Advocate and to the Christian Advocate of Nashville for publication.

Signed by: Henry T. Young, H. N. Harrison, Robert J. O'Neal, Leon I. McCain, J. A. McCormack, Lastie N. Hoffpauir.

Mrs. J. W. Wynn, District Secretary of the Woman's Missionary Society, represented her work. R. J. O'Neal represented his work.

Rev. J. Hervey Hoffpauir was recommended for re-admission to the Annual Conference.

The report of the Committee on Findings was as follows:

We are glad to note the progress thus far made, and believe the Lord will do greater things for us during the year.

We want to commend our presiding elder for the business-like questionnaire sent to the pastors suggesting things upon which reports should be made.

From the reports, we believe the Epworth Leagues are in a fairly good condition, but we believe there are greater possibilities for our Leagues and Leaguers. It appears that more Leagues should be organized.

We are not unmindful of the reports as to the matters of infant baptism, and of administering our Lord's Supper, but we believe that careful attention should be given by all pastors to both of these sacred things and that we make effort to baptize all babies possible, and to give the people the Lord's Supper as directed by our book of Discipline.

We believe that greater effort should be made to get our people to establish family altars. We should remind our people that as really as our general rules are against worldliness, they direct that every Methodist home have a family altar. Our Board at Nashville will furnish valuable helps to those who desire to estabish these altars.

From the results already obtained from our evangelistic efforts, we believe that we have the more encouragement to push this matter. First, by careful planning, which not only means as to time, etc., but also as to length of time to be consumed by the meeting or meetings; second, our people should be called to systematic prayer for a revival of religion; third, we should carefully look to our needs and then make effort to secure the help of the best possible man or men to assist us in the meeting or meetings.

We rejoice in some of the reports concerning subscriptions being taken for our church papers. We believe with effort on the part of every pastor that the number of subscribers can be doubled this year. We would call attention to the fact that our publishers will send all the Disciplines that any pastor thinks he can sell, and will take back at the end of the year all unsold copies. This appears to us to be a fine opportunity for us to put our Discipline in almost every Methodist home during the year.

We also recommend that effort be made to get our people to buy and read the "Methodist Armor."

We recommend that we try to bring every Sunday school up to one or the other of the Programs of Work of our Sunday School Board.

We also call attention to the Institute to be held in the District this year, and urge that every pastor try to get all possible attendance from his churches.

Since our State work depends so much upon the proceeds from Sunday School Day, we urge that this day be observed in every school in the district, and that the amounts apportioned to each school be raised.

We believe that the missionary work should be kept before the people: the effort should be made to secure decisions from our young people for this great work; that every congregation should have a Woman's Missionary Society organized in it; that all collections for missions should be brought up as near in full as it is possible to do so, and continuous effort from now until the close of the year will largely bring up these collections; that special efforts should be made to develop all mission territory adjacent to our charges, and to this end that we preach in school houses, private homes, and in every place where it is possible to get a hearing, on Sunday afternoons, mid-week nights, etc., and thus try to keep alive the traditions given us by the founders and fathers of Methodism, and also to reach every possible soul with the gospel.

We believe the best financial plan for a church is the budget system, and suggest that we make all possible effort to install that system in every congregation throughout the district.

We recommend that continued and great effort be made to get our peope to tithe, and call attention to the fact that our board at Nashville will furnish a splendid variety and any needed quantity of tracts on tithing free.

We believe that continued effort will bring up the collections on the Centenary and Educational subscriptions, and recommend that the Committee on Lay Activities furnish the minute men for the speeches in every congregation as is the plan of our church.

We deplore the fact that there are as yet no candidates for the ministry from our district, and believe that with prayer and effort we can yet, this year, get a number of our young men to take up this work to which we believe God is calling many of them.

We want to commend the laymen for their organization and labors. We commend their slogan, "To make every work a hundred per cent work financially," and their efforts to see that no church is without a Sunday service are highly commendable.

We urge a more determined effort on the part of the lay activities of the district, as we believe the development of our laymen in church activities is imperative, and that when accomplished will largely solve the various problems of our church.

We heartily endorse the plans of our Orphanage Board, and trust that our district will arrange to build a cottage, and that this cottage will be among the very first erected at our plant at Ruston.

Respectfully submitted,
P. O. LOWERY,
R. H. NELSON,
HENRY T. YOUNG,
Committee

The district officers for the coming year are: Lay Leader, Robert J. O'Neal. Associate Lay Leaders, J. A. Stockwell and W. H. Moore. In Sunday school work: District Secretary, A. M. Mayo; Elementary Superintendent, Mrs. J. P. Wikoff; Intermediate-Sernor Superintendent, Mrs. H. H. Hebert; Young People's Superintendent, Mrs. B. M. Lambert; Adult Department Superintendent, C. C. Carver; Teacher Training Superintendent, Mrs. C. E. Roberts; Missionary Superintendent, Mr. J. T. Adams.

The Committee on Social Service made the following report:

Whereas, the church stands for purity of life in individual, State and nation, and the whole world, we declare ourselves as follows:

1. That horse race gambling in New Orleans is a corrupting and demoralizing influence in our State and nation, and should be abolished as being a violation of the spirit, if not the letter, of the State Constitution, which says that "gambling is a vice and the Legislature shall pass laws to suppress it."

That practice in horse race gambling makes it more difficult to enforce statutory legislation that prohibits certain forms of gambling, like slot machines, wheels of fortune and such like.

2. That Sabbath desecration be condemned in such common forms as Sunday baseball, horse racing, auto racing and Sunday theatricals, and that we commend and congratulate our fellow-citizens of the progressive and enterprising city of Jennings, La., for the decisive majority against Sunday theatricals in the recent election in that city. Also Alexandria for the passage of the ordinance deing away with the public pool rooms, to take effect on July 1.

3. That we wish to protest emphatically against the opening and operating of the State Fair at Shreveport, La., on Sunday, and allowing gambling at the same.

4. That copies of these resolutions be sent to the mayor of New Orleans, the managers of the State Fair at Shreveport, the mayors of Jennings and Alexandria, the daily papers of New Orleans, and the local paper.

ALONZO EARLY,
LEON I. McCAIN
J. IVY HOFFPAUIR

N. B.—The Lake Charles District embraces the following parishes: Sabine, Vernon, Beauregard, Calcasieu, Cameron, Allen, Jefferson Davis, Acadia, Lafayette, Iberia, Vermillion, and part of St. Landry and Evangeline.

The character of eight local preachers was passed—one preacher, Rev. G. S. Roberts had died.

The report of the Committee on Quarterly Conference Records showed them well kept, with one serious defect, in having so few reports from the trustees as to the title of church property. The same Board of Trustees of district property was confirmed.

The ladies of the New Iberia church were very thoughtful and considerate, and the two evenings of the conference served a fine supper in the Sunday school annex to the delegates and attendants, which gave opportunity for a delightful social hour as well.

Brother Harrison, the host of the conference, was much on the go, and he and his people made every delegate feel that he had the best place.

A. M. MAYO, Secretary.

I sincerely and earnestly urge that you plan to arrive in Inverness Wednesday afternoon, May 23.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Monroe District.

During the past month the interests of the church have been carefully looked into. The outstanding feature in the District was the District Conference at Winnsboro. The attendance was good, the spirit was fine, and all indications pointed toward progress. The Sunday School Institute on Sunday, April 29, struck a high note in Sunday school endeavor. We adopted the goals proposed for the district, and we believe that we will reach them.

We have had some gracious revivals during the month. Rev. J. V. Bennett led in meetings at Winnsboro and Tallulah, resulting in spiritual uplift at both places.

At Waterproof the services were conducted by Rev. J. M. Alford, and a good spirit prevails as the result.

St. Joseph was blessed exceedingly under the efficient evangelistic zeal of Rev. H. T. Young. All the other points throughout the district are planning for revival meetings.

A meeting was held at Winnsboro, Monday, May 7, for the purpose of presenting to the people the need of a new church. Rev. I. W. Cooper, of Whitworth College, brought the message of inspiration. Mr. Wood Thompson delivered a forceful address on the need of a church. A subscription totaling $6,350 was received. The people are planning to erect a $40,000 building to take care of the needs of the growing Sunday school and congregation.

The work on the Gilbert church is progressing nicely, and if nothing unforeseen happens they will be able to be in a first-class brick building by July 1.

* * *

The Woman's Missionary Society of the district held an interesting meeting at West Monroe, May 3-4. A goodly number of delegates attended. A fine program was presented, under the direction of the capable and efficient District Secretary, Mrs. R. F. Hand.

* * *

Sicily Island charge is doing a good work. Brother Pickett has been hindered by bad roads and sickness, but the outlook is bright.

* * *

All the preachers are hard at work, and we are trusting that a great revival will spread throughout the district, bringing many precious souls into a more sacred relationship with our Lord.

W. D. KLEINSCHMIDT, P. E.

Lake Charles District.

We have about completed the second round of quarterly conferences. The preachers are in good spirits and having fine congregations.

The Sunday schools in the district are making splendid progress. The Leesville school, Brother W. C. Cudd, superintendent, is doing a great work. De Ridder, with J. H. Cain as superintendent; Lake Charles, with A. M. Mayo as superintendent; Crowley, with Walter Fontenot as superintendent, and Rayne, with R. C. Holt as superintendent, are worthy of special mention.

The pastors are doing their best for the Centenary cause, and meeting with some success.

The District Conference convened at New Iberia April 9. The attendance of preachers and laymen was good.

J. B. WILLIAMS, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Grenada District.

Grenada District is moving forward. Reports to the District Conference, which met at Pickens, May 8-10, were encouraging and the outlook promising. Revivals have been held at Lexington, Holly Springs, Duck Hill, Main Street, Water Valley, and Stewart. The Centenary campaign was made throughout the district and collections were fair. All finances in the district are in better condition than usual. Effort is being made by the pastors to provide for all benevolent assessments by June 1.

Sallis circuit is building a new parsonage. The old parsonage has been torn down, the new building is now going up, and nearly all the money is in hand to pay for it.

* * *

Poplar Creek circuit has purchased a parsonage. The old one was destroyed by fire, without insurance.

* * *

Palestine Church, near Water Valley, was blown to bits by the storm which passed through recently. It has been rebuilt and the work paid for.

* * *

Plans are now being made to rebuild the church at Lamar, which was burned recently.

* * *

The church at Mahon was wrecked by wind recently. None of the churches destroyed by wind and fire had insurance to cover the loss. This should be a warning to our people to provide fire and tornado insurance for our churches and parsonages.

* * *

Rev. M. E. Scott, pastor at Water Valley, Main Street, and Taylor, has sent one-half of the benevolent assessments to the Conference Treasurer. The other half will follow.

* * *

Rev. W. F. Rogers has the work well in hand on Holcomb circuit. Extensive improvements have been made on the parsonage. Congregations are large and the people responsive.

* * *

Winona circuit is taking on new life under the pastorate of Rev. J. S. Maxey. A large part of the assessment for benevolences has been provided for by individual subscriptions. C. R. Holmes, from this circuit, was licensed to preach by the recent District Conference.

Holly Springs has two young local preachers now. W. L. Hanna received license to preach from the District Conference. He will enter Millsaps College next fall.

* * *

The revival conducted by Rev. W. A. Wilson at Stewart completely revolutionized the town. Additions to the church included several heads of families. Rev. J. A. Goad, the pastor, reports the entire charge in fine condition.

* * *

Sunday School Day has been observed in several schools and all the pastors promise general observance of the day.

All pastors and Sunday school workers are urged to attend the Training School which meets at Grenada College, June 7-14. Room reservations should be made at once.

* * *

West is one of the best churches in the district. All departments of the church are in fine condition. The recent quarterly conference was an occasion of real spiritual uplift. All financial obligations have been promptly met.

* * *

Pickens entertained the District Conference royally. The entire charge, under the leadership of Rev. J. S. Duncan, the pastor, is flourishing. All benevolent assessments have been provided for and most of the money is in hand. Members are being received into the church constantly. Prayer meetings and all services are largely attended.

The entire line moves forward.

METHODISM'S ANNIVERSARY DAY—MAY 24.

By Rev. F. B. Hill.

On May 24, 1738, one of the red-letter days of history, a small company were gathered in a small room in Aldersgate, London. We know the name of only one man in that group, and although the room is dimly lighted, we can see in the soft candle-light that fine chiselled face which reminds us of the countenance of John Milton. There is one who stands up to read from a book—Luther's Preface to the Epistle to the Romans. Up to this point it is all truly commonplace, for it is only a bare and small room in which some eighteenth century folk are gathered together; but suddenly something happens which makes May 24 a Magnus Dies, something which turned prose into poetry, and changed the course of the history of the world. The episode becomes an epoch; the walls of that room are by some marvel pushed further and further back until we see that "the world is its parish." The scene is detailed and luminous. Here is the golden message—the message which is the most golden in that golden book, THE JOURNAL OF JOHN WESLEY. It is our Deed of Declaration, and no one knows the secret of the mighty heart of the tireless rider of the eighteenth century who has not heard the sweet strains of its music:

"In the evening I went very unwillingly to a Society in Aldersgate Street, where one was reading Luther's Preface to the Epistle to the Romans. About a quarter to nine, while he was describing the change which God works in the heart through faith in Christ, I felt my heart strangely warmed. I felt I did trust in Christ, Christ alone, for salvation, and an assurance was given me that He had taken away my sins, even mine, and saved me from the law of sin and death."

The John Wesley who conquered England for Christ, was born at a quarter before nine, in the evening, in Aldersgate Street, on May 21, 1738. The man who went out of that room was not the same man who went into it—he was immeasurably greater. Before a quarter to nine, his thinking was "Georgia" thinking; his worship was "Georgia" worship; his loving was "Georgia" loving. It is not all written down in the "Georgia" Journal—surely one of the most pathetic documents in literature? He never rose earlier, or worked harder than in Georgia, and never suffered more; but frozen hearts were not thawed by his ministry, for "his heart was not strangely warmed." To use a homely illustration, he had the grate, the coals, the wood, the paper—all the things which will make a fire if you have a match—but he had nothing with which to light it. He had scholarship, industry, discipline, religion, devotion—but none of them in a dynamic way. In later years, he tells us all this himself, and sums up his "Georgia" days in the well-known words, "I had even then the faith of a servant, though not of a son." "Georgia" thinking did little for Georgia, and little for the world—it was not homely enough; there was no hearthside where the fire glowed, to which hungry outcasts, pierced by the cold east wind, could come and find food and warmth. After a quarter to nine the "Georgia" thinking was burnt to nothingness by the glowing fire of love and the assurance of God's forgiving grace. His thinking is now "Aldersgate" thinking; his worship is "Aldersgate" worship; his loving is "Aldersgate" loving. Faith is now no longer something merely intellectual, but rather inspirational; not something without, at which he can precisely and scholastically define; but something within, which gives him an awareness of the Father's love, and flings him forth as a flaming ambassador of the love of Christ. Having dwelt in "Aldersgate Street," he never again seeks to find a home in "Georgia." The "Georgia" portions of his Journal which speak of his spiritual experience, in later years he corrected, but the "Aldersgate" record needed no amendment.

The passage of the years did not dim its meaning for him, for it ever spoke of that night which gave him warm and glowing life. May 24 was not only his real birthday, but it became also the birthday of much that was best in that strangely misunderstood century—the eighteenth. William Watson has sung of that age:

> "Unflushed with ardor and unblanched with awe,
> Her lips in profitless derision curled.
> She saw with dull emotion—if she saw—
> The vision of the glory of the world."

It was the message of this May 24, as proclaimed by Wesley, which transformed "the dull emotion" into passionate love, and enabled the colliers of Kingswood, the poor of Newcastle, and the farm laborers of many countrysides, to see with eyes aflame with love, "the vision of the glory of the world."

It is good to remember that on May 24 Wesley felt his heart "strangely warmed," but that is not the most wondrous thing about this anniversary. The greatest marvel is that the fire kindled on that day not merely never died down, but that it burned higher and hotter. The grate of his heart, after May 24, never speaks of mouldering fires and of grey ash. We celebrate this day because it speaks of something glorious, which, during the long years of his life, Wesley never lost, and not because it tells of one evening's thrilling experience. On that day Wesley realized religion as something which was inward and personal; on that day something was done for him which made it possible for him to pass from the "Georgia" country of futility into the "Aldersgate" land of crusade and conquest, in which he ever afterwards dwelt.

If we turn to the Journal of any date after May 21, 1738, we find that the flame of fire which was first kindled in Aldersgate Street blazes there. It is never less in glow, but, on the contrary, if one reads the Journal rightly, the fire becomes a bonfire; the light which shone in that little room becomes the beacon standing on the highest hill of the eighteenth century, giving warmth and light to an increasing number of drenched and bewildered pilgrims.

We have all known moments of glowing exaltation. There is nothing singular in that. The singularity of Wesley's story after May 24 is that love's fire never burnt low in his heart. Fires die down when we do not put fuel on them. Francis of Assisi speaks to us of fire and of the flame of color, but the Franciscans have not always, even though wearing the robe of their order, felt the fires burning in their souls. Wesley's life, after May 24, speaks of glow; but sometimes we, his children, have spoken of frost rather than fire. May 24 is for us both a glory and rebuke. It makes us aware of the chilliness of our own lives, and calls us to that gowing experience which can vitalize and energize all our tasks, and which makes our knowledge take fire, and give forth light and heat. It speaks of that fellowship with Christ which transforms monotony into melody, and infuses into the tasks of today the joy of the great crusade. There is no redemption in going back to a past century, but there is, in the contemplation of the lives of the truly great. Paradoxical as it seems, it is nevertheless true that you cannot go back to Wesley; you rather run forward to greet him. For the spirit of the truly great prophet is not only ahead of his own, but of all centuries. The "Georgia" Wesley is quite out of date, but the "Aldersgate" Wesley is perennially young, for the fires of an inexhaustible life burn within him.

One of our English Wesleyan ministers, Rev. W. Bradley Brash, to whom I am indebted for these thoughts, says: 'Some time ago I stood in the graveyard behind Wesley's Chapel, and sorrowed, as I saw the decaying monument which marks the last (and only) earthly resting place of John Wesley. If we realized what he meant to his century, and what he is for all ages, that scandal of neglect would cease. We should pour in our donations to the minister of Wesley Chapel and help him in his brave effort to put that cemetery into a seemly condition. But we should do something greater than that, for in this land which he loved so dearly, and through which he traveled like a flame of fire, we should erect a nobler monument to him—one built out of the living stones of those who keep his birthday in the spirit, feel their hearts strangely warmed within them, and can say of their experience, "An assurance was given me that He had taken away my sins, even mine, and saved me from the law of sin and death."

It is delightful to remember that the month of the great experience was May. Georgia speaks of drear December, and Aldersgate of May—the month of blossom, fragrance, color. For that May 24 tells us of the spring which came to this world through the manifestation of the love and grace of God to John Wesley.

> "Triumphant news—a miracle—I sing,
> The everlasting miracles of Spring."

Methodist Parsonage, McDonoghville, La.

CENTENARY OF "HOME, SWEET HOME," TO BE HONORED.

One hundred years ago next May 8, "Home, Sweet Home," was sung in public for the first time. The melody came in the second act of an opera called "Clari, or the Maid of Milan," produced at Covent Garden. The libretto was written by a wandering American actor, John Howard Payne, and the music was composed by Sir Henry Bishop.

The opera died and was soon forgotten, but the centenary of the imperishable song it bequeathed to the English-speaking world is to be observed here. Leading musicians have expressed hope that the anniversary will be observed by singing the song at concerts throughout the world.

This news from London, England, makes one generation realize its passing. The song one heard so frequently in one's childhood, sung, played, whistled, is seldom heard these days. Children must love their homes now as then. John Howard Payne died when United States Minister to Tunis, and was buried there, and afterward his body was removed to Arlington Cemetery, Washington, D. C. The publishers of the song are said to have made "2,000 guineas" from it the first year, but its author profited but little.

There is never a moment's truce between goodness and badness.—Selected.

THE HEROISM OF THE METHODIST PREACHER.

By Bishop Collins Denny.

What is heroism? Not to pause on the loose sense in which the word is often used, even a little thought will bring to light the quality of courage in all forms of heroism; and courage, as Aristotle tells us, designates the golden mean between recklessness (unreasonable contempt of danger) and cowardice (excess of fear). Courage, then, may be said to mean that firmness of spirit which meets danger without needless fear.

In addition, heroism cannot truly be said to be manifested by an egoist, a selfish person, one who acts not for others but for himself, no matter how courageous one may be. Service is essential to true heroism. But service involves self-sacrifice. Heroism, then, may be said to be self-sacrificing service. To live that life takes courage of the highest kind. Soldiers hazarding their lives for their country as well as enduring all kinds of privations; statesmen inevitably subject to harsh criticism, misrepresentation and abuse, and yet giving themselves to the service of their country—undoubtedly these show heroism.

The skeptical criticism of utilitarians—skeptical because it pronounces all disinterestedness a delusion and because it denies all that is noble in self-sacrificing service by its assertion that such a life is essentially lived for the pleasure the person derives from the service he gives—can be easily and saitsfactorily met and refuted. Self-sacrificing service is not egoistic, is not refined selfishness, but is truly altruistic for the reason that he who serves the community, the country, the human race does not really serve to widest advantage if he excludes from the benefit of his service any person, himself included, whom he could benefit. His service does not lose its nobility, its worth because the ultimate benefit of the service given may in the end help himself. That community is not best served when any of its members are excluded from participating in the benefaction. If to serve others be required of all, and if the requirement were universally fulfilled as the moral law enjoins, unless the servant participated in the good results of the service, there would be none to be helped. In this case to keep the law would be to make it impossible to observe the law, which is a plain contradiction.

Perhaps in modern times no nobler form of heroism has been manifest than that among Methodist preachers. Almost without exception they have entered this work and continue to enter it solely because they believe God has called them to this form of service. Vast multitudes of them have been and are impelled to bring others into the joy they themselves have experienced.

When Francis Asbury arrived in Bristol, England, to take ship for America, he was without clothes or money. Some kind friends gave him clothes and ten pounds with which to make tho journey. With this meager outfit he sailed for America, and here for forty-five years he gave himself without stint to proclaim the gospel, to plant the Church, and to make secure the foundations of the commonwealth. We need not pause to consider the charge of utilitarianism that fundamentally he was seeking pleasure, because, as the utilitarians say, no other end is possible for man. We can afford to meet the positive assertion of the utilitarian that only some form of pleasure may be sought by positive denial. Even in our own poor lives we have been able to find that pleasure is not the ultimate or the chief end. When we look at others, as Asbury for instance, and see how he stripped his life to the barest necessities, gave his energies unremittedly to his work, endured every form of living hardship, how he could and did forego home and wife and child, the utilitarian view becomes an impossibility for our thought. The joy of the Lord was his strength. He was glad to give, as Browning in "Balaustion's Adventure," makes Herakles say:

"I think this is the authentic sign and seal
Of Godship, that it ever waxes glad,
And more than glad, until gladness blossoms, bursts
Into a rage to suffer for mankind
And recommence at sorrow: drops like seed
After the blossom, ultimato of all.
Say, does the seed scorn the earth and seek the sun?
Surely it has no other end and aim
Than to drop, once more die into the ground,
Taste cold and darkness and oblivion there:
And thence rise, treelike grow through pain to joy,
More joy and most joy—do men good again."

In the Epistle to the Hebrews the apostle, speaking of our Lord, says: "Who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and set down at the right hand of the throne of God."

Asbury was not the only one who counted not his life dear unto himself. He was one of a great multitude of whom we have detailed account. Specifically within the memory of men who remain until this present the men of our great Conferences, following their convictions, deliberately turned away from churches, parsonages, and an assured living to share the poverty of the people for whose religious life they believed they were responsible, and this they did not with groaning but with joy.

Largely the people committed to our Church have been poor, the salaries of the preachers have been small. Seldom was it possible for the preachers, who with rare exceptions came from homes that knew no luxuries, to make provision for old age. As they drew near the end of active work the barrel of meal wasted and the cruse of oil failed. Poverty ground the faces of these old heroes and of their no less heroic wives and children. It may be that then our people could do no better, that means were lacking to supply the needs of men who had literally given their whole lives and the whole lives of their families for the benefit of these very people. The ranks of the preachers did not decrease, the work did not cease with the breakdown or the burial of the older workmen. Heroism did not die. Young men, knowing what to expect, in sight of the old men inadequately provided for, came forward to do the same work, to meet the same conditions, to give their all to the glory of God and for the good of the people. With a faith that seemed unfailing, with a zeal that through a lifetime seemed to suffer no abatement, they joyfully did their work, and God blessed it.

But conditions have changed. Our people as a whole are no longer poor people. It is now possible without undue strain to make comfortable provision for our worn-out preachers, their wives, widows, and orphans, and the people have a mind to do this work.

Glad indeed will be the day when because of changed conditions what has become a reproach shall be ruled from our church. And it will be done and soon. It lies deep in human nature to recognize and respond to heroism, and here is true heroism, patient continuance in well-doing, sacrificial service in tho greatest work in which men can engage, bringing the gospel to the sinner, bringing comfort to the sorrowing, training character for the glory land.

Once it was tho proclaimed disgrace of republics that they were ungrateful. Our America does not rest under that incubus, for here with lavish hand through long years millions—yea, billions—have been appropriated to soldiers and sailors. Methodism must not continuo to be open to the charge of ingratitude. We can, wo must, we will care properly for these who aro heroes on earth and in heaven, and that care will be ample and it will bo soon.

TOPSYTURVEY.

By Lena B. Ellingwood.

If pansies grew on apple trees,
  If lollipops went swimming,
If kitty-cats barked, "Bow, wow, wow,"
  And lakes with milk were brimming;

If children went to college first,
  And kindergarten later,
And you and I sailed through the sky
  Perched on an alligator;

If stars by twinkling up at us
  From every field of clover,
And mountains gamboled 'round at play
  And roamed the wide world over;

If houses floated in the air,
  If sharks shed tears of glee,—
Oh, what a turvytopsy place
  This world of ours would be!

A RURAL ROUTE.

Late in the winter a March hare stood beside his bungalow in a wood when suddenly on his ear there fell the fairy tones of a tiny bell. "The telephone!" he cried. "Oho!" and hopped into the bungalow.

"Hello!" he called. "Mr. Sun? You say that little Miss Spring starts north to-day? And you want me to tell folks far and near that in three more weeks she will be right here? The news is welcome, I'm sure," said he. It shall go right out on the R. F. D."

As quick as a wink he was at the wheel of his red, reliable jumpmobile. He carried the news to every house—to woodchuck, squirrel, and small field-mouse; to chipmunk, porcupine, beetle, toad, he scattered the tidings as he rode. Then home he hurried to drink his tea and tell the tale to his family.

The mesage made a tremendous stir. Miss Pussy Willow bought brand-new fur; the crocuses frilled their snowy laces; the poplar catkins all washed their faces. Violet put on a purple hood and nodded gay to an elf in the wood.

Miss Hepatica down in the hollow called, "Good morning, dear Miss Marshmallow!"

That night the wind blew a fearful gale; there was sleet and hail. Buffeted, drenched, and full of fears, the poor little flowers were all in tears.

The wood folk were murmuring everywhere, "Don't ever believe a mad March hare."

But the sun came out with a will next day, the world was bright and the wood was gay; the brave little blossoms took heart, and then the glad wood creatures were gay again.

The March hare cried when he heard them sing, "Now wasn't I right? And isn't this spring?"

Then he cut three capers and stood on his head. "My reputation is saved!" he said.—Carrie O'Neal, in The Youth's Companion.

SHARLIE'S BIRTHDAY.

By Nellie Florence Brown.

Sharlie's real name was Charlotte, and she was named for her grandmother, on whose birthday she was born. Every year since she could remember, she had had a birthday party in the afternoon, and then she and grandma had had a joint birthday supper, attended by the whole family, big and little. But this year—O dear! dear!—Sharlie had the mumps, and a party was out of the question.

So Sharlie was up in grandma's room, and grandma was doing her best to cheer the little girl up. She had let her look over boxes and rummage bureau drawers, and at last Sharlie had come to the daguerreotypes. She opened a case that held a picture of a little girl in a plaid dress—a little girl with pink cheeks and smooth, straight hair.

"Was this you, grandma?" she asked.

Grandma looked and nodded. "When I was just about your age," she said.

"It looks a little like me, doesn't it?" asked Sharlie. "Only your dress is so funny—and your hair! Have you got any of your little girl dresses, grandma?"

Grandma shook her head. "I'm sorry to say, no," she said. "But upstairs in the attic I have a dress that I wore when I was a young woman—way back in Civil War times."

"My!" breathed Sharlie. "I'd like to see it."

"It's too late to go up attic to-day," replied grandma, but I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll wear the dress to your—our—birthday supper, and if you aren't well enough to go downstairs, we'll have the supper up here in my room."

This sounded very pleasant, and the little girl almost forgot her troubles.

Sharlie told mother of grandma's plan, and mother was delighted with it. Sharlie guessed that mother had some secret about the birthday supper, because she went around, after that, with a mysterious air, and disappeared now and then, behind locked doors, and when questioned would only say, "Wait and see."

When the birthday came—hers and grandma's—Sharlie was much better, but it was quite decided to have supper in grandma's room, for Sharlie had had a written invitation on a square, folded paper, addressed to "Miss Charlotte Whitney," in which it said:

"Mrs. Charlotte Whitney requests the pleasure of Miss Charlotte Whitney's company in Mrs. Whitney's room, Thursday, the 9th, from 4 to seven p.m."

When four o'clock came, mother said: "Come, Sharlie, it's time to dress for the tea-party."

"O-o-oh!" exclaimed the little girl, when she went into her room. For there, laid out on the bed, was the very dress—at least it looked so—that grandma had worn in the daguerreotype. Of course it wasn't really, but mother had duplicated the plaid as nearly as possible, and had made it exactly like the picture. Green-and-white check it was, short-sleeved, puff-waisted, with a wide, round neck. Some heavy cotton lace edged the frilled sleeves, but the neck had only a corded "piping" of white. Pantalettes there were, too, to go with the dress—white, stiffly starched, and with a scalloped edge. White stockings and "ankle-ties" completed the costume.

Before Sharlie slipped into the pretty, quaint dress, mother parted her hair in the middle and brushed it down very flat and smooth on either side. Sharlie's hair was short, like the little pictured Sharlotte's, but somehow it didn't want to stay down as neatly and primly.

When she was all dressed, Sharlie sat down in front of the mirror, her hands lying loosely in her lap to show her new ring, and her feet crossed.

"I look just like the picture," she said, blissfully.

Then she crossed the hall to grandma's room and tapped at the door. When the door opened, it was grandma who was the more surprised, for she hadn't known anything more about Sharlie's dress than Sharlie herself. But Sharlie was surprised, too, for grandma looked so different from her usual self—grandma in a tight, plain waisted, flowing-sleeved, full-skirted silk of a very large green-and-brown plaid; with a hoop skirt underneath to make it stand out stiffly; with a wide lace collar fastened with a big cameo brooch; with her hair parted smoothly, but drawn under a sort of cap or net at the back.

They both talked at once, and turned each other round and round to show their dresses. Grandma said she was not quite sure which one was herself, but as they both were Charlotte, it didn't really matter.

They played all sorts of old fashioned games—"Tick-tack-two" and "Consequences," and "I love my love" all through the alphabet at least grandma did, but Sharlie had to give up because she couldn't spell very well yet.

And for supper they had chicken and quince preserves, just as folks do in stories, and cinnamon buns and caraway cookies, and big pink and white peppermints, because grandma used to, when she was little.

After supper all the rest of the family came upstairs to see the two Charlottes. Father said that the very next day he would take their pictures.

When Sharlie went to bed that night, she said to mother, "It's the nicest birthday I ever had—better than a party."—Zion's Herald.

The Editor is grateful for an invitation to the graduation exercises of the Methodist Hospital Training School at Memphis, Tenn., Friday evening, May 18, in Rogers Hall. Three of the fine graduates are from Mississippi—Miss Martha Devlin, of Sherard, Miss Sallie Adams, of Holly Springs, and Miss Bertha Carrington, of Glendora.

Indivisible Friends, Jacques de Molay and Ivanhoe Commanderies of Knights Templars, New Orleans, united on Thursday last in Ascension Day service in Jerusalem Temple, at 8 p.m. The great auditorium was filled to capacity by the Knights, and other Masons, members of their family and friends. Rev. R. H. Harper preached the sermon.

On May 6 a fine revival closed at Leaksville, Miss., where Rev. J. H. Jolly is the pastor. Twenty-four were received into the church upon profession of faith. The pastor did the preaching.

The church at West Monroe, La., Rev. J. L. Evans, pastor, reports that on the first Sunday in May pledges were taken for the Conference collections and the pledges exceeded the assessments. The amount of $752 will be paid to the Conference treasurer by June 1. Fine!

Fine work for the "Golden Cross Society" has been done at Franklin, La., by Rev. Lee R. Sparks and his people. For the last two months the prayer meeting attendance has averaged sixty-four. This is a fine average for a church of 250 members. Brother Sparks is now conducting a week night service on Week's Island. Brother Sparks writes that he could arrange to assist in two or three revival meetings during the summer should there be pastors desiring his assistance.

The newspaper in Opelousas, La., under recent date, reported the meeting at the Methodist church growing in interest. The preaching was being done by Rev. L. I. McCain, of Lafayette, La., and was making a great appeal to the hearers. Some of his topics were "Love at First Sight and Other Things," "Some Notable Conversions," and "Does the Bible Teach Eternal Punishment?" The bar of Opelousas were invited to come in a body to hear the last. Visitors from New Iberia, Arnaudville and Washington attended the services. Rev. S. L. Riggs is the pastor at Opelousas.

Because of the fact that Bishop Mouzon has appointed Rev. W. A. Swift as pastor of Carroll Street Church, Nashville, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Rev. E. W. Brown, Brother M. L. Lifsey and Brother Swift will not be associated together in evangelistic work, as previously announced. Brother Lifsey will give the rest of the year to evangelistic work, assisting pastors in revival meetings. He states with reference to himself that he is an authorized evangelistic singer, endorsed by the Committee on Evangelism. Pastors desiring his services may address him at Crumps Park, Macon, Ga.

FROM THE PELICAN PINES.

By Rev. S. A. Steel, D.D.

When they superannuate you, Mr. Editor, and "retire" you with nothing to live on, and you have to hustle to keep the wolf away, if you will let me know I will give you a list of names of pastors who have little sympathy with "the forgotten man," not enough to even answer his letters. It may save you some trouble. However, they are not many as compared with the great majority who show a very brotherly interest in a "veteran"—that is what they call me now. And I am getting used to it. Indeed, I begin to like it, for it gives me a certain advantage and is accompanied with very agreeable courtesies.

If they would pay me like they puff me, I would ride in a closed car, and buy new books, and eat steak and lamb chops, and build an extension to my Den. But I have to take a great deal of my compensation in hot air compliments, and they don't go at the bank. I have been speaking now sixty days on an average of twice a day, and still I hear the wolf sneaking in the brush. Brethren tell me of evangelists who received $1000 for the same amount of work I do, for which they pay me $50, and the rest in compliments. The evangelist harped on dancing, called a spade a spade; and I preach on the Holy Spirit. I believe I'll get me up a few "hot dog" messages to raise the wind! No, I won't. My work is too serious for that. I would rather get less money and do constructive work. Now and then I strike liberal churches who appreciate the character of my work and my needs, and give me adequate remuneration. And as long as my strength holds out, I will keep the paddles at work.

The paddles! The figure is suggested by the view from my window in the Windsor Hotel here in Wheeling, West Virginia. It looks down on the steamboat landing, and there has hardly been an hour since I have been here that boats have not been coming and going. I had no idea the river traffic was so large. Big boats, too, ply between Cincinnati and Pittsburg. Some of them play their steam pianos as they approach the landing and the distance mellows the sound till it is almost music. What am I doing up here? What do I do anywhere, except when hoeing in my garden? I have been preaching a week for the First Presbyterian Church in this city. The pastor, Dr. Gibson, read my little book, "The Modern Theory of the Bible," and liked it so well that he invited me to preach a week for his people; and I have enjoyed it greatly. It is not the first time I have held a meeting for the Presbyterians. I like them; in fact see mighty little difference between them and the Methodists. This is a very intelligent congregation here, and they have given me a fine hearing. Dr. Gibson is an eloquent, scholarly man and has a great church. But this city is over-churched. It has 53 churches in a population of about as many thousand people. That makes competition close and sometimes irritating.

The Unitarian preacher here yesterday took me for his subject and showed me up precisely as Dr. Rice regards me. This brother says I am benighted, the advocate of obsolete views, defending an outworn creed. He holds that the Bible is mythology, discredited by modern science, and no longer regarded by intelligent people as a divinely inspired book. The only reply I make to him is to ask what Unitarianism has done to cure the disease of sin and beautify the world with holiness. My faith has created Christendom in spite of his rationalistic and destructive doctrines, built mighty cathedrals, great hospitals, vast institutions for Christian education, lovely homes where religion has consecrated life, given the world a mighty inspiration in the songs it sings; in short made the world worth living in. His has blighted every fair thing it touches, and unless it is counteracted by the truth, would make the world a howling wilderness. The Unitarian criticising our divinely inspired Bible is like a midget strolling about the base of St. Paul's cathedral, with a cambric needle for a crowbar, trying to peck it down. However, it is to his credit that he goes under his own flag. He is honest. But what shall we say of Methodist divines, who with their solemn ordination vows upon them, hold and teach the same rationalistic error!

Wheeling lies in a narrow valley on the banks of the upper Ohio river. It is surounded by mountains on every hand, and climbs the hills and backs up into the coves, and strings along the river. It is the seat of large iron manufactures, and much of the iron used in the construction of the Panama Canal was made here. The coal is dug out of the hills about here, but the iron ore is brought from Michigan. My window commands a great view up and down the river, and it shows a forest of tall chimneys where the iron is handled. It is a very dirty city and I find it hard to keep my hands clean. This is the result of the smoke from the big chimneys at the furnaces.

West Virginia should belong to Virginia. It seceded from the mother State during the war, and Lincoln, who had a million men under arms to keep Virginia from seceding, approved "secession" in West Virginia. "After all," he said, it makes a big difference whether a State secedes to leave the Union or to come into the Union," and the North had the material power to decide the question. The Yankees had greater resources than we had, but few of their generals could match ours. I have just re-read Col. G. F. R. Henderson's "Life of Stonewall Jackson." Down to, and including, the battle of Chancellorsville, it is the best history we have of the campaigns in Virginia. It reads like a romance. What wonderful men Lee and Jackson were! They won the admiration even of the North. When Jackson captured Harper's Ferry, as he rode along the lines of the surrendered Yankees, and they saw the man who had so often defeated them, they said to one another: "Not much for looks, boys; but if we had had him, we would not be in this fix." The opinion of the soldiers was the general opinion.

When Lee went into Maryland, some churches that used a prayer for the President of the United States sent a committee to ask General Ewell if they would be permitted to use that prayer within the Confederate lines. He replied, "Certainly, and I know of no one who needs more to be prayed for than Lincoln"—a reply that had something of Lincoln's humor in it. Col. Henderson was an Englishman, and his history has the merit of being impartial, and of being a critical military study, as well as being written in a style Macaulay himself might have envied. Sister Steel, to whom I read the first volume before leaving home, said that military history seldom interested her, but Col. Henderson's Life of Jackson seemed like a story of romance. She is right. Whoever reads it will take their hats off to the memory of the "Old South" which produced such men. I am glad I got to the world in time to catch the inspiration of ~~their noble~~ patriotism. The memory of it stirs me still, as their bugles used to when heard in the early morning.

By the way, send to J. W. Luce Company, Boston, and get General Morris Schaff's "Life of Jefferson Davis." Though a Union General, General Schaff has given us the best life of Davis. He clears up many things that were obscure and sets Davis on a lofty pedestal. I confess I did not expect to live to see the day when a Boston writer—and he a Union General—would write an eulogistic life of Davis. But here it is, manly, sincere, fearless. Truth crushed to earth will rise again. History, while condemning the policy of the South in withdrawing from the Union, is already exalting the motives of its people and vindicating its honor. And as time softens the hard prejudices of that era, the "Old South" is going to shine with a splendid lustre in our Nation's diadem.

Hurrah for Dixie!

SAM A. MONTGOMERY—AN APPRECIATION.

By Dr. S. H. Werlein.

Not having seen an appreciation of Sam A. Montgomery which seems to me adequate, I presume to undertake my appraisement of him as a man and a citizen.

There was something of the heroic in this plain, unaffected man. He was not a theoretical hero, not a movie-picture knight of the crusade, but a man who, while he made his bread as an attorney, was ready at all times and under all circumstances to be heard in the cause of reform and good government. There are multitudes in the pulpit and in the pew who always have golden words to say in the matter of law enforcement, and they easily pronounce panegyrics on the great characters who have, at much cost to themselves, pioneered and promulgated reforms and furtherer civic righteousness; but I have learned from long experience that the vast majority of them prefer that others should enter the arena of conflict and do the fighting, if there is any fighting to be done. There are not a few who are ready to give endorsement to a battle won, but pray to be excused from entering the fray when the outcome seems hazardous or uncertain. That is the difference between a real hero and a theorist, a real man and a dilettante.

Sam Montgomery never stopped to count the cost, nor did he for a moment question the outcome. He believed in the ultimate victory of the truth, and all he asked was to be allowed to align himself with it. He did not wait to see whether other brave and self-sacrificing spirits had made the venture. He was always in the forefront—one could always see his knightly plume defiantly waving in the lead. His clarion voice rang out unafraid and unashamed. He wielded a trenchant sword. He made the sparks fly. When he came down with all his strength, the helmet of the enemy was cleft asunder, and the audience broke forth with tumultuous applause. His power of sarcasm was keen and effective. He had at his tongue's end Scriptural quotations which he used with convincing force.

Money could not have procured the service Mr. Montgomery freely and enthusiastically rendered the people of Louisiana. He never was remunerated for the sacrifices he made. The majority of the people benefited by the results of his efforts, but Mr. Montgomery undoubtedly suffered financially for his devotion to the cause of good government. I do not know anything about his monetary affairs, but his legal practice was substantially sacrificed to his devotion to the good of the people. He won the hatred, suspicion, and opprobrium of the ringsters and their thousands of henchmen, but Mr. Montgomery had the conciousness of having used the opportunity afforded him to render useful service to his fellow-citizens, and of having employed his intellectual and oratorical gifts not for personal gain and emolument. I do not hesitate to say if he had pursued the course of most of his legal confreres, he might have achieved a large and lucrative practice and been regarded as one of the most brilliant legal luminaries of New Orleans.

When a few independent Democrats of New Orleans determined to support the candidacy of Luther Hall for Governor, it was worth the political head of any man in New Orleans who dared assert himself for Hall. I remember the little assembly of men who had the temerity to gather at the Athenaeum in New Orleans. Dr. Dixon Bruns, Donaldson Caffery, Sam A. Montgomery were there! There were others on the platform whose names escape me. These men made history in the story of Louisiana's redemption from ring rule. God forbid that a free people should ever again, through supineness, place their heads in the yoke of political despotism.

SOCIAL SERIVCE CONFERENCE WILL FACE TIMELY ISSUES.

The annual Social Service Conference to be held at Lake Junaluska, July 1-8, under the auspices of the General Conference Commission on Temperance and Social Service, of which Bishop James Cannon, Jr., is Chairman, promises to be one of the most significant gatherings of the kind ever held in Southern Methodism. It is the feeling of the Commission that the time has come when our church must go to the bottom of many of the social and industrial problems which are so sorely vexing the world to-day and prepare itself to point the way toward Christian solutions. To that end the Commission is inviting to Junaluska the leadership of the church, clerical and lay, and is preparing a thorough-going program relative to these questions.

Outstanding subjects to be studied will be "The Home and Family," including the questions of marriage and divorce and protection of women in industry; "Child Welfare," with special reference to legislation needed to conserve and protect childhood; "The Church and Industry," a most timely topic to which two days will be given; "Christian Race Relations," which will occupy a day, and "Prohibition and Law Enforcement," which will have another.

Some of America's outstanding authorities will lead the discussions on the several subjects. Divisive and explosive issues will not be shunned, but where there are radical differences of opinion, as in relation to industrial questions, fair representation will be given to all viewpoints. This guarantees that whatever else the Conference may be, it will not lack variety and interest. The whole purpose will be not to put over a given viewpoint, but to get at the truth if possible.

Among the leaders already pro[illegible] or expected to take part may be mentioned Dr. T. W. Galloway, Associate Director of the American Social Hygiene Association; Dr. John McDowell, Social Service Secretary of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A.; Rev. F. E. H. Johnson, of the Federal Council of Churches; Dr. Ernest F. Tittle, of Evanston, Ill.; George Berry, President of the American Typographical Union; Jerome Jones, Southeastern Representative of the American Federation of Labor; Kirby Page, sociologist and author; Marvin Davies, Atlanta manufacturer; Mrs. W. A. Howell, Social Service Superintendent, Woman's Missionary Council; Miss Mary Anderson, Assistant Secretary of Labor; Bishop James Cannon, Jr.; Wayne B. Wheeler and Ernest H. Cherrington, of the American Anti-Saloon League; Dr. W. W. Alexander and Mrs. Luke G. Johnson, of the Commission on Inter-racial Co-operation, and Dr. Robert E. Speer, world-renowned missionary statesman.

It is not too much to expect that this Conference will mark the beginning of a new power and vitality in the social message and ministry of our great church. Every man and woman in the church who is really interested in the vital issues of the times and who desires to hear them discussed frankly, authoritatively, and withal from the Christian viewpoint, should plan to attend this Conference.

YOUR CITY.

What wonderful love was given to some cities of the old world! "If I forget thee, O Jerusalem!" The proudest title of a part of the old world was for a man to be able to call himself a Roman citizen; and every citizen of Greece called himself an Athenian. But God holds us responsible for the city in which we live just as much as in times of old. I can think of no meaner man than the one who derives honor, wealth, and protection from the city, and refuses to give in return either an hour of his time or a dollar of his money. He is not a citizen, but a parasite. It is our duty to know the conditions which obtain in our city in which we live, and do that which if all others did the same it would soon become a holy city.—D. L. Ferris.

On the morning of March 27, 1923, PHILIP MARSHAL HUFFMAN fell asleep to wake in his Father's home, the Heavenly mansion, which the Savior tells us is prepared for those who love and follow Him. He was born Sept. 15, 1842, near Lodabar church, Pelahatchie, Miss. He was twice married, first, to Miss Lucy Barett, to which union eight children were born, six of whom are living; the second marriage was to Miss Sarah Everett, to which union were born three children, two of whom are living, who, with their mother, the other six children, and a host of grandchildren, mourn the loss of a devoted husband, a considerate father, and an indulgent grandfather.

Brother Huffman joined the Methodist church at Lodabar at the early age of sixteen, and remained a faithful member until death. He was steward, trustee or Sunday school superintendent of his church forty years or more. He entered the army of the Civil War at the early age of twenty, joined Company B (Rankin Rebels) Thirty-ninth Mississippi Volunteer Infantry, as organized at Brandon, Miss., March 16, 1862. He served faithfully for the three remaining years of the war.

Brother Huffman was indeed a good man. He kept up his family altar as long as the children were at home, and was a great lover of the New Orleans Christian Advocate. He said that it was through the Advocate that he kept up with the preachers who had passed his way. It was his pride to keep the old church deed, given in 1830. He was a Southern gentleman of the finest type, the soul of honor, a loyal citizen, a kind friend and neighbor, and a genuine Christian man. In the going of this man, the South lost a brave and loyal soldier, the community an exemplary citizen who loved his friends and was true to his convictions of right and wrong. May his sacred ashes rest in peace! He has wrought well, and is entitled to the best rewards of that life which is to come.

One who knew him and loved him.

MRS. ISADORA HAYNES (nee Williams) was the wife of L. O. Haynes, who has been a resident of Perry for more than thirty years. Sister Haynes was born in the State of New York, Dec. 30, 1847. She was married to L. O. Haynes, March 30, 1873. To this union four children were born, three of whom were present when she passed away, the other having been called home to God in early childhood. She also leaves her husband, two brothers in Dakota, and a sister in California to mourn her departure. She professed religion and united with the Southern Methodist Church fourteen years ago, and has lived a devoted Christian life since that time. While she suffered for months, she never complained, but was submissive to the will of Him who doeth all things well. Her funeral was preached in the Methodist church by her pastor, Rev. F. M. Miller, and her body laid away in the Masonic Cemetery. Husband and children, weep not as those who have no hope, for we know where to find her; she cannot come to us, but we can go to her.

MRS. JAMES. HOLLAND.

The death angel visited our home and took our dear mother to her heavenly reward, after suffering six weeks from injuries resulting from a fall. In spite of every tender care, we were compelled to resign our hopes to His will, and wait for the time of meeting her again. MRS. JAMES HOLLAND, nee Nancy Laughlin, died at her home near Hayes, La., April 25, 1923. She was born at Long Point, in St. Landry Parish, La., near where the Methodist church now stands. On Sept. 20, 1869, she was married to James Holland by Rev. James Bradley. She came, fifty-three years ago, a bride to the home where she died. To this union were born eight children, three of whom are dead. She was a faithful mother and sought to raise her children in the way in which the Lord directed. She joined the church when fourteen years of age and lived a faithful Christian till the end came. Besides her children, she leaves to mourn her loss nineteen grandchildren, two sisters, two brothers, and her life companion. Surely the mantle of sorrow falls heavily on his shoulders that have borne the burdens of nearly fourscore years. But his faith that stood by him in the years gone by now holds him reconciled to the will of the Lord. The funeral was conducted by her pastor, Rev. A. W. Waddill, of Lake Charles, La. Her body was laid to rest beneath a profusion of flowers, to wait for the trumpet's call on the morning of the resurrection.

It was hard to part from mother,
It was hard to say good-by,
But we hope some day to meet her
In our home beyond the sky.

Her Daughter,
MRS. A. A. BERNARD.

RESOLUTIONS

Adopted by the Business Men's Bible Class, First Methodist Church, Alexandria, La.

A member of our church has been called home by our Master. BROTHER W. E. HOLLOMAN, a devoted member of our church, fell asleep April 18, 1923, at 9:15 o'clock a. m., at his residence, 1815 Polk Street, this city.

Brother Holloman always took an active part in all church activities. Every Sunday morning he was sure to be present at opening of Sunday school at 9:30 o'clock, and nothing seemed to give him more pleasure than to atend all church gatherings, to worship our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. But alas! his voice is no longer heard, he no longer answers the roll call on Sunday morning. His place is vacant and the family circle is broken.

Thou art gone, brother, but not forgotten. We will ever keep your memory green. Once more we are brought face to face with the uncertainty of life and the certainty of death. Our church has lost a valuable member, his family a devoted husband, son and brother. God in his wisdom has seen fit to take Brother Holloman hence, but we feel sure there is a crown of glory awaiting him there. While Brother Holloman's life was of short duration here, there he will enjoy an eternal life of happiness with the angels of Heaven.

Therefore, be it resoved, That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the minutes of this class, a copy be furnished the family, a copy furnished the Town Talk, and a copy be furnished the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

PROGRESS AT THE WESTERN METHODIST ASSEMBLY.

Recently I spent a night on Mount Sequoyah. It is a busy place. Workmen are finishing the 50,000-gallon water tank. Others are painting the two big dormitories already built. Carpenters are completing the chapel, the art building, and fourteen cottages. Masons are laying the walls of the cafeteria. The material is nativo stone, and the artistic effect is fine. The dining-room will have a stone base and columns and big windows; consequently it will be cool and light.

The winter and spring rains held back work on tho road and drives, but now they aro practically completed, and when scraped and dragged will be smooth and hard. Underbrush has been cleared away, flower beds and rock piles made, walks laid out, and the natural amphitheatre sodded. Soon all will bo in readiness for the opening, June 20.

On that day Bishop James Atkins and Hon. Josephus Daniel will speak. A great crowd is expected from all the neighboring towns and surrounding country.

A rich program has been prepared that will give instruction and entertainment until Aug. 26. The cost is to be kept within reasonable bounds. Our friends should make no arrangement to go elsewhere until they find out all about cost and program. Those who wish to come in automobiles and live in tents can be accommodated. Inside the grounds will be a camp with all conveniences.

Superintendent Bond is sending circulars to pastors within tho five patronizing States. All are requested to read carefully and co-operate. Let us make the first year a great success.

If you want a cottage for the summer or rooms for several weeks, it would be well to arrange in advance.

For all information address Superintendent J. L. Bond, Western Methodist Assembly, Fayetteville, Ark.

THE REVIVAL AT BROOKHAVEN, MISS.

Bob Jones has come and gone and we shall never forget him. We shall always thank God for his bringing us a deepened sense of the sinfulness of sin, teaching us a new hatred and horror of it, and lifting us to a fuller realization and more blessed assurance of the infinite lovo and power of tho crucified Savior.

Of course, some didn't like Bob Jones, for he was not overly tender with the sore spots they didn't want touched or advertised. When he did the touching, they did the advertising. Some didn't like his style—therefore rejected the Savior. He certainly had his own style, and it was one that absolutely answered the charge that he was just out for money. Bob Jones is no fool, and he knows it takes a terrible shaking to waken some souls to their danger.

No one who heard him could doubt his sincerity or fail to be impressed with his desperate earnestness. He made no compromise with sin. He was specially severe on sins society countenances and calls respectable, which seduces the soul and separates it from communion with God, in which no church member can indulge without loss of influence and self-stultification.

And how he held up Jesus! "All you need is Jesus," was frequently on his lips. Over against all misfortunes, advorse conditions, depravity and sin, he offered Christ Jesus as the only, and all-sufficient Redeemer and Lord. The crucified Savior and atoning blood of Jesus were set forth with deepest earnestness as man's only hope. If any one failed to accept Jesus, it was not the preacher's fault.

The meeting drew the line between God and the world. It showed men up; it made them declare themselves. All were either "for" or "against." Some were so "against" that they would not attend, but took dangerous risks with veracity in their criticisms. But Bob Jones was not the issue: the issuo was sin and the devil or salvation and Christ. That issue abides and will have to be faced at the judgment. That line ought to be made permanent and kept conspicuous. Membership in the church ought not to be comfortable and congenial for the godless and the worldly. It is tragic when the living of the members defeats the faithful preaching of the gospel.

The fruitage of the revival will depend on our heartiness in adopting the evangelist's principles—No compromise with sin, but everything for Jesus.

H. M. ELLIS, P. E.

NOTICE.

To the Centenary Treasurer, Mississippi Conference.

Dear Fellow-workers: Every subscriber to the Centenary who has paid their pledge in full for the five years is entitled to a Centenary Button, which is called the "Honor Button." Would be glad to furnish sufficient buttons to each Treasurer, so that everyone who has paid their pledge for the five years may have ono of these buttons.

Please write me, advising the number in your church who have paid all their Centenary pedge, and I will be glad to furnish you buttons for these subscribers.

Please make announcement of this in your church, and it will be an incentive for others to pay their pledge. When you get the buttons, have them come, at the beginning of church service, and put the buttons on them. If you make this occasion one of public interest, this would arouse further interest on the part of those who have not paid their pledges in full.

Yours for Service,
W. D. HAWKINS, Treasurer.

Mothers Advise Their Daughters to Rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Keep Them in Health
A Mother's Advice Prevents Operation
Corona, N. Y.—"I had a terrible pain in my left side and had to go to bed every so often. Doctors had told me I must be operated on, but I do not believe in the knife and would rather suffer than go through it. My mother also did not believe in it and she made me take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because it had helped her. It has also helped me for I am better and able to do all my work. I recommend your medicine and give you permission to use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. J. BUSCH, Jr., 11 S. Railroad Avenue, Corona, N. Y.
A Sickly Child
Mahoningtown, Pa.—"I would like to say a few words about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. About a year ago I thought it would be necessary for me to take my daughter out of school. She was losing weight, was nervous, and when she would come home from school she would drop into a chair and cry, and say, 'Mamma, I don't believe I can go to school another day!' I gave her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now she is a healthy, happy, hearty, strong girl and weighs 120 pounds. She has no difficulty in doing her 'gym' work, and she works at home every night and morning, too. I am a mother who can certainly praise your medicine, and if it will be of any benefit you may use this letter as a reference."—Mrs. GEORGE E. WHITACRE, 621 W. Madison Ave., Mahoningtown, Pa.
Every girl wants to be healthy and strong, and every mother wants her daughter to do well in school and to enjoy herself at all times.
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for young girls just entering womanhood. Mothers may depend upon it. Remember it is prepared from roots and herbs, contains nothing that can injure, and tends to tone up and strengthen the organs concerned, so that they will work in a healthy and normal manner.
For nearly fifty years it has been used by women of all ages, and these women know its great value.
Let it help your daughter and yourself.

NOTES FROM NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, Sardis, Miss.

The Training School for the Greenville District was held as a part of the District Conference. This experiment has its advantages as well as its disadvantages—it does not suit everybody, but we have reached more people than if the school had been held at another time. We have an enrollment of sixty. More than half the preachers are seriously taking the work, the others are looking on with interest.

Dr. W. G. Henry, of Birmingham; Dr. S. T. Slaton, presiding elder of the Gadsden district; C. M. Dannelly, Conference Superintendent of Sunday Schools of the Alabama Conference, and Mrs. J. B. Randolph have been doing the teaching. These good people have made a permanent contribution to the work of the kingdom in this district. One interesting feature of the conference and the school is the exhibit of handwork and note-book work sent in from Clarksdale, Tunica, Shelby, Rosedale, and other schools.

SOMETHING OF THE WORK DONE IN KOSCIUSKO SUNDAY SCHOOL.

At the recent session of the District Conference of the Columbus District, a report of the Sunday school at Kosciusko, Miss., was read, and by request of the conference it is being sent to the Advocate for publication. This report was prepared by the superintendent, Mr. B. G. Webb, who is one of the most wide-awake Sunday school men in this part of the State. We are indebted to Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, our efficient Field Secretary, for his inspiration, suggested plans, and help in making our school what it is. These plans have added greatly to the attendance and efficiency of our Sunday school, and church services, and has more nearly solved the problem of keeping the young people for church services than anything that we have ever seen worked. In passing it on, it is hoped that it may be worth something to some one else.

(a) We have each class to report with attendance and collections, and the number that shall stay for the preaching service. This plan alone has increased our church attendance 25% within the quarter.

(b) We do not have sufficient room for the school to conduct the opening exercises in the departments, but get the young people to the front, boys on one side of the church, and the girls on the other. Each is provided with a book, and encouraged to sing.

(c) On one Sunday the choir is composed of girls, and on the next it is composed of boys. This gives the boys a chance.

(d) We name one Sunday in the month as a special collection day, and ask each pupil in the Primary Department to bring five cents, those in the Junior, Intermediate, and Senior Departments ten cents, and those in the Adult Department to bring twenty-five cents each. We announce this each time one week ahead, and it has brought good results.

(e) We have made a religious census of the town, and have the names of all the Methodist people. We also have the birth dates of all the children under sixteen years of age. It is our purpose to send a birthday card to each having a birthday within the week and make mention of that fact in some way at the Sunday school hour. Then each one having a birthday during the week shall be given a chance to make an offering of one penny for each year of age.

This religious census will reveal the fact that many that the Sunday school should reach are not in attendance, and that many are not members of the church that had been supposed to be. With this information in hand, an intelligent evangelistic campaign can be made.

(f) The secretary of each department keeps a record of all absentees in that department, and they receive an invitation during the week to be present on the following Sunday. These invitations are either mailed or distributed on Saturday by four boys or girls, who deliver them in person. The latter method is often more effective. We use H. S. S. inquiry telegram blanks, furnished by Lamar & Barton.

(g) Once during the quarter, the Primary, and Junior Departments, each, render a short program for the entire school. Once per month the Intermediate, Senior, and Adult Departments, each, render special music, or a program, not to last over ten or fifteen minutes. This, as you see, creates a wholesome rivalry, that is worth a great deal to the school.

VICKSBURG INSTITUTE ELECTS OFFICERS.

The following officers were elected by the Sunday School Institute of the Vicksburg District, held in Centreville, Miss., on April 25, 1923: District Secretary, H. H. Crisler, Sr.; Elementary Secretary, Miss Claribelle Drake; Intermediate-Senior, H. H. Crisler, Jr.; Young People-Adult, W. S. Ford; Leadership Training, B. M. Hunt; Missionary Education, Mrs. V. G. Clifford.

COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL INSTITUTE.

The first County Sunday School Institute to be held in recent years was held in Hazlehurst, Miss., May 2 and 3. The meeting was called by the presiding elder, Rev. H. M. Ellis, and Rev. John C. Chambers, of the Mississippi Conference Sunday School Board. The members of the Institute were all workers and pastors of Copiah County.

All of the pastors in the county, Rev. W. H. Saunders, Rev. W. B. Jones, Rev. J. S. Purcell, Rev. V. S. Watkins, Rev. J. T. Abney, Rev. J. W. Sells, were in attendance. Rev. John L. Carter, Secretary of the Sunday School Board, was present and took part in the discussions.

Rev. John C. Chambers was director of the Institute and led in all of the discussions. He was ably assisted by Mr. O. C. Hull and Mrs. Nannie Love Green. The presiding elder led the devotionals, using for all four services Jesus' parting injunctions as to feeding his sheep. Prof. C. A. Bowen, of Millsaps College, preached to the members of the Institute Wednesday. Rev. B. F. Lewis delivered a very interesting lecture on a new method of Bible study.

There was a representative delegation from each of the charges, each of them taking part in the discussions. The organization was perfected as a permanent County Institute, with Mr. Virgil Youngblood, of Wesson, as President. Plans were made and goals set for the coming year's work, this being part of the constructive work that was accomplished.

TO PASTORS NEEDING HELP IN REVIVALS.

Dear Brethren: Rev. Albert Branscomb, whose address is Emory University, Ga., is a local preacher of the M. E. Church, South, and has been designated by the Committee on Evangelism of the North Alabama Conference as an approved evangelist.

He is a fine, clean, earnest and enthusiastic young man, a graduate of Birmingham-Southern College and is now just completing his second year at Emory University. He is a strong, forceful and effective preacher, and would do acceptable work as a revival preacher anywhere.

He is also superb as a soloist and choir director for revival meetings. I had him with me last summer, and was so favorably impressed with him and his work that I had engaged him as my singer for this entire ensuing vacation period. But since the Bishop has appointed me Centenary Field Secretary, Brother Branscomb is open to assist other brethren.

Any one needing help in a revival cannot do better than secure Brother Branscomb. He can do, and do well, either the preaching or the singing, or both.

Respectfully,
L. D. PATTERSON.

FROM TCHULA, MISS.

Dear Brethren: Just a few lines concerning the Tchula charge. I am well into my third year at Tchula, and a splendid people we have to serve, big-hearted and generous. We just closed our revival campaign April 29, with wonderful achievements. We received 29 into the church on profession of faith and certificate, 17 of them on profession.

Sunday afternoon, the last day, the preacher, after having preached a very strong sermon on "Christian Soldiering," made an appeal for those who would so consecrate their lives that they would by God's help be loyal to God and his cause, and oppose sin in all of its forms, when more than three hundred men and ladies bravely walked down and took their stand for right. Among them was one of our noble Hebrew citizens; and a number who were not lined up with any church were in that host, and at that time lined up with the church of their choice.

The preaching was done by the Rev. John W. Robertson, missionary evangelist, of the Greenwood, Greenville, and Sardis districts of the North Mississippi Conference. It gives us profound pleasure to recommend Brother Robertson as an evangelist. His preaching is clear, clean, orthodox, and without fear or favor, and it is effective.

Rev. Earl Dunbar, of Lexington, Ky., directed the singing, and is well adapted to that work. He is not a soloist, does not claim to be, nor ruin his reputation by trying, but directs the choir and congregational singing, a work for which he is well adapted.

We want the prayers of the Advocate readers, for after a campaign like that Satan always manifests himself with all the power of his majesty, and we need your prayers and sympathy.

Our prayer meeting attendance has been fine since the meeting, and as inclement and even threatening as was the weather last Monday evening, we organized a men's prayer meeting at the City Hall with about thirty present.

Yours in His name,

H. N. McKIBBEN, P. C.

PLEASE REPORT.

May I urge each pastor and Centenary Treasurer to make a report on the "Emergency Campaign"? Kindly answer the following questions and forward to me at once. This is very important.

1. Did you put on the Emergency Campaign?
2. Was each subscriber seen?
3. What amount was collected?
4. Have you reported to W. D. Hawkins, Centenary Treasurer?

Please continue the activity in your church until all the pledges are collected.

Yours for Service,

W. D. HAWKINS.

FROM LECOMPTE, LA.

Dear Brother Carley: A few words from Lecompte and Woodworth charge. On April 15, I began a meeting at Lecompte, and on Monday, the 16th, Rev. R. W. Tucker, from Homer, came to me and preached till the night of the 25th. The church was greatly revived, the whole community deeply stirred. Brother Tucker preached with unction, and the services were a demonstration of the Holy Spirit's power. God was with us in a marked manner from the very first service. We praise him, and to him all the glory is due. Brother Tucker became a vessel of the Lord to all of us. Brother C. K. Smith, of Pineville, was with us, leading in song, prayer and praise. God used him for his honor and glory. Tabulated results: By baptism, 14; by vows, 2; by certificate, 4, there being 20 in all.

Yours fraternally,

H. W. BOWMAN.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PLANS FOR THE BELLE H. BENNETT MEMORIAL.

We hold in grateful and loving remembrance our incomparable leader, Miss Belle H. Bennett, who has for the past thirty-five years led the hosts of Southern Methodist womanhood, opening to them an ever-changing vision and guiding them into fields of world achievement. We recognize her sacrificial service in the establishment of the Scarritt Bible and Training school as a direct call of God which has resluted in the larger life and more abundant service for hundreds of messengers of Jesus who have ministered even unto the uttermost parts of the earth. We hold her in loving thought, not only as a leader who still inspires us to greater and greater achievement, but also as a friend, tender and sympathetic, passed from sight, but still with us in even greater power. With grateful hearts and with thanksgiving to God for this wonderful life, we therefore recommend:

1. That a memorial to Miss Belle H. Bennett shall be established which shall be an enduring monument, perpetuating her life and service already incarnate in the Scarritt Bible and Training School.

2. That this memorial shall be a greater training school for Christian workers, which shall in some way bear her name and become the fulfillment of her inspired vision.

3. That the minimum goal for the Belle H. Bennett Memorial fund shall be not less than one-half million dollars.

4. That this memorial be raised through the Christian Education Movement, and Conference societies and auxiliaries be authorized to cooperate in securing pledges and collecting funds.

5. That this fund shall be raised on the share plan, and certificates issued to the auxiliaries and to the many individuals who wish to express their love to our great leader and to the Master whom she followed by having part in this memorial.

6. That a committee of seven members be appointed to conduct the campaign in relation with the Christian Education Movement.

7. That the Treasurer of the Council shall be the Treasurer of the Belle H. Bennett Fund.

8. That the campaign literature shall be issued by the Home Cultivation Secretary in Charge of Literature, in co-operation with the campaign committee.

9. That program literature setting forth the purpose and scope of the memorial shall be prepared and substituted for the June program material already issued.

10. That the campaign committee shall have power to employ a salaried worker, if necessary.

11. That the expense of the campaign be met from the Memorial Fund.

12. That the work of securing the Bennett Memorial Fund be begun by taking pledges from Conferences and from individuals as a fitting conclusion to this service.

Pledge-Taking for the Belle H. Bennett Memorial.

On Tuesday evening, the night before the last session of the Council, the pledges for the Belle H. Bennett Memorial were taken. Prior to this, Mrs. Stephen asked for expression from the Council members concerning the matter of the "Greater Scarritt" to be established as a memorial to Miss Bennett, in whose heart the idea of specialized training for young women planning to do missionary work was born more than thirty-two years before. Tender expressions from Miss Tarrant, of Soochow, China, letters of love from the missionaries on the fields, a tribute to Miss Bennett brought by Miss Howell from the women of the China Missionary Conference, and other expressions of gratitude for our beloved President were a part of the program. The whole service was fraught with blessed memories, and when the pledges from the various Conferences were called for there was a hearty response from each. Owing to the fact that many of the Conferences have not as yet held their annual meetings, some of the women were unable to pledge a definite amount, but when the doxology was sung at the close of the service there was a feeling among the women that the minimum goal of half a million dollars would not only be reached, but that the gifts would aggregate a million dollars.

The Council voted to remove the Scarritt Bible and Training School from its present location in Kansas City, giving the Executive Committee of the Council, the Executive Committee of the Board of Missions, and the Board of Managers of the Training School full power to act in the details necessary for the sale of the Kansas City property, the new location, and plans for the enlarged institution.

Resolutions from the Home Base Committee Concerning the Belle H. Bennette Memorial.

For Adult Auxiliaries.—That we enthusiastically endorse the raising of the Belle H. Bennett Memorial Fund, and that we pledge our utmost efforts toward securing such co-operation from our leaders and constituency as will bring fullest success to this effort.

For Young People's Auxiliaries.—That the Bennett Memorial be presented to the young people with enthusiasm, and that they be urged to co-operate in the campaign.

For Junior Auxiliaries.—That the Bennett Memorial be presented to the children in such a way as to secure their interest and offerings.

Resolution from Home Base Committee.

The Home Base Committee passed the following recommendation:

"We have heard with heartfelt gratitude the reports of our missionaries regarding their enlarged opportunities due to increased facilities made possible by the Centenary funds.' We realize that this new day in our work demands generous gifts of money with which to support the enlarged plants and enterprises and missionary forces. We therefore urge our leaders to cultivate in our constituency the grace of Christian liberality in self-denying giving, so that with the passing of the Centenary our collections shall be sufficient for the support of our work. Moreover, we pledge ourselves and call our women to a deeper life of prayer in behalf of our missionaries and their work, that there may be physical strength and spiritual power sufficient for it."

AN INCIDENT RELATED BY A VETERAN PRESBYTERIAN MISSIONARY IN INDIA.

(Why not the same thing in ten thousand places in America?)

"'Would not a day of prayer and fasting be appropriate under the present conditions in India, and especially within the church?' commented the committee in their report. 'Why should not we, as an Assembly, set an example to our people and set apart a time for confession and fasting and prayer?' Some thought that fasting was not in harmony with the spirit of Presbyterianism, but the majority welcomed the idea with acclamation. It was astonishing how decision after decision and problem after problem seemed to make us glad that we had reached this conclusion.

"The arrangements for the day of prayer and fasting were that tea and toast would be served at 6:30 a. m. for any who wished it, and then light refreshments at 3 p. m.; but from 7 till 3 there was to be a continuous prayer meeting, over which eight members had been asked to preside for about an hour each. 'You can read from Scripture, announce a hymn, suggest topics for prayer, give the word of exhortation that's burning in your bones. Only one instruction the committee has: we wish to meet with God—not to hear the voice of man too much. Make your remarks brief. Do whatever you feel the Spirit desires you and the meeting to do.'

"Then we began to pray, and as we prayed the Spirit descended. I know now something of the meaning of that verse of Scripture which talks of Christ praying 'with strong crying and tears.' One of the Indian pastors began to pray for his congregation and broke down utterly. It was not an experience one wishes to talk about much; one felt that one was standing on holy ground.

"Another chairman read of the defeat of the Israelites before Ai and the cause thereof—the secret sin of Achan. The lesson was applied home.

AN INCIDENT RELATED BY A VETERAN PRESBYTERIAN MISSIONARY IN INDIA.

The reason of the defeat of the Christian church in India was the sin of the individual members and office-bearers—not only the open sins, but those which none knew of except the perpetrator and God. None of the children of Israel knew of Achan's sin. Then we fell to confession again, and shortly after a missionary—one of the United Free Church—rose and said there were some things he felt he must do. For instance, there was tobacco in his bag in his room: that had to go. There was still pride in his heart: that had to go. And so on the proceedings went. No one seemed to feel the meeting drag, and by 3 o'clock we felt that it had come to a natural conclusion.

"It is difficult to convey an idea of the reality of the experience, but it was the most real thing I ever passed through. NOW I know God; and it makes all the difference to one's message. HE has met me, laid his hand upon me, and things can never be the same again. NOW I know what I had formerly only hoped and believed. The Bible is a new book. NOW I don't heed so much what people have written about it; it is what he says to me through his Word I'm concerned about. Formerly I could not honestly say that if I had the Bible with me on a trip I had everything I wanted in the way of literature; but NOW I can. And evil habits which for years I had been fighting against with varying success are now conquered with hardly a struggle; I leave the fight to him, and HE WINS EVERY TIME."

Is not the foregoing the kind of revival that thousands of pastors and churches and multitudes of Christians NEED?

PRAY FOR REVIVAL!

EIGHTH COMMANDMENT.

By the Rev. William Byron Forbush
Ph.D., Litt.D., Managing Director of the National Honesty Bureau.

Have we learned all that we might from the Roman Catholic priesthood? The question was suggested to the writer as he recently turned the pages of several volumes of sermons in a Catholic bookstore. These sermons were chiefly of two classes, doctrinal and ethical. Upon the doctrinal material it is not necessary to pause. It was consistent and conventional. But the ethical material was a revelation. It was direct, uncompromising, practical. Behind it all was the authority of "Thus saith the Lord," and the emphasis of "This do and thou shalt live."

The writer reviewed his own preaching for nearly a quarter of a century. "How many times have I preached on the Law of the Lord? Did I ever sufficiently emphasize the Ten Commandments?"

Business men are doing this preaching for us. Is it generally known that more than 30,000 talks were given by bankers last year in the public schools of America upon "Character the Chief Asset in Business Credit"? Do we all know that the Golden Rule has been formally adopted as the basic code of the International Rotary Club? Is the religious public informed of the Truth in Advertising Movement that is maintained by the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, and that supports a vigilance organization in forty of our larger cities?

Our attention has been turned since the war to "the crime wave" and "the crime trust." The tremendous losses through theft (over a third of a billion dollars a year) and the progressive corruption of boyhood so stirred the mind of one of America's leading business men, Mr. William B. Joyce, chairman of the National Surety Company, that he instituted the National Honesty Bureau, in order to re-emphasize the command, "Thou shalt not steal," in the schools of America. Perhaps we can not stem the flood of crime, but we can dry up the springs.

* * * * d *

Church people, how would you like to hear one sermon on old-fashioned Honesty? Preachers, why not preach on the Eighth Commandment?

The National Honesty Bureau, 115 Broadway, New York, will be glad to send to preachers and Sunday school workers, without cost, its "Honesty Book," a textbook for training children to obey the Eighth Commandment.

RESOLUTIONS.

Adopted by the Vicksbrug Conference, and a copy ordered sent to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

Whereas, The Administration of our beloved presiding elder, Rev. J. R. Jones, expires, by limitation of law, December, 1923; therefore, resolved, by the Vicksburg District Conference, assembled at Centerville, Miss., April 26, 1923.

1. That we hereby express our estimation of his official administration as uniformly wise, courteous and efficient, touching every department of the various important interests of the church committed to his care.

2. That in the social intercourse with the people, he is universally beloved because of his splendid Christian character, and his genial, brotherly qaulities that endear him to all who know him.

3. That in the assignment to his next field of labor, we trust that his "lines may fall in pleasant places," and that the blessings of the Great Head of the church may abide upon him and his dear ones.

4. That these resolutions be recorded in our minutes and a copy be sent to the New Orleans Christian Advocate for publication.

Signed by C. F. Emery, Rolfe Hunt, C. C. Evans, V. G. Clifford, W. H. Huntley, Mrs. Z. D. Clarke.

Why Take Laxatives?

Discovery by Science Has Replaced Them.

Pills and salts give temporary relief from constipation only at the expense of permanent injury, says an eminent authority.

Science has found a newer, better way—a means as simple as Nature itself.

In perfect health a natural lubricant keeps the food waste soft and moving. But when constipation exists this natural lubricant is not sufficient. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method —lubrication.

As Nujol is not a medicine or laxative, it cannot gripe and, like pure water, it is harmless and pleasant.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals. Get a bottle from your druggist today. (adv.)

UTMOST CARE USED IN SPENDING CENTENARY MONEY.

By W. H. Moore, President Granbery College.

We have been almost swamped with students since the beginning of the new term. We had thought there might be 300 by the end of the year, the total number at the close of last year being 264. After only one month we have 305, and about 20 more places asked for. We shall not be able to accept any more reservations. It seems to be the first time in the history of the school that this condition prevails. If we had room, I think the enrollment would go to 350 this year, but we cannot possibly find places for more than 325.

The new primary building was ready for use on the opening day, Feb. 14. The building is simple, but made of first-class material, and every one says it is a beauty. We now have 120 students in it. It is fine to see a much larger number of students coming from the city to the primary, which means that we can hold them on through other courses.

Mr. Clay arrived here last Friday to remain until to-morrow, Monday. He is very much pleased with the building work here. The new extension of the main building is coming along nicely, with the foundation practically done. It will be ready before the end of the year, but we shall not be able to use it much before next February. It will give us many things we are very much in need of.

I am happy to say that we are able to hold the building to the very lowest figures. We are doing everything possible to put the Centenary money to the very best possible use. I am only sorry that the church at home cannot realize fully just what the Centenary is doing, especially for Granbery. The fact that we are able to begin and finish what we begin in the way of new buildings, is bringing a new day in every way to the school. As the growth comes materially, we are praying that it may come in every other way. Rev. J. A. Guerra, an old Granbery student and one of the best preachers in this Conference, will spend a week here in April, preaching daily to the students. We are working and praying for a genuine revival. We also expect to invite a man to come from the Central Brazil Conference during the second semester to hold a series of meetings in Granbery.

I am happy to say that the Bible school is also full, with the largest number of students in the history of the school, now 37. Last Sunday was the day for the special efforts of the laymen in behalf of the Bible school. It is fine that the offerings were larger than they have ever been. The church here in Brazil pays the board of the boys in the Bible school, and the money from the Board of Missions is for teachers and equipment. The Bible school dormitory is the next new building to be put up, and will be started perhaps in September, or before, just as soon as the extension is finished. It is the plan to have the building large enough for 60 boys and a family.

MAHOGANY USED FOR CROSS-TIES.

By Garfield Evans.

I want to call this article the "wastage of human resources," for there seems to go hand in hand the spirit of prodigality of time and money together with a small regard for the value of life and the rights of others, as also crimniality and extreme poverty are usually found together.

As my train has been stopping at various small towns and villages, I have been interested to observe the various small lumber mills cutting up the hardwoods, often cedar and mahogany. And I am told that mahogany for furniture and decorating purposes is cheaper than oak would be imported from the States. I also observe with distress in clearing the land for the "colonias" (sugar plantations), forests of mahogany and other valuable hardwoods have been cut down and burned, and in other places it is quite common to use mahogany for railway crossties.

There are yet vast forests of splendid hardwoods that with reasonable conservation will take care of the present and future building and manufacturing needs of Cuba. Tho majority of homes in the cities are built of brick and tile, this material being both substantial and more comfortable, but the furniture and woodwork of necessity must be out of native woods, since the pine and other hardwoods from the States are readily attacked by wood borers, which do not attack the native woods.

But who cares if mahogany is used for crossties or burned as kindling? There must be a spiritual impetus inculcated in the character which not only is concerned for material conservation, but which is primarily interested in human conservation.

It is commonly remarked that, regardless or how active aro our Christian girls, when they marry they cannot be depended on any longer. And why? Because the responsibility of their homes is such that little opportunity is provided for any outside interest. Men idolize their wives, but the women are little more than slaves. Girls marry very early, and it is often remarked how quickly a beautiful girl becomes broken and haggard.

There are fixed social customs that are amusing to the visitor, but which at the same time are a saving force to society. The narrow streets permit of no verandas as ordinarily known, but each house has a "patio" (open court) in the center of the house. The windows have heavy iron grating in front of them. Gallant young men may visit admiring young maiden by talking to her through the grating of the window. After a number of similar visits he may be permitted to visit her in the tiled reception room only in the presence of her mother or other elder chaperones. And then if perchance they would like to visit the "teatro" or walk on the "prado," they must be accompanied by one or more of the elder feminine members of tho family.

The youth of the world have the same affections and respond to the same deep emotions, but the youth of the world have not all the same opportunity. Here in Cuba we have three schools for girls and two schools for boys, besides several smaller schools in connection with churches. But these five schools are outstanding in their work, their location, their management, and especially in their opportunity. The church has not blundered in recognizing that its frontier work must progress through the school room. But care must be exercised to see that the church and its institutions are to be taught and fostered in the school room.

R. T. McCLENDON.

In the sessions of the district conferences of the Ruston District, Louisiana Conference, of our beloved Methodism, a familiar face is seen no more; a voice we loved is silent.

ROBERT T. McCLENDON is not only missed from our councils, but a man of unchallenged character, and great worth to his local church and Methodism has been transplanted from the church militant to the church triumphant. He was faithful to the trusts committed to him. He has received the applaud, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant; enter thou into the joy of the Lord."

He loved his church and Master pre-eminently. This love was demonstrated in the sacrifices he constantly made. He was loyal to his friends. As far back as we can remember Brother McClendon had been a member of the district conferences. Almost as long he had been a member of the Annual Conferences. A man of clean life and speech, many excellent virtues were found in this humble servant of our Lord. We miss him. Long will he be remembered by his friends and brethren. His memory will be an inspiration.

In view of the above, and whereas God in his wisdom has seen proper to removo from our midst our beloved brother, Robert T. McClendon, be it resolved, That it is the sense of the Ruston District Conference of the Louisiana Annual Conference, convened at Haynesville, May 4, 1923, that we bow to the will of our heavenly Father; that we cherish his memory and emulate his virtues; that we extend to his family our sincere sympathy, and that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the District Conference record, and a copy be furnished his family; also the New Orleans Christian Advocato and the local papers.

Vol. 70—No. 21. Official Organ of the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Editorial.

FOUR IN ONE.

We have long cherished a desire to visit some of the district conferences of the patronizing Annual Conferences of the Advocate, but, for various reasons, the carrying out of that desire has been impracticable. Recently, however, we found ourselves able to plan a trip that took us to four of these gatherings in the North Mississippi Conference—the Grenada, the Greenville, the Sardis, and the Corinth District Conferences.

Leaving New Orleans on Tuesday morning, May 8, we set our face toward Pickens, the meeting place of the Grenada District Conference. For convenience of travel, we took the fast train to Canton, and there waited for the local to Pickens. The fast train does not stop at Pickens, but we are persuaded that if the railway authorities really knew what fine people live at Pickens they would be glad to do anything in their power to accommodate them—even to making it a stop for the Panama Limited. Between trains at Canton we got a very satisfactory lunch at the well managed lunch counter, and then made a brief visit to the Railroad Y. M. C. A. nearby, where we spent a few pleasant moments with an old schoolmate and friend, D. G. McLaurin, who has been secretary of the Association for many years, and who has brought its work to a high state of efficiency.

Upon taking the local, we found Mrs. Riley, the Field Agent of the Mississippi Orphans' Home, aboard, bound also for Pickens. Upon arrival at Pickens, we were met by a representative of the entertainment committee and carried to the church, where the conference had just convened. Rev. R. A. Tucker, the presiding elder, was in the chair, and Rev. W. R. Lott was at the secretary's table. Rev. Julian S. Duncan, the local pastor, had made every possible arrangement for the convenience and comfort of the visitors, and it was evident from the very beginning that the conference would be a delightful occasion. Without a cut and dried program, Brother Tucker so directed the proceedings as to give full attention to all the interests of the church, and the business was conducted in a most interesting and profitable way.

All the reports showed that the Grenada District is advancing both materially and spiritually under the leadership of the faithful presiding elder and the splendid corps of workers, both lay and clerical, associated with him. Every possible courtesy was shown the editor of the Advocate, and he was given the privilege not only of presenting the cause of the Conference organ, but also of speaking at the 11 o'clock hour on Wednesday morning. We were greatly profited by the sermons we heard preached by Rev. Melville Johnson and Rev. W. R. Lott, the necessity of leaving before the conference adjourned depriving us of the privilege of hearing others who were announced to preach.

While in Pickens, we were royally entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hoover, than whom there are no more charming hosts in a State famed for its hospitality. To offset our short-sightedness in taking with us only clothes that are suitable for a New Orleans climate, Brother Hoover was kind enough to lend us an overcoat for the remainder of our journey—a kindness which will cause us to hold him in grateful remembrance for many days to come. L. H. Estes will bear testimony that we needed that coat.

From Pickens, we went to Leland, to look in upon the Greenville District Conference. It was our pleasure to go from Pickens to Durant in an automobile with Rev. R. P. Neblett, another friend of college days; and while in Durant waiting for the train for Winona, we had the privilege of spending a few minutes in the morning service of the meeting being conducted in the Methodist church by George Tucker, the evangelist. The church was well filled and there was evidence of marked interest in the meeting. We greatly regretted that we had to leave before Brother Tucker began to preach.

At Winona we fell in with Judge J. G. McGowen, a layman whose devotion to the church is known abroad, and were his guest at dinner at the hotel. After dinner, we walked over to the courthouse with the judge, where we had the pleasure of meeting Capt. J. T. Buckley, a loyal Methodist who has been reading the Advocate for 66 years and who gave a subscription to it as a bridal present to his wife nearly fifty years ago. It was a great pleasure to shake hands with this fine representative of the "Old Guard."

Leaving Winona about four o'clock, we arrived at Leland in time to hear the evening sermon, preached by Dr. Ernest Wray Oneal, a leading minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church who is spending some time for recuperation at Duncan, Miss., where he owns a plantation. He is a great preacher. We did not know until we heard him of another man in the United States who can be compared with Bishop Quayle for platform effectiveness—but Dr. Oneal can be compared with him and not suffer in the comparison. We heard him only the one time, but reports indicated that all his utterances were up to the same high level.

The Greenville District Conference was almost of an epoch-making kind in that it was combined with a Standard Training School, in which there were about sixty students working for credits, led by the wide-awake, optimistic, hard-working presiding elder, Rev. J. H. Felts. The faculty was such as to insure the highest character of work and to arouse deep interest and enthusiasm. Rev. R. H. B. [illegible], who [illegible] his whole soul into his work as [illegible] School Superintendent, had [illegible] the [illegible]ance of Dr. W. G. Henry, Dr. S. T. [illegible] and Mr. C. M. Dannelly, all of Alabama, and the school conducted by them was [illegible] in every way. Dr. Henry was formerly a member of the Mississippi Conference, serving as pastor of the Galloway Memorial Church at Jackson, Miss., and we greatly enjoyed renewing fellowship with him and Dr. Slaton, both of whom we had known at Vanderbilt University, as well as Mr. Dannelly, with whom we had been [illegible] associated in a Training School at Montgomery, Ala., several years ago. In connection with the school at Leland, an exhibit of work done by pupils in the graded classes of some of the Sunday schools in the district was most interesting and instructive.

With J. H. Felts presiding and [illegible] serving as secretary, there could be no question as to the orderly and expeditious transaction of business, and with T. E. Gregory, the local pastor, always on the job as host, there was nothing lacking to make the occasion delightful in every way. The luncheon served by the ladies of the Missionary Society on the day we were there would have pleased the most exacting [illegible].

Methodism in the Delta is, we judge, making rapid and substantial progress. There have been 376 additions to the membership of the church since the Annual Conference, 177 of them on profession of faith; and the reports of the pastors showed that about 25 additional members would be received on the following Sunday. Of the twenty pastoral charges in the district, eleven of them have building enterprises under way. Particular attention was given to the matter of the benevolences, and in almost every case the necessary amounts have already been [illegible] or have been provided for. We know of no section of the South that is undergoing more substantial development than is the Delta, and it is of the utmost importance that the church keep pace with its industrial progress. We are firmly of the opinion that Methodism, under its present leadership in that section, is fully alive to the situation and that both in evangelistic activities and in a material way it will fulfill its high mission.

The report of the Committee on Christian Literature very frankly discussed the problems of the Conference organ and made [illegible] for its improvement. Its attitude, however, was altogether friendly, and the editor was given ample opportunity to present the cause he represents. No possible courtesy was withheld, and his short stay was in every way [illegible].

In the interval between the [illegible] of the Greenville District Conference and the Sardis District Conference, at Senatobia, we [illegible]

"MISTAKEN IN MY EMPHASIS."

By Bishop Warren A. Candler.

The point of emphasis in what one believes and teaches determines the character of his faith and the course of his life. The whole content of creed affects him, of course; but what he emphasizes most is that which influences him most intensely. It is the dominant note in both his being and his believing. Misplaced emphasis deranges thought and disorders conduct. And there are in much of the preaching to-day manifestations of such misplaced emphasis. The essential truths of the Christian religion are minimized and neglected and all sorts of picturesque schemes of what is called "social service" absorb attention and encourage energy to the exclusion of the sublime doctrines by which spiritual life is nourished and all enduring benevolence inspired. In an excellent article published recently in one of the great papers of the country was this reference to a case in point:

"A kindly man who scorned the 'doctrines' while claiming to be 'a Christian, and gave his thought and time to 'social amelioration,' stood beside the dead body of one whom he truly loved. 'What good is a social gospel to me now?' he asked. 'I have been mistaken in my emphasis. After all, the gospel I want is one that will lead me into the world to come as well as aid in the world that now is.'"

About the same time appeared this declaration from one of the bishops of a leading church:

"There is too much fussy social service in the churches and too little sincere application to the doctrine of the Scriptures."

These are wise and timely utterances.

Efforts to relieve human need are good—very good. But the spiritual wants of men are more than their physical needs. "The life is more than meat," the Savior said; and St. Paul declared the bestowal of all one's goods to feed the poor profited nothing in default of the experience of divine love which is born from above.

Indeed, active and lasting benevolence is dependent upon strong faith, and we can not have the fruits when the tree upon which it grows is diseased at its roots. Eras of doubt speedily become periods of abounding selfishness.

Our times are characterized by multifarious activities which are beginning already to show symptoms of disease which are the forerunners of their death. They have led to hysterical appeals and utter distrust of the reliability of regular habits of benevolence. "Drives" have displaced continuous and persistent generosity that never wearies in well-doing. Campaigns, rather than steady currents of charity, are relied upon to secure the funds needed to support our manifold enterprises of benevolence. Perennial springs of goodness seem to be drying up, and we look for help from freshets only. Indeed, we are beginning to observe in our land the appearance of professional rain-makers. Our drives have given rise to expert and expensive drivers, who use methods of propaganda, rather than appeals to principle, to achieve the success upon which their incomes from their horn-blowing campaigns depend.

Before long these meretricious methods will cease to yield the results desired. Then what?

Indeed, the public is growing weary of "drives," "movements," "tag days," and the like. In the end, our enterprises which are supported by these things, will come into great destitution and distress. Wet weather springs always dry up when water is most needed.

What is needed to save all forms of "social service" is a general revival of religion, out of which perennial streams of benevolence will gush to the refreshment and blessing of the nation.

And it is encouraging to note that the necessity of such a revival is beginning to be recognized by many thoughtful people, among whom some men of the world are found. Editors of such publications as the Journal of Commerce of New York are calling for the return of the people to the observance of family worship and the religion of pious ancestors.

In the News and Observer of Raleigh, N. C., edited by Hon. Josephus Daniel, Secretary of the Navy in the Cabinet of President Wilson, appeared a few days ago the following editorial under the striking caption, "Is the Church Abdicating?":

"The hope of the world is in religion. The churches have been in all ages the sources of light. If the fires on their altar cease to burn, where will a growing people look for the light that never fails? The rather frequent utterances from pulpits of doctrines that deny all that the fathers believed and taught give pause to thoughtful men who feel that more than ever the light of the Christian religion is needed as a lamp to the feet of a stumbling world.

"Recently the New York World declared that the church is abdicating, that 'clergymen themselves have lost faith in the power of the church,' and adds 'if the churchmen don't believe in the power of their churches, need they be surprised if there is unbelief in the land?' Is the World right? We know it is wrong as to the bulk of men who minister at holy altars. But are there enough who 'have lost faith' to make the sweeping assertion even partially true? A dead ministry—a ministry that does not feel the compulsion, 'Woe is me if I preach not the gospel'—is the certain forerunner of a dead church, and the contemplation of a dead church leaves a world in darkness. Professional preachers of ethics, conductors of campaigns for money-raising, building of edifices for social activities in churches, temporary meetings and missions, encouragement of social work—all these are good worldly agencies and serve a good purpose. But they never bring to hungry men and women the blessings which come only from the spiritual life. Creature comforts and social activities can never take the place of that faith which blossoms in the 'fruits of the Spirit.'"

That is well said. Our sin-sick and grief-stricken generation needs something more and higher than food for its hunger, raiment for its nakedness, sanitation for its housing, and hygiene for its health. Preachers who have nothing to offer it but amelioration for its physical ills can not meet its sorest distress. Indeed, a gospel of mere "social service" can not so much as satisfy the souls of the men who proclaim such an unspiritual salvation.

When a man places the emphasis of his preaching on matters of that sort, he shows he has lost faith in the effectiveness of spiritual forces. He adopts the essentially absurd view that the soul within can be renewed by operating upon it through material conditions without—a view than which nothing could be more materialistic.

Men make the circumstances surrounding them far more than the circumstances make them. If all men were pure and good, there would be no polluted and polluting conditions in the earth. Everything was good, and very good, until the perfect environment of Paradise was lost by man's sin. If the human race is ever to enjoy a "Paradise Regained," it must come by the regeneration of the soul; for "the soul of all improvement is the improvement of the soul."

Wherefore, the emphasis of all preaching should be placed upon spiritual results achieved by spiritual forces. If it be fixed upon anything less or different, it is utterly misplaced. Man is pre-eminently a spiritual being, and they who would redeem him must approach him on his spiritual side—"in spirit and in truth" even as God, in whose image and likeness he was created, must be so sought. "Religion is the chief concern of mortals here below"—not earth-born and earth-bound schemes of reform and world-wise programs for the amelioration of outward conditions.

DEMOCRACY IN METHODISM.

Democracy is the thing for which the world is consciously or unconsciously clamoring to-day. There are literally millions who are praying for the reign of democracy who probably could not give an intelligent definition of the term, but who would know it when it should come by its unusual and benign form.

The Nineteenth Century has been called the "Era of Democracy." The term has been more commonly applied to governments, but a more recent use has given it apt employment in expressing societary and ecclesiastical state. It is to this latter use with which this brief treatment is concerned.

First, may we ask, What is democracy? It is not the common misconception described by the poet Lowell: "It is suposed," he says, "to reduce all mankind to a dead level of mediocrity in character and culture, to vulgarize men's conception of life and therefore their code of morals, manners and conduct—to endanger the rights of property and possession." The usual definition is, "Liberty, Equality, Fraternity," in which trio Equality has usually been regarded as standing for equity. Surely we may say that the acid test of Democracy which must be applied to any government, be it secular of ecclesiastical, is its treatment of the individual. Whatever protects his rights, promotes and guards his highest welfare, is democratic; whatever fails to do this, no matter what label it may bear, is despotic rather than democratic.

Democracy! How we like the name even though we lack the form! The truth is, Democracy is neither a name nor a form; it is a condition. And the prime element of that condition is the uniform and courteous recognition of the rights of others and the enforcement of these rights. Theodore Parker, one of the great American exponents of liberal thought, said, "Democracy means not I am good as you are, but you are as good as I am." There's where the "rub" is with us Methodist preachers. Some of us haven't learned the first principles of a democracy which we herald with elevated chests and clarionet voices. We have a great deal of the theory of the "Survival of the Fittest" mixed with our so-called Democracy, in the practice of which each wants to be the FITTEST.

The next question which we might ask is, How would the rule of pure Democracy help conditions in Methodism? In answering this question, let us keep clearly before our gaze the element of EQUITY. Is there uniform equity in the practice of our present system? Emphatically no. Several concrete examples will suffice to confirm this negative answer.

Case One. Rev. ——— is "read out" to ——— circuit. He has a large family—an ambitious wife, five or six children—who deserve to live in respectability and have the same advantages which the boys and girls of other families have. The good pastor goes to shepherd his woolly sheep; he is always faithful to the decision of the "powers that be"; upon his arrival he finds a good people, many of them the good, sturdy, hard-working type, who have furnished many fine young men and young women for leadership in church and State; he loves these good people as the shepherd loves his sheep; they love him and respond to his faithful leadership. The year passes by, and after much hard work and circuitous riding, or walking, as the case may be, the shepherd goes up to the Conference fold to "bring in his sheaves," to look happy, to tell the bishop that he has had a GOOD YEAR, when, as a matter of fact, he has had a HARD YEAR. Of course both may be said, but he omits the latter. "I tell you such a man shall go down to his charge justified." Justified how? Only in the sense that he has had a GOOD YEAR, good because he has labored well and saved souls for the Redeemer of men. But, behold the good wife and the sons and daughters who stint, who feel painful embarrassment because their meager $1,000 or $1,200 is all insufficient for their many needs. "Blessed are those that hunger and thirst after RIGHTEOUSNESS for they shall have enough."

Case Two: Rev. ——— is "read out" to ——— District, or perhaps to First Church ———. Suppose he is fortunate enough to carry the portfolio over some district. Happy is he who, with a very small family, goes to the Good District! It may pay $4,000, or $5,000. This man hath a plenty. He smoketh good cigars! He rideth in a big touring car! Or happy is he, who also hath a small family, or no family, who goeth to First Church ———! He, too, smoketh good cigars! He rideth in a high-powered automobile! He receiveth $2,000 to $3,000 per year! Surely prosperity and plenty shall follow these brethren all of the days of their life so long as they remain in the cabinet or have some good friends there who do!

I repeat it, there is no equity in the matter of salaries in our Methodism. We have a ROYAL FRATERNITY, the BEST in the world, but we are not democratic, because we lack justice and equity in the compensation which is "HANDED OUT" to every individual preacher. I say "Handed Out" because that is the term that expresses it with many; they literally receive their annual "HAND-OUT."

I say, without any fear of contradiction, our system CAN BE made more democratic if we only WILL it to be. It wouldn't take any revolution or radicalism to do it, either. All that we need is the spirit of Democracy, which is also the SPIRIT of Christianity—the spirit of Jesus.

How about pooling our salaries and profits for an experiment?

"Oh," you say, "man, have you lost your right mind? Such talk sounds like radicalism—Bolshevism."

No, it is Methodism. All you need to do is to read her history and you will see where it says: "And certain regulations were provided to keep all of the preachers as nearly on an equal footing as possible in their money matters, that there might be no jealousies or envyings among us: but that we, like the brethren of the same family, might all labor together in the Gospel of Jesus Christ." That is what Democracy is; each working with and for the other; each recognizing the needs and rights and welfare of the other; all pulling together, bearing together as a great big family.

Brother bishop, brother elder, brother preacher, let's get together and see that we not only share our mutual joys and successes, but our financial burdens (the Lord have mercy on some whom I know to have such) and every other burden of life.

"Blest Be the Tie That Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love."

A LOYAL FELLOW-PREACHER.

AMAZING!

By H. Walter Featherstun, D.D.

That ministers of the Gospel professing the Christian faith should discount the Bible, the text-book of that faith, and accept as assuredly authentic and reliable the vague and uncertain literatures of pagan cults long ago effete and now extinct, such as the old religions of Babylon, Chaldea and Egypt, is amazing to plain people of comon sense. Why should the uncertain and very incomplete chronology of ancient Egypt be presented as reliable while that of the Bible unbroken, and, as shown by Philip Mauro, with every detail verified, and clearly stated all the way from Adam down to Christ, be rejected by these men, claiming to be the learned men of our time? Do not these "learned men" know that we really have no chronology of either Egypt or Babylon—only mere fragments from the writings of Manetho, whose chronology is made up of lists of kings, some of whom are now known to have reigned simultaneously, and of Berosus of Babylon quite as uncertain? Philip Mauro absolutely proves that the chronology of the Bible is the most complete, best supported, and altogether the most reliable to be found in any literature on earth. Is it not amazing that any learned minister of the Gospel should accept the fragmentary and uncertain chronologies of pagan cults and reject the complete, unbroken and fully verified chronology of the Bible?

Is it not amazing that men with D.D. and B.D. after their names should discredit our own incomparable sacred literature that has won the praise of the most learned of all lands and ages and has withstood the questionings of millenniums and seek to offset it with hieroglyphic inscriptions that no one is yet sure have been correctly translated, notwithstanding the light shed by the Rosetta Stone? In our Quarterly Review, April, 1918, pp. 208-220, is an article by Dr. W. W. Martin, whose scholarship and good common sense no one challenges, in which there is placed in parallel columns two translations of one of these hieroglyphic tablets, one by Dr. Martin and one by Dr. Poeple; and the two versions have scarcely the slightest resemblance to each other, each claiming to be the true sense of the original. We believe that our Dr. Martin's version was the real one. Why this divergence in the translations? There is not a verse in all the Hebrew Bible, in translating which any two Hebrew scholars would differ thus widely. Yet there are men claiming special learning who would have us believe that there is a literature in hieroglyphics, scrappy, untranslatable, superior to that magnificent body of writings so generally conceded to be unmatched that by common consent it has been named Ho Biblos, The Book. Is it not amazing?

Is it not amazing that men—some of them preachers—should insist that when we find in some old pagan religion some idea or rite or form of worship or historic note similar to ideas or rites or forms of worship or historic notes found in the Bible, that Bible writers borrowed them from the pagan cults? Why not suppose that the old pagans were trying to imitate the faith of the Bible, in their dull, blind way seeking to adopt features of the Bible faith? A book once used in Vanderbilt University taught that the very name of Jehovah (Yehveh) and the idea the name expressed were adopted from some pagan tribal cult of ancient Canaan. Is it not amazing that pagan cults too vile to be accurately described without violating our laws against obscene literature should be ranked thus above the pure primitive faith of the Bible?

This writer does not presume to be able to solve the problem here suggested. He does not know why educated men should assume such amazing attitudes. When young he heard of "educated fools"—i. e., men who had learned to read Latin and Greek, and had compassed the curriculum of the college, and yet were absolutely void of common sense. I do not suggest this as the solution of the problem under consideration; but I cannot understand why educated men, some of them Methodist preachers, can assume such strange and illogical attitudes. Can some one solve the problem?

MUSINGS OF A MENTAL RUMINANT.

By Arthur Madison Shaw.

An eminent doctor of divinity said to me not long ago: "Many brethren wonder why there are so many people who do not go to church, or who go irregularly and rarely. But I do not wonder. I go because I am religious, and because it is a life-long habit. If I had no other incentive than the preaching one ordinarily hears, I should not often trouble myself to attend."

Unpleasant as this indictment of the pulpit is, it is not without justification. A layman recently complained that a minister came many miles to preach to a church that rarely had a service, and labored at great length to show "why it was necessary for Jesus to die that men might be saved!" Not long ago I heard a preacher deliver the opening sermon for a periodical church gathering. There were just three things in the sermon: (1) An assault upon those "rationalists" who are trying to confine Christian faith to a more restricted field and concentrate the battle-lines of the Kingdom upon a shorter front. (2) He himself had read Darwin and Spencer! (3) The only sure foundation of a holy life is the Person and Character of Jesus Christ; and the only infallible evidence of His Divinity is the soul's conscious experience of what He can do! Thus did this representative minister shake his fist at an imaginary antagonist, in the first round; leave him completely, in the second; and embrace him, in the third!

The vast and sinister activity of the Roman Catholic Church in American public affairs is evident to every observant Christian. Many realize the necessity of combating these movements, but not a few are using the worst possible weapons. Harsh language, even when just, usually strengthens, rather than weakens, the cause against which it is directed. Extremely narrow views have a like effect. A Protestant minister (not a Methodist thank God!) told me yesterday of an experience with a lady of the Roman Catholic Church. In a moment of frankness and confidence, she asked: "Brother Blank, what do you really think about us Catholics? What will become of us when we die?" He answered, "Sister, I do not want to wound you; but I must be true to my Lord. According to the Word of God, if you die a Catholic, you go to hell!' "

It is amazing that any man with moderate intelligence should think it possible to make head against the errors of Rome by a spirit as narrow, a bigotry as arrant, a conception of God and the spiritual life as crass and heathenish, and a propaganda far less tactful than those of any Romanist! It is like attacking tuberculosis with drugs. There are certain germs that cannot live in pure air and sunlight. Education will destroy the bacilli of superstition. The clear, sweet atmosphere of modern science, warmed and illuminated by the bright beams of the Sun of Righteousness, will kill the microbes of mediaeval magic and superstitution that still lurk in the dark places of the modern world. Then there will be no place for Romanism, as we know it to-day. Let us open all the windows and let in the light!

Contrary to a popular notion, no theory of evolution teaches that man descended from an ape. But a good many of us are "apes," no matter where we descended from! Let Billy Sunday visit a city, and for months thereafter dozens of fledgeling preachers will turn somersaults in the pulpit, throw off their coats to fight the devil, and stamp on the Bible! Let a bishop whose loquacity is destitute of terminal facilities hold an Annual Conference, and some presiding elders will talk their quarterly and district conferences to death, and many pastors will talk their board meetings, prayer meetings, and public services into nervous prostration, till a change of general superintendents brings relief to a long-suffering people. Verily —unconsciously, innocently—many of us are apes!

It is impossible to commend too heartily the first article in our April Quarterly Review. It is by Bishop Edwin D. Mouzon, and the title is "The Faith Once for All Delivered Unto the Saints." All honor to men who like Mouzon, Rowe, and Winton, leave the philosophy of the Middle Ages to shift for itself, and preach the Christ of all the ages, to men of to-day, in terms of the epochal present' When the theology that interprets Christian faith in harmony with the world's new knowledge shall have won its battle—as it most certainly will! hundreds of its secret disciples who are pussy-footing along a non-committal path, will come out in the open, and lustily proclaim their faith in it:

"For humanity sweeps onward. Where to-day the martyr stands,
On the morrow crouches Judas with the silver in his hands."

God give us more men to contend earnestly for the faith once for all delivered to the saints, and few to fight over the dogmas which were some centuries later—delivered by the saints!

GRENADA DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

Pickens is the hospitable little town where the Grenada District Conference met this year, May 8-10. Although it is the last town in the district, being the end of the string which composes the shoe-lace district, the conference was well attended by laymen and pastors. Every pastor was present with the exception of one. Rev. J. S. Duncan is the pastor at Pickens; Rev. R. A. Tucker is the presiding elder. Brother Duncan and his people entertained us royally.

W. R. Lott was elected secretary. Committees were appointed to look into the various interests of the church. Every item relative to church work was brought to light; the conference was open and free in the discussions.

Three young men were licensed to preach: W. L. Hannah, Holly Springs; C. R. Holmes, Winona; H. C. Harden, Tie Plant.

Licensing Committee for ensuing year: J. R. Countiss, J. E. Stephens, Melville Johnson, G. A. Baker.

Lay delegates to Annual Conference: Dr. T. L. Wilburn, Kilmichael; R. E. Wilburn, Lexington; E. I. Doty, Pickens; J. G. McGowen, Water Valley; R. W. Sharp, Grenada; F. A. Howell, Durant; A. W. Milden, Oxford; L. G. Fant, Holly Springs.

J. G. McGowen was elected District lay leader, with R. C. Elmore and C. Curd associates.

The preaching was done by Melville Johnson, H. T. Carley, W. R. Lott, and L. P. Wasson.

The conference meets next year at Abbeville.

W. R. LOTT, Secretary.

GREENVILLE DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

The 1923 session of the Greenville District Conference, which was held at Leland, May 7-12, was perhaps the most unique and at the same time the most successful district conference ever held in this part of Methodism. It was unique in the very daring of its conception, in that the presiding elder, the Rev. J. H. Felts, planned its sessions to last during the entire week, and coupled with the conference a Standard Training School for Sunday School Workers and made the two institutions interlock into one. And the novel idea worked to perfection. The conference was well attended by pastors and lay delegates, most of whom stayed through the entire session, and sixty of whom enrolled as students and completed the course of the school, while many more attended the lectures.

Another novel feature was the arrangement of the program. The morning sessions were given over to the transaction of conference affairs, and the afternoons were devoted to the work of the school. The school, which was under the direction of the Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, Conference Sunday School Field Secretary, offered four courses, under most able instructors, as follows:

"The Bible" (Old Testament), Dr. W. G. Henry.

"Adult Organization and Administration," Dr. S. T. Slaton.

"The School—Organization and Administation," Mr. C. M. Dannelly.

"The Pupil," Mrs. J. B. Randolph.

It would be exceedingly difficult to assemble a more competent faculty, and these instructors have done a work in our midst that will show results in increased efficiency in the Sunday schools of the district.

The lectures, sermons and addresses given during the conference constituted another unique feature. The opening address was by Miss Daisy Davies, who stirred every heart with her vivid portrayal of the European situation. Morning messages were delivered by Dr. Henry, Dr. Slaton, and Mr. Dannelly, each of which was timely and stirring. The evening hour was given to Dr. E. W. Oneal, late of Chicago, who captivated his audience with his wit, his philosophy and all around ability. He preached on the great themes of "The Atonement" and "The Holy Spirit," and delivered an address on "Why Many People Do Not Go to Church," and closed his series with a great lecture on "Seeing Visions."

J. J. Baird, of Greenville, was granted license to preach, and he and H. D. Suydam, of Shelby, were recommended for admission on trial into the Annual Conference.

The reports show that already this Conference year there have been 395 additions to the membership, of which 177 were on profession of faith. The finances are in excellent condition, nearly every charge reporting salaries paid up to date and provision has been made for the payment of the claims in every charge but one.

The Home Mission spirit was much in evidence, and careful enquiry was made into the location of unoccupied territory, and plans were laid for the entering of all the territory within the district where work is now being done. Beside using the district evangelist, the Rev. John Robertson, the presiding elder and many of the pastors will do special work in this line. The Woman's Missionary Society in this district has pledged itself to material assistance in this work.

The following were elected as delegates to the Annual Conference: Mrs. J. M. Wyatt, Mrs. B. L. Beavers, Mrs. M. E. Dakin, Waddy West, J. H. Sherard, J. T. Mathis, S. V. Wall, Mrs. Rather. Alternates: L. C. Haysie and J. R. Whisnant.

Exactly half the charges in the district report building prospects for church buildings and parsonages under way. Every house being built is a modern structure, with special provision for the housing of the Sunday school.

The Conference gladly heard visitors as follows: Ben P. Jaco, Conference Missionary Secretary; Dr. Black, of Millsaps College; J. H. Holder, Conference Secretary of Education; Dr. H. T. Carley, Editor of the New Orleans Christian Advocate; Dr. J. R. Countiss, President of Grenada College; Rev. B. F. Lewis, of the Orphans' Home; L. H. Estes, of the Methodist Hospital at Memphis.

The hospitable city of Leland entertained the conference well, and its fine people endeared themselves to the heart of every visitor.

DEL LONGGREAR, Secretary.

SARDIS DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

Dear Dr. Carley: The secretary of our Sardis District Conference informs me that it will be the middle or last of next week before he can get a report of our conference to the Advocate, hence this short notice.

In my humble judgment we had a great conference. It was great in many respects. First, the attendance was excellent, both on the part of preachers and of the laymen. Only two of our preachers did not attend, and they were providentially hindered. Possibly sixty or seventy of our laymen were present, that, too, when weather conditions were much against us. Had weather conditions been favorable, I believe we would have had nearly 100 laymen in attendance.

Second, the spirit of the conference was most excellent. I was delighted to note that the spirit of optimism was in the saddle. The spirit of brotherly love and kindness was much in evidence. I know this because all the brethren were so considerate of Ye Elder in his new job of presiding over the conference. It is a real pleasure to work with the preachers and laymen of the Sardis District in any capacity or anywhere.

Third, reports show that much has already been done toward evangelizing in the district, and plans are being laid for greater work along that line. One hundred and forty additions have been made in the district since Conference, forty-two of these on profession of faith. About one-half of the salaries have been paid to date. Improvements to the amount of $15,000 have been made, possibly $16,000. Something has been done both on the Centenary and Educational interests, though both these interests are far behind what they ought to be. Many of our charges are preparing to hold Sunday School Day.

One of the best features of our conference was Laymen's Hour. On Wednesday afternoon I turned the conference over to Dr. Minor, District Lay Leader, who rendered a program that was interesting, inspiring and helpful. The speakers were Herbert Holmes, Grady Johnson, Dick Hall, and J. A. Randolph. Each of these men brought messages to the conference that plugged the nail on the head each time they spoke.

Owing to the fact that we were rushed for time, we had but three sermons. These, however, were the best possible. That sermon preached by the Editor of the New Orleans Advocate will long be remembered as one that is fundamental and basic both to the church and to Christianity.

May God bless all our laymen and preachers and lead us all to great victory in His name, is the prayer of your humble co-worker,

J. TILLERY LEWIS.

THE MILLSAPS ALUMNI.

Millsaps College has been sending out young men and young women with the stamp of its approval by its diploma for twenty-eight years. The first graduating class went out in 1895 with three members—H. S. Stevens, J. G. Lilly, and F. M. Austin. The class of 1923 will go out with thirty-one graduates—the largest in the history of the college.

Up to the present the Alumni Asosciation has had no substantial organization and there has been nothing to cement the graduates and former students into a unified body.

The time is now at hand when some forward step should be taken looking to the forming of a stronger organization among the Alumni.

The college itself needs the strong arm of its sons. The question of Alumni support arises at times. There should be an organization strong enough to put anything over for the good of the college.

In the past there have been a few local spurts principally in the interest of athletics, but the college has not had the unqualified support of the Alumni which the writer, himself an alumnus, has longed to see. He ventures to propose two or three things that may help to form the desired organization and help to tie more closely the Alumni to the college.

There should be formed a Board of Directors of the Alumni Association. This board should be composed of fifteen members in groups of five to hold office for three years.

Former students should be recognized on this board to the extent of one at least for each group of five and graduates to the extent of four at the most for each group of five. In other words, there should be 80% of the board made up of those who have received the degrees of the college. There should be an Alumni Secretary, who should be a paid officer. The college can well afford to supplement the salary of such an officer from the advertising funds of the institution. The returns for advertising can be no greater in any direction than keeping in vital touch with the Alumni.

At present only part time of a secretray can be provided. When the Association is able to do so, a full-time secretary should be provided, with the salary paid entirely by the Asociation.

There should be established a magazine devoted to the interests of the Alumni similar to such magazines of other institutions.

Finally, there should be such an organization of the forces as will sell Millsaps to her sons and through them to the public in general.

It is hoped that the graduates and former students will be thinking of these matters and be ready at the meeting on Monday, May 28, to give them due consideration.

G. L. HARRELL, '99.

OUR REPRESENTATIVE CHURCH IN WASHINGTON, D. C.

At the annual session of the Board of Church Extension, held recently in Louisville, Ky., the interesting and informing report concerning our Representative Church in Washington, D. C., found below, was adopted.

The state of facts set forth in this report will be very gratifying to all the members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. They will perceive that they have never made a wiser or more fruitful investment in all our history. It has set forward the cause of Southern Methodism at the National Capital beyond the most sanguine hopes of those who proposed this enterprise and of those who have made it possible.

Report of Committee No. VIII, Washington City Representative Church.

To the Board of Church Extension of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Dear Brethren: The erection of the Representative Church, Mt. Vernon Place, Washington, D. C., has been followed by the happiest consequences. It is attended at all seasons by congregations which greatly exceed the capacity of the building. The membership of the church has been more than doubled since the new building was opened for worship.

From the remarkable success of the enterprise a stimulating influence has gone forth to all our churches in the city, and it is not too much to say that the work of our church at the National Capital was never so prosperous as now.

But Washington is not, and never can be, a commercial center. Its inhabitants are generally people of limited means. Most of them are dependent upon salaries derived from the service of the government; hence they are unable to erect such churches as are required to meet the needs of a city to which thousands go continually for longer or shorter periods. Every great denomination in our country is, therefore, bound, as a matter of both duty and self-respect, to build there at least one great representative church and assist in its maintenance.

Moved by the example of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, nearly all the larger denominations in the United States have come to recognize this obligation to the nation, and are now undertaking to erect such houses of worship. The Southern Presbyterians, the Unitarians, the Protestant Episcopalians, and the Roman Catholics have such enterprises in progress, and most of the representative churches of these denominations are projected on lines larger and more expensive than the size and cost of our Representative Church.

The Commission charged with the duty of building the new Mount Vernon Place church went to the limit of the funds available, and there remains unpaid at this time $58,000 on the cost of the house. It should be enlarged, and this might be easily done without marring its architectural beauty and impressiveness, if money could be had for the purpose. Already the congregation has purchased one additional lot in the rear of the church, with this object in view, and during the past year has raised also $10,000 for the reduction of the debt on the church.

This debt should be discharged at the earliest possible moment, and this can be done if all the persons who have subscribed to the enterprise and owe balances on their subscriptions will pay them, and all the Annual Conferences that have made pledges for the building will discharge these obligations.

The debt being discharged, most, if not all, of the cost of enlarging the building can be provided in a few years.

It is recommended, therefore, that earnest efforts be made to collect without delay the Conference pledge and any personal subscriptions which remain unpaid. If these pledges and subscriptions can be collected at once, the debt can be discharged before the close of the year 1924, and this ought to be done. The newly-appointed Commission is respectfully requested to direct its efforts to this end. It is hoped also that the Board of Church Extension may be able to find the funds for the payment of the balance of its appropriation.

TO THE FRIENDS OF THE LOUISIANA METHODIST ORPHANAGE.

Dear Friends: On the 15th of May, the Building Committee let the contract for building one of the cottages.

They have a proposition from the contractor whereby they can save $2,500 by building two cottages at the same time. This offer must be accepted in a specified time.

We are asking all of our friends to send in as much as possible by the 1st of June, so we can be able to avail ourselves of this saving. We lack $15,000 of having enough to pay for two cottages. The committee does not want to sign the cotnract without sufficient money in sight to pay for both. Will all of our subscribers, and other friends who have not subscribed, help us at this time by as liberal gifts as possible?

Financial Secretary.

SAFETY SIGNALS.

By Rev. S. J. Davies.

We owe some things to posterity. Strange indeed it is that we who are living can add burdens to coming generations. I fear we are doing this very thing by or through some of the so-called great movements in our church to-day. Debts are incurred, responsibilities assumed, which will take a generation to liquidate and meet. The credit system is rapidly becoming a drag if not a curse. Churches are bogged, yes, simply bogged because of debt with which they are struggling. Some of them, and not a few, are paying the highest legal rate of interest to banks or private individuals that have advanced money for "adventures" in building that might have waited for a season, without any special damage to the cause of religion.

The Bible has some very plain things to say about the interest on money and it will take a financial genius to tell when this becomes usury. It was never recognized as lawful. I can't see why a congregation should be subsidized for the purpose of money lenders. The church of God is not a commercial institution, and when it attempts such a thing grievous troubles follow. Many builders are not unlike the one the Savior speaks of, who would build a tower without counting the cost. The credit system has ruined more men, blighted more homes, broken more hearts of good women and cursed the lives of more children in this Southland of ours than one can well number. When will people learn that no one, no church, no company, rightfully and honestly owns a thing until it is bought and paid for?

I do not expect all to agree with me in the [illegible] statements I am making, for the [illegible] have a marvelous liability of [illegible] asset of sound judgment. Call me "slow, [illegible] ative, old-fashioned," or any other term that may suit you, when short on real [illegible] reasons, yet I hope some will at least give me credit for honesty in presenting [illegible] tion of our Methodist constituency is [illegible] a drag, an evil.

* * *

"O Love that will not let me go,
I rest my weary soul in Thee,
I give Thee back the life I owe,
That in Thine ocean depths its flow
May richer, fuller be."

This I think one of the most perfect [illegible] hymns ever written. The opening [illegible] divine constancy, divine faithfulness [illegible] sense of perfect rest and security to the soul joined with unhindered trust that it [illegible] the sunlit field of life, joy and peace. [illegible] then, yes, more than willing to give back [illegible] we owe; and in the giving, in its tide [illegible] into the infinite ocean of the greater love it be richer, fuller.

"O Light that followest all my way,
I yield my flickering torch to Thee,
My heart restores its borrowed ray,
That in Thy sunshine's blaze its day
May brighter, fairer be."

"I am the Light of the world; he that believeth on me shall not walk in darkness but shall have the light of life." In the streets of our great cities are the white ways ablaze with glory of thousands of incandescent bulbs. Here throbbing, [illegible], pulsing human life throngs. But the eye of faith envisions a greater light. The "flickering torch" and "borrowed ray" of mere earthly light [illegible] and eclipsed in the surpassing sunshine of the Christ-like light.

"O Joy, that seekest me through pain,
I cannot close my heart to Thee,
I trace the rainbow through the rain
And feel the promise is not vain
That morn shall tearless be."

Whom he loveth he chasteneth. This is not an easy lesson. When like a stricken doe the fairest and seemingly best lies ruined and broken in the impenetrable thickets about us, then, yes then one needs the vision to trace the rainbow through the rain. After the storm, not when it is raging, comes the irridescent bow. The splendor of the sunlight must touch and gild the clouds before the great arch of glory bends in the heavens and "we feel the promise is not vain."

"O, Cross that liftest up my head,
I dare not ask to fly from Thee;
I lay in dust life's glory dead,
And from the ground those blossoms red,
Life that shall endless be."

The strength, the attraction, the glory of Christ's cross is the mystery of the ages. In being lifted up he lifts the race, its burden of sin, its sorrow, its doubt, its darkness, oh, wonder of redeeming grace! Life given for life, the depth, the height, the infinite sweep of that [illegible] death on the cross. We stand in reverential wonder and awe before it now, and with the angels would know more of its mystery.

The Call of the Conference Claimants

EDITED BY LUTHER E. TODD, SECRETARY

Board of Finance, M. E. Church, South.

THE FIFTH ANNUAL MEETING OF THE BOARD OF FINANCE.

Reported by Luther E. Todd, Secretary.

The annual meeting of the Board of Finance held in St. Louis, Mo., April 23, 24, 1923, will go down in the history of the Church as a most memorable occasion. All of the twenty-five members were present except Mr. J. T. Catlin, of the Virginia Conference, who was detained on account of personal illness, and Messrs. John T. Scott, of the Texas Conference, and C. C. Carson, of the Southwest Missouri Conference, who were prevented from coming because of unexpected business engagements.

In addition to the members of the Board, there were present at the annual meeting representatives of Conference Boards of Finance, as follows: Rev. J. E. Garrett, Illinois Conference; Rev. J. F. Foster, Louisiana Conference; Rev. D. F. Ellisor, Alabama Conference; Rev. W. H. Roper, West Oklahoma Conference; Rev. O. S. Thomas, North Texas Conference; Rev. D. B. Doak, Northwest Texas Conference; Rev. S. O. Cantey, South Carolina Conference; Rev. W. A. Cooper, Florida Conference; Rev. Lester Clark, Southwest Missouri Conference; Rev. H. E. Ryan, St. Louis Conference; Rev. H. E. Draper, West Texas Conference; Rev. A. E. O'Dell, Western Virginia Conference; Rev. W. M. Owings, Upper South Carolina Conference; Rev. B. M. Beckham, Virginia Conference; Rev. C. W. Seale, North Alabama Conference; Mr. C. A. Sloan, Tennessee Conference; Rev. C. N. Morton, Central Texas Conference; Rev. J. H. Glass, Little Rock Conference; Rev. R. F. Davis, New Mexico Conference; Rev. C. M. Hesser, Baltimore Conference; Rev. R. A. Clark, Memphis Conference; Rev. J. E. Cunningham, North Mississippi Conference; Rev. J. M. Morse, Mississippi Conference; Rev. H. L. Wade, North Arkansas Conference; Rev. J. H. Allen, South Georgia Conference; Rev. A. A. Puckett, East Oklahoma Conference; Rev. T. S. Hamilton, Holston Conference.

These Conference Board men were urged to attend the annual meeting that they might become saturated with the plan of special effort for superannuate endowment and be prepared to give the best account of themselves when the said movement is launched at the Annual Conference this fall.

There were a number of other visitors on this notable occasion, including several of the pastors in St. Louis and some out-of-town men, as follows: Rev. P. C. Fletcher, pastor First Church, Little Rock, Ark.; Rev. Frank L. Wells, pastor Washington Street Church, Petersburg, Va.; Rev. C. C. Selecman, President Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Tex.; Rev. W. H. Nelson, editor Pacific Methodist; Mr. G. L. Morelock, Secretary of the Board of Lay Activities; Rev. W. E. Brown, presiding elder West Plains District, St. Louis Conference; Rev. L. H. Estes, Secretary Methodist Hospital, Memphis, Tenn.; Rev. S. H. C. Burgin, pastor Laurel Heights Church, San Antonio, Tex.; Rev. W. A. Lambeth, pastor Main Street Church, Gastonia, N. C.

The Secretary's report was of unusual length, because it contained not only the usual matters coming to the attention of the Board, but also the detailed plan of the special effort for superannuate endowment presented for the Board's approval. The Secretary's report, excepting the plan of the special effort, which was adopted by the Board, will be included with a full list of the Conference claimants in the Bulletin, which will be mailed to the Church on or before July 1, 1923.

The plan of special effort for superannuate endowment, which was approved by the Board, will not be given to the public until it is presented to the Annual Conferences of 1923. After that it will be freely distributed in booklet form among those who will have use for it in carrying on the work which it lays out.

The annual meeting of the Board unanimously passed a resolution requesting the Commission on Reorganization of General Boards in drafting their plan for said reorganization to be submitted to the next General Conference to leave the Board of Finance as it is, distinct and separate from any other Board or Boards.

A memorial was received from the Woman's Missionary Council on the subject of the proper care of superannuated deaconesses and other missionary women. This matter was considered by the Board with painstaking care and referred to a committee of five, consisting of Bishop W. F. McMurry, Luther E. Todd, Bishop U. V. W. Darlington, T. N. Ivey, and J. W. Fristoe, with instructions to study the subject fully in conference with members of the Woman's Missionary Council and report the results of their findings to the next annual meeting of the Board.

The Secretary's report revealed the following facts:

1. That $65,224 was collected on the assessment for superannuate endowment for the fiscal year which closed on March 31, 1923, which was $8,988 in excess of the amount collected from this source for said purpose in any year in the history of the fund.

2. That page 28, "The Call of the Conference Claimants," in the Christian Advocate is now being published weekly in every Conference organ of the Church, except two. The Baltimore Advocate, which is one of the two, has arranged to begin this weekly publication of said matter at the proper time to serve best the interests of the cause in that Conference.

3. That hereafter those superannuating will not be allowed to take credit for more than two years of active service during the period of probation.

4. That the status of preparation for the special effort looking to adequate superannuate endowment is such at this time to reassure the Church that the Board of Finance will be able successfully to meet every situation in the unfoldment of the plan of operation.

5. That the total amount of the General Superannuate Endowment Fund as of date March 31, 1923, is $921,820.32, and that $138,902.65 of this amount is subject to annuity. The net increase of the general fund for the fiscal year just closed was $104,133.58. The total increase of the general fund since the Board of Finance began its operation, September 1, 1918, is $475,740.07.

6. That the amount available for appropriation on July 1, 1923, is $41,469.75, which amount is nearly treble the appropriation made to the claimants the year before the Board of Finance took charge of the fund.

7. That the Board is now trustee of eighteen Conference funds, which amount to a total of $87,259.92, on which a net income of six per cent was paid at the close of the fiscal year to the Annual Conferences owning these funds.

8. That the total number of claimants is now 2,238, composed of 877 superannuates and 1,361 widows of preachers. The total amount paid to these claimants in the past year from all sources was $528,699, the superannuates receiving $294 per capita and the widows of preachers $198 per capita.

9. That the total Annual Conference superannuate endowment, including the value of superannuate homes, is at present approximately $1,284,752.

10. That 2,279 active preachers of the Church receive less than $1,000 per capita per year, that 1,669 active preachers receive between $1,000 and $1,500 per capita per year, that 1,163 active preachers receive between $1,500 and $2,000 per capita per year, that 625 active preachers receive between $2,000 andd $2,500 per capita per year, that 195 active preachers receive between $2,500 and $3,000 per capita per year, that 322 active preachers receive between $3,000 and $4,000 per capita per year, and that 130 active preachers receive $4,000 and up per capita per year.

The Board directed the Secretary to express to the Woman's Missionary Council its appreciation of the action taken by that body looking to assist in the special effort for superannuate endowment. All of the members of the Board felt that the interest manifested by these good women was of a character that would greatly stimulate the movement.

At one of the sessions of the annual meeting the Board paused in its deliberations in memory of the valuable services rendered the cause of the "forgotten man" by Bishop E. R. Hendrix during the time that he was one of its members. The President stated that Bishop Hendrix was one of the charter members of the Board of Finance and that since his retirement from active participation in the Board's affairs he had not ceased to manifest great interest in all of its work. The Secretary was directed to convey to Bishop Hendrix an expression of good will and fraternal regard.

The annual meeting, having finished its work, adjourned at noon on Tuesday, April 24, with the understanding that the Board would meet upon the call of the President and Secretary if conditions arising out of the special effort for superannuate endowment should make such a meeting necessary. The members departed to all sections of the Church, carrying with them the conviction that this annual meeting was a pronounced success in every particular.

Immediately after the adjournment of the annual meeting the Secretary of the Board of Finance went into conference with the representatives of the Conference Boards of Finance. These brethren gave every evidence of an impassioned interest in the special effort for superannuate endowment, and without exception pledged themselves to do everything in their power in their respective Annual Conferences to achieve for it a notable victory.

It is my positive conviction that the Conference Board of Finance in every Annual Conference will be solidly behind the great movement in behalf of the "forgotten man," and not one of these Conference Boards will fail to measure up to the opportunity and privilege which confronts it in this matter.

A BUNCH OF CARNATIONS.

The big kitchen was full of the clatter of dishes and the hubbub of voices. Somehow, in spite of the heavy work, the others always had things to talk about. But Lottie Summer, over in her corner, worked in angry silence. She was angry at the other girls, who seemed to get so much fun out of things; she was angriest of all at herself, because she did not know what she wanted; she only knew that she did not intend to wash dishes and boil eggs in a hospital kitchen all her life.

Maggie O'Brien's voice drifted across her sullen thoughts; there was a little sob in it, like the quick glint of tears that sometimes come into her laughing eyes.

"It's a saint she is. Sure, I heard Doctor Cameron talking of her, an' his eyes were that soft ye wouldn't have known him. For all the pain she bears there's nivir a word of complaint out of her lips. Even Miss Bennett has a different voice when she speaks to her."

"I'd like to see her," Angie Brooks said, enviously.

Lottie Summer, half listening, thought idly that she would like to see this marvelous patient, too. But it was a careless wish, and she had forgotten all about it, when one of the nurses sent her on an errand to Room 45 a few days later. It was only a moment, but it was long enough for a pair of dark eyes to meet hers with a smile she could not forget. She longed for another errand that would take her to Room 45, but it never came, and the weeks passed, until at last they brought the day when the best-loved patient was to leave the hospital.

All the girls who had ever served her went to say good-bye. Lottie, paring apples in the kitchen, crowded back bitter tears. Then suddenly before her eyes shone a blur of wonderful color, a wave of fragrance swept about her, and somebody—she never knew who it was—said:

"She sent them to the girl who cooked her eggs so nicely for her."

Lottie flew upstairs to her tiny room. Her hands trembled as she thrust the carnations into her water pitcher. They were the first beautiful gift that had ever come into her life, but they were more than that; across the gray monotony of her days they flamed like a torch, illuminating all the future. She had her first glimpse of the great privilege of service.—Youth's Companion.

THE WAY TO ADVENTURE.

Joyce Penlow crossed the road and entered the garden where Dr. Newcomb was busy among his dahlias. "I'm sick," she said, and her dark eyes were sullen. "I'm sick, and you can't cure me. But I've got to speak of it to somebody. That's what doctors are for, aren't they?"

"That's one of the things. Another is to raise dahlias. Aren't they coming along fine? You shall have the first red ones the middle of August."

"I can't wait till August even for dahlias. I've got to have something now, or I'll go mad. I've got to have some adventure! Of course, I know I can't. Nothing ever happens in a village like this, and I can't leave mother."

The doctor closed his knife and led the way to the piazza steps, which were cool and shady at that hour. "Just what do you mean by adventure?" he asked.

The girl threw her arms wide. "Everything! Everything that I haven't got! New people, new places, doing real things! Real things, not bread and dishes and playing the hymns in Sunday school. I want to get into crowds, way deep into them! I want things that are out in the world. And it isn't myself alone." The doctor knew without looking at her the pain that shone in her dark eyes. "It's mother—so patient, so endlessly patient. And everything is going by! Scores of great beautiful cars pass every day. Sometimes I feel as if I'd like to go out and hold them up!"

"Well, why don't you?" the doctor asked.

Joyce stared at him.

"People do all along the road—maple sugar, candy, fruit."

"Oh, that!" the girl cried scornfully.

"There's Mrs. Minster, who frequently has to go to the door because people stop and try to buy her flowers. She has a picture of the garden that a famous artist who was passing painted for her."

Joyce was silent.

"There's a proverb, you know," continued the doctor, "that says 'adventure comes to the adventurous!' The true adventurer has three qualities courage and perseverance and imagination. The real adventure lies in mastering difficult circumstances. Have you the pluck for it, Joyce, and the determination and the imagination? If you have them, then all the stars in heaven can't keep adventures from you."

On the sun-flecked steps Joyce sat with a new look in her eyes. What could she do? But that was exactly the test. "Dose night and morning," she said at last. "Thank you, doctor. It's horrid tasting, but I'll try it."—The Companion.

THE YOKE THAT MEANS LIBERTY.

There is an impression in certain quarters that when Christ insisted upon self-denial in all who would follow him and then added his yoke was easy and his burden light, he did not really mean the latter except in some high and lofty sense that transcends the bounds of the ordinary man's spiritual development. But to the one who has made the experiment, who has honestly faced the question of self-denial and settled it in Christ's own way, there is no difficulty whatever in accepting Christ's words just as they read. His yoke is easy, and our experience proves that it is so.

There is in man a lower and a higher self, and the two are continually at war. There is in every man the makings of a first-class scoundrel, and if the lower self is allowed to dominate this is exactly what happens. Pride, appetite, passion, greed, hate, are all struggling for mastery, and once let them become masters and the restraints which civilization and decency impose upon us may easily become as feeble strands of tow. Self-denial is the invariable basis of all achievement that is worth the name.

The scholar must turn his back upon indolence and wealth; the successful business man must work and plan while others sleep; the expert musician and the prima donna have behind them a record of self-denial which the world can only guess at. If we would win wealth, or fame, or power, we must be prepared to turn our faces away from ease and pleasure and to deny ourselves many things in order to win a few others.

But this is only one side of the question. All of us are denying ourselves some things, probably many things, and in a great many cases we fail, utterly fail, to get what we desire, and our unfulfilled wishes become a burden to us. We are richer than we were, but we are not nearly rich enough, and we fret and worry over the fact until it poisons every waking hour. We have position, and we have approached that position, but we are still so far away that our pride revolts and our lives are a continual rebellion against fate. We have denied ourselves so much, and it has given us so little, that we are sure some evil chance has dogged our footsteps. Life has been very largely a failure and we lay the blame at every other door but our own.

And to this disappointed world Christ comes with his call to self-denial, and it seems as though he would take away from us the few feeble pleasures that are left. Self-denial! Why, we have been doing little else all our lives! And as we see it, further self-denial can only result in making our misery complete. But at heart our self-denial has not really been self-denial, for it has been prompted always by self interest. We denied ourselves one thing that we might win ourselves something better. Always the idea was the exultation and glorification of self; and this has failed. And now Christ comes with his appeal for a wiser self-denial which shall free us once and for all from this self-seeking, and shall set the soul at liberty to serve.

Can he do what he says? Can he set us free from the dominion of self and give us peace? To this there is one answer from millions of souls He can do just what he says.—Christian Guardian.

After a preacher reaches high-water mark he has to do a lot of struggling to keep his head above water.—Selected.

Politicians tell us that if we want a change in the tariff to vote for it. But when we want the prohibition of the rum abomination enforced they tell us to pray for it.—Selected.

FOUR IN ONE.

ourselves of the opportunity to visit friends and relatives at Satartia, in Yazoo County, where our second year in the pastorate was spent. It is always a pleasure to renew those associations; and we felt a peculiar pleasure in being permitted to preach at Satartia on Sunday evening and baptize two children of a family in which we had previously officiated in the same sacred service for all the other children. In our visit to Satartia we are greatly indebted to Rev. W. J. Ferguson, of Yazoo City, and Rev. B. H. Williams for courtesies shown.

From Satartia we went to Senatobia to attend the Sardis District Conference, presided over by our old friend and schoolmate, Rev. J. Tillery Lewis. We were looking forward with keen interest to seeing a new elder preside over his first district conference—but if we had not known that Brother Lewis is new at the business, we should never have discovered it, for he presided with all the grace and dignity of the most experienced. The conference was organized with the election of S. H. Gaines as secretary and R. G. Moore as assistant secretary, and the business moved steadily and definitely forward. Rev. W. S. Shipman—"Mister" Shipman, as he is affectionately known—was as fine a host as such a gathering could wish to have. We were assigned as a guest to the beautiful home of Mrs. J. T. Gabbert—which is enough to say for all those who are acquainted with Senatobia, for it is a home in which Christian hospitality is most graciously dispensed.

We had the privilege of hearing Rev. R. G. Moore preach a fine sermon on Tuesday evening; at the 11 o'clock hour on Wednesday morning we had the pleasure of speaking to an attentive congregation. Our stay at Senatobia was short, but the visit was one that will linger long as a pleasant memory.

From Senatobia we went, by way of Memphis and New Albany, to Ripley to attend the Corinth District Conference, presided over by another old friend and schoolmate, Rev. J. B. Randolph. Circumstances were such that we could spend only a part of one day at Ripley—but that was enough to make us realize how much we missed by not being able to stay longer. A guest in the home of Judge and Mrs. T. E. Pegram is fortunate indeed—and we had the good fortune to be a guest there. Rev. S. A. Brown is as good a host as he is pastor, and that is saying a great deal. We do not know when we have seen a more interested, better organized church from top to bottom than we found at Ripley. Outstanding features are the junior board of stewards, the junior congregation, and the orchestra. So far as we could see, all that is lacking to make Ripley one of the very finest appointments in the Conference is an adequate church building—and we understand that definite steps have already been taken to provide that in the very near future.

Brother Randolph is a most capable presiding officer, and Rev. W. M. Langley is a fine secretary. The business of the conference was well under way when we arrived, and the reports of pastors that we heard indicate that this is a good year on the Corinth District. We were given plenty of time to speak of the Advocate, and every brotherly consideration was shown us. At 11 o'clock we had the privilege of hearing a very suggestive and helpful sermon by Rev. W. A. Wilson, Conference evnagelist.

In order to get back to New Orleans in the most convenient way, it was necessary for us to return to Memphis by way of New Albany—but the railroad schedules made that impossible. However, Mr. J. L. Robbins—"Blue" we heard his friends call him—came to the rescue and took us in his car to New Albany in plenty of time for us to catch the Frisco into Memphis, and then the Illinois Central home. A brief wait in New Albany was made very pleasant by a chance to chat with the Rogers brothers, friends of college days. A Pullman in Memphis at 9:30, a good night's rest, and into the Union Station at New Orleans at 11 o'clock the next morning—back home and back to work.

This visit to four district conferences on one trip was made doubly pleasant by the company of the fellow-travelers we met with: Rev. B. F. Lewis and Mrs. Riley, of the Orphans' Home; Rev. J. H. Holder, of the Christian Education Movement; Rev. Ben P. Jaco, of the Centenary Movement; Rev. L. H. Estes, of the Methodist Hospital, Memphis; Rev. R. H. B. Gladney and Mrs. McDonald, of the Sunday school work; Dr. J. R. Countiss and Rev. J. E. Stephens, of Grenada College.

Some Observations.

Our brief visit to the district conferences mentioned above gave us some very definite impressions concerning the work of the church in that important field, and we venture to set some of them down.

1. A vigorous leadership is making itself felt in every department of the work. Bishop Ainsworth's program of evangelism and his emphasis upon meeting all financial obligations have received the hearty endorsement of presiding elders, preachers, and laymen, and diligent effort is being made to present "level columns" for all causes at the next Annual Conference.

2. The work of rural churches is receiving unusual attention, and marked development is taking place in these difficult fields. This development is especially notable in the Sunday school work, though it is evident in other departments.

3. The church is in the midst of an era of material advancement, resulting in better equipment in every way for carrying on the work of the church. New churches are being built, old ones are being remodeled and enlarged, and creditable parsonages are being provided for practically all pastoral charges.

4. The people generally are in the mood to listen to the appeals of the gospel, and evangelistic efforts are meeting with rich reward.

5. The laymen of the church are realizing as never before the obligations resting upon them with reference to the promotion of the Kingdom, and they are doing more work of an evangelistic kind than ever before in the history of the church.

6. The Centenary and the Christian Education Movement are still upon the hearts of the people, and there is a growing sentiment in favor of meeting the obligations in support of these great movements.

Methodism in Mississippi is a virile force, and it is going to be increasingly influential in shaping the life and character of the State. This is the day of its golden opportunity, and its forces are rallying to its glorious task.

DEATH OF DR. THOS. N. IVEY.

The sudden death on Tuesday, last week, of Dr. Thomas Neal Ivey, editor of the Christian Advocate (Nashville), was a shock that the church has not yet recovered from. He was not an old man, having been born at Marion, S. C., May 22, 1860. He had not been in robust health for some years, but he had maintained a high degree of efficiency in the performance of his duties and there was no thought that he would cease from his labors so soon.

Dr. Ivey was elected editor of the Christian Advocate in May, 1910, and since that time he has given the church a general organ that has ranked among the finest of its kind in the nation. He was a keen observer, careful thinker, ready writer, thoroughly versed in the history, doctrines, and polity of Methodism, and all his talents went into the making of a paper that served well the church it represented. A good editor is to be known by what he keeps out of his columns as well as by what he puts in; measured by this standard, as well as by any other, Dr. Ivey's name will stand high among those who have held the responsible position from which he has just been called.

It was not only as editor, however, that Dr. Ivey served the church. He was a member of the last six Genearl Conferences, a delegate to the Ecumenical Conference held in Toronto in 1911, editor of the Southern Methodist Handbook, and officially active in other responsible positions. He will be sadly missed in the councils of the church.

We feel a keen sense of personal loss in the death of Dr. Ivey. We knew him as a friend and brother, and always rejoiced when chance threw us together. He was companionable—a virtue not always characteristic of men in high position—and a sprightly humor gave zest to his conversation. Just a few weeks ago a letter from him bubbling over with good cheer made a hard day to us seem a light one. We revere his memory.

Dr. Ivey is survived by his wife, three daughters, and one son, and also by three brothers and one sister, to whom we extend heartfelt sympathy. Memorial services were held at McKendree Church, Nashville, Tenn., followed by interment at Raleigh, N. C.

OUR COLLEGES FOR WOMEN.

It is well for us to realize that a crisis is upon us with reference to our colleges for women. By a recent ruling of the Educational Commission, only those colleges which have an endowment of at least $250,000 will be classified as A-grade colleges, all others being reduced in classification to junior colleges.

In Whitworth and Grenada Colleges, Mississippi Methodists have two institutions which have made an enviable reputation in the educational world, but which will have to lose their classification unless the specified endowment is provided. The boards of trustees and the presidents of these schools realize the seriousness of the situation confronting them, and they are bending every energy to the task of meeting the requirements to maintain their standing within the time limit set—the next eighteen months. Methodism in Mississippi cannot afford to see these two institutions reduced in rank—the ENDOWMENT MUST BE PROVIDED. The campaign is on and it must be carried to success. Now is the time for the friends of Christian education for our girls to prove their faith by their works.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE PREACHERS' INSTITUTE CALLED OFF.

On account of unforseen circumstances it has seemed wise to the committee having the matter in charge to call off the Louisiana Conference Preachers' Institute, which was to have been held at Centenary College, Shreveport, La., June 18-21.

DONT'S FOR CHURCH MEMBERS.

Don't stay away because it rains; that would not keep you away from business.

Don't stay away because there are hypocrites in the church; they are in the world, too. The church does not make them hypocrites.

Don't stay away unless you have a reason (reasons exist, excuses are made) you could give to God if summoned into his presence.—Exchange.

A man stands in the bow of the boat and draws upon a line attached to the shore. His move does not move the solid ground one hairbreadth, but it does move the boat toward the land. So when I attach the line of my desire fast to the everlasting throne, faith does not expect to move the throne, but to draw me closer to it; and when I get more and more into harmony with God I receive what my heart most desires. Finding my happiness in Christ, I am satisfied.—Bushnell.

AN APPRECIATION.

On Aug. 20, 1854, in Tippah County, Miss., the tiny barque of JAMES M. DAVIS was launched upon life's turbulent sea. Arriving at the port of young manhood, he selected as his mate, on Dec. 18, 1877, Miss Alice McMillan, of Nevada County, Ark. In 1902 they with eight children—four boys and four girls—"cast anchor" in Ruston, La., where they happily remained till, on April 27, 1923, "that which drew from out the boundless deep turned again home," and, with "no sadness or farewells," he "crossed the bar. He went not,

> "Like the quarry-slave at night,
> Scourged to his dungeon, but sustained and soothed.
> By an unfaltering trust, approached his grave
> Like one who draws the drapery of his couch
> About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams."

His pastor, Rev. N. E. Joyner, conducted the funeral services. Friends who loved him tried to "say it with flowers" as the body was laid to rest in Greenwood cemetery. For nearly seventy years he had "lived in his house by the side of the road, and been a friend to man," and will be greatly missed. To the bereaved loved ones we extend sympathy. May they find His promised "grace sufficient."

MRS. A. C. McKINNEY.

MRS. T. O. WATKINS.

Whereas, in the wisdom of our Heavenly Father our friend aud sister, MRS. T. O. WATKINS, has passed from this life to the life beyond, therefore, be it resolved:

1. That she will be missed not only by the Missionary Society, hut by the entire church and city of Hattiesburg.
2. That we bow in humble submission to His will and extend to the bereaved family our love, sympathy and prayers in this their hour of greatest sorrow.
3. That a copy of these resolutions be sent the family of our deceased sister.
4. That a copy be spread upon the minutes of the Missionary Society.
5. That a copy be sent the Southern Methodist and the New Orleans Christian Advocate and the Hattiesburg American for publication.

MRS. VICTOR SCANLAN.
MRS. HARRELL WILSON.
MRS. W. S. F. TATUM.

WILLIAM H. KNOX, of Batesville, Miss., passed to the spirit world on April 23, 1923, at the ripe age of 87 years. He was horn in Gibson County, Tenn., Feb. 13, 1836, and came to Panola County, Miss., at the age of 12 years. He became a member of the Methodist church in early life. He was married to Miss Mary A. Deaton Jan. 26, 1858. To this union ten children were born. All lived to be grown and married. His good wife preceded him to the glory world eight years ago. Brother Knox reared, besides his own large family of children, two grandchildren and a nephew from infancy. He was a man of great activity and industry up to a few years back, when his eyesight began to give him much trouble. He got real joy of soul out of his care for the orphan children, and specially because of their devotion to him. The writer has not known Brother Knox aud family long, but during much sickness and affliction in the family all through the past winter it has been my privilege to see the beautiful devotion of his children to each other and to their father. It was a spiritual uplift to me as pastor to visit the family in their affliction, and in Brother Knox's sickness it was an inspiration to see his resignation and readiness to go. His life was specially marked and known to have been a clean life through all his years—clear of bad or objectionable habits. It is said of him that he never swore an oath, did not smoke or chew tobacco, and never drank; and while he was very modest and kind, his convictions on right and wrong were quite immovable. He had an honorable war record from beginning to end of the Civil War; was wounded at Good Hope Church, Georgia, in 1863; was First Lieutenant under Captain R. H. Taylor, of Sardis. Brother Knox has been a Mason for more than fifty years, but to me he shines greatest as a Christian and a father. He leaves a legacy to his children in his stainless Christian life that will bless each of them through all the coming years. His noble sons and daughters can rejoice to feel that father and mother are now at rest together, awaiting the coming of the dear ones. God bless them all.

W. M. YOUNG.

THAT FORD CAR AGAIN.

"There was a splendid response from that timely yet unasked for letter of Brother P. A. Sowell in the New Orleans Christian Advocate of March 22. One hundred dollars came as a result from the following: A. J. Leggett, Mrs. Iddo Lampton, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Reid, Mrs. Mary Lampton, Mrs. Christian Keener, Mrs. T. P. Bell, Mrs. L. D. Chambers, Miss Cammack, Jas. Hand, W. E. Barnes, D. Weston, Rev. W. W. Nelson, Rev. J. L. Jordan, Mrs. David Zable, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Widney, and unknown parties, and the Woman's Missionary Society of Wiggins. Tears of gratitude welled up in my eyes as I read some of the letters that accompanied the contributions.

"Previous to our Annual Conference, through the gift, co-operation and call of our presiding elder, Brother Sullivan, and through the Seashore Camp Ground Sunday school of 1922, there was paid in on the car $142.10. At the Annual Conference, in the envelopes handed out, we received $29. The Ladies' Aid of Main Street Methodist Church, Biloxi, gave $48.16. From all sources previous to Brother Sowell's letter we had received $228.26, and answering his call came $100.50, making a total of $328.76. The car cost $565. The balance due is $236.24. The car is the property of the Back Bay and Wesley Memorial churches (Wesley Memorial charge). I know of some who intend to help, and now is the time. The notes are due and pressing me for settlement, and I do believe you will help me to meet these obligations. I desire to meet these obligations within the next thirty days. I hope to report the full amount all paid in the Advocate of June 7."

Brethren and Sisters, send your donations at once and let all the Advocate family rejoice when they read in the paper of June 7 of this whole indebtedness canceled. We can do it, and I believe you will do it, and let us finish it at once. I thank every one who has made any contribution at all. I pray that God may bless every one of you, together with the Editor and manager of the Advocate.

Send to Rev. Waldo W. Moore, P. C., Biloxi, Miss., Box 500.

In this issue is found a statement by Rev. Waldo W. Moore. His work is large, consisting of Back Bay, the Wesley House, East Biloxi, and visiting the ships at Gulfport, about fifteen miles wide. It is more important than it is wide. He is very diligent and earnest in his service.

The "Ford" of which he writes is to be the property of his charge, when paid for, and not his personally. The "Ford" is essential to a successful service.

Let this call find a response so liberal that at the end of thirty days the debt will be canceled. He is not able to pay for it himself.

P. A. SOWELL.

We are unmerciful when without necessity we are judges of evil thoughts, when we suspect meanness, littleness, untruthfulness—not to speak of worse surmises—in others. The merciful in thought give no room in their hearts for suspicions such as these. They do not secretly impute evil.—Trench.

Our faces ought to reflect back the sunshine of heaven, and the joyful tones of our voices to seem the echo of its hallelujahs.—F. P. Cobb.

EPWORTH LEAGUE ASSEMBLY, LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

On to Dear Old Mansfield Two Hundred Strong!

Only about three weeks more, and then you will see a happy crowd of Leaguers, about two hundred strong, gathering from all parts of the State at dear old Mansfield College to celebrate their Twenty-fourth Annual Conference and Fifth Annual Assembly.

And my! what an Assembly this will be, for it will be bigger and better than any in the past.

Great plans will be made for the continued growth of the work.

The program is of the very best, and there is no telling when we will be able to assemble again such an array of instructors. Such is the line up, up to the present writing.

Bishop H. M. DuBose is the father of the League work in the Southern church. He will teach the united Assembly each day in "The Fundamentals of Methodism."

Dr. Fitzgerald S. Parker, General Secretary of the League, will teach a class in "Introducing Men to Christ," and First Department Methods.

Miss Oscie Saunders, of the Woman's Council, Nashville, will teach a class in "The Choice of a Career."

Rev. Roy S. Tomlin, Acting President of Paine College, Augusta, Ga., will also teach a class in the same subject. These two together, with Mrs. R. H. Wynn, will conduct interview periods each day.

The above mentioned are our visitors, but just look at this array of home workers:

Dr. R. H. Wynn will lead the morning watch and teach a class in "Introdusing Men to Christ." Others are Rev. Albert S. Lutz, Secretary of Education; Dr. W. W. Drake, Presiding Elder of the New Orleans District, Rev. Alonzo Early, Rev. W. W. Holmes, Rev. J. W. Pearson, Mr. Edgar Cayard, Mrs. Philip Munch, Miss Laura Edwards, Rev. James B. Grambling, Mr. Stephen S. Thomas, Miss Julia Reid.

The Rev. Clyde D. Baker will have charge of the Recreation, and he is a good one, too.

Rev. Roy Johns will lead the singing while one of our good Leaguers plays.

The books and supplies will be in charge of our good friend from Dallas, Mr. C. W. Bohanan, commonly known as "Able, the Agent."

Mrs. R. H. Wynn will be there to keep our young folks lined up for life service.

Mrs. J. G. Snelling, Mrs. S. S. Thomas, Mrs. N. E. Joyner, Mrs. R. C. Holt, and Mrs. W. W. Holmes will act as chaperones and prayer group leaders for the various floor in the girls' building, while some of the men of the staff will have charge of the boys' building.

In every detail this Assembly promises to be of the very highest type, and the course is a three-unit course on the Christian Culture Diploma.

There is only one question—that is space for all who wish to come. Our capacity is 200 and our goal is one from every church. This alone would tax our space.

We, however, aro not going to tell any Chapter that they cannot send as many as they can, for we want the registrations made early. Then, about four days before the Assembly, if we aro over-crowded, we will wire the Chapter which is over its quota.

But the thing to do now is to send in your registration card, with one dollar, to Miss Julia Reid, Mansfield College, Mansfield, La., at once.

I have mailed to every pastor during the past week a fine display poster and registration card. If this poster is not up in your church by now, will you call on your pastor and get same and see that it is put up?

WILL SEE YOU AT MANSFIELD.

WHAT WE ARE DOING AT EPWORTH CHURCH.

Several weeks ago I stated that I would soon write an article on the above topic. Well, at that time I did think I would have a bit more time in the future, but I was not guessing right then. Secondly, I did not know that I was going to be sick. But I will now try to write a few lines about my people.

First, let me say that the word Epworth means service, and wherever you find a group organized as true Epworth members you will find a working force. That is what I have found true in my present church; for as fast as the members of Epworth Church hear the Epworth call they go forth to serve. At the present writing about fifty per cent of my people are on the job. This is a considerable increase over the past record, and we are working hard to have our membership one hundred per cent active.

Our first undertaking after Conference was to increase our attendance upon Sunday services, for the records show that only about twenty-five to thirty-five people were attending Sunday services, making a total of about sixty each Sunday. To this end every organization in the church, with consecration, went forth to serve; so, as a result, we have now about ninety-five every Sunday morning, and an average of 130 at night. Our church would be packed if we had as many as 175, so you see we are having almost a full house every Sunday evening.

At the beginning of the year we realized that we must repair and paint the church in order to attract. So we started in with our young people and had a work night once each week, and as a result of the labor of our young people we have remodeled our basement into a social hall, with classy lace curtains on the windows and red carpet on an attractive small platform. The basement used to be a regular swimming pool when it rained, so we first stopped that, and after painting and calcimining the entire interior it is all dolled up. The young folks also fenced in the corner lot with a 12-foot-high wire fence, and this corner will be used this summer for lawn parties and other forms of outdoor work.

The men of our church have been on the job, and they have had the entire exterior of the church painted with a 21-foot sign across one end of the building reading: "Epworth Methodist Church—A Growing Church in a Growing Community." Then, in front of the building, we have another sign announcing our church as "The Friedly Church," and inviting all to worship with us. Our next move is to have these two signs illuminated, so every passer-by will know that we want them.

The old devil has opened up an open-air picture theatre just across the street from us, so we are going to use his advertising to let folks know that there is a Methodist church there.

Our women are hard at it, and are getting things well lined up. We have divided our Missionary Society into three circles, and are now organizing all the children under twelve into a Junior Missionary Society, and all from 12 up to 16 into an Intermediate Epworth League.

The Lord is blessing our work as we preach and live the Christ-life, and up to the present we have 35 new members, of which 15 are on profession of faith.

We have a territory of about 30,000 people and the greatest opportunity for a great church, so we ask the prayers of all our good friends that God will work out his will in this church and people.

Wish I could say more in detail, but space and time will not permit it. So may the Lord bless each of you.

Yours in service,
JAS. B. GRAMBLING.

Are You a Weak and Ailing Woman?
Beauty and Health Go Hand in Hand
Fort Thomas, Ky. — "Several years ago I had become so poor and weak from trouble of a feminine character that I could not walk around in my room without holding to the furniture or having some one to assist me. I was so nervous at times I could hardly endure any one walking across the floor. Finally I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and in three months' time I gained 20 pounds. I continued taking the medicine until I was entirely well. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription certainly saved my life."—Mrs. Laura Kiepfer, 15 [illegible] St.

NOTES FROM THE NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, Sardis, Miss.

Every day cards are coming in with the courses marked. The response is the best we have ever had. Prospects are good for an attendance of two hundred. We ought to have five hundred at our Wesley Bible Class Federation and Elementary Council, June 7-8.

Cheering reports are coming in from the schools that used the pageant on Sunday School Day. Oxford reports that the offering was twice the amount contributed last year. But best of all, five men, heads of families, one mother, and a child united with the church. Four of the men and the child came in on profession of faith in Christ. God is always working, and when we work with him there are hearts ready to respond to the invitation. We rejoice with Brother Lipscomb, Dr. Milden, the teachers, and the people who made the decision.

The Greenville District Conference and Training School made a happy combination. The results were such as to justify another trial of the same combination, with the hope of reaching three times as many people as we did this year. The addresses, the preaching, and the teaching were all of the highest order. The people who attended all the sessions and took part in the work went away under the influence of the Holy Spirit. A very pleasing feature of the training school was an exhibit of handwork collected by Rev. C. A. Parks from a few of the schools that are doing good work.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE NOTES.

Sunday, May 6, was spent on the Gallman charge at Mount Pleasant and Old Crystal Springs. We had a mighty good day and a most profitable one. We hope to hold the first Circuit Institute on this circuit in June. We trust it will prove a blessing to all on the circuit.

The District Institute met at Hickory on Tuesday, the 8th. They set three goals for the district. This, to my mind, is a definite forward step. The goals were: 1. To place the proper type program of work in each Sunday school. 2. To have one person designated in each Sunday school to correspond with the district workers and keep them informed. 3. To observe clean-up—fix-up day at each church. There was a good representation present. I have not tabulated the reports, so am unable to report on them definitely. Sixty delegates were present, and only a very few of the preachers were absent. We had a good meeting.

We are hoping that there will be a great improvement in Sunday School Day observance this year. Fernwood circuit is the first 100% circuit. Good for Fernwood.

Use the Sunday School Board.

Please get the proper type program of work, and work to it.

Central, Meridian, Primary Department, "A" Type, 100%. This is mighty good news to me and to all the workers as well.

Eden Sunday schools report all the men present on Mother's Day with the exception of one. What a fine report!

The attendance on the Sunday schools at Jackson, Miss., Mother's Day was very much better than any other day we have any record of, 4,700 in Sunday school. Of these there were present in the Methodist Sunday schools 2,356, Galloway Memorial leading with over 1,100. There were 417 in the Men's Bible Class of Galloway Memorial Church. This is the record for the Men's Bible Classes so far as we have the figures in our Conference. From our information it appears that all our schools had a record attendance Mother's Day. This is mighty fine indeed.

I spent from Friday to Tuesday on the Holly Bluff and Louise charge. We had a most pleasant stay; spoke to all the men of Louise Monday night, and to all the men of Holly Bluff Friday night. I was told that there was practically 100% attendance on both services. Two men's Bible classes and one men's prayer meeting we hope to see. The Sunday school at Bayland was put going on a better basis we trust. Brother Higginbotham has things in hand and is pressing forward. God is using and blessing him. Plans are being perfected for enlarging the building at Louise. Brother Higginbotham received four into the church Sunday morning.

Brother Hull spent Sunday at Johns. The folks out there appreciated him and his work. We received a good report of his visit.

Capitol Street Sunday school reports a fine Sunday School Day observance and an offering of $145.36. This is the largest offering received so far this year.

The work grows. Many schools are reporting almost a doubling of membership. Let us pray earnestly that God will use this LIFE for the ongoing of the Kingdom.

Please let the Board be your servant. Pray for us. Pray for the work.

Rankin Street is going after 100% "C" Type. No one has quite reached it yet. I trust some one will in the near future.

All pieces of news that are history-making in your school would be very much appreciated at the office that we may pass them on.

Sunday School Day? Observe and send in your offering. We sure would appreciate a prompt reply from the Day.

Trusting you to pray for the work and workers,

Yours in Him,
JOHN C. CHAMBERS.

Daily Bible Reading.

M. God a Shepherd to Israel His Flock. Ps. 80:1-3; Isa. 40:11.

T. Jehovah the Shepherd of the Universe. Isa. 40:25, 26.

Directions.

Devise a staff with a crook and place beside it a club. Write on them Protection and Guidance. Poster suggestion: "Come to the Epworth League meeting this evening at 6:30 and hear about 'the most beautiful poem in the world."

At the meeting sing some of the beautiful hymns of the church that embody the thought and faith of our Psalm; for example, "The King of Love My Shepherd Is" (136); "In Heavenly Love Abiding" (452); "He Leadeth Me, O Blessed the Thought" (489).

On the Topic.

1. This is the Psalm for childhood with its vivid imagination and capacity for appreciation of symbols taken from nature; for middle life with its strenuous struggles and sometimes enmities; for old age and the prospect of death.

2. The Lord is our host and we are his guests. This is a favorite figure in the Bible.

3. Here the Lord is our peace. He is our assurance of eternity.

An Experience Meeting.

Tell of Jehovah's deliverance from sin and from various trying experiences as the roll is called and as the members answer to their names. Tell also of the ground of our trust in God through Jesus Christ.

THE GREATER SCARRITT.

The joint committee which was appointed by the Executive Committee of the Board of Missions and the Executive Committee of the Woman's Council, for the purpose of formulating an enlarged plan for missionary education for the whole church, submitted a comprehensive program to the Council at its last session, also to the Board of Missions which convened the first week in May. This program was unanimously adopted by both bodies. Further resolutions were adopted by the Council which provided for an enlarged program for the Scarritt Bible and Training School, also for its removal to a central location; the program and the location to be decided upon by the joint action of the Executive Committee of the Board, the Executive Committee of the Council, and the Board of Managers of the Scarritt Bible and Training School. Through those resolutions, the Council requested the Board of Missions, General Work, to cooperate in the conduct of the new school which, it is planned, will be for the training of lay workers, both men and women.

These resolutions were adopted by the Board with an amendment which referred the final decision concerning the future program for the school and its relocation to the Board for action. It is expected that there will be a called meeting of the Board after the joint committee has had time to formulate a report. This joint committee will seek in every possible way to recommend such location and reorganization of the new institution as will serve the church in the most effective way. To this end, an investigation is being made to ascertain the best possible plan for such a school. An invitation is therefore extended to any community that wishes to be considered as the future location for such an institution.

The amendment to the report providing for the matter to be referred to the Board for final action will delay somewhat the plans for the establishment of the Greater Scarritt, but the leaders have faith to believe that the delay will result in an even larger future for the school.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

A Dream Come True.

By Berta Ellison, St. Mark's.

Not my dream, no, because it dates back to 1908, long before my time here, but the happy privilege of seeing it fulfilled has been granted me. Just who dreamed first and when, I do not know. In the beginning and for many years Miss Bennett and Mrs. MacDonell, Miss Mary Helm and some consecrated local women, among whom was Mrs. W. W. Carre, were interested in St. Mark's. They worked for it, they prayed for it, they loved it. There were others, of course, and when history is written their names should appear; but this short sketch is not meant to be historical primarily.

God prospered the work of the Woman's Missionary Societies in the Old French Quarter, and it grew from year to year. The first house selected in the six hundred block on Esplanade Avenue was abandoned after awhile for a better one at 908 on the same street. And then somebody began to dream of a new building that should belong to the women, a place that was their very own, and a building fund was started. When the Woman's Missionary Council met in New Orleans a few years ago, this sign was displayed on a barrel near the door of First Church: "WANTED! A BARREL OF MONEY TO BUILD A NEW ST. MARK'S." But doubtless nobody thought a barrel full would ever be collected. The women planned and worked till it was time to act with regard to "Centenary Askings," and St. Mark's came in on the first year with an appropriation big enough to build the magnificent structure now almost completed at North Rampart and Governor Nicholls. After the appropriation was made, and even after the money was actually collected and placed at the disposal of the local Board, there were some doubting Thomases. Could it really be true? Would the building ever be put up? And it did take a long time, for work was begun on this place the 1st of February, 1922. The dream came true slowly, but it came true with only one exception—nobody dreamed big enough. Just the opposite from what dreams usually are, don't you think?

But now enough of dreams, since this one ended well. That is, the first part came out admirably; but the erection of a building such as this is but the beginning. How shall it be used in order to serve in the largest way possible? The first thing is to get it furnished properly, and this matter was brought before the annual meeting at Monroe in order that our Conference people might have a part in this work now, right in the beginning of a new and big program. My heart has been gladdened with the response of our Missionary Societies thus far, and the primary reason for writing this at all is to tell you so and say, "Thank you." Up to date we have received on furnishing fund as follows:

Pleasant Hill, $10; First Church, Baton Rouge, $100; Keener Memorial, Baton Rouge, $5.25; Mangum Memorial, Shreveport, $15; Noel Memorial, Shreveport, $25; First Church, Shreveport, $100; Gilliam, $10; Keithville, $5; Slidell, $10; Mer Rouge, $25; Coushatta, $5; Winnsboro, $10; Ruston, $20; Parker Memorial, city, $5; Carrollton Avenue, city, $18.40; Second Church, city, $13.20; First Church, Junior Department, Sunday school, $10; Rayne Memorial, city, $250; First Church, city, $250.

If you do a sum in addition, you will see a total of $886.85 has been raised, and to me it is simply fine. But if the whole story is told, that is not enough to cover price of furnishings already bought by $236.47, and a few more things are needed but not bought yet. Allow me to express deep personal gratitude and thanks from the local Board for the way you have responded, women of the Missionary Societies; but it would be so fine if the entire amount necessary could be raised and every piece of furniture in our part of the house belong to you. I shall not press the matter, knowing, as I do, "your labor of love," and your willingness to go the limit. First Church, Baton Rouge, and First Church, Shreveport, each paid the price of furnishing a bedroom, $100. These two rooms are occupied at present by the head resident and the nurse, and both of us are delighted.

On the 29th of March we moved into our new building. Not everything is in shape yet, but it will not be long now till all the furnishings and equipment will be placed. Already some things are evident. One is, people passing by comment very favorably on the appearance of St. Mark's. It is a place every Methodist should be proud of; no better institution of its kind is to be found. It is an eye-opener to the people in the community, whether they come or not. But they are coming. Attendance at church services has more than doubled, Sunday school has set a high water mark, the League has taken on new life, and every department of the work is going well. The supply store will soon be open and all the second-hand clothing you can spare is needed. Send it on as fast as you can, plenty of space to put it now. Another time I'll write again, but till then think of us as being "labors abundant," and keep St. Mark's on your prayer list.

GREATNESS.

The soul is greater than all time,
It changes not, but yet is ever new.
But that the soul is noble we Could never know what nobleness had been.
Be what ye dream! and earth shall see
A greater greatness than she e'er hath seen.

We pray together at the kirk
For mercy—mercy solely;
Hands weary with the evil work,
We lift them to the Holy.
Be pitiful, O God!

THE BOARD OF CHURCH EXTENSION.

By Rev. T. D. Ellis, D.D.

The Biennial Meeting of the Representatives of Conference Boards of Church Extension met in the chapel of the Board of Church Extension Building, Louisville, Ky., April 24, and had a most interesting and profitable session. The Board of Church Extension met in annual session at the same place, April 25-26.

The discussions in the meetings of these two bodies revealed certain important conditions in reference to church building, and the problems arising out of the marvelous development in the South, the Border States and the Far West. The South is rapidly becoming the cotton mill section of America, and the religious problem of the cotton mill community remains unsolved. The coal mine regions of Kentucky, Tennessee and West Virginia offer a growing menace and an appealing religious need. The States bordering the Gulf of Mexico, notably Florida and Louisiana, could use wisely and well every dollar of money available for appropriation by the Board of Church Etension at this time. The Far West is an empire within itself and remains to this day inadequately churched.

The Board of Church Extension, because of the limit to its funds, is unable to meet the enlarging demands arising out of these conditions. It seems to us that those communities able to finance the construction of their own churches, should do so, leaving the Board of Church Extension free to aid those communities unable to provide houses of worship without aid. Looking to this end, the following resolution, introduced by Rev. J. H. Eakes, Bishop W. N. Ainsworth and Bishop U. V. W. Darlington, was adopted:

"Whereas, at each annual meeting of this Board of Church Extension, applications are made for donations and loans for church building far in excess of the funds received from assessments and other sources;

"Therefore, be it resolved, First, That we call upon the bishops, presiding elders and pastors to present at every opportunity the crying need for increased contributions to the great work of Church Extension.

"Second, That applications for donations and loans, except in cases of extreme urgency, be discouraged by the bishops and presiding elders, and unless the conditions be such as are of great need and that cannot be otherwise handled, they refuse to endorse or approve the application."

Following a discussion of the need for church building in cotton mill communities, and other missionary territory in the Home Field, a committee, composed of Bishop Collins Denny, Rev. J. H. Eakes, and Rev. T. D. Ellis, was appointed to act with a like committee from the Board of Missions to study the whole question of religious needs in these communities and report to the next annual meeting.

The calendar is often crowded with applications which are not mature. Communities have rushed the preparation of these applications when sufficient data and assets were not in hand upon which to base a proper application, and for the reason that the application must be presented to the annual meeting of the Board, or wait for one year. Many applications should be returned to the communities making them, for the correction of errors in title, more definite information and the securing of additional funds locally. Feeling that the time has arrived when appropriations should be made more often than at the annual meeting, a Committee on Appropriations was appointed. The Board took the following action:

"Resolved, 1, The Board shall appoint, annually, a Committee on Appropriations to be composed of twelve members, seven of whom shall be the members of the Executive Committee of the Board of Church Extension, and five to be appointed from among the members of this Board upon nomination of the Committee on Nominations.

"Resolved, 2, That the Committee on Appropriations shall meet three times a year in addition to the annual meeting of the Board, on the call of the President and Secretary of the Board.

"Resolved, 3, The Apporpariations Committee shall have authority to make, by a three-fourth vote, grants of donations and loans under the same rules and regulations governing appropriations by the Board in its annual meetings, except that at no meeting shall the appropriations for either donations or loans exceed one-fourth of the amount available for appropriation as estimated and approved at the preceding annual meeting of the Board."

Those appointed on this Committee on Appropriations, in addition to the Executive Committee, are: Bishop U. V. W. Darlington, Bishop John M. Moore, Bishop Collins Denny, Dr. James Thomas, and Dr. James H. Felts.

One of the committees appointed on the Secretary's Report made the following recommendation, which was adopted:

"The Secretary's report shows that there are grants on the books made one, two and three years ago unpaid to-day because buildings have not yet been erected, or remain incomplete, possibly on account of poor financing or unnecessary delays on the part of the local communities. We recommend that all grants and loans expire at the end of eleven months from the date when they were made and can be continued or renewed only upon the application by the pastor and the Official Board, or the Building Committee having charge of the houses for which the grants were made, provided sixty days' notice has been given by the Secretary."

The year that has just closed has been a busy one for the Department of Architecture. It has been a year of steady expansion and of increasing appreciation on the part of the Church of the service available. The action of the last General Conference in creating a Joint Committee on Church and Sunday School Architecture has given increased importance and significance to this Department. The committee is composed of Miss Minnie E. Kennedy, M. W. Brabham, L. F. Sensabaugh, and J. P. Jones, from the Sunday School Board, and Bishop W. F. McMurry, J. A. Baylor, J. H. Wells, J. H. Wilson, and T. D. Ellis, from the Board of Church Extension.

Believing that money should not be granted to buildings which do not meet the needs of modern congregations, the Board adopted the following rule:

"The Secretary shall require the plans of all churches to which grants of either donations or loans are made, to be submitted to the Department of Architecture of the Board of Church Extension for approval. Should the plans be unsatisfactory, it is made his duty to suspend payment of the grant until plans are changed to conform to the suggestions of the Department of Architecture. Reasonable charge shall be deducted from the grant for this service rendered by the Department of Architecture."

The Board has been studying the question of the protection of churches and parsonages against loss by fire and storm for several quadrenniums. It is thought that we have made real progress toward the completion of plans to this end. An announcement will be made whenever plans are complete.

The Board gave serious consideration to the need for larger funds to meet the demands for aid in church building. There were 343 applications for donations, amounting to $697,118.53, and 145 applications for loans, amounting to $778,900. To meet these large needs, as shown in these applications, the Board had only $91,655.47 donation money, and $282,902.05 loan fund. These figures will answer, as no words can, why so many are disappointed in not getting the aid asked. This is an era of church building and the Board needs the sympathetic cooperation of the entire Church in order to enable Methodism to erect churches in keeping with the church buildings of other denominations in the communities throughout our territory.

The net increase in the Loan Fund during the past year was $175,585.35. The Loan Fund capital now amounts to $2,223,529.09.

TODAY I AM REAL WELL

So Writes Woman After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Jamestown N. Y.—"I was nervous, easily excited and discouraged and had no ambition. Part of the time I was not able to sit up as I suffered with pains in my back and with weakness. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, both the liquid and tablet forms, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash for inflammation. Today I am real well and run a rooming house and do the work. I recommend your medicine to every woman who complains, and you may use my letter to help any one else. I am passing through the Change of Life now and I keep the Vegetable Compound in the house, ready to take when I feel the need of it."—Mrs. ALICE D. DAVIS, 203 W. Second St., Jamestown, N. Y.

Often some slight derangement may cause a general upset condition of the whole system, indicated by such symptoms as nervousness, backache, lack of ambition and general weakness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will be found a splendid medicine for such troubles. In many cases it has removed the cause of the trouble.

THE GOLDEN CROSS SENDS GREETINGS TO THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

By Chas. C. Jarrell, D.D., Secretary, General Hospital Board.

The youngest Society in the church sends greetings to the oldest. The Golden Cross Society is the young daughter, and the Sunday school is the stately elder daughter. This first-born has welcomed and helped to nurture each new arrival in the Household of Faith. Here is my word of confidence that the first hand held out to help "little Golden Cross" learn to walk will be "Big Sister Sunday School."

The Golden Cross will be to the Southern Methodist Church what the Red Cross is to the nation and what the White Cross is to the Northern Methodist Church. It is to be made up of adult members who pay $1 a year membership fees, and the Junior members who pay 25 cents a year. All members must sign a pledge to manifest love to Christ by serving and helping the sick, the needy and the unfortunate. A man or woman may become a Life Member by paying $100; a Life Patron by paying $500; and a Knight of the Golden Cross by paying $10,000. Let the Knights form in single file so as not to crowd.

The income of the Golden Cross will be used to help weary pilgrims on the journey of life who have fallen sick on the road. Hospitals will be built and maintained for the purpose—all in the name of Christ.

Regain That Girly Complexion Easily

Quick Results Sure If You Do Like Thousands of Women Who Praise Derma Lava.

Don't worry and fret about how bad your complexion is. It is possible now to make that rough, blotchy and unpleasant skin smooth and soft if you will just do like so many thousands of women are doing all over the country.

Blackheads, pimples and other face ruiners are nothing more than you can expect when you neglect the care of your face every day. Many girls and women seem to take it as a matter of course that their complexion ought to always be just right, without any thought of the care it must have, to keep away the many outside influences which hurt the delicate tissue of the complexion.

But using just something is where so many girls and women make their mistake.

Millions of packages of beauty clay are sold every year to girls and women who have found it to be a real toilet necessity. DERMA LAVA keeps the skin clean by removing every particle of the dust, grease and things that hurt the complexion. DERMA LAVA keeps the skin clear, protects it, thereby giving the complexion a natural appearance.

You should use DERMA LAVA and keep yourself looking young and your skin in perfect condition.

What Derma Lava Does

DERMA LAVA absolutely corrects all forms of skin malnutrition—the prime cause of wrinkles, sagging muscles, sallow, oily and dry skin, blackheads, pimples and other complexion blemishes.

Use it and you will have a fine-textured skin, radiant with the fresh coloring of youth and firm as a child's. In only 30 minutes, mind you! In one short half hour you can have a new complexion. It seems almost magical! Tired lines, enlarged pores, blotches, sallowness, dryness, oiliness—all vanish. Hidden beauty you never dreamed of is brought to the surface. Every lady that buys, recommends it—it's Nature's renovator—it's not a medicine, it acts scientifically and naturally—it gives the skin a chance to be what it was when it came into the world.

How Derma Lava is Applied

It is simple to use—just apply it with the finger-tips—no rubbing or massage—you just cover the face with DERMA LAVA thoroughly so that the skin will not show, thus making a mask over the entire face, up to the hair, over the eyelids, nose and underneath the chin—leave it on 30 minutes and then easily wash it off—when applied you experience a cool, tingling, pleasant feeling as the hundreds of pores awaken, and the magnetic clay draws the clogged-up impurities to the surface—it is truly a skin laxative. Soon as it is removed you will notice the delicate pink color of youth it imparts, due to the increased circulation to the skin. Every Pore Poison and Impurity, every BIT of Dust, Dirt and Dead Skin comes off when DERMA LAVA is removed.

Results Are Guaranteed

Try this new and marvelous beauty treatment on our guarantee of quick and positive results.

Get a jar of DERMA LAVA and apply the beauty treatment twice a week.

WHAT THE BISHOPS THINK.

The "Message from the Bishops," and the "Statement by the Bishops," which appeared in full in the Advocate of May 17, deserve the careful attention of every member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, who is concerned for the welfare of the church to which he belongs and for the establishment, maintenance, and extension of the Kingdom of God upon earth.

The Message recounts the evident prosperity, both material and spiritual, of the church, and comments with satisfaction upon the state of peace and harmony prevailing generally throughout the church, expressing no undue alarm over "some dissonant voices here and there, such as have been raised in divisive cries from the days of the apostles and the primitive church to the present time." It calls attention to the fact that the doctrinal platform of Methodism is supported by both reason and revelation, and that it is "so reasonable and roomy that it needs neither modification nor enlargement for the freest exercise of Christian liberty within it."

The Message does, however, very properly call attention to the conditions of membership in the church, those conditions involving acceptance of the Bible as the Word of God, and of the doctrines of Christendom as expressed in our Articles of Religion, and in the Apostles' Creed, and then lays down the altogether right principle that those who desire to remain within the pale of the church or retain a place in its service must continue to abide by its teachings. As the Message clearly points out, those who would do otherwise must surrender their privileges or hold them under false pretenses.

We consider this Message sound in its positions and strong in its statement of the duty of all members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, both clerical and lay. If there should be any among us who are unable to accept without equivocation or mental reservation the fundamental doctrines through the preaching of which our church has achieved its marvelous success, they owe it to themselves as well as to the church in simple honesty to make manly acknowledgment of their disagreement and seek an ecclesiastical home elsewhere, or else conform their thinking and practice to the requirements of the great symbols of faith to which they pledged their loyalty. In non-essentials there is room for the widest possible liberty of thought; in essentials there should be complete unanimity.

The Message lays timely emphasis upon the need of our meeting at once and in full the obligations we have assumed in connection with the Centenary Movement and the Christian Education Movement. There is a solemn warning in the statement: "Having set our hands to the plow, we dare not make ourselves unfit for Christ's Kingdom by looking backward. In his name we must go forward. The offerings which we have solemnly vowed to God we must place with joy upon his altar." It appears to us that a refusal to pay these sacred obligations, voluntarily assumed, is as much a denial of the faith as is a disregard of the doctrinal tenets of the church.

The "Statement of the Bishops," having to do with the maintenance of pure doctrines in our schools and colleges and upon our mission fields, is appropriately in keeping with the action of the recent General Conference, and is timely in that "there continues in some sections of the church hurtful agitation on the subject of the doctinal teaching of some of our preachers and teachers, at home and in the foreign field, causing confusion, discouragement, and division among our people, and resulting in some cases in the repudiation of financial obligations already made and in defeating in some degree the evangelistic program of the church." The fact that the Board of Missions unanimously concurred in this action taken by the bishops ought to allay any uneasiness as to the doctrinal unsoundness of our missionary and educational workers, and ought to bring the entire church to loyal and faithful activity in promoting all the enterprises of the church. With this profession on the part of our bishops and missionary leaders, those who have already succeeded "in defeating in some degree the evangelistic program of the church" should cease their agitation and give themselves heartily to the work of trying to upbuild the Kingdom of God.

The general condition of the church, as we see it, is expressed in this significant paragraph of the Message: "With the manifest favor of our risen and glorified Lord resting upon the labors of our beloved church, with an ecclesiastical polity which in all its past history has yielded most blessed results and which needs little amendment now, and with credal confessions and established standards of doctrine protected by constitutional defenses which even the highest legislative body of the church—the General Conference—cannot ignore or set aside, there is little or no occasion for bitter controversy and estranging contentions among our preachers and people."

The call to the church is one of renewed consecration as expressed in personal religious experience and in faithful activities in the Kingdom. Let us be about our tasks!

LAW OBSERVANCE.

The spirit of lawlessness, if unrestrained and unchecked, will break down the most sacred institutions and destroy the most stable civilization. It is for this reason that the law of the land becomes the bulwark of peace, prosperity, and orderly government against those forces that are always operating against the best interests of the people as a whole and in favor of selfish interests and the promotion of unjust aggrandisement.

One of the main tests of good citizenship always has been and always will be respect for the law—a respect that shows itself in observance of the law and in the support of its majesty. No man, whether he be of high or low estate, has any right to be considered a good citizen unless he believes and practices law observance, even if some particular law does run counter to his own purposes and desires. If one man has a right to disregard any law, all men have the same right; it is very easy to see that such a spirit of lawlessness would soon destroy all respect for law.

Every citizen is under obligation to support and enforce the law, especially those who are charged with its interpretation and administration. It is currently reported, however, that the recent meeting of the Louisiana Bar Association, held at Alexandria, La., was marked by such disregard of the prohibition law as to constitute the action of some of its members as nothing less than an outrage upon common decency. If the information we have received is correct—and we have every confidence in its correctness—even men who hold high judicial positions in the State drank so freely of the liquor that evidently was so abundantly on hand as to become noticeably hilarious in their conduct and otherwise show signs of inebriation. It is a sad spectacle. If such conduct is to be continued, we suggest that those who are responsible for such an outrage upon the dignity of the law propose a change of name for their organization—from Bar Association, to Bar Tenders' Association.

A CONNECTIONAL REPROACH.

It is nothing short of a connectional reproach that the Representative Church at Washington, D. C., which has had remarkable success in ministering to the religious needs of that great city, is still unpaid for, largely if not altogether due to the fact that subscriptions to the amount of $58,000 have not been paid. These subscriptions were made by individuals and by Annual Conferences, and ample time has elapsed for their payment in full. We direct special attention to the statement in last week's Advocate by a committee of the Board of Church Extension, that committee consisting of Bishop Warren A. Candler, Bishop James Cannon, Jr., and Mr. George W. Davis, and we urge the immediate payment of these pledges that are so long overdue.

PERFECT CONSECRATION.

By J. P. Nash.

Lift me higher, upward, onward,
Till I view Thy smiling face;
Give me more of Jesus' sweetness,
And a deeper work of grace;
Let me lean upon Thy bosom,
Have a perfect, peaceful rest,
Where Thy love cannot be fathomed,
And discipleship is blest.

I am weak, but Thou art mighty,
Full of joy and love divine;
I am only Thy creation,
May my heart be, Lord, like Thine;
Thou art author of compassion,
Full of love and purity,
Let the Saviour be my pattern,
Let me think thoughts after Thee

Let me live a life for Jesus!
Let me learn to do His will;
And when storms of life beset me,
May I hear His "Peace, be still";
Oh, glory, glory hallelujah,
I am saved through Jesus' grace,
And some day I will embrace Him,
See His smiling, happy face.

Oh, I love to think of Bethel,
Where I met God face to face,
And I found my Saviour's mercy,
Felt His gentle, warm embrace;
Though my feet may have faltered,
Still I cling to Jesus' breast,
It was on my knees He blessed me,
Where my soul found peace and rest!

PRESERVING THE TYPE.

By T. H. Lipscomb, B. D.

Thoughtful men—and there are many yet among us—who bring "to the law and to the testimony" all the "lo, here, and lo, there" schemes of modern progress, are impressed with the glaring inconsistency in most of the addresses wherein approved religious leaders seek to lead us by new and untried paths out of our confessed present chaos into the millennial dawn.

That inconsistency, expressing itself in many and varied forms, is in almost every instance fundamentally this: Praise of the past, because of the undeniably fine fruit it has borne, yet a speedy and willing departure from the type of life, ministry, and teaching which characterized that past and produced those results: an insistence indeed that the change is imperative, in order that sorely needed like results may be produced to-day; yet accompanied often, strangely enough, with admissions that our improved modern methods, in Sunday school, college, or family life, have produced no improvement at all in Christian character, knowledge of the Bible, or even of "reading, writing, and arithmetic."

A striking illustration of this in the matter of doctrine was seen at the Winona Lake Assembly some years ago when Dr. Chas. Aked, the then famous English preacher, delivered three addresses, in one of which he extolled the British character as the finest type of Christian manhood and womanhood ever produced. In the next address he scornfully repudiated the old theory, and rang the usual changes on the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. I happened to be at the depot as he was leaving the next day and meeting him alone asked him to reconcile what seemed to me an inconsistency in his addresses, which I admitted I had greatly enjoyed. I put to him the question: You claim that the British character is the finest flower of Christian faith ever seen, yet you repudiate the very theology which you must admit has produced this type of character, for the new theology is too young to have borne distinct fruit as yet. How can you repudiate the very thing which you say has been most fruitful of good in the world? He replied: "Well, the doctrines I object to, damnation, everlasting punishment, etc., came in with the Wesleys." I answered: "Oh, no, Doctor; you forget your church history. Remember the Puritans, the Westminster Confession, the Covenanters, even back to the English Prayer Book—all British history is shot through with profound emphasis upon responsibility to God, his divine sovereignty, judgment to come, and eternal rewards and punishments." His only reply was, evasively: "Oh, well, Mr. Lipscomb, you're from the South, and the South is proverbially conservative."

Even so gifted a man as Dr. Goodell, with so rich and fruitful an experience, gives utterance to such compromises as, "It is not what I do believe, but Who?" minimizing the importance of doctrine and opening the gates to heresy. Yes, WHO? But I challenge any man to answer Who? without revealing what he believes: Christ to be God or man; teacher, example; or Savior, Redeemer; and history reveals that the life of Christianity flows only in the veins of those who believe that Christ is God incarnate, who died for our sins, and rose again, and is alive forevermore. What becomes, then, of his other phrase, so perilous in its permissions and implications; "Other religions may be matters of theory, ours of life?" As a profound writer in the North American Review declares: "A mere call to regeneration is sterile sound. There is no real moral elevation which is not based upon principles; there is no life-giving religion which is not endowed with a fertilizing creed."

The only consistent thing, then, for our leaders to do is not only to hold fast to sound doctrine themselves, but to insist everywhere that it alone, as the eternal truth of God, has or can produce, under the convicting power of God's Spirit, transformations in the lives of men. The minister or layman who does not recognize the need of defending the faith to-day is either sympathetic with heresy, wilfully blind in self-security, or densely ignorant of existing conditions.

Take another illustration. Years ago, while Conference Secretary of Education, I attended many educational conferences in various parts of the church, and how we did hear the praises of the small denominational college sung! What noble sons had gone forth from its humble halls! Without material equipment or wealth, but rich in mind and heart, in noble thoughts and feelings, presidents, senators, judges, bishops, great preachers, public benefactors of every kind, gratefully laid at her feet their laurels! Yet with all this praise every enactment of every educational conference I attended was toward the destruction, by ever enlarging financial and material equipment, "standards" of every kind (except the old), of the very institutions lauded to the skies. "Mark Hopkins on one end of a log, and a student on the other," was the favorite definition of a college, emphasizing Christian personality in the teacher, and desire to learn in the pupil as the essential elements. If we believe what we say about the glorious efficency of the small Christian college let us return to the emphasis, type of manhood, and teaching which characterized it, and cease making money and intellectual conformity the sine qua non.

Take another illustration. The country church, with its once-a-month sermon, its little graveyard, its ill-equipped Sunday school—could anything be more berated or more praised than it is to-day? In the same address it is held up as the fruitful parent of the majority (66 to 90 per cent) of our noblest, ablest men to-day in all walks of life—that goose indeed that lays the golden egg. But lo, it is then ridiculed as though it were indeed a veritable "goose," a pitiful, paltry thing, "Why cumbereth it the ground?" Only one sermon a month! No Sunday school equipment or trained teachers, unsightly building, old-fashioned methods! We can never hope to accomplish anything "worth while" without revolutionary changes, and "rural life experts" run around among the cities and occasionally out from them to tell just how the poor thing is to be properly dressed up and revivified. But, remember, all of these great preachers, doctors, lawyers, financiers, etc, came out of the old-fashioned country churches, one-sermon, poor teachers and all, and they did not come from your well-equipped, two-sermon-a-Sunday, up-to-date city churches, except in rare instances!

But some one may answer truly here, Ah, but the country church is not what it once was. The Apostolic type of preaching has changed. Men with burning conviction and deep love once spoke of death and judgment, heaven and hell, sin and salvation, and besought men to be reconciled to God. The home life with family prayer and separation from worldly indulgences; the environment—even the type of people—have changed also. Yes, we agree, but note: The changes which make the difference are spiritual changes fundamentally, which no material improvements or multiplicity of services can compensate for. As Bishop Moore remarked recently: "We are short on piety to-day. We need a church manifesting spiritual power." Amen! Let our bishops, individually and collectively, lead us then in the restoration of such piety and power, through such Apostolic apprehension of and emphasis upon "things unseen and eternal" as characterized Paul and our Methodist forefathers, for admittedly all else without this is vain.

One would infer from our expert talk to-day that our city churches and modernized country churches, built with the latest equipment for every Sunday school class and all modern improvements, approved and prescribed by the experts, are transforming the lives of young and old as never before, and manifest spiritual power through which multitudes are brought to Christ. Yet we all know that nothing could be more false to the facts. I heard a "Y" worker among young women say recently in my church that the modern girl is "a combined product of the motion picture show, the automobile, the war, and woman's suffrage." Where, then, has the church functioned? Or the Christian home? Yet we focus attention on large material additions and changes (for which of course we ask large money and must focus attention on getting it) as the solution for problems which the very material advantages prescribed have failed sadly to meet.

Let us come, then, to the conclusion of the whole matter. Our fundamental error, aye, grievous sin, is that we have departed from the type of Christian piety, preaching and teaching, in home, in college, in Sunday school, which alone did and does produce, wherever and whenever found, in city or country, the kind of men which we know the church must produce if she is to be the salt of the earth and the light of the world. Like causes produce like effects; so our obvious duty and only hope is to put into operation again the causes which produced such salutary effects. As it is, we have surrendered the productive type, and even hear ridiculed as moss-backs, reactionaries, non-progressive those who insist that we must return to the Spirit-empowered New Testament type of doctrine, piety, and preaching to which our fathers held fast, and which by its fruits is known as alone true and effective.

"Conformity to type" is recognized as one of the most rigid laws of nature. Hybrids can't even reproduce themselves, for they are not worth reproducing. So nothing but sound doctrine and life is fruitful among men. A hybrid Christianity, compromised with worldliness, diluted with error, dependent upon millions for its propagation, stands powerless and futile before the world. So our cry is, Back to the faith of our fathers; as they derived it from God's Word through his Spirit, and practiced it and propagated it among men, with deep conviction, serious earnestness, and marvelous power, irrespective of environment.

Well, what does that mean? It means, on the part of the consecrated men among us, a vigorous, courageous, evangelical reaction in the church away from the superficiality and frivolousness which is now growing among us, backward, upward, and forward to a serious apprehension of the God-given, God-approved, and God-blessed standards of Christian doctrine, ministry, and life which made Methodism. The Methodist cry against conservatism or "reactionaryism" is nothing other than an attempt to force the new on us because it is new, without daring to risk the consideration of its truth and relative worth by the calm judgment. Their plan to "lie low and say nothing" is a confession that they could not stand in the white light of fair discussion. Every reformation and revival in Christian history has been nothing other than a vital return to old doctrines, old consecration and separation from the world; from which the church has wandered, following false guides. Not discovery of the new but rediscovery of the old in all of its vitalizing power has been the record of Christian progress. Even Harnack admits: "The Pauline reactions mark the critical epochs of theology and of the church—." Its history indeed could be written as such.

So as the insistent urge and pressure comes for us to bow down before new gods to-day, frittering our lives away with mere entertainment of the well-to-do, or squandering our energies on new tasks only remotely connected with the high ends to which our ordination vows set us apart, let us resolutely sst ourselves to hear and obey the voice of the Lord God, remembering that tho supreme function of the Christian ministry is to

"Allure to brighter worlds, and lead tho way," and praying

"God of our fathers, be with us yet,
Lest we forget, lest we forget."

West Point, Miss.

THE BISHOPS' MESSAGE.

No one can read the message and statement by our Bishops published in the Nashville Advocate May 11, and the New Orleans Christian Advocate May 17, and longer deny or ignoro that heretical preaching and teaching is practiced to some extent in our church. These great leaders are not "shooting in the air," and jealousy for their church would forbid that they intimate publicly and to the world that we havo unsound teaching among us unless it was there. They aro to be commended for their fearlessness and frankness. May the Lord continue to lead and bless them as they lead us!

Now that our chief pastors have spoken, they have, in a way, passed on to us, who are under them, the reins. What are we going to do about it?

1. Let's take this position, which I am sure is correct: No man, teacher or preacher, generally suspected and accused of heresy is innocent. Radical? No, not exactly, for the reason that his chief task is to teach and defend the Bible as the Word of God, and that defense is of tho view that we, as Methodists, hold. Now it goes without saying that one whoso duty it is to teach and defend this Bible, and whose avowed viewpoints are in accord with ours, will not teach or preach, day after day, and be suspected and accused of being heretics.

2. Heresy among us, is to be judged, not by what a Unitarian, or, as for that, a school of thought accepted by any other denomination than ours believes, but by the Creed, our Articles of Religion, and by our vows and ordination promises. Of course, a man has a right to put any construction he please on the Bible, but when he cannot put our construction on it, he should be honest enough to get out from among us, and if he loses his sense of honesty, in his strange theological pilgrimages, so as to continue as a preacher or teacher among us, drawing his pay from our people, we should have the loyalty and manhood about us to see to it that our people are protected, and at the same time, the offending person or persons are ejected from our communion.

3. This can be done, and should be done. Our laymen could do it in a day, by demanding of the bishops that only men be given them as pastors or teachers who ring true year in and year out on the Bible as the Word of God. We preachers could do it by strong and vigorous action. There is no use pussy-footing any longer about this heresy business. We all know who is guilty. I believe a Loyalty Legion, to which all four-square Methodists should belong, would do the work speedily. This needed organization should formulate a condition of membership, so clear and explicit that no loyal Methodist would refuse to sign it, and such that no man could be self-respecting and sign and at the same time hold such mental reservations as such men seem to hold, who are unsound in doctrine.

4. As an immediate means of helping, we can personally put ourselves on record in such a way that our trustees, secretaries and bishops will know we are behind them more than two million strong. We can do this by personal letters and by church conferences passing resolutions on the matter.

Who is a ONE HUNDRED PER CENT METHODIST? I am.

"THE LAND OF BEGINNING AGAIN."

By Rev. F. B. Hill.

Second Article.

I have used the story of the anonymous Samaritan woman at the well as an appeal for service, taking as my text, "Give me to drink;" but here is also a story of a life "beginning again." A woman walked, sad and alone, across the Eastern fields. Her feet trailed wearily. Her empty pitcher seemed too heavy for her listless arms. She had lost heart and hope. As she passed along the oft-trodden path from the city to the well, her sad eye saw no glory in the sunset. She fulfilled "the daily round, the common task," because as long as throats grow parched and thirsty, water must be fetched and carried; but her weary soul cried out, "O GOD, would that I were where thirst is not, and never again need come hither to draw water!" She had made a failure of life—this beautiful woman with her empty pitcher and the tired eyes. She pondered over it as she walked. Tho present seemed blank; the future held no prospect of improvement; the past was dark beyond remembrance. Men had lavished their love upon her, but she had failed the men who had trusted her; she had hindered the men who had loved her. Five times she had had the chance of "beginning again," but five times she had failed. And now, she was down in the dust: her pride humbled, her chances gone, her name a byword in the city. She had lived her life because life had to be lived. Mechanically she fetched and carried, because empty pitchers must be filled, and can be filled easier than empty hearts. But there was no joy in life, no glad delight in service. The personal note was missing.

She felt herself a mere beast of burden, a mere slave of Fate's caprice. And her sad heart said, "Would that never again I need come hither to draw!" As she reached the well, resting her heavy stone jar on the broad coping of the well, and maybe for a moment looking down the long road with that abstracted gaze in which the eyes see nothing because the mind is so busy with some thoughts of yesterday or to-morrow turning round, lo, a Man sat there, a Stranger, faint, yet far-seeing; weary, yet wondrous strong. And looking with tender, searching eyes at the woman whose life was a failure, this Man at the well said, "Give me to drink." Soon the woman was listening to words about herself, mercilessly true and yet unutterably tender, and other words which, for all she could but dimly feel their meaning, must have had both then and afterwards a wondrous music for her soul. For the Stranger at the well spoke of the living water, something that could quench the thirst of a sin-parched life that had missed the innocence of girlhood; the pure honor of womanhood, the sanctity of home and the peace of an unashamed spirit. To this woman, for whom the shrine of human love was desecrated, for whom life knew no precious altar fire, no safe-guarded reverence, He spoke of a place of worship that the feet need never leave an hour at hand when the shamed and irreverent world should find itself forever in the shadow of an unseen temple, always standing upon holy ground. And slowly through the stages of amazement, respect, interest, faith, and love, she learned that the Man who asked personal service of her was the Man of men, the Lord of Living Waters, the very Christ of God; the one who could mend broken lives, fill empty hearts, put her on the true road to find "The Land of Beginning Again." Do you wonder to find her weariness changed to enthusiasm? She was quite unconscious of the dull minds of those who, coming up at that moment, stood apart, marveling that HE should talk to her, for this had happened—

"Love took up the harp of life
And smote on all the chords with might;
Smote the chords of self, that trembling pass'd in music out of sight."

As "a receiver of wrecks," Jesus took this wrecked life and started it on a new voyage. She who had tired, was encouraged and directed how to begin again, and in her new-found joy and hope gave to Him a new name, Saviour of the World. Jesus in His divine simplicity crossed the barriers of sex and nationality.

The woman wondered that a Jew should speak to her. The disciples wondered that Christ should be speaking with a woman. Jesus was not addressing a woman as such—nor a Samaritan as such. He spoke to a needy, sinful human soul. He addressed himself to all in His listener's life that transcended conventionalities, distinctions, and divisions. And it is to that in us that Jesus always speaks. The deepest needs of life are its common needs—its transcendent needs. To come to know that Christ can fill your life, is to come to know that He can fill all life. He had seen in that woman's eyes the need and hunger and blindness of the world; timid, hopeless, broken-down lives, afraid to begin again. Yes, there is "A Land of Beginning Again."

"Ask the Savior to help you,
Comfort, strengthen and keep you;
He is willing to aid you,
He will carry you through."

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Hattiesburg District.

The Hattiesburg District is making progress. We are near the end of the second round of quarterly conferences, and the future looks encouraging. The district conference, held at Richton April 25-27, was well attended; all the pastors were present except two, and the pastors' reports sounded a note of victory. The Sunday School Institute was the best ever held in the district—so said the Conference Field Secretary.

* * *

The stewards of the Oloh charge have made a slight increase in the pastor's salary, and some material improvement has been made at the parsonage. The pastor, Rev. C. C. Griffin, is happy in his work, and has just closed a splendid revival at Clyde, where Rev. H. A. Wood, of Waynesboro, did the preaching.

* * *

"The Collins charge is moving along nicely. We will organize a Senior Epworth League this week. We have had a League for boys and girls under 17 for some time, but we are now going to try the older ones in League work. A committee has been appointed to do some necessary repairs at the parsonage. We are trying to look after every interest of the church.—J. W. Thompson."

* * *

Rev. J. H. Jolly has closed a very gracious revival at Leakesville, which resulted in a number of conversions and 24 accessions to the church on profession of faith, the pastor doing the preaching. The parsonage has been remodeled, recovered and painted. The church also has been treated to a new coat of paint. Jolly is putting Methodism to the fore in Leakesville.

* * *

"Both preaching and prayer meeting services are well attended at New Augusta, and the general interest of the charge is fine. We have already planned for three revival meetings. Our Sunday schools are taking on new life. The parsonage is being remodeled and repainted and a new roof put on, and when completed will be one of the nicest preachers' homes in the district. The pastor and the people are happy in the work of the Master.—H. S. Westbrook."

* * *

Rev. J. L. Greenway, pastor at Mount Olive and Magee, is making full proof of his ministry. He writes as follows: "We have our church building at Magee about completed. We have added sufficient Sunday school rooms and have put a new roof on the church. When the painting is done our property at Magee will be in first-class condition. The outlook at Mount Olive is good. Plans are on foot to put the church and Sunday school building there in good repair. We have most of the money in hand to do the work, which will be done soon."

* * *

Taylorsville and Mize charge is moving along well under the leadership of the pastor, Rev. A. J. Leggett. The board of stewards made a slight increase in the pastor's salary, and the general outlook on the charge is encouraging, and Brother Leggett is happy in his work. He, too, has plans on foot and some material on the ground to make extensive improvements on the parsonage at Taylorsville.

* * *

The splendid work being done by these and other charges reminds me that out of the 23 parsonages in the Hattiesburg District, nineteen of them were repaired and improved in one way and another last year. And it seems that this year will excel the last in material improvements in church property. May the good work continue?

W. W. GRAVES, P. E.

SARDIS DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

The fifty-third session of the Sardis District Conference assembled in the Methodist church at Senatobia, Miss., on May 15. The weather was bad, but in spite of the rain we had a fine representation of the district. Devotional services were conducted by Rev. J. T. Lewis, P. E., with prayer by Brother Randolph.

The preachers and members of the conference were warmly welcomed by Brother Varner, of Senatobia.

The roll was called by Brother P. F. Luter. Brother Lewis proceeded to organize the conference for the dispensing of the business interests of the district and strengthening the Christian fellowship of its members and delegates.

The list of the conference committees read as follows: Spiritual Interest; Missions; Sunday Schools; American Bible Society; Orphanage and Hospitals; Finance and Superannuate Endowment Fund; Quarterly Conference Records; Epworth Leagues; Ministerial Supply; Conference and General Organs; Education; Licensing, Recommendation, and Orders; Lay Activities.

Dr. H. T. Carley, B. P. Jaco, L. H. Estes, J. H. Holder, and B. F. Lewis were introduced to the conference.

Brother Jaco addressed the conference in the interest of the Centenary, urging people to go forward and collect the past due pledges.

Dr. Carley preached at 11 o'clock on loyalty to our church. His impressive sermon was much enjoyed by the conference. After the sermon the Lord's Supper was administered by Brother Lewis, assisted by Brother Randolph and Brother Wood.

The evening session opened with devotional services conducted by Brother W. J. Wood.

Dr. Carley addressed the conference in the interest of the New Orleans Christian Advocate, urging the pastors to try to place the church paper in every home in the district.

Brother B. F. Lewis addressed the conference in the interest of the Orphans' Home. He made a splendid report of the good work being accomplished. He also reported the main building badly in need of repairs. Sardis District pledged her support.

Brother Lewis called for reports of pastors of the district, and the pastors gave encouraging reports.

The conference enjoyed an interesting talk from Sister Perkins on woman's mission work. The ladies of the district are well organized in the towns and a portion of the rural sections. She appealed to the pastors to aid them in organizing the work in the rural districts. The woman's work was heartily endorsed by Brother W. M. Young and Brother J. A. Randolph.

Barrett Gibbs Whitehurst, Armstead Washington Bailey, and Morandia Henry Wood were unanimously recommended for admission into the Annual Conference on trial. Sardis District is proud of these three splendid young men, they being three bright prospects for the future advancement of our church and of the Christian religion.

The report on the Spiritual State of the Church was very gratifying. Church and prayer services are well attended. The revival services held to date have been a success, adding a goodly number to the church. The committee recommended that station preachers give their spare time to rural districts.

The report on ministerial supply urged that the pulpits be filled with God-called men to declare the whole cause of God and to be faithful shepherds.

On Tuesday evening we had an interesting sermon by Rev. J. A. Randolph, who used eleven verses of the fifteenth chapter of John's Gospel for the evening lesson.

L. H. Estes addressed the conference in the interest of the Methodist Hospital at Memphis.

The morning session of the second day opened with devotional exercises conducted by Rev. N. G. Augustus.

The following local preachers' licenses were renewed: J. A. Arndale, A. W. Bailey, W. P. Bailey, J. A. Chambley, C. O. Pate, J. R. Wilson, M. H. McCall.

Three very interesting reports, Bible, Hospital, and Orphanage, were read and adopted.

Brother Lewis received a letter from Dr. Meek, expressing his regrets that he could not attend the conference.

The report on Education was heard with interest. The committee stressed the importance of loyalty to our church schools.

The report of the Sunday School Committee urged better attendance on our teacher training school.

The Committee on Finance and Superannuate Endowment urged the district to make preparation for this great work to begin in 1924.

The conference was addressed by Dr. Sullivan in the interest of Millsaps College.

J. A. Randolph, A. C. McCorkle, W. S. Shipman, and W. M. Young were elected a Licensing Committee.

The following delegates were elected to the Annual Conference: Warren Stewart, Herbert Holmes, Dr. R. A. Meek, J. D. Turley, J. W. Kyle, L. L. Minor, F. C. Holmes, H. G. Johnson. Alternates: J. E. Birmingham, S. H. Gaines, M. C. Dixson, J. R. Brensin.

The conference enjoyed the impressive talk by Judge Percy Bell.

L. L. Minor was elected District Lay Leader, and Herbert Holmes, J. E. Birmingham, and J. R. Fewell were elected Asosciate Lay Leaders.

The report on Missions was read, the committee urging the pastors of the district to aid the ladies in organizing a Woman's Missionary Society in every church in the district.

The Committee on Christian Literature made the gratifying report that a large number of tracts and pamphlets have been distributed, but report a small per cent of our homes reading the church paper.

Resolutions of thanks to Brother Shipman and the good people of Senatobia for hospitable entertainment were ordered spread on the minutes.

The Laymen's Meeting was conducted by Dr. L. L. Minor. Interesting talks were delivered by Brothers Holmes, Johnson, Randolph, and Hall. The laymen's work is much improved in the district.

Como will entertain our next district conference.

We feel grateful for the interest manifested in the conference, and hope the members and people of the district have been greatly benefited by same.

S. H. GAINES, Secretray.

THE CORINTH DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

Beneath lowering clouds, through driving rain, and over swollen streams, we gathered at Ripley, Miss., on the morning of May 15, for the fifty-third session of the Corinth District Conference. On arrival at the station we saw and felt the heart of all Ripley in the warm handclasp and sunny smile of the genial conference host, S. A. Brown.

We went immediately to the church and, under the leadership of our competent and efficient presiding elder, J. B. Randolph, the conference settled down to real work. W. M. Langley was elected Secretary. The work was skillfully outlined beforehand and set forth in a printed program. A full corps of committees went thoroughly into every phase of the work of the church. The work of the conference was deliberate, thorough, and without haste, neglect, hitch, or jar. The spirit was fine, brotherly and helpful. We had truly a great conference.

The preaching by W. R. Williams, E. R. Smoot, E. G. Mohler, W. A. Wilson, W. W. Jones, and J. D. Wroten was great, evangelistic, and forceful. There was old-time hand-shaking, tears, and calls for penitents.

The music was great. We sang the old hymns from the hymnal. Mrs. Hattie Neblett Murry has trained and leads an orchestra that any church would be well proud of. The orchestra is composed of a fine company of boys and girls from the Junior Congregation. The York Sisters, the three talented daughters of Rev. J. W. York, sang special songs, to the delight of the conference.

The connectional visitors, R. H. B. Gladney, Sunday School Secretary; Mrs. V. R. McDonald, Sunday School Secretary, Elementary Depart ment; J. H. Holder, Education Secretary; B. P. Jaco, Missionary Secretary; L. H. Estes, Secretary Memphis Hospital; J. E. Stephens, of Grenada College; Dr. J. M. Sullivan, of Millsaps College; Mrs. Riley, Field Secretary of Orphans' Home, and Dr. H. T. Carley, Editor of the New Orleans Christian Advocate, rendered full and satisfactory accounts of their several interests.

S. D. Potts, of the Potts Camp charge, was licensed to preach. Rev. M. L. Ward was recommended for elder's orders. Rev. L. B. Wimberly was recommended for deacon's orders and for admission on trial into the traveling connection. Rev. E. C. Sullivan was recommended for readmission.

After six ballots, D. H. Hall, S. S. Finger, T. E. Pegram, J. G. Houston, J. B. Sanders, Miss Corinne Rogers, J. R. Taylor, and L. W. Worsham were elected lay delegates to the Annual Conference, with F. E. Ray, G. L. Jones, H. E. Finger, and Miss Etta Murry as alternates.

E. R. Smoot, W. W. Jones, W. I. White, and D. R. McDougal were elected as the district licensing committee.

J. G. Houston, of New Albany, was elected District Lay Leader, with J. A. Lowe, of Corinth, and C. L. Cox, of Ripley, as associate lay leaders.

The homes of Ripley were wide open to the conference; the only complaint was that there were not enough delegates to fill them, and the attendance was well up to standard. The writer was entertained in the splendid home of T. C. Hines; a finer family and more loyal church people would be hard to find. They wanted eight delegates. The people of Ripley appreciated the conference and attended its sessions, which is very helpful to a conference. Rev. S. A. Brown, our pastor host, was untiring in his efforts to entertain the conference, and he succeeded admirably. He is leading the people in a new church enterprise; the old church is soon to be pulled down and replaced by a modern church plant to meet the demands of the growing church. Ripley has a live Junior church organization; in it are seven boys, around fourteen years, who will pray anywhere and any time called upon.

Every pastor was present except three. The preachers seem to be hard at work trying to do the best with their resources. There is unusual activity in the preparation for revivals. Finances are in good condition. The work in the district progresses all along the line. The next district conference goes to Booneville.

W. M. LANGLEY, Secretary.

THE NEW ORLEANS DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

The New Orleans District Conference met at St. Mark's Church, Monday, May 21, at 8 p. m., and adjourned Wednesday, May 23, at noon. All the pastors were present except Rev. A. D. Martin, of the Lafourche Mission. A large number of lay delegates were in attendance.

A new and profitable experience for New Orleans Methodism was the presence of all the French missionary preachers and delegates. This field was for a long time connected with the Lake Charles District, as it lay wholly within its bounds, and for a few years it has been operating as a separate district, on account of the unique nature of the work that must be done there. Whatever question may be raised as to the wisdom of its attachment to the New Orleans District, it has served to bring to the attention of New Orleans Methodism a striking demonstration of the practicability of evangelizing a large section that has for the most part been conceded without a contest to the Roman Catholic Church. Half a dozen vigorous and growing circuits were represented by fervent and well equipped preachers that have been raised up on that field under the leadership of Rev. Martin Hebert, the apostle of the French Mission, himself as young in spirit and appearance as most of his sons in the gospel on the field.

Reports from all the charges indicate hopefulness and prosperity all along the line. Revivals have been frequent, additions to the membership are being gathered in every Sunday, and new fields are opening up faster than men and means can be found for their cultivation.

Representatives of special interests before the Conference were A. S. Lutz, for the Educational Movement; Mrs. J. H. McCoy, for the Board of Missions; C. B. Carter, for the building fund of the Orphanage; Mrs. S. A. Montgomery, for the Women's Council; N. E. Joyner, for the State-Wide Teacher Training School; T. W. Holloman, for the Lay Acitivities Board, and C. D. Atkinson and Miss Caroline Hess, for the Sunday School Interests. Ample time was given all these interests for the presentation of their causes.

All the preachers had time for the reports of their works, and yet such was the skill with which the business was dispatched that when the noon hour arrived Wednesday everything had been done and we were ready to enter unhurried into the closing devotional exercises.

This was the first district conference this writer has attended in which prominence was not given to preaching. Yet the devotional half hour each session was so arranged that the spiritual note was kept uppermost throughout the sessions. Those leading in these devotional exercises were L. R. Sparks, F. J. McCoy, A. J. Martin, H. T. Carley, C. F. Niebergall, S. A. Seegars, F. B. Hill, and the presiding elder, W. W. Drake.

License to preach was granted to Alfred Winslow Bardin and George M. Kern.

Delegates elected to Annual Conference are: Dr. M. F. Wilson, J. H. Carter, Dr. T. P. Bell, C. O. Chalmers, T. B. Carre, Mrs. J. D. Rumph, Mrs. L. M. White, and Rev. J. B. Grambling.

The New St. Mark's, where the conference was held, is one of the best of its kind in the entire country, according to Dr. Worth M. Tippy, who recently visited it while in the city on a mission for the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. The Centenary funds have been well spent if this is a sample of their work. It is equipped for mission, social service, and all kinds of church work, and will stand as a monument to the Centenary movement in a district where that work is sorely needed.

The presiding elder is practically new in the office, but that would not have been suspected from the manner in which he dispatched the business and found time for every detail of work.

The conference goes next year to Houma, another of the points where the Centenary forces have built up a great work.

Luncheon and dinner were served on Tuesday by the New Orleans Woman's Missionary Societies.

H. N. BROWN, Secretary.

CENTENARY COLLEGE.

On June 7, Centenary College will close one of its most successful years. The total enrollment in all departments for the past year was 419. Of this number, 245 were in the college, 144 in the academy, and 30 in the extension department. The 245 students in the college come from seventeen States. Louisiana, of course, leads, with 189; Texas is second, with 12; Arkansas is third, with 10. The other fourteen States are represented by one or more students each.

There will be ten graduates in the College of Arts and Sciences, three of whom will receive the Bachelor of Arts Degree and seven the Bachelor of Science. Twenty-five students will graduate from the academy, and eight from the Department of Commerce. Two from the Department of Commerce having completed the full course will receive diplomas, the others receiving certificates for having completed the one-year course.

Student Activities.

The students have given a good account of themselves in all departments of student activities. The college was largely represented at the State Y. M. C. A. meet, our Y. M. C. A. president being honored with a place on the program. He was also elected as one of the State officers. The Hi-Y from the academy had a large delegation at the State meeting in Ruston. Both the State President and Secretary were elected from Centenary Academy.

Mr. C. M. Cotton, of Centenary, was awarded first place in the State Oratorical Peace Contest, defeating contestants from Louisiana State University, Tulane, Louisiana College, and Southwestern Institute.

Centenary College Glee Club, directed by Miss Catherine McComb, B.E.L., and B.M., did great honor to the college. Music critics both at home and abroad pronounced them the best college glee club that has appeared in the State in many years.

The Conglomerate, a weekly newspaper, published by the students, was of a high order, taking first rank among the best college papers of the South.

The college baseball team played 22 games—winning 15 and losing 7. The basketball team played 15 games—winning 10 and losing 5. The football team lost only one game during the entire season.

Scholarship.

The results of the year's work show that Centenary College has a faculty second to none. At the close of the winter term, 12% of the college student body made the Honor Roll, which means they had an average in all their courses above 90. Mid-term examinations for the spring term indicate that there will be a larger per cent of honor students than in the winter term. This success will be the more appreciated when it is understood that there were 165 in the freshman class.

Financial.

On Dec. 31, 1920, the college had $90,000 Productive Endowment; on Dec. 31, 1922, the college had $650,926 Productive Endowment, an increase of $560,926 in two years.

On Dec. 31, 1920, the total assets of the college were $436,160; on Dec. 31, 1922, the total assets of the college wer $1.205,780, the increase for a period of two years being $769,380.

From June 5, 1922, the audit date of the college to Dec. 31, 1922, a period of seven months, there had been an increase in assets of $79,992.

It appears to me that the above statement of facts gives occasion for thanksgiving and rejoicing. These results have been obtained by the hearty co-operation of an efficient faculty, an earnest body of students, unselfish service of the Board of Trustees, especially those living in and adjacent to Shreveport, and by the sympathetic and encouraging help that has come from all parts of the State.

This success makes our present need great. Unless additional buildings and equipment can be had, the college will not be able to take half of the new students who desire to enter the coming fall term. The unselfish help that has been given by the lovers of Christian education in the State gives us hope and makes us believe that the needed buildings and equipment will be furnished.

GEORGE S. SEXTON, President.

A "MOVIE REEL" OF FIFTEEN MINUTES ON THE CAUSE OF THE "FORGOTTEN MAN."

I spent a day at the "hub" this week—that is, Nashville, Tenn. It was my pleasure and privilege to appear before the College of Bishops and present certain requests concerning the special effort for superannuate endowment. The reception accorded me by our chief pastors was all that could be desired, and I came away in the confidence that these leaders of the Church will gladly do everything in their power in the supreme effort to make adequate provision for our worn-out preachers and their dependents.

The bishops' spring meeting in their room in the Publishing House impressed me with such a feeling as I think I would have if I had the opportunity to visit the President of the United States in session with his cabinet. Every bishop had his tablet, pad, and pencil and appeared busily engaged not only with the problems of his own episcopal district but those of the entire Church as well. It was very gratifying to find all of them, after a full week of arduous labor, in attendance upon the annual meetings of the various general Boards, willing to pause in their deliberations long enough to give attention to the needs of those preachers who have worn themselves out in the service.

As I looked into the faces of our bishops, and knowing that the Board of Finance was about to ask them to assume a specific responsibility for the cause of the "forgotten man," in addition to that expected of them by the leaders of other great causes before the Church, I realized as never before that to the words, "If a man desire the office of a bishop he desireth a good work," could well be added without violence to the truth the words, "and a hard work." I felt that the Church should have a picture of this group of heroic leaders in 1923 and asked them to visit the photographer for this purpose at the request of the Board of Finance.

It is pleasing, therefore, to anonunce that very soon the Board of Finance will have a 20x24 group picture of the College of Bishops of 1923. Coming as it does out of the very heart of the busiest period in the history of Southern Methodism, this picture will be cherished by all devoted lovers of our great Church as a reminder of the Church's tremendous accomplishments under this leadership. Later on the Board of Finance will make other interesting announcements concerning this picture.

In the midst of writing the copy of this page this week the postman handed me a letter from Hendersonville, N. C., which read as follows: "Find inclosed a check for $25 for the best cause in this wide world." You may not agree with the opinion of the good woman who wrote this letter and backed it up with her money, but it makes the Secretary of the Board of Finance very happy to know that in the wonderful State of North Carolina lives one who holds such an opinion. Wherever there is one thinking in this way about the cause of the "forgotten man," it is sure to happen that one's enthusiasm and conviction will be caught up by others who live round about.

A good brother recently sent me an editorial entitled "The Shame of the Church," which he had clipped from the Memphis News-Scimitar, a secular newspaper. Let me share it with you, as follows:

"One of the saddest stories the Associated Press has carried in many a day is the story printed Wednesday afternoon concerning the suicide of Rev. Webb H. Jackson, Moderator of the Weakley County Baptist Association and one of the most beloved ministers in his section of the State. In one paragraph the story says, 'Worry over a son ill with tuberculosis whom he was not able to send to a hospital is reported to have preyed on his mind and is held responsible for his act.'

"In another paragraph the dispatch states that Brother Jackson had officiated at more funerals than any other minister in the county and had frequently driven ten and twelve miles for a funeral service.

"He was 62 years of age and had given his life to ministering to his fellow man. At an age when he should have been able to retire if he so desired, he was so poor in this world's goods that he was unable to provide medical attention for his son, although his demonination is one of the strongest and richest in the land and has hospitals in many sections of the country.

"Some day perhaps the Church will awaken to its duty and provide for the pastors who have grown old and poor in its service, for the average minister is so constituted that he cannot save a dollar when there is a person in his community who needs it more than he does.

"But, first of all, it is the duty of the Church to pay its ministers a decent, living wage. The Church is liberal when it comes to raising money for foreign missions, but it is niggardly, stingy, and shortsighted when it comes to providing for its own pastors. Perhaps one reason for this is that a great congregation is governed largely by the advice of its pastor, and the average minister thinks of himself last, so his needs are neglected and forgotten.

"It is to be hoped that the tragic ending of Brother Jackson's life of service will not be in vain. May it open the eyes of the church people everywhere to the imperative need of giving living wages to their ministers and making ample provision for those days when they are no longer able to hold a pastorate!"

We are rapidly approaching the day of the beginning of an effort which it is hoped will result in making it forever impossible for such an editorial as the foregoing to be written about any preacher of Southern Methodism. Any man, woman, or child of our great Church who fails to enter heartily into this movement will lose a chance of a lifetime to have an opportunity in a program which looks to the old-age comfort of the Lord's disabled prophets.

Nearly every day the Board of Finance receives one or more communications indicating the widespread interest that is setting in throughout the Church in behalf of the "forgotten man." Today a letter came from a good man and his wife who live in Montgomery, W. Va. In order that my readers may understand what is going on in the thinking of our people concerning this great cause, the contents of the letter are quoted, as follows:

"Inclosed you will find our check for $100, which we wish to give to the Superannuate Endowment Fund. We have learned of the special effort that will be put on for this noble cause next spring and that the churches will have certain amounts to raise for this purpose. We want to give this hundred dollars at this time with the understanding that same will be credited on the amount that will be expected from our church. Perhaps we will have a little more that we can pay, provided, that same can be credited to our church quota. We are members of the Montgomery Methodist Church, South, Charleston District, Western Virginia Conference.

"MR. AND MRS. L. W. CARSON."

Concerning the preceding paragraph let it be understood that any contributions received by the Board of Finance for superannuate endowment in advance of the special effort will be credited by the Board on the special effort quota of the charge from which such conttributions come, provided, however, that those making such contributions state clearly when making them that it is the desire of the contributors that the amounts so paid are to be credited in this manner. This statement is made at this time for the reason that many of our people throughout the church seem so eager to begin immediately to make payments on the total amount which they expect to contribute to this cause under the plan of the special effort.

THE SQUEAKY CHAIR.

A queer old rocking-chair there stands
Right by my little bed,
It has a cover on the back
With yellow flowers and red,
And when I have been very good
And said my prayers all right,
I go to Katie and I say:
"Rock me to sleep to-night?"

(I'm awfully big to rock to sleep,
I'm nearly half-past five.)
Then Katie says: "Why, baby's back,
As sure as I'm alive."
But then she takes me on her lap,
Although my legs hang down,
And laughs and says: "Now, baby dear,
We're off to Sleepy Town."

"Eenk—awnk, eenk—awnk," the old chair goes.
It has an awful squeak.
"Eenk—awnk, eenk—awnk," I try to talk,
But I—forget—to—speak.
"Eenk—awnk, eenk—awnk," the old chair says.
From some place far and deep
I hear it call, "Eenk—awnk, eenk—awnk,"
And then I go to sleep.

—Mary Fanny Youngs.

THE GEOMETRIC SPIDER.

The web-making instinct of the family Arachnida is truly an interesting study. After all, what is more wonderfully built than the beautifully radiated nest of our common garden spider? In structure these silky webs of geometrical exactness, that adorn the tall grass and the bushes of our lawns, are most remarkable. Though they are familiar to us all, they are ever worthy of consideration.

There is at the present time a large and perfect specimen of the garden spider's art in my living room, where it sways gently between a huge brown jar filled with Iris blossoms and the polished floor on which this rests. In its way it is quite as beautiful as the flowers, and as truly suggestive of the glories of the springtime in the garden beyond the French windows. Whether the little master spinner was carried in with the blossoms, or with the jar which has been airing for a day or two on the porch, I do not know. However, I strongly suspect the latter, for the maker of all this loveliness is now hidden in a little mist of silk in a niche beneath the handle of the jar.

In the center of this circular web is a small shield of closely-woven silk, a den, as it were, wherein the spider may rest when it so desires. From this common center radiate a number of silken threads of the same smooth material. Upon these a spiral line of wholly different texture is wound with marvelous regularity. This elastic, knobby thread forms the net whereby the little spinner obtains its food. The little projections, which may be seen with a microscope of moderate power, are composed of a thick, adhesive substance, and serve to catch the wings of any stray fly that may come too near them. A small open space intervenes between this trap and the central nest of the spider.

The entire structure is marvelously held in place by smooth silken guy ropes on two sides only; a few attach it to the earthenware jar, a few to the polished floor. It has no other support that can be determined, though it is customary for this spinner to make its home somewhat more secure. On the porch I find them anchored firmly on four sides, but that may be on account of the wind. I have never, however, observed the balance-weights of wood or stone that this spider is said to sometimes employ in a high wind.

When I consider that this web, so exactly true in all its proportions, has been constructed entirely by its maker's sense of touch, then I marvel greatly. As is the case with all members of the spider family, this spinner's eyes are situated on the front part of the body and on the upper surface, whereas the spinnerets that produce the threads are at the very extremity of the body and on the under surface. When repairing or building a web, the little creature hangs head downward, guiding the silken line by one of its hind legs. In winding the long spiral thread it jumps from one radius to another and still makes no mistake.

These threads, so small and yet so strong, are much more complex than we are accustomed to consider them. They are formed of a semi-liquid secretion produced in the internal organs of the spider, and possessed of the power of hardening as soon as it comes in contact with the air. The spinnerets, which are peculiar to this tribe of spinners, are covered with a multitude of very minute, hair-like appendages—the tubes through which the secretion is forced. The numerous threads proceeding from the tubes are finally joined into a single line, after the fashion of our own thread-making machines. The great strength of the spider's web is due to this remarkable process.

Should this beautiful home within my living room be destroyed, as it is apt to be at any moment by a careless step on the part of mistress or maid, the patient little spinner will be forced to go through the intricate process of building another nest. If not interrupted, this can be accomplished in one hour or perhaps even less. If, however, accidents occur too frequently, the supply of silken thread becomes exhausted, and the spinning must come to an end until more food is obtained. To relieve such a situation a spider often usurps the home of a weaker member of the tribe.

At all times these garden spinners use very sparingly of their silk. An old web will be mended so long as it is possible. When a storm is pending, they do not trouble to make a new web or even do their customary mending. Thus they become a sort of weather prophet, foretelling a fine day by their industry.—Frances Higgins, in "Our Dumb Animals."

"I BELIEVE IN THE UNITED STATES."

"The American's Creed," for which the city of Baltimore offered a prize of $1,000, on the condition that in one hundred words it should not only arouse interest in the Declaration of Independence and in the Constitution, but should also define those things for which America stands and which have contributed toward making her a great nation, was won by John Tyler Page, chief clerk of the national House of Representatives. It is worth getting by heart:

I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign Nation of many sovereign States; a perfect Union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity, for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes. I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it, to support its Constitution, to obey its laws, to respect its flag and to defend it against all enemies.—The Christian Register.

PUT-OFF TOWN.

Did you ever go to Put-off Town,
Where the houses are old and tumble-down,
And everything tarries and everything drags,
With dirty streets and people in rags?

On the street called Slow lives old man Wait,
And his two little boys named Linger and Late,
With unclean hands and tousled hair,
And a naughty sister named Don't Care.

Did you ever go to Put-Off Town
To play with the little girls, Fret and Frown?
Or go to the home of old man Wait
And whistle for his boys to come to the gate,

To play ball all day on Tarry Street,
Leaving your errands for other feet?
To stop, or shirk, or linger, or frown,
Is the nearest way to this Put-Off Town.

—Selected.

God is building us something that transcends anything that man ever knew; he is building it by the power of his might; and he is building it by us, and in us, and through us, and in spite of our implorations that he would desist. Blessed be God, who builds though we seek to hinder his building, and though we would sometimes even pull down and destroy that which he is building.—Beecher.

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION—THE TEST.

The real test of our system of Christian education is not in the resources and equipment of the schools and colleges we maintain, or in the scholastic attainments of the teachers employed therein, but in the character of the students turned out. At this season of the year, thousands of these students are returning to their homes after a session spent in these schools; what are they going to do during the vacation period, and how are they going to conduct themselves with reference to the religious activities of their communities while they are at home? Upon the answer to this question will depend the answer as to whether or not we have Christian institutions of learning. We should like to suggest to these students, too, that their conduct will be taken by people generally as an indication of the degree of loyalty they feel toward their schools. If they do things that are not in keeping with the moral standards of the schools from which they come, they will have to bear the censure of not being fair representatives of those schools—a reproach that will be both humiliating and embarrassing. One of the cardinal sins of the student life is disloyalty to the institution—and loyalty always expresses itself in conduct.

THE DEATH OF REV. S. D. ROBERTS.

After the Advocate had gone to press last week, we received the distressing news that Rev. S. D. Roberts, pastor of the Sulphur and Vinton charge, Louisiana Conference, had died. Brother Roberts was one of the younger men of the Conference, having been received into full connection in 1913. He was a faithful minister of the gospel and had rendered efficient service to the church in all the appointments he had served. He was apparently a perfect specimen of physical manhood, and his friends confidently expected him to live many years in consecrated service; but an acute attack of Bright's disease seized him and he passed away within a few days, the end coming at a sanitarium in Lake Charles, to which he had been carried in the hope of restoring his health.

The funeral services were held at Zachary, La., conducted by his presiding elder, Rev. J. B. Williams, assisted by Rev. Martin Hebert, Rev. A. W. Waddill, Rev. S. A. Seegers, and the Rev. Mr. Scott, of the Baptist Church. The Masonic service was held at the grave. Brother Roberts was a nephew of Rev. L. L. Roberts, of the Mississippi Conference, and Rev. H. G. Roberts, of the North Mississipi Conference. He is survived by his widow and an eight-year-old son, as well as by a sister and a widowed mother, to whom we extend sincere sympathy. We trust we shall have a suitable memoir for publication in due time.

ST. MARK'S HALL.

The informal opening of St. Mark's Hall, this city, will take place on next Thursday evening, May 31. Invitations have been issued to all the Methodists of New Orleans to attend this auspicious event, and visitors from other places will be cordially welcomed.

St. Mark's constitutes one of the finest plants in this country for social and religious work, and its activities have already been productive of much good in the section of the city where it is located. The staff of workers is composed of Rev. John F. Foster, American pastor; Rev. Jos. M. Codispoti, Italian pastor; Miss Berta Ellison, head resident; Miss Ruth Byerly, girls' club worker; Miss Myrle Neely, boys' club worker; Miss Lydia Rieke, nurse; Miss Maude Fall, office secretary.

St. Mark's was enterprised and is supported by the Board of Missions and the Woman's Council, aided by the local City Mission Board, of which Mr. H. F. Foster is president. The history of development includes the names of many faithful men and women who, from the small beginning to the present magnificent proportions, gave themselves unreservedly to the work. We trust we shall soon have a historical sketch of this great enterprise in which the names of those who made possible the present plant will be duly mentioned.

GROWTH OF GOLDEN CROSS SOCIETY.

The great movement for hosptals which the last General Conference set in motion is taking hold of the hearts of our people, as it ought.

The Golden Cross Society, upon which our hospital work must depend mainly, is growing.

An enrollment of three hundred has been made at Franklin, La., under the directorship of Mrs. John A. Bell. Bishop Candler informs us that this is the largest enrollment made in any congregation in the church.

Congratulations to the church at Franklin and Mrs. Bell.

HAIL, BISHOP CANDLER!

Twenty-five years ago on Saturday, May 19, Bishop Warren A. Candler became a Bishop, and forty-eight years ago on Tuesday, May 15, he entered the itinerant ranks. The Atlanta Journal, one of the leading newspapers of the South, made these two events the occasion of an editorial in its issue of May 20, in which it paid a magnificent tribute to this great Methodist leader. In the course of the editorial, we find this striking characterization: "If Bishop Candler were not a churchman he, doubtless, would be a statesman—as conservative as Washington, as picturesque as 'Old Hickory,' as staunch as Cleveland in conviction, as exalted as Wilson in ideals." We join with his multitude of friends throughout the church in extending to him congratulations upon the anniversaries of these auspicious events, and in praying that he may be spared for many years more to serve the church and the world.

FOR LAYMEN ONLY.

The Seashore Divinity School will convene in annual session at the Seashore Camp Ground, Biloxi, Miss., on June 12, and continue through June 21. Three of our bishops—Bishop W. B. Murrah, Bishop W. A. Candler, and Bishop W. N. Ainsworth—will be in attendance and will deliver addresses that will be inspiring to all who hear them. In addition, classes will be taught in which all undergraduate preachers will have the opportunity of taking their Conference courses of study, with examinations that will be accepted by the Conference examining committees.

Your preacher needs a vacation, but he may not be able to take it unless you provide the way. The expense attending this school is comparatively small, and we are sure that the necessary amount could be easily secured in most of our charges if you would take the matter up with the membership of the church. By making it possible for your preacher to attend this great gathering, you would enable him to combine recreation with further equipment for his work—and your church would reap the benefit in increased efficiency upon his return. Will you not consider this suggestion seriously—and act accordingly?

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

This first unit will cost about $350,000.

The Lincoln County Times has this to say about the commencement sermon of Whitworth College, Brookhaven, Miss.: "Bishop W. N. Ainsworth was the commencement preacher, and his sermon of Sunday morning is acknowledged to be among the greatest ever delivered in Brookhaven. The debt of the present to the past and how it can be repaid, was his theme, based on the text, 'Ye are bought with a price.'"

Professor C. A. Bowen, of the Department of Religious Education, Milisaps College, preached the commencement sermon for the Woman's College at Alabama, at Montgomery, Ala., last Sunday. The senior class of that institution made a special request of President Agnew that Brother Bowen be asked to perform that service. The pastor of the First Methodist Church, Shreveport, La., Dr. H. F. Brooks, held a communion service at 4:30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, May 20. The pastors and congregations of the other downtown churches were invited to join in this service, and the First Presbyterian, the Central Christian, and the St. Mark's Episcopal churches accepted the invitation, the pastors of these churches assisting in the administration of the elements. It was a gracious service.

The deplorable automobile accident at Hattiesburg, Miss., last week in which Seth, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Heidelberg, lost his life and five other young people were seriously injured, has brought deep sorrow to the whole community and to many friends throughout the State. Two of those injured were children of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Tatum, into whose home another tragic sorrow came a short time ago in the death of another child, who was run over by an automobile while crossing a street. The latest accident occurred at a railroad crossing in a suburb of Hattiesburg, where an uncle of the editor of the Adcate lost his life in a similar accident several years ago. We extend heartfelt sympathy to the parents and all those who are in sorrow through this tragic happening, and pray that they may be sustained by the comforting grace of the Heavenly Father.

DR. T. N. IVEY—A TRIBUTE.

By Walt Holcomb.

A shock indescribable was felt this morning, when I opened my paper and saw an account of the sudden death of Dr. T. N. Ivey, Editor of the Christian Advocate, Nashville.

Dr. Ivey was the first religious editor to take a personal interest in my work; and, while editor of the North Carolina Christian Advocate, to speak kindly and encouraging words of a young minister. I learned to love him the first time I met him; and this love deepened through the succeeding years.

While recently associated with him in the Centenary Emergency Campaign, I realized more than ever his breadth of vision and his great interest in all of the affairs of the church. To say that he was one of the greatest all-round editors that the Christian Advocate has had, is to express the consensus of opinion among the preachers and people of our connection. His editorials had both intellectual and spiritual strength.

As editor of our general organ, the accredited evangelists of the Southern Methodist Church have lost their best and truest friend. I am sure I express the feeling of the fifty-two general evangelists when I make this statement. I want to be one of the number to lay a flower on his casket and shed a tear at his grave. How I shall miss him and look forward to meeting him again!

VICKSBURG DISTRICT.

I am grateful to the pastors of the Vicksburg District who have given attention to the benevolences. Some have done well, and the results have been good.

Anguilla has paid $200; Gloster, $25; Harriston, $85; Louise and Holly Bluff, $180; Mayersville, $20; Roxie, $75; Rosetta, $30; Utica, $25; Washington, $25; Rolling Fork, $100. Centerville reports $300 pledged, and other charges small amounts.

I trust every pastor will do his best work on his assessments before he goes into the revival campaign of the summer. When these items are pledged the work is half done, and full collections assured.

I am sure we shall all feel uncomfortable if any of these important claims fail in our hands.

J. R. JONES, P. E.

AMERICAN COOKERY.

We find fried chicken for the breakfast food
In Asheville, tender, too.
In little old New York the clams are good,
In Baltimore the turtle stew.

In Boston town we dine on pork and beans,
And pie for inner man.
While pompano we seek in New Orleans,
And coffee Luzianne.

The old Dominion State doth give us ham,
So brown and savory,
And sweet potato pie and biscuit, ma'am,
With pound cake flavory.

On the Pacific Coast the salmon fish
Is found, and venison.
Chicago's guinea hen, delicious dish,
Is a rare benison.

And thus, o'er our broad land, from coast to coast,
A culinary art
Has triumphed far; to chef and cook, a toast,
To cater to the heart.

MRS. LUCY BOOTHE CAROTHERS, of Batesville, Miss., was born Aug. 19, 1853, and died on March 5, 1923. She joined the Methodist church in early childhood. She was married to O. S. Carothers on Feb. 27, 1873. To this union were born eleven children. Three—two daughters and one son—had preceded the mother to the spirit world. Her husband, one son and seven daughters survive her, and quite a number of grandchildren. Sister Carothers was a devout Christian. She lived her religion, which is shown in her noble children. Her girls are far above the average for intellectual, moral and spiritual excellence. Brother and Sister Carothers had just celebrated their golden wedding a few days before her death. For many years they were quite inseparable—where you saw one, there you would see the other. She had given her life largely to home duties and to the welfare of her family, but she never lost interest in the church and religion. She was a great mother and wife, the embodiment of a holy life. Besides her own family, she leaves two brothers, Judice Boothe, of Lexington, Miss., and W. H. Boothe, of Batesville, Miss., and one sister, Mrs. F. C. Sims, of Alba, Okla. A good companion, mother, and Christian has gone to her reward on high. If the world had such mothers, the millennium would be brought in. She made all duties sacred. However small the task, she looked after each duty with diligence and care. Her children will call her blessed. What a heritage she leaves to her family of faithfulness! God bless and keep the loved ones in his care.

ROBERT TAIT McCLENDON was born near Lisbon, La., in Claiborne Parish, June 6, 1851, and died at his home, March 17, 1923, living to the age of seventy-one years, nine months, and eleven days. He was married to Miss Jane McCasland, also of Claiborne Parish, Nov. 17, 1874. Three children were born to them, and still survive: Mrs. R. W. Vaughan, Ruston, La.; Mrs. W. S. Rudasill, Sherman, Tex., and Mrs. G. A. Kennedy, Rayne, La. He joined the church when about eleven years of age, and continued a faithful, consistent, active member throughout life. He died very suddenly, being sick only a few minutes. Brother McClendon and I were born and reared in the same neighborhood, our fathers being neighbors and friends. In 1900 I was sent to Lisbon circuit as pastor, serving four years. In 1908 I was again pastor of that charge, serving another four years. All during these eight years I was very closely associated with my lifelong friend, "Bob." He was superintendent of Sunday school and leading steward. No preacher ever had a better official. It is not merely as an officer of the church that I write of this man of God, but as my friend, true and tried. We took counsel together, we walked side by side. Through the severest trials of my life, my friend "Bob" never failed me. Brother McClendon was of an optimistic turn of mind—he never grew old, and was full of sunshine and hope. He could not be discouraged; no matter what happened, he went right on with his religious duties to the very last. He always attended his Annual and district Conferences. He fell at his post of duty. He will be missed by his church and his friends. Truly a good man has gone to his reward. We extend our sympathy to Sister McClendon and the children.

His Friend,
J. B. WILLIAMS.

A METHODIST CIRCUIT—PICKENS AND GOODMAN.

We submit part of the report which was made from this charge to the district conference at Pickens, May 8-10.

Centenary Every-Members Canvass was put on at each church. Pickens has practically paid out.

Methodist Order of Worship put in at Pickens and Goodman. Methodist Hymnal will be used at each church on the circuit by the first of June. Sacrament of the Lord's Supper regularly administered.

Fourteen have been received on profession of faith since Conference. All but four of these were received at the regular services of the church.

Pastor has done diligent pastoral visiting. In the case of many of these visits, family prayer has been the invariable accompaniment.

Conference collections for the half-year in full have been sent to the Conference treasurers.

The budget plan has been put in operation at Goodman. It is working like a charm.

The interest of the Masons in the church property at Goodman has been purchased. A building committee is at work and a campaign for funds will begin in the fall.

Pickens church has a membership of 110. The average attendance at prayer meeting for the reasonable weather nights has been above 40.

The pastor has endeavored to do positive and constructive preaching. Jesus Christ has been held up. Men have been urged to commit their lives unto Him.

TO YOUR KNEES, O LEAGUERS!

By Garfield Evans.

Many have felt the necessity for the organic union of the Epworth League and the Young People's Missionary Society. Every careful observer is aware of the friction and difficulties involved when these two societies seek to carry out their full programs of work in the local church. For either one to really carry out its standard program means expulsion of the other organization.

Our task as a church and through its several societies and departments is not to waste time in contending for our special rights. Nevertheless, when two programs of almost identical nature are given, intended to be carried out by the same young people, but responsible to differently delegated Boards, the results are obvious—and they are not to be found in hypothetical cases.

The question is not one of original jurisdiction. Much might be said in defining the legal relation of each to the church, and still the pragmatic problems face us unsolved. Less than 25% of the children and youth of the church are getting thorough and adequate missionary instruction with training in Christian graces and acts of directed charity; while it is estimated that only 50% of the youth are actively enlisted in the program of the church. Surely we are challenged to combine our efforts in a united missionary advance to meet our local needs, to say nothing of the challenge of the foreign missionary tasks.

Facing this situation, the General Epworth League Board and the Woman's Missionary Council, at their recent sessions, appointed a joint committee of six members to work out plans for a unified organization and to report back to the next meetings of their respective Boards.

There has been much talk about what is needed! There has been enough talk! Surely it is time to do something. If you are vitally interested in bringing the harmonious relationships necessary to save the young people of your church and give them the responsibility of a world task, to your knees, O Leaguers!

SUMMER SCHOOL OF MISSIONS AND MISSIONARY CONFERENCES.

Lake Junaluska and Mount Sequoyah.

By Dr. A. C. Zumbrunnen.

A trained leadership is necessary to the successful carrying out of any great program. The missionary program of our church is its largest and most important one at this juncture.

What is our church's missionary program? It is to do its part in world evangelism. And what is its part in this respect? A recent investigation indicates that it is at least 5,000,000 in the Home Field and 55,000,000 in the Foreign Field. This means more than two times as many as our present membership to be evangelized at home and twenty times as many in the Foreign Fields. In addition to this large program is the exceedingly important one of World Christianization

FROM DENHAM SPRINGS, LA.

Dear Brother Carley: Everything is moving along nicely on the Denham Springs charge. We have good Sunday schools at all tho preaching points except one, and we expect to organize there in the near future. We have three Epworth Leagues that are doing fine work. Some of the young people are young in the work, but show a willingness to work for the advancement of God's kingdom.

We are expecting great results from the series of revivals we have planned. Our first revival will begin at Denham Springs on the third Sunday in June, with Brother A. D. George, of Bunkie, helping me. The meeting at Palmetto will begin on the first Sunday in July, with Brother Booth; at Live Oak, the third Sunday in July, with Brother Griffin, of Shreveport; the fifth Sunday in July, at Friendship, with Brother Griffin; the second Sunday in August, Alford Chapel; the fourth Sunday in August, Mangum Chapel.

May the Holy Spirit work mightily in the hearts of the people! Christian people everywhere, pray that our expectations may bo realized.

Fraternally,

A. L. McQUEEN.

PANAMA AND PROTESTANTISM.

By Dr. W. E. Gilroy, Editor-in-Chief, The Congregationalist.

There are few places where from almost every standpoint duty and opportunity alike confront the Christian churches of America as they do today in the Panama Canal Zone and in the adjacent territory.

The visitor to the Zone is impressed with two things above all others. On the one hand is the crucial and unusual situation of thousands of Americans isolated for longer or shorter periods from the normal life of the homeland, in a tropical climate and environment, where, in spite of all that science and sanitation have accomplished, the moral and spiritual tendencies aro mainly downward; and on the other hand are the many evidences of the magnificent way in which Christian men and women of the Canal Zone, fully realizing these dangerous tendencies, are battling against them. If any group of Christians face to face with peculiar difficulties ever needed the support of the whole Christian people of the United States, it is theso devoted and self-sacrificing believers who are endeavoring to establish the institutions and influences of the Christian church in this strategic area upon a broad, sound and permanent basis. Appeal is made in their behalf not because of any failure on their part. They have shown great liberality; they have assumed and are assuming burdens. But their problems and situation are unusual; their task is one that concerns the welfare of the American people as a whole, as much as the Canal which it is their particular concern to maintain in service, and the adequate performance of that religious task is beyond their unaided abilities.

With excellent vision and fine spirit groups of Christians formerly associated with various denominations have decided to work upon a Union-Protestant basis. They do not want sectarianism and division in this small section and under these trying conditions where all the strength that unity can give will be none too much. Strange to say, this commendable policy may make the immediate problems moro difficult of solution. Where individual denominations would come in and spend substantial amounts, it is not easy as yet to capitalize in actual funds the growing sentiment in behalf of co-operative religious effort. But this difficulty should make the present opportunity the more urgent and inviting. Here is a situation where it may be demonstrated that Christian co-operation is more than a mere sentiment.

These great ends, it seems to me, worthy support of the Union-Protestant enterprise in the Panama Canal Zone, and adjacent territory, may hope to accomplish:

1. To help to maintain wholesome Christian influences for members of American churches who, with their families, are permanently located on the Canal, and at the same time serve the larger constituency of those whose stay is more transitory, but who live around the Zone long enough to be permanently influenced for good or evil.

2. To build up moral safeguards and spiritual influences where thousands of American soldiers and sailors will always be located, and where all the allurements of evil are flagrant.

3. To set in an environment where Romanism has meant superstition and ignorance some worthy example of what Protestant Christianity can effect. It is a strategic missionary opportunity.

4. To set alongside the Canal, which is the most unique monument to American genius for organization and for the conquest of difficulties, some worthy expression of the genius of American religion. Where rulers, soldiers, business men and engineers have thought in hundreds of millions, the Christian church ought to think at least in terms of tens of thousands.

It will be to the lasting shame of the Protestant churches of America if a strip of land destined, possibly, to be the most important upon the whole earth's surface, and for which this country has assumed financial, political and military responsibility, lacks adequate provision for the institutions and services of religion; and it will be unfortunate if in any sense the Christian is left to lag behind at a time and in a place of such amazing opportunity.

Stomach Trouble?

Health is Most Important to You.

Columbus, Ga.—"Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is certainly a grand medicine for stomach trouble. I have suffered greatly all my life from a disordered stomach. My food seemed to set so heavy, no matter what I ate. I have taken many of the medicines advertised for this trouble, but none of them has ever come up to Golden Medical Discovery for giving prompt and lasting relief. Whenever I have a sluggish liver, with sick-headaches and constipation, I have found Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets a very efficient remedy. They do not gripe or cause any other distressing condition such as a great many pills do."—Mrs. Laura Kimbrough, 3503 Erlene Avenue.

SUMMER SCHOOL OF MISSIONS AND MISSIONARY CONFERENCES.

—the making of the teachings of Jesus the controlling principles among all peoples in every relationship of life.

If our church is to measure up to its opportunities and responsibilities in the two above respects, it will have to have a large corps of well trained missionary leaders in the local churches. For the training of such leaders two Summer Schools of Missions and Missionary Conferences have been provided. One of theso will be at Mount Sequoyah, Fayetteville, Ark., July 7-22, 1923; and the other Lake Junaluska, N. C., July 26-Aug. 9, 1923.

Thes two Schools were provided for, as the distance to Lake Junaluska was prohibitive to a great number of our people. The programs are similar in character. The forenoon will be occupied by classes studying the several phases of Missions. The afternoon will be given over to study and recreation. At night and Sundays great inspirational addresses will be given by outstanding ministers and laymen. The work done in one School will be credited in the other. The Schools have been standardized, and a dipolma will be issued to those completing the work necessary for twelve credit units. Some of the courses offered will be credited by the General Sunday School Board toward the diploma offered in their Standard Training Schools.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE SUNDAY SCHOOL NOTES.

Galloway Memorial Beginners' Department "A." Fine! Mrs. Austin is doing a good work and is making her department a telling force.

Tuesday and Wednesday was spent at Montrose. We had the pleasure of speaking to them in the interest of their new church building project. Their Sunday school is growing. Their Young Ladies' Class is 80%, and I feel sure they will make it 100% in a short time. They only lack 2½ points of having four 100% "C" departments. They have promised definitely to put these over and make a report soon.

Brother Jones says they will build in the near future. The right type building would mean much for the ongoing of the Kingdom there. May the Lord lead them to great victory.

A letter from the Department of Missions calls attention to the practice on the part of some Sunday schools of taking the offering for Missions and diverting it to other worthy causes. It would mean much to your Sunday school if you could get them to take a special and place this offering on that special. You would receive news fresh from the field and it would be the means of stimulating the whole church cause. The General Sunday School Board asked that this be brought to the attention of the schools.

Sunday School Day funds are coming in slowly. Several schools have sent in much larger offerings than ever before. We surely appreciate this. We are hoping that every school will send an offering. So many have reported great help from the programs this year. This is a source of gratification to all the workers. You will find the carrying out of the program a help to your school.

The Jackson District Institute takes place at Bolton, Miss., June 27, at 10 a. m.

The Seashore District Institute takes place at Wiggins, June 27, 9:30 a. m., running all day and the morning of the next day. Brother Sullivan, presiding elder of the district, has been asked to bring us four messages on "Soul Winning." This will be worth your trip to hear.

Let the Sunday schools be sure and have their reports.

Pray for the work and the workers.

Yours in Him.

A GREAT SUNDAY SCHOOL AT GALLOWAY MEMORIAL, JACKSON, MISS.

Dear Brother Carley: This may be of some interest to you, although it may be late.

The Men's Bible Class had 417 present, possibly the largest ever recorded in any one class in any church of any denomination in this State. We had 322 on Easter and are running regularly around 200; had 210 present yesterday with no effort expended.

Dr. Means is doing a great work here. Especially is he strong with the men's work. But it would be unfair to him if the impression is left that he isn't strong in every department.

We hope to break our own record before the year closes.

D. W. BUFKIN.

FROM IDA, LA.

Dear Brother Carley: I would like to make a report of some things we are doing. First, the good people keep pounding us, a nice spring suit being one of the packages received.

We have spent $200 in improvements on the parsonage, painting the kitchen, and papering the house throughout.

Our Sunday schools are doing nicely. I think that our enrollment is larger than our church membership; and at one of the appointments our membership is working in a Baptist school.

We have the best attended midweek meetings I have ever been in. At one church, with a membership of 50, we have an attendance from 40 to 60 on our Wednesday night services, and about the same at our other prayer meetings.

I have three meetings arranged with Brothers D. L. Griffin, G. D Anders, and T. W. St. John, to assist We are hoping for great revivals.

Fraternally,

W. E. AKIN.

TOPIC FOR JUNE 10.—HOW CAN WE BECOME TRULY EDUCATED?

Prov. 4:1-9; Acts 22:3, 12-16.

Daily Bible Readings.

M. Knowledge Brings Success. Josh. 1:8.

T. Knowledge Brings Responsibility. Luke 12:47, 48.

W. All-Round Development. Luke 2:51-52.

T. The Beginning of Wisdom. Ps. 111:10.

F. A Rule to Follow. Prov. 3:7.

S. The Goal of True Education. Ps. 144:12.

Purpose of the Meeting.

To show what true education is and the possibility of its attainment by every individual.

Planning the Program.

Get the pastor to help in your plans for this program. Let it be in charge of members of your Chapter who are at home from college. The League room may be decorated with college pennants. Order catalogues from the various colleges near you. Find out what opportunities they offer for those who wish to earn a part of their expenses. Get in touch with the extension department of your State university and find what courses are offered by correspondence for those who cannot go to college, but who may yet desire to get the benefits of correspondence work.

For Discussion.

College training and efficiency.

How education broadens the sympathies.

The educated heart.

Is an education in reach of all?

Quotations.

A man is not educated until he has the ability to summon, in case of emergency, all his essential power in vigorous exercise to effect his object.—Webster.

The college ideal is to give a boy an opportunity to do for himself the best he can do; also to do for each student the best that can be done; and to give all possible to the poorest student.—James L. Hill.

THE DOUBLERS DOUBLING.

Less than ONE-HALF of the women in the world have never heard the gospel or enjoyed one single benefit or blessing which comes with this message.

Less than ONE-FIFTH of the women and children of your church are interested enough in the Christless lives to take advantage of the opportunity which the missionary society affords for carrying the message to them.

Won't your society do its part toward speeding the messengers by doubling its membership? If you will join the Doublers write to the Organization Secretary, Lambuth Building, Nashville, Tenn., and tell her you are in, she will have some leaflets sent to you and will give you every possible help in reaching the goal.—Bulletin.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Baton Rouge, La., May 5, 1923.

My Dear Mrs. Niebergall: Well, I am sorry you could not be with me in my district meeting this year, for I had the best program I have ever had; but it is discouraging when so few of the Auxiliaries send delegates. St. Francisville, Kentwood, Amite, Franklinton, Ponchatoula, Covington, Mount Herman, Natalbany (new), Gilead, and Istrouma did not send representatives. It is distressing. Gilead and Istrouma are dead, I think. I am about to decide that the trouble with Baton Rouge District is that they do not attend the State and district meetings.

Thank you for the paper on the Council meeting. Mrs. Darby had given us an excellent account of it, so did not repeat.

I wish that some plan might be presented to us to get a good representation of Baton Rouge District at Bogalusa.

JESSIE M. STEARNS.

Dear Mrs. Darby: My district meeting is over and we had a real good meeting—eleven out of eighteen Auxiliaries were represented; five out of eight Juniors on Junior night, with 41 members there, all out of town, and one out of two Young People. We have the prospect of one new Young People and one new Adult; also one new Adult this quarter reported at Vinton.

The Junior Rally was splendid. Those Juniors did splendidly. I was surely proud of them. Then Mrs. Stockwell gave such an interesting talk to them about "Jumbo" and her African work.

ABUNDANT IN LABORS.

Dear Brethren: The Lord helped me to build two churches last year and reinstate one old one. A revival was held at each location. I would like to be the means of building four this year and reinstating two or three, and put life in several that are going down. As yet, there have been only two places assigned me. Any pastor or presiding elder having a location of that kind may communicate with me. By so doing you will help me to do the work the Lord has assigned me to do.

Yours sincerely in the Master's service,

J. C. SUTTON.

BUILDING FOR HIM.

An old man traveling a lone highway,
Came at the evening, cold and gray,
To a stream deep and wide.
The old man crossed in the twilight dim—
The sullen stream had no fear for him;
He turned when he reached the other side,
And builded a bridge to span the tide.

"Old man," cried a fellow-pilgrim near,
"You are wasting your strength by building here;
Your journey will end with the ending day,
You never again will pass this way,
You have crossed the stream deep and wide,
Why build a bridge at eventide?"

The builder raised his old gray head:
"Good friend, on the path I have come,
There followeth after me to-day
A youth whose feet must pass this way.
This stream, which has been as naught to me,
To that fair-haired youth may a pitfall be.
He, too, must cross in the twilight dim.
Good friend, I am building this bridge for him."

Was Benefited by the Good Her Mother Got from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my little girl was born, and the effect it had was wonderful. This will be the first child I have nursed, as I had to bring my two boys up on the bottle. I was very nervous and worried, tired all the time, and after I read about the Vegetable Compound I tried it and kept on with it. I still continue its use and recommend it to my friends. You may publish these facts as a testimonial for your medicine."—Mrs. WM. KLINGE, 169 Plymouth St., Pittsburgh, Pa.

It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one. Many mothers are left in a weakened and run-down condition after the birth of the child, and for such mothers the care of the baby is well-nigh impossible. Not only is it hard for the mother, but the child itself will indirectly suffer.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for the mother at this time. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and does not contain any harmful drugs. It can be taken in safety by the nursing mother.

FROM DURANT, MISS.

There has just closed here a revival conducted by Rev. Geo. Tucker, of Memphis, one of the general evangelists of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. The services were held in the Methodist church. Rev. R. P. Neblett, the pastor, began the services several days before the arrival of the visiting minister and his musical director, R. E. Turbevill, of Jasper, Ala.

The meeting was in progress for more than two weeks and much interest was shown by all the people of the community, regardless of denomination. For the day service, the stores, offices, and business houses were closed from 10 to 11 o'clock each morning, except Saturday, giving every one an opportunity to attend; and visitors from nearby towns, as well as travelers from several States, were present in many of the services.

Cottage prayer meetings were held in five sections of the city, at 3 o'clock each afternoon, for the ladies; the girls met after school at 3:30 at different homes; the boys held a prayer meeting in the Methodist church, led by Mrs. G. R. Bennett; and store meetings were held each afternoon at 4 o'clock, attended by more than 100 men.

The Dixie Theatre was crowded each Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when Dr. Tucker preached to many who did not have an opportunity to attend the services held in the church. The proprietors, Walter Odom, Sr., & Sons, of the Dixie Theatre, canceled the motion pictures for the period of the two weeks the meeting was in progress so that they, as well as others, might have a chance to go to church.

A large class was received into the church at the 11 o'clock hour Sunday, more than twenty of whom came in on profession of faith. One young man from Grand Rapids, Mich., who left his home and had been to Panama and was hoboing his way back north, fell into the hands of the officers, was taken hold of by personal workers, brought to church, gave his heart to God and joined the church. He was put in touch with his parents by the pastor, and money sent to pay his way "back to his father's house."

It was reported that out of an enrollment of about 200 in the Sunday school of the Methodist church, less than a half dozen pupils above the primary department were not church members; two of these are Intermediates and two in the young people's department.

Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, the church was packed to its capacity, when Rev. George Tucker preached a sermon to men only from the topic: "The Race Horse." At the same hour a service for women was conducted at the Presbyterian church, led by Mrs. R. P. Neblett.

REPORTER.

INDIAN BAYOU CHURCH NEWS.

The ladies of the Aid and the Missionary Societies are planning for a general shower for replenishing the parsonage, May 30 being the day. All of the friends of the church are asked to send in, or better, bring in, such things as they wish to contribute at this time.

A communion-cup-holder has been added to the church altar rail, and the ladies of the Missionary Society are considering padding the altar kneeling board and carpeting the pulpit, and all members interested are invited to help.

The newly installed Epworth League officers are as follows: Clyde Faulk, president; Cecil Henry, vice-president; Grace Perry, secretary; Miss Nita Dally, treasurer; Willa Mae Perry, Era agent; Gordy Morgan, choir director; Winnie Perry, organist; Ruth Lowrey, first department superintendent; Curtis Cady, second department; Clyde Dubose, third department; Sena Dally, fourth department. The president promises to see that all of these officers make good, and we are expecting something of them worth while.

Our Sunday school broke its attendance record on Mothers' Day, with 254 in the classes, besides those not counted. Those who have not been attending in the past are beginning to realize what they are missing, and new pupils are being added each Sunday. Mr. Joe Morgan will start Sunday to running his Moss school wagon, leaving Arthur Robideaux's at 9 o'clock, and coming to the church by Mr. Tom Perry's corner, and all along this route who wish to ride are invited to get in. Mr. W. G. Burke is also begining to run his auto passenger truck from Ridge each Sunday. Fill that up, too. If others will consider running conveyances, see the pastor or superintendent.

A recent Sunday School Workers' Conference planned to promote all pupils that are irregular in their grades, and to add classes both for young men and for young women. Also, the pastor was instructed to get Bibles to present to all of our pupils who graduate from either the High School or a college.

SHE EARNED $179.62 IN 17 WEEKS.

Brooklyn Woman Finds New Way of Turning Idle Hours Into Useful Dollars.

Rochester, N. Y., Special.—The report that by means of a remarkable Hand Knitting Machine, Mrs. E. Rosenbach, of Brooklyn, N. Y., has been earning an average of nearly eleven dollars a week in her spare hours at home, has been fully confirmed from the records of the Home Profit Hosiery Company of 863-W. Hudson Avenue, this city. It has also been established that any number of other women are earning all the way from three to ten dollars a week in the same simple way.

This company has established a market for large quantities of woolen socks and wants to secure several hundred more home workers who have a few hours to spare each week.

The socks are knitted on a remarkable hand-machine which is being furnished by the Home Profit people at a reduced price this month to stimulate the output of socks.

Those who wish to be the first in their localities to engage in this work should write for the extremely liberal offer which the Home Profit Hosiery Company is making. It is said that those who apply before July first will receive the benefit of this reduced price.—Adv.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

JUSTICE—NOT MERE SENTIMENT.

We should not forget that the special effort in behalf of our superannuated preachers is based upon simple justice and not merely upon sentiment. It is, of course, a movement that does appeal strongly to the tenderest emotions of which the heart is capable, and it is not out of place to appeal to those emotions; but the fundamental appeal is to the sense of justice that is not willing for these men who have given their lives for the welfare of society to spend their declining years in want.

The proposition, it seems to us, reduced to its simplest terms, is simply this: These men are justly entitled to adequate provision for their needs in old age, since they were never engaged in a gainful occupation, but gave all their strength to the upbuilding of the church and the Kingdom of God; the church is abundantly able to make such provision—it should have made it long ago; in this special effort, every member of the church should feel the strongest impulse of duty to do all he can to make the movement a success.

In this connection, we would call special attention to the indefatigable labors of the secretary of the Board of Finance, Dr. Luther E. Todd, to get this matter squarely upon the conscience of the church, and to the page in the Advocate that is devoted every week to the presentation of some phase of this special cause. The entire fund asked for—and a surplus—will be pledged at the time appointed if all our people will inform themselves concerning the matter.

A WORLD CONFERENCE ON FAITH AND ORDER.

A World Conference on Faith and Order will meet in Washington, D. C., on the first Monday in May, 1925. Practically all the Protestant denominations of the world will be represented in the Conference, the Roman Catholic Church, as might be expected, declining to have any part in it. The purpose of the gathering is expressed in the statement issued by the Continuation Committee, appointed at a similar meeting held in Geneva, Switzerland, in 1920, as follows: "We believe that the time has now arrived when representatives of the whole family of Christ, led by the Holy Spirit, may be willing to come together for the consideration of questions of Faith and Order. We believe, further, that all Christian communions are in accord with us in our desire to lay aside self-will, and to put on the mind which is in Christ Jesus our Lord. We would heed this call of the Spirit of God in all lowliness, and with singleness of purpose. We would place ourselves by the side of our fellow-Christians, looking not only on our own things, but also on the things of others, convinced that our one hope of mutual understanding is in taking personal counsel together in the spirit of love and forbearance. It is our conviction that such a Conference for the purpose of study and discussion, without power to legislate or to adopt resolutions, is the next step toward unity."

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., is the representative of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, on the Continuation Committee, and Rev. Forrest J. Prettyman, D.D., and Judge Samuel B. Adams are the members of the Commission appointed to represent our church at the Conference.

WE SHALL SEE.

At its first annual meeting, held in March of this year, the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., adopted some resolutions which ought to mean much for the elevation of the standards of the motion picture industry; we shall see whether they do or not. One of the "Whereases" preceding the resolutions definitely recognizes the responsibility of the industry itself for the character of the pictures produced, and the resolutions themselves declare "that this Association and every member of it hereby reaffirms the determination 'to establish and maintain the highest possible moral and artistic standards in motion picture production as well as the entertainment value and the general usefulness of the motion picture.'" The resolutions also declare that every effort will be made to induce those companies which are not members of the Association to conform to those standards. If the Association is sincere in its expressions and if it has the ability to carry its resolutions into effect, we ought soon to see a marked improvement in the character of the pictures now being offered the public.

SOME SOCIAL STATISTICS.

The editor of the American City Magazine has recently compiled and made public some statistics which throw light upon some of the social problems with which we are called upon especially to deal to-day. Some of these figures are as follows:

Ten years ago, the city management form of government was a new idea in the United States; to-day, there are city manager charters in force in 225 municipalities, while 79 other cities have appointed city managers by ordinance.

In 1890, there was only one publicly operated playground in this country; there are now more than 500 where work is being carried on under paid leadership.

In 1901, the average expectation of life at birth was 49.2 years; in 1910, it was 51.5 years; in 1920, it was 54.3 years.

The estimated number of deaths from automobile accidents in the United States for 1922 was 12,000—an increase of 10,000 over the figures for 1911. The fatalities in 1920 from all kinds of accidents are estimated at 76,000.

In commenting upon the situation as shown by these and other figures, the editor of the American City Magazine says: "The good old American principle of individual liberty becomes an immoral principle unless exercised with due regard to the similar rights of other individuals; and while we may not be able to make people moral by law, we can by law prevent them in some respects from being immoral. * * * One of the most discouraging facts in our civic and religious life is the disproportionately large expenditure on charities and correction for the failing or fallen as against constructive methods to prevent the continued production of human wreckage." This pertinent comment may be summed up in the old adage, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

MILLSAPS COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT.

It was our pleasure to attend a part of the exercises of the thirty-first commencement occasion of Millsaps College, Jackson, Miss. Unfortunately, we were not able to be present on Sunday, to hear the sermons by Dr. A. F. Smith and Rev. J. Loyd Decell, but the reports we heard of them indicated that they were most inspiring and helpful; neither were we able to be present for the oratorical contests, which, we understand, were well worth hearing.

We reached Jackson on Monday afternoon, in time to spend some hours on the campus, which has become a thing of beauty, and to attend the business meeting and banquet of the Alumni Association in the evening. It was only when we visualized the changes that have taken place in the college community that we could fully realize that it has been twenty-four years since we experienced the thrill of graduation from this noble institution. Not a member of the faculty is there now that we knew in those days; nearly all the present buildings have come into being since then, even the Main Building having taken the place of the old one destroyed by fire; the mere saplings of the campus have become beautiful and stately trees; six generations of students have come and gone. The president's home, the "shacks," and the Science Building are about all that remain to remind us of our own student days. However, the same atmosphere is there, and the same spirit, and an air of expectancy that promises well for a progressively greater school as the years go by.

It was a happy afternoon we spent, strolling over the campus and sitting under the shade of the trees, in company with Barney Eaton, Billy

THE BISHOPS' MEETING

By Bishop W. F. McMurry.

What is set down below is on my own responsibility. The official report of the meeting of the Bishops will be made as usual by the Secretary. It has occurred to me that some of your readers might be interested in some observations made by myself, and I am, therefore, without request from any source, dictating the following:

The Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, held their spring meeting April 27th-May 1st, assembling at 10:00 o'clock in the Bishops' Room of the Publishing House in Nashville, Tennessee. Bishop W. A. Candler presided over the sessions, which continued regularly twice a day, with the exception of Sunday, until Monday afternoon, the 30th. It was good to assemble once more in the comfortable and convenient "Bishops' Room" in the Publishing House, provided by the courtesy of the Book Committee and the Publishing Agents. Each Bishop has a comfortable chair and a table with drawer to hold his books and papers, thus enabling him to participate in the work of the meeting without inconvenience and confusion. The Bishops' Room has been used by the Bureau of Specials during the Centenary period.

On Tuesday morning, May 1, the Bishops met in joint session with the Bishops of the Colored M. E. Church, for the purpose of considering the educational interests of that church in so far as the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is, or proposes to relate itself thereto. This, I believe, is the first time the Bishops of the two churches named have met in joint session. There was much talk. It is believed that conclusions were reached that will result in the improvement of the educational program of our colored brethren.

The Bishops also met by special appointment in memorial session on Wednesday, May 2d, at 1:30 p.m. On the request of Bishop Candler, the writer of these notes presided and conducted the devotional exercises. Bishop Candler read the memoir of Bishop Kilgo, and Bishop Mouzon read the memoir of Bishop R. G. Waterhouse. These papers were tender tributes, discriminating and appreciative estimates of these saintly men and ministers who have been called to their reward. They will be greatly missed by their colleagues.

All of the Bishops were present except Bishop E. R. Hendrix and Bishop W. B. Beauchamp. Bishop Beauchamp was detained in Europe on account of the serious illness of his son, William. His report was presented through Bishop Candler and revealed satisfactory progress in the work of the important fields he is superintending. The absence of Bishop Hendrix, the only superannuated Bishop, was noted by his colleagues, who directed that suitable greetings be sent him.

Early in the meeting a committee of three was appointed to give information from time to time during the meeting to the reporters of the Secular Press and according to the judgment of the committee. This secured a satisfactory report of the several sessions in the daily papers of Nashville.

The Bishops absent from the fall meeting of 1922—Atkins, DuBose, Ainsworth and Darlington—reported at some length their respective districts, and special attention was given to the hearing of the reports from the Bishops in charge of the foreign fields—Bishops Hay, Dobbs, Cannon, and Boaz.

A communication from Dr. John W. Shackford, Secretary of the Sunday School Board, outlining the policies of the Board, was read and each Bishop provided with a copy. The Bishops recorded their appreciation of this information from the Sunday School Department.

Lamar and Barton, Treasurers of the Episcopal Fund, filed a report of that fund for the information of the Bishops, which was referred to a committee of two.

The plan of Episcopal visitation was adopted without debate, and is the same as last year. There seemed to have been little expectation from any source that there would be any changes in the assignments of the Bishops. I did not receive a single letter concerning the assignment of any one of my colleagues. This has not happened hitherto. Sometimes the communications pro and con are numerous.

There was a warm contest for the fall meeting of the Bishops. Owensboro, Ky., Gulfport, Miss., Greensboro, N. C., Baltimore Md., and San Antonio, Texas, requested the privilege of entertaining it. San Antonio, Texas, was selected, and the date of the meeting fixed for December 14-17.

The resignation of Judge C. B. Ames, formerly of Oklahoma City, Okla., and now of New York City, a member of the Commission on Constitution, was accepted, he having moved out of the territory of our Church. Mr. W. G. M. Thomas, alternate, was named to take his place on the Commission.

I presented, as Bishop in charge of the St. Louis Conference, the annual report of the Board of Trustees of Barnes Hospital, and told something of the work of the Chaplain, Rev. A. F. Smith, D. D., of this great institution.

Rev. Stonewall Anderson, D. D., Secretary of the Board of Education, and Rev. H. H. Sherman, his assistant, presented to the Bishops some plans from the Board of Education concerning the work of collecting the Educational pledges. The nature of these plans will doubtless be given to the Church by the Secretaries of the Board of Education.

A committee of three was appointed to prepare an Address to the Church. This committee reported, and with very slight verbal change, the Address was adopted by unanimous vote, and will reach the Church by way of the Church papers.

Rev. Luther E. Todd, D. D., of the Board of Finance, appear before the Bishops on Monday morning, and presented plans for the special effort provided for by the last General Conference in the interest of superannuate endowment. The Bishops heard Dr. Todd with interest, and, by unanimous vote, endorsed his plans and agreed to do all things that he requested of them. Dr. Todd arranged for the Bishops to go to a local photographer and have their pictures made, thus enabling him to prepare a group portrait of the present College of Bishops for distribution in the Church as a part of his plan of campaign.

Rev. W. A. Shelton, D. D., of Emory University, was elected fraternal delegate to the next General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The preliminary balloting indicated that there are several brethren in our Church who, in the judgment of some of the Bishops, are prepared for this important and delicate responsibility.

I presented to the Bishops a letter from the Secretary of War, Honorable J. W. Weeks, requesting me to come to Washington, June 6-8, and sit in a conference called to consider the religious life and work of Chaplains of the Army, and the Bishops, by formal vote, authorized me to discharge this duty as their representative.

A resolution of sympathy for Mrs. R. S. Munger, of Birmingham, Alabama, and of appreciation of the numerous gifts to the Church by her late husband, was adopted by unanimous vote.

The Bishops adopted a paper on the subject of the "time-honored and universally-accepted doctrines of our Methodism" calling attention to the fact that "there continues in some sections of the Church hurtful agitation on the subject of the doctrinal teachings of some of our preachers and and teachers at home and in the foreign fields, causing confusion, discouragement and divisions among our people, and resulting, in some cases, in the repudiation of financial obligations already made and in defeating in some degree the evangelistic program of the Church." The paper provided for the appointment of a committee to present the matter to the Board of Missions, Secretaries of the Board of Missions, the Committee on Candidates, and the active heads of our schools and institutes. It urged that great care be exercised in selecting men and women for the work of the mission fields and especially on the points of doctrinal soundness, personal experience and fidelity to the Church. It strongly recommended that any missionaries who may find themselves out of harmony with the doctrines and polity of the Church and are unable to accept the doctrinal statement of the last General Conference, be discontinued as representatives of the Church on the mission fields. It also emphasized the importance of looking carefully into the doctrinal and experimental soundness of teachers in our schools and institutes. I prepared this paper and was joined in presenting it by Bishops S. R. Hay, James E. Dickey, Hoyt M. Dobbs and H. M. DuBose. It was unanimously adopted by the Bishops. The committee called for, consisting of Bishops Candler, Denny, and McMurry, presented the paper to the Board of Missions on the afternoon of May 2d, and, by unanimous vote, it was heartily concurred in and approved.

The following books were selected as a post graduate course of reading for our preachers: Early Church History, by Gwatkin; The Originality of the Christian Message, by Mackintosh; Personality, Human and Divine, by Illingsworth; the Glory of the Ministry, by Robertson.

No decisions of law were presented. It speaks volumes for a Church that can go through a year of administration without having presented to the president of any Annual Conference a single question of law for decision. This tells of peace, harmony and progress.

This, to my mind, was one of the most satisfactory meetings of the Bishops that it has been my privilege to attend. Many important and delicate questions were discussed, the work of the Church reviewed, and I doubt not that every one of the general superintendents in attendance went from the meeting better prepared to meet the responsibilities and discharge the duties of his office because of this important meeting.

The year closing with April 30th has been a busy one with me. I have been at home 61 days and absent from home doing the work assigned me 304 days. I record my gratitude to God for abundant health, traveling mercies, hospitable homes where I have rested, and unnumbered expressions of love and appreciation on the part of the people and preachers among whom I have the honor to labor.

SHALL WE COLLECT THE COLLECTIONS?

By Rev. J. B. Cain.

There is no expression more familiar in Methodist language than "Conference Collections." The importance of these offerings cannot be overestimated, for without them there can be no connectional Methodism.

And yet the name is something of a misnomer, for the "Collections" are never collected in full over the church generally. The Mississippi Conference during the past quadrennium paid only seventy-five per cent of her connectional assessment and lacked nearly $100,000 of meeting her obligations to these causes. What the other Conferences lacked I do not know. I'm not confessing their sins anyway.

The probable reason for our failure in this respect is not hard to find. We have not held up to our people generally the notion that these claims not only ought to be but can be paid in full. The people either do not or will not see their obligation. Much emphasis has been placed on the necessity of adequate support of the ministry, and this is well, for we all know that their pay is still too meager. And yet surely we ought not to discriminate against our connectional work in favor of the ministry. In 1901 we paid 85% of our pastors' salaries and 85% of our Conference assessments. In 1921, after twenty years of education of the matter of stewardship, we paid 70% of our Conference assessments and 95% of our pastors' salaries! One charge has increased the pastor's salary 250% since I have been in the Conference, and has paid it in full, and yet during that time has paid less than 60% of its other assessments. During the last quadrennium we paid 70% of our connectional assessments and 96% of our pastors' salaries. Such things, my brethren, ought not to be. Special causes during the quadrennium have held the attention of our people, and worthily so, but less time and opportunity have been given for discussing our regular work.

The benefits of paying our "collections" in full are obvious. In the first place, it will help the causes to which these offerings go. Our failure to pay that $100,000 must have seriously handicapped our work in every field in which we operate. It means that our superannuated ministers in this Conference failed to receive $15,000 due them, the men on mission charges $9,000, our church schools $10,000, and so on. Then, payment in full of our regular collections will help all special causes. I have no doubt but that the reason we are so far behind with our Centenary and Education pledges is because the church has not developed a spirit of meeting all obligations in full. Then, it would help the preacher, for very few official boards would allow their pastor to report his collections in full and his salary unpaid. It has been done, but seldom. Then, finally, it will help the spirit and morale of the church itself.

Can it be done, and if so, how? I think it can, but not so easily as platform speakers lead us to believe. There are three things that will be necessary before every charge will report its connectional assessments in full. First, there must be a determination on the part of somebody that it shall be done. Preferably it will be the pastor, but it may be the charge lay leader, the board of stewards, the district lay leader, or the presiding elder. Second, there must be an equitable distribution by the district stewards to the charges. How this will be determined I do not know, though I think perhaps the method used by the North Mississippi Conference—assessing three-fourths of the amount on the basis of pastors' salaries and one-fourth on the number of members—is the best of all. I suppose we have a fair distribution now, but we have not always had it. The two following comparisons are taken from the Minutes of 1921. The charges compared have about the same number of members. The figures on the left are pastors' salaries and on the right Conference assessments:

|---|---|
| $1,500 | $515 |
| 1,000 | 600 |
| 800 | 674 |
| 800 | 343 |

Finally, everybody must help. Most of the failure comes on poor and unorganized charges, and young and inexperienced ministers are not to blame for it. Admission into the Mississippi Conference is not conditioned on business experience and ability, else some of us could not have entered. We need help and always appreciate it when given. More than that, we have a right to it. If the cause of missions, as represented in the Centenary, is of sufficient importance to call a bishop back from the Orient and every other bishop from foreign lands, and it is, then surely the cause of missions presented in another way is of sufficient importance for the presiding elder, district lay leader, and the bishop, wherever possible, to go to every church in their territory and present the regular causes of the church. Why should not the evangelists in their meetings, and all connectional men in their rounds, give some attention to the subject? If no one except the pastor ever mentioned the subject of the Centenary or Christian Education, and no one spoke to him about it outside his charge, how much money would we have collected for these causes? And yet I recall a year when that was my experience with reference to my connectional assessments.

You will note that I have said nothing of the method to be used. Most any method will do if used under the above conditions. The budget is preferable, provided, of course, that we are honest and divide the money collected on a pro rata basis. We have an increased assessment this year, and I covet for this Conference that it shall be paid in full.

A SLIGHT ERROR.

In a very fine article by Arthur Madison Shaw, in the Advocate of May 24, I find this statement: "Contrary to a popular notion, no theory of evolution teaches that man descended from an ape." My Brother Shaw is very certainly mistaken. In Darwin's Descent of Man, second edition, pages 220, 221, I find these words: "The Simiadae then branched off into two great stems, the New World and the Old World monkeys; and from the latter, at a remote period, man, the wonder and glory of the universe, proceeded." Again, on page 613: "Man, as I have attempted to show, is certainly descended from some ape-like creature." A like statement occurs on page 196. Absurd as the theory is, Mr. Charles Darwin most assuredly taught it. It is getting to be quite the fashion for Evolutionists to make this statement that our brother repeats, copying, I presume, from some evolutionist.

Why do these so-called "learned men" insist on making this statement, when it is utterly without foundation? Are they shamed to confess such an ancestry? Their pet theory involves it even if Darwin, the father of the evolution theory, had not so stated it. The ape is highest in the brute ranks; if man came from the brute ranks, he must of necessity have come in regular order through the ape branch. Mr. Darwin saw this and confessed it. His followers need not try to evade the issue. My contention about the origin of man has high authority. "Thou (God) hast made him but little lower than God, and crownest him with glory and honor." Psa. viii.5. R. V. I am sure my Brother Shaw agrees with me.

IS THE PILOT ABOARD?

By Wm. C. Allen.

We had been almost one month on the ship between Sydney, Australia, and Durban, South Africa. There had been a few stormy days—most of them had been clear and sunny. The waters had never been altogether still. The huge rollers out of the south swung our big vessel from side to side as they marched on their long, long course from the Antarctic toward India. There had been gaiety on board—mirth, song and sports. There had been sorrow in our midst—anxieties, illnesses, fears. A poor, despairing greman had jumped overboard the night before we called at Durban. I think all were glad because our destination would be reached on the morrow.

The following morning land was sighted. Those of the keenest vision saw it first—the misty headlands slowly taking form out of the restless sea. Then the engines ceased their rhythmic pounding, and silence almost reigned whilst the pilot climbed the shaky ladder and walked up to the bridge, where he took command. We knew that he would guide the "Ulysses" through the dangerous channel into the still waters of the harbor, now so close to view. Soon our ship gathered headway and resumed her course.

The entrance to the harbor of Durban is an unusually difficult one. Two long breakwaters extend out into the ocean and the distance between the outside ends is not much more than a good-sized ship's length. The immense swells—peculiar to the vast southern ocean—crash with imperious violence against the rocks placed by the hands of men to halt their progress. The breakers, the morning I speak of, must have been twenty feet high—the glistening white spray was flung a hundred feet or more into the air. Our ship, like a great cork, rose and sank in the tumultuous sea. We made directly for the narrow opening. At times it seemed as if we would be tossed on to the cruel rocks of the breakwaters, but, no! The pilot was in command, he was acquainted with every danger, he knew the ground and sea to the very inch. At each critical moment we were guided into the deeper water, and in a few minutes were in the quiet harbor, where no storm could harm us and perfect safety was secured.

As I leaned on the rail and watched the ship rise and fall whilst adventuring the narrow channel, my mind reverted to the analogy between men finding perfect refuge from the ever changing sea and the triumphant termination of the Christian life. How similar they are! The follower of Jesus, like all men, has a mixed experience as, day by day, he journeys toward the celestial port—the acme of his religious idealism, the ultimate achievement of his spiritual hope and joy. His life is made of sunny days and cloudy days; there are periods of distress and storm; there is mingled gaiety and tragedy, but he voyages on until his destination—the better country—is attained. The hour that death shall overtake us is generally in the plentitude of divine mercy hidden from our eyes. Sometimes the shores of eternity are seen a long distance before we reach them, and the beautiful haven is only approached through the agonies and tossings of suffering and tears. Sometimes the thick mists that surround us, in our everyday human experiences, shield us from realizing that suddenly—as lightning from a stormy sky—we shall be called into the unsullied presence of God.

Be all this as it may, the paramount question must be answered by each of us—are we ready? Is the pilot aboard? Have we taken Jesus into our confidence? Do we permit him to steer our little vessels according to his complete knowledge of our material and spiritual needs and of the seen and unseen dangers that encompass us? If so, all shall be well. With him controlling the wheel of our destiny, no hidden rocks can wreck us, no seas of misfortune can engulf us. Soon, at the longest, we shall look back upon the fierce waters that have beaten upon us and rejoice in the ineffable glory of the heavenly harbor—we shall be glad in the infinite expansion of eternal service and love!

Africa, 1923.

The cause that cannot fail wins through suffering. If you want a world of light and no darkness, all calm and no storm, all peace and no strife, all life and joy and no sorrow and death, this is no world for you, and I have not a word to say to you this morning. But if you are willing to take this world as we find it, a vast and mysterious compound of light and darkness, calm and tempest, peace and strife, life and love and joy; death and loss and sorrow, then I call upon you to come and take your place here. Help God to remake the world. Here is your place, here is your cause, and that cause cannot fail.—George A. Gordon.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Ruston District.

The people of the Homer church, while waiting with anticipation for the new church building, are busy getting their organizations ready for their new rooms; especially is this true of the Men's Bible Class. They have set as their goal 100 members by the time the new building is ready. Brother A. E. Dewees is the teacher of this class, and Rev. R. W. Tucker, the pastor, is rejoicing over their success.

On the 27th of May we held the last quarterly conference of the second round at Arizona. This old, historic church was well filled at 11 o'clock, and a good quarterly conference followed. We had services at Athens that evening. Brother Sheppard, the pastor, reported that he had planned the revival meetings, and also reported that the church at Athens was undergoing repairs.

* * *

Rev. S. S. Bogan, pastor of Gibsland charge, begins his first revival meeting on the 3rd of June. He is painstaking in his efforts, and prospects are good for a splendid year.

* * *

The contract has been let at Arcadia for the new church building. This is to be a modern structure of brick, with rooms for every department of church work. The pastor and people are rejoicing and looking forward to a splendid building in the near future.

* * *

Rev. J. F. Dring, our pastor on the Sibley circuit, has just closed a meeting at the Sibley church. He was assisted by Rev. H. T. Young, of De Ridder.

* * *

The second quarterly conference at Ringgold charge, notwithstanding it was at a busy time with the farmer, was a splendid service. The attendance was better than we had expected. The conference was held at Grand Bayou, the church of Rev. T. J. Martin, who for some years supplied works in our Conference. Brother Harper is encouraged with the outlook for the year.

* * *

Rev. W. C. Childress, the pastor at Minden, is engaged in revival services, doing his own preaching; the interest is fine, and the attendance has been beyond the most sanguine expectation.

* * *

The Dubach church is to be dedicated on the 10th of June, at 3 p. m. Bishop McMurry will preach and dedicate the church. Brother J. W. Faulk and his people are in preparation for this occasion.

* * *

Haughton and Doyline charge is moving on in good shape. The finances were well up. Brother Bennett has had sickness in his home and has been under a nervous strain for some months. He and his daughter have gone to Texas for a few weeks of rest. Arrangements have been made to fill his pulpit during his absence.

* * *

The second quarterly conference on the Wesley circuit was held at Holly Springs. The cooperation between pastor and people and the efforts they are putting forth will accomplish things on this work during the year.

* * *

Ruston is looking forward to the 10th of June as a great occasion. Bishop McMurry is to preach the commencement sermon for the Louisiana Polytechnic Institute on that day. Not only the Methodist people, but the entire community, are looking forward to this occasion.

* * *

Our district conference at Haynesville, 4th to the 6th of May, was well attended. All pastors, with the exception of two or three, were there. These absences seemed unavoidable. It was very gratifying to see the attendance of lay delegates, and the interest was splendid. Hence we had one of the best district conferences I have ever attended. I say this to the credit of pastors and lay delegates of the conference.

* * *

The district meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society, held at Ruston on the 15th and 16th of May, was a success. The different phases of the organizations and work were discussed by competent leaders, and all returned to their homes with determination for greater work. Mrs. Giles, as district secretary, is a thoroughly consecrated and competent leader.

Shreveport District.

The following items were reported at the second quarterly conference of First Church, by the pastor, Dr. Brooks:

Scarcely a service has been conducted this year when there have not been accessions to the church, there having been 256 additions since Annual Conference, making a total present enrollment of 2320. It would require a full column to recount the many activities of this great church.

Noel Memorial Church of Shreveport, under the leadership of Brother Holmes, continues to grow in numbers and interest. Up to the second quarterly conference on April 25, there had been 109 additions to the membership. The tenth anniversary of the church was observed on April 22. It is said to be the largest church of its age in the State. At the present rate of increase it will not be long before its membership reaches the 1000 mark.

* * *

The Methodist rally in Shreveport on Sunday, April 29, in the interest of Shreveport Church Extension, was a decided success. Dr. Selecman, of Dallas, delivered a thrilling and appropriate message on "The Enduring Church" and a collection was taken amounting to nearly $8000, to be paid during the present year. Effort is being made to increase this amount to $10,000.

* * *

Rev. W. E. Thomas recently assisted Rev. H. L. Johns in a revival meeting in Cedar Grove that resulted in 80 accessions to the church. A careful survey of the territory was made beforehand and the sytematic information thus secured proved to be valuable help to a successful meeting. The interior of the church in Cedar Grove has been renovated and greatly improved in appearance. The exterior was painted also. A men's class that meets in the City Hall has been organized with Rev. W. F. Henderson, Sr., as teacher.

* * *

Brother Thomas has also assisted Brother Walton in a meeting at Texas Avenue, resulting in 20 accessions. A men's class in Carpenter's Hall has been organized by this church. The congregation is now negotiating for a change of location, the particulars of which will be given later.

* * *

A tabernacle has been built by volunteer help on the Bossier City church lot where a revival meeting will soon be held, and where the growing Sunday school will find additional room.

* * *

The presiding elder spent Sunday, May 27, at Beulah church, in Natchitoches Parish. This is one of the old country churches of North Louisiana. Rev. W. J. Porter, who is now gradually recovering his health, was present in the church of his childhood and took part in the services. The congregation in Pleasant Hill is planning to build a new church. Brother McCormack is holding a meeting for Brother Lay at that place.

* * *

Rev. A. W. Turner assisted Brother Dulaney in a good meeting at Greenwood. The condition of this charge is very prosperous.

* * *

The new church at Benton is rapidly approaching completion. The location has been changed to a lot in Main Street donated by Mrs. W. H. Scanland. The new church at Plain Dealing is also going forward.

* * *

A district Sunday school conference was held at Stonewall on May 19, at which the district organization was perfected.

* * *

The district conference of the Woman's Missionary Society at Belcher, on May 10, was a great success.

* * *

The town of Mooringsport has a beautiful outlook on Caddo Lake, our church having a picturesque site on the water front. Oil derricks in the water as far as eye can reach, mar to some extent the natural beauty. Our work there under Brother Reams is going steadily forward.

Plans have been completed for the opening of the Bob Jones meeting at Houston about July 1. The effort will be to reach the entire county.

* * *

Bishop Murrah will preach in Aberdeen on June 24, and dedicate the beautiful church here; from that date Dr. Ashley Chapell, of Asheville, N. C., will conduct a revival meeting, which will continue at least two weeks.

* * *

Plans have been perfected for the beginning soon of a revival at Pontotoc. Brother J. O. Haines, of Birmingham, will be the preacher.

* * *

On June 10, a revival meeting will be started at Amory. An evangelist from Florida will assist in this campaign.

* * *

The following charges have taken steps and have assurances that all Conference assessments will be paid in full: Aberdeen, J. E. Cunningham, pastor; Tupelo, J. A. Hall, pastor; Okolona, E. H. Cunningham, pastor; Pontotoc, W. H. Mounger, pastor; Amory, J. T. McCafferty, pastor; Houston, E. E. McKeithen, pastor; Prairie and Strong, D. W. Babb, pastor; Shannon and Nettleton, R. L. Collins, pastor; Eupora and Maben, W. B. Baker, pastor; Nettleton circuit, G. C. Gregory, pastor; Buena Vista, E. C. Driskell, pastor; Algoma, W. L. Atkins, pastor. There are not more than three appointments in the district which seem to be in the hopeless class at this time.

* * *

Rev. A. Y. Brown, son of Rev. S. A. Brown, who will "be up" for admission into the Conference at its next session, has been appointed to fill out the year begun by Brother Commander, who died a few weeks ago. He has made a fine start. He is a young man of much promise.

* * *

The Aberdeen District Conference will convene at Verona, June 19, at 2 o'clock p. m., and will close when all business has been finished on the 21st. The following committees are named:

License to Preach and Recommendation for Admission on Trial—E. E. McKeithen, W. B. Baker, J. A. Hall.

For Orders—W. H. Mounger, D. W. Babb, R. I. Collins.

It is desired that a full representation be present at the opening of the conference on the 19th. Reports from the pastors will be heard at the beginning. Let all who expect to attend the conference send their names to Rev. R. M. Evans, the pastor at Verona, in due time so that arrangements may be made for entertainment. This is important.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Greenville District.

The District Conference-Standard Training School was so markedly a success as to justify the dream of a more extended and better planned combination meeting another year. IT REALLY WORKED WELL.

* * *

Probably the most remarkable report made at the district conference was that of Rev. H. D. Suydam, pastor of the Boyle circuit—all assessments provided for, three new appointments, a live Epworth League, so complete a survey of the whole field as to enable the district conference intelligently to plan for the most definite and hopeful work. Hard work and "staying on the job" were evident elements of this man's success.

* * *

Rev. W. W. Mitchell, Cleveland, is still greatly handicapped in his work. His wife is still an invalid. Brother Mitchell's devotion to her is as beautiful as "love's young dream," nor is he less devoted to his work. Cleveland Methodism will neither fail nor falter under local pressure. The leaders are men who know how to fight and win.

* * *

The Evansville and Dubbs charge, under the leadership of Rev. J. J. Baird, is making a most remarkable record. A splendid people, devoted to their community life, loyal to their church, liberal with their money—they will be heard from at the approaching Conference in a most unmistakable way.

* * *

Glen Allen has thoroughly cleared the ground for the new church, are ready for action, and contemplate a great community revival in July. A tent will probably be used, and Rev. John W. Robertson will do the preaching. The Benoit end of this charge is "up and at it." A Bible class of more than fifty in action every Sunday, the whole community is feeling the impact of a new day.

* * *

Leland Methodism has formally adopted the "T-shaped church," making ample provision for their present and future needs in the way of a church. The contract will probably be let by the time this is in print, and they are putting enough money in the enterprise to make it a credit to the town, the church and the district.

* * *

Dr. C. M. Chapman, Shelby, will make an extended trip to the Holy Land this summer. He leaves June 25, returning early in September. His pulpit will be filled by the brethren during his absence. Shelby still enjoys the title given them last year, "The Wonder Charge of the Delta." No finer people in the State.

* * *

Rev. T. H. Mills, who gave up his work because of ill health, writes that he is improving slowly but surely. He now hopes to be able to take work again this fall. A live man, full of energy and push, Mills sets a pace hard to follow when he is normal. His many friends wish for him an early recovery, and a permanent one.

* * *

Rev. C. A. Parks has received two large classes into the church recently. Parks is in his fourth year in this growing charge, and this bids fair to be easily his banner year. Tunica Methodism is alive, awake, and going good.

* * *

A real vacation was unanimously voted the presiding elder at the recent district conference. The brethren even proposed to take first-class care of all the interests of the district for a month or more. This "elder" has never found a place and time for a vacation while serving a district. He may "shut his eyes" and take a "shot" at it this time. One thing is certain—no finer "bunch" of men in the Conference or connection than are found in the Greenville District. The district spirit is of the finest. The laymen are active, steady and reliable. In a ministry of more than thirty years I have never known so remarkable a revival spirit or so steady an ingathering. Good cheer, brotherly love, hearty co-operation, unselfish activity, increasing devotion to the cause of Christ, Sundays given to the Lord in reality, "breaking new ground" constantly—it is good to be living and working.

JAMES H. FELTS, P. E.

ITEMS FROM OUR HOME.

The Orphanage school at Ruston, La., closed a most successful year's work on May 25, and its commencement was the most beautiful in its history. In fact, no school in Ruston ever attempted a pageant as elaborate or as inspiring as the one entitled "Brotherhood," which was so successfully given by our children on this occasion.

The setting was among the trees and flowers on the lawn, and the costuming was carefully planned and most effective. Space forbids our going into detail, but the theme was so uplifting, every one present felt impressed with the message of love and brotherhood brought by the children in word and song.

The closing scene came to a most patriotic climax when a large flag (the gift to the children from their beloved friend, Mrs. O. E. Hodge) and the Christian flag were silently raised to the top of a newly erected flagpole. There they were caught by the breezes, and as the Stars and Stripes and the flag of Conquest rippled high in the air, the National Anthem was sung by the standing audience, who delighted in adding their voices to the children's in this closing song.

Our Four Graduates.

These children are being taught not only principles of right living, but also principles of patriotic citizenship.

The capable teachers in the Home are: Misses Leola Rodgers, Agatha Dodson, Olive Gunby, and Jewel Bond.

Another item of interest was the graduation of four of the girls from the Ruston High School on May 21. These were: Misses Pearl Lee, Vera Clingen, Charlie Mae Baldridge, and Nellie Reynolds. All graduated with honor, but from the large class of 58, Nellie Reynolds was chosen as class representative. Her valedictory was splendidly prepared and beautifully delivered.

The success of these girls is but another proof of the excellent work being done by the beloved superintendent, his wife, and their co-workers.

All honor to the Home that can rescue children from poverty and disease, and give them back to the church and the State, Christian citizens, who are equipped to serve.

Nowhere is the Home more honored or respected than in Ruston, and to show their love for the children, the Men's Bible Class of our church gave them a delightful picnic and auto ride last Saturday. Ice cream, pop, fruit, candies, galore added to the pleasure of all, and the children became dearer to these splendid men as they played and romped together.

May God continue to add his blessing to this noble work!

A FRIEND.

TO THE PASTORS OF THE SEASHORE DISTRICT.

Dear Brethren: I appeal to you one more time to please fill out the Centenary report cards furnished you for every church in your charge. It will cost you nothing. I cannot make out my report until I get them. So please let me have them, whether you put on the work or not, and greatly oblige,

Your Brother,
W. M. SULLIVAN, P. E.

COME ON, FOLKS.

There are two kinds of boosters in the world—the kind that use their lungs, and the kind that use their brains. The "lung" kind says, "Sic 'em," "go to it," while the brain kind says, "Come on." Now, there is a church in the Louisiana Conference that says: "COME ON WITH THE CONFERENCE ASSESSMENTS." The reason it can say this, is because it sent to the Conference Treasurer, on June 1, 1923, a check for the amount of $752, its total assessment. Do I hear you say, "Where is that church, and what is its name?" It is located in the little city on the west bank of the Ouachita river, and its name is the West Monroe Methodist Church. We are not tooting our own horn, but telling you where you can find some real boosters.

The Call of the Conference Claimants

EDITED BY LUTHER E. TODD, SECRETARY

Board of Finance, M. E. Church, South.

510-513 Security Building, St. Louis, Mo.

THE "FORGOTTEN MAN" CALLS TO THE LAY MEMBERS OF THE CHURCH.

After delivering an address to the Baltimore Conference concerning the coming special effort for superannuate endowment, I was approached by several prominent laymen who were disappointed that I had not emphasized more the work of lay members in connection with the movement. One of these brethren questioned me as follows: "Why do you insist so much upon a faithful co-operation by the preachers in this work and so little upon the co-operation of lay members?" I answered that in my judgment the active preachers of the Church must first be led to commit themselves unreservedly to the task; otherwise, no matter how enthusiastic the lay members may be, their enthusiasm would go for naught if they should be hindered by the indifference of preachers. My questioner asked further: "Do you intend at any time to impress the lay members with the fact that they, too, are responsible for the success of this movement?" I replied that in due time the desire of the Board of Finance for the whole-hearted co-operation of the preachers would be just as insistently impressed upon the lay members.

Help to Create an Atmosphere.—The special effort for superannuate endowment will be presented to the Annual Conferences this fall. The period of intensive publicity will begin on February 1, 1924, and continue for six weeks, culminating in Subscription Day and Follow-Up Week beginning March 16, 1924. However, lay members can begin immediately to make preparation for the great movement. Big things invariably come out of an atmosphere suited to bigness. It is not too early to begin now to create an atmosphere for the special effort for superannuate endowment. Lay members should begin such a program right now. In conversations, letters, addresses, etc., they should not fail as opportunity affords to establish the cause of the "forgotten man" in the thinking of the people. Much of this sort of thing is already being done by our lay members, but they should see to it that the creation of atmosphere by such processes becomes more and more intensive as the days go by. This program should be worked with such abandon that when the lay delegates attend the Annual Conferences this fall they will be so charged with enthusiasm for the special effort that they will provide inspiration and encouragement for the leaders of this sacred movement. It ought not to be necessary to spend much time at the Annual Conferences to create in lay members a proper interest in this subject, for they should be so stirred by its appeal as to shame any preachers who are laggards concerning it.

Say it in Testimonials.—Lay members should write the Board of Finance, Security Building, St. Louis, Mo., what they think on the subject of the special effort for superannuate endowment. During the past two or three months there have appeared on this page testimonials from bishops, connectional men, and pastors concerning the urge of adequate superannuate endowment. It would now be proper to publish such expressions of opinion by lay members. What do you think about it? What chance has the "forgotten man" in a special effort to raise funds in his behalf? Do you believe the Church will respond to such a call? Are you ready to get under a program of this character with determination to see it through to complete success? Is your conviction of the necessity in the case such that you are willing to impress it upon others? Write me what you think. If you want to object to something or suggest what you think is a better way, go ahead. Send in your objection or let us have your suggestion. Write a piece about the "forgotten man" as you see him. Send it to me. I want to know what you think. Please do not conclude that these words are written for lay members other than yourself; they are written for you. I am trying to tell you of something that you can do right now to help the cause that stirs your blood as nothing has ever done. Will you do it?

Make a List of Them.—There are thousands of men and women in our Church who are abundantly able to make very liberal contributions to superannuate endowment. One or more of these people can be found in every charge. I do not know them personally and probably will never have the pleasure of meeting them face to face. How shall we ever be able to cultivate such people, looking to have them make sizable contributions to this cause? You lay members know who these people are; you live among them; you rub elbows with them; you know their peculiarities and understand how best to aproach them on any subject. Now, if you really want to be busy at once doing something that will help the special effort for superannuate endowment, I suggest that you make a list of these people in your charge who can and ought to give big money when approached in behalf of the superannuates. When you have the names properly listed, they will be conveniently before you when the intensive publicity period begins, and it will then be an easy matter further to cultivate those whom you have listed in this class. If lay members have felt that the Board of Finance was not calling upon them for sufficient service, here is a task that looms big and is entirely worthy of their steel. The possibilities in this suggestion are measureless; and if they are grasped and used as they should be, there will come out of the special effort for superannuate endowment a greater number of large gifts than has come out of any other effort by the Church. Let it be so.

Annual Conference Pride.—Lay members are always especially interested in the Annual Conference to which they belong. In the special effort for superannuate endowment the money raised will be divided equally between the general fund and the Conference funds. Thus this movement makes it possible for every Annual Conference to have a worthy Superannuate Endowment Fund in trust with the Board of Finance. The size of your Conference fund will be determined by the manner in which the preachers and lay members of your Conference carry on the effort. If any preachers of an Annual Conference are slow to grasp every opportunity in this matter, the lay members should see to it that the movement shall not fail on account of such indifference. Decide now that your Annual Conference shall be among those at the top of the list when the returns are all in. Probably your Conference has for years been dabbling in a weak effort to secure a Conference Superannuate Endowment Fund and if the facts were all before you, the results coming out of it all would appear pitifully small. You are about to be faced with a real chance for your Conference fund. What will you do with it? Will you stand by with folded arms and let the opportunity slip by unnoticed?

Get Others to Do Likewise.—I have just received a letter from the chairman of a certain Conference Board of Finance. He writes that a prominent layman of a fair-sized city of our Church attended a meeting where he heard several addresses in the interest of our superannuated preachers. This layman was so impressed by what he heard that he decided to make an effort to give five per cent of his company's net earnings to the cause of superannuate endowment. When one prominent business man is interested in this cause to such an extent, lay members should be encouraged to find other business men who would be willing to show a similar interest. It is my opinion that it will not be very difficult to find other such men. Probably one is living and operating right now in your town. He is susceptible on any subject that appeals to his business judgment. If he has failed in the past to do something worth while for the superannuate cause, it was due to his lack of information concerning the needs of the superannuates. If he is informed of these needs, he will doubtless respond in a measure that will be just as heartening as the case cited above. What better work could a lay member do than to furnish the information required? If you do not have sufficient facts to use for this purpose, write to the Board of Finance, and I will send you an abundance of material. Just think what would happen if lay members all over the Church would perform this service? Even now not a day passes without news from some section of the Church concerning what some lay member has accomplished by giving service of this character. Think what would happen if lay members generally were giving themselves to such an effort!

THE LETTER JOE LOST.

Joe paused by the clump of lilac bushes and felt in his pocket for the letter which he had taken from the post office. It was not there! He dropped his handful of barberry sticks and a bunch of yellow cowslips beside the stone wall and hurriedly searched through all of his pockets. Then he started back toward the post office.

"Hello, Ed!" he cried, almost running into his chum. "Haven't found a letter, have you?"

"No, where'd you lose it?"

"If I knew, it wouldn't be lost, would it?" asked Joe, scornfully. "Come on back with me, Ed, and help find it."

"Grandpa would say you might as well look for a needle in a haystack," laughed Ed. "Why, Joe, we went down in Bard's meadow to pick cowslips, across the brook, and climbed Laurel Hill to get barberry wood for our bows and arrows, tried to catch that turtle down by the pond, and stopped to see Harry's puppies."

"That's so," agreed Joe, "and probably the wind has blown it away. But I'm going to look, anyway. I don't see how it ever got out of my pocket."

The two boys hastened back to the corner, where the little country post office occupied one corner of Beaman's grocery store. They asked all the children whom they met if they had found a letter. Then they visited the meadow, Laurel Hill, and the pond. It was getting late, and Joe had not been home from school.

"We may as well give it up, Ed," decided Joe at last. "I will go through Harry Marble's back yard, and if it isn't there I'll have to tell mother that I've lost it. I noticed it was from Avon. Aunt Annie often writes to mother, so I guess it wasn't very important."

"Well, you are foolish!" cried Ed. "Tell your mother and see what a lecture you'll get! I'd say nothing about it. 'Least said, soonest mended,' grandpa says."

"Perhaps you are right," replied Joe, doubtfully. "Telling mother won't help matters any. It is lost, and that's all there is about it."

Supper was waiting by the time Joe reached home.

"Where have you been, Joe?" asked his mother. "I was getting worried about you."

"Been cutting some sticks for arrows, stopped to see Harry's puppies, and picked these flowers for you," explained Joe.

"The flowers are bright and springlike, but remember that you must not loiter so long on your way from school," said mother, firmly.

Thoughts of the lost letter haunted Joe. Conscience kept whispering: "You ought to tell! You ought to tell!

"I hate the word 'ought,'" said Joe to himself. He ate very little supper.

"Are you sick, Joe?" asked his mother, anxiously.

"Well, I don't feel real well," admitted Joe.

"You have been playing around the ponds and damp places. If you are not careful, you will get sick."

After supper, Billy Thurston ran over and invited him to ride to Brocton in his uncle's automobile. But mother said, "No," very decidedly, and a sober-faced Joe went very slowly upstairs to bed.

Two weeks later, Joe's mother was mending his school coat. Something made a crackling noise inside the lining as she was sewing up a hole in the pocket.

Reaching in, she pulled out the letter for which Joe had searched.

"Come here, Joe," she called, after she had read the letter. "Did you take this from the post office?"

"Yes'm. Who found it? I thought it was lost, and it wouldn't do any good to tell you," stammered Joe, looking red and confused.

"I found it," replied his mother. "You slipped it into a hole in the lining instead of into your pocket. You should have told me about it."

"But it wouldn't have been found any sooner, mother," argued Joe.

"I might have thought to look in the lining. Your father lost his latch key that way once. After he got a ladder and climbed into one of the windows, he found the key hidden in his coat lining. But if you had told me that you had lost a letter from Aunt Annie, I should have written to her at once. I am sorry, Joe, but keeping a secret from mother has cost you a week's pleasure. Auntie's letter was an invitation for you to spend your vacation week in Avon. Cousin Richard had a birthday party on the fifteenth. It was not wrong to lose the letter, for accidents will happen, but you did wrong in not telling mother at once."

Joe looked ready to cry. It was a keen disappointment.

"Uncle Frank has a new atuomobile, and Richard's party was sure to be a good one. School begins Monday, and it's all over," he said, slowly. "I'm sorry I did not tell you all about it, mother. I might have known you would plan some way to make it all right."

That night Joe told the rest of the lost-letter story to his chum.

"Just think of all the fun I lost by being afraid to tell my mother. Say, Ed," he concluded, "I've made up my mind that it does not pay for a fellow to keep any secret from his mother."—Nellie M. Leonard, in Exchange.

THE ACORN CHAIR.

Baby was sitting in her little new oak chair she had gotten for her birthday.

"When that little chair was an acorn it never, never, would have dreamed that some day a little red-headed girl would sit in it," I said to her.

Baby's eyes popped wide open.

"An acorn? My chair an acorn?" She looked at me and laughed, for, you see, she thought it was a joke.

"Yes; that chair was an acorn once," I repeated, "and I'll just give you a history of that chair's life, for it has lived a long, long time, though not always as a chair, it is true.

"One day an acorn fell from an oak tree to the ground, and was buried under some leaves, and bless you, it took root!

"Then it did just like it was a seed, and it began to grow and grow and grow, till it was a tree.

"A great big oak tree it was then, not an acorn any longer, and it had taken a great many years, too, to grow to be such a tree.

"It was such a fine tree, some men admired it one day and what do you think they did?"

Baby shook her head.

"Why, they cut it down and hauled it off to a saw mill. Then this tree was cut up and sawed into lumber.

"So you see, it wasn't a tree any longer, but now it was lumber, and it was shipped to a factory.

"Then at this factory it was cut and sawed and hammered and glued, till it wasn't lumber any more, but a dear, comfortable little chair!

"It took yet another trip, and was sent to the store here, where your father bought it for you, and here you sit in it!"

"My! all the names and trips this chair had before it was a chair!" said Baby. Then she laughed and added, "And I am in an acorn!"

"Yes, and you are sitting up in a tree," I said, "and then you are sitting on some lumber, and yet all the while you are in a dear little oak chair!"—Child's Hour.

THE LIMIT.

Mrs. Key was visiting some friends and left the following note for her nearest neighbor:

"Dear Mrs. Garrison: Would you please put out a little food for the cat I have been feeding this winter? It will eat almost anything, but do not put yourself out."—The Booster.

It was Robert's first visit to the Zoo.

"What do you think of the animals?" inquired Uncle Ben.

After a critical inspection of the exhibit the boy replied, "I think the kangaroo and the elephant should change tails."

Daughter—"The preacher has just phoned to say he is coming to call this afternoon."

Mother—"Gracious! We must make a good impression. Give the baby the hymn book to play with."

MILLSAPS COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT.

Holmes, Bob Ricketts, and George Lott Harrell, recalling the events and experiences of our student days. Of course, Barney Eaton is now the Hon. B. E. Eaton, LL.D., General Counsel of the Gulf and Ship Island Railroad; Billy Holmes is the Rev. W. W. Holmes, pastor of the Noel Memorial Methodist Church, Shreveport, La., one of the prominent churches of the Louisiana Conference; Bob Ricketts is the Hon. R. B. Ricketts, attorney and counsellor at law, United States Commissioner, etc., Jackson, Miss.; and George Lott Harrell, B.S., M.S., is the distinguished professor of Physics and Astronomy in his Alma Mater. But men are just boys grown up—and we were all boys together again.

The business meeting and the banquet of the Alumni Association on Monday evening were unusally well attended. We understand that every alumnus living in Canton was present—and we know that Canton had a fine representation. The Class of 1910—or. the four members present—were much in evidence, their hilarity furnishing as much entertainment as a barrel of simians could have supplied. Bob Ricketts presided as toastmaster at the banquet, and he performed his function exceedingly well, notwithstanding the fact that he was openly accused of mendacity, hypocrisy, partiality, and egotism. Billy Holmes gave his opinion of the whole crowd when he supplied the answer to the question so naively asked under his direction, "What am I doing?" said answer being, "Making fools of yourselves." In spite of the hilarity, however, there was a vein of deep seriousness running through the talks that were made, and the meeting will result in good to the college.

There was a tinge of sadness in the graduating exercises on Tuesday morning, due to the fact that President Watkins was not able to be present, he, under the advice of his physicians, having gone to Rochester, Minn., for surgical treatment. The Alumni Association requested its secretary to send Dr. Watkins a message of sympathy, and the college authorities made appropriate mention of his illness.

The graduating class was the largest in the history of the institution, and its personnel is such as to guarantee a fine body of representatives of the system of Christian education. The baccalaureate address, delivered by Hon. Barney E. Eaton, was altogether appropriate to the occasion. Its brevity made it different from most addresses of the kind, but its forceful presentation of the obligations of the present-day college graduate to those who have gone before will furnish food for profitable thought in days to come. We venture the assertion that the college has not done a more worthy thing than it did in conferring the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws upon Mr. Eaton.

Bishop W. B. Murrah, "Old Doc," as he is still affectionately called around the college, was present in his capacity as president of the Board of Trustees, and made the announcements at the close of the exercises. On account of his impaired health, President Watkins was designated as President Emeritus, and Dr. D. M. Key, of the faculty, was chosen as Vice-President, upon whom will fall the administration of the institution for the present. All the present members of the faculty were retained in their positions.

Millsaps College has already attained a high place in the educational world; with the maintenance of the highest possible scholastic requirements, the administration of such disciplinary methods as will protect the student body, and with a program of popularization that will enlist the hearty support of its constituency throughout the State, it will steadily move forward in the accomplishment of the high mission for which it was founded.

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

We regret not being in the office when Dr. J. R. Countiss, president of Grenada College, called one day last week.

Rev. T. B. Winstead, of Carthage, Miss., writes that the work of the church is prospering in his charge.

Rev. Julian S. Duncan, our pastor at Pickens, Miss., preached the commencement sermon for the high school at Edwards, Miss., on May 27.

The Sunday school at Indian Bayou, La., broke all previous attendance records on Mother's Day, 254 people being in the classes, with others present as visitors.

We regret to learn that there is much sickness in the home of Rev. J. W. Price, our pastor at Foxworth, Miss. We pray that all of them may soon be restored to health.

The bulletin of the Ellisville charge, Mississippi Conference, Rev. J. B. Cain, pastor, is the latest publication of its kind to reach our desk. It contains much that is of interest to the charge.

Mrs. John Dunn, of Cedars, Miss., has been a subscriber to the Advocate for 39 years. She subscribed for it when she was first married, and has continued to take it ever since.

Southern Methodist University and the citizens of Dallas are making efforts to have the Scarritt Bible and Training School, now located at Kansas City, Mo., re-located at Dallas.

Rev. E. K. Means, pastor of the Galloway Memorial Church, Jackson, Miss., preached the commencement sermon for the University of Mississippi on last Sunday.

Rev. O. S. Lewis, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Laurel, Miss., preached the commencement sermon for the Laurel High School on May 27.

Dr. W. A. Shelton, professor of Hebrew in Emory University, has been appointed by the College of Bishops as fraternal messenger to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which meets next May.

We learn with sorrow that Mrs. J. H. Jolly, wife of Rev. J. H. Jolly, of the Mississippi Conference, is in poor health, and that she has gone to Sanatorium, Miss., for treatment. We earnestly pray that she may soon be restored to health.

Rev. A. S. Byrd, of the Camden charge, Mississippi Conference, is issuing a bulletin which he calls "a cross between a connectional man and a circuit preacher, and between a printing press and a rotospeed duplicator." Be that as it may, it is an interesting production.

Rev. George Fox, our pastor at Oak Grove, La., recently preached the commencement sermon for the high school at that place. He also delivered the commencement address for the Pioneer High School. We are sure the audiences on those occasions heard something good.

Dr. C. M. Chapman, our popular pastor at Shelby, Miss., will leave within a few days for a trip through Europe and the Orient, his congregation having voted him a vacation for that purpose. He will be gone several months, but will return in time for the meeting of the North Mississippi Conference.

We take the privilege of quoting as follows from a recent personal letter received from Bishop Warren A. Candler: "I am distressed that our great church leaves that great enterprise at Washington, D. C., unpaid for. If we could collect the Conference pledges and the personal subscriptions, we could discharge the debt without delay." We ought to have paid this debt long ago.

Rev. Otto Porter, who will be graduated from the Theological Department of Emory University this week, has been appointed by Bishop Ainsworth as associate pastor of Galloway Memorial Church, Jackson, Miss. Miss Addie Greely, just graduated from the Scarritt Bible and Training School, has been appointed deaconess at Galloway Memorial, and will assume her duties on Sept. 1.

The Board of Church Extension has just issued its Handbook for 1923. It contains a complete record of the work of the Board. As long as they last, copies of the Handbook will be sent free of charge to those requesting them. We do not know of a finer volume to be in the hands of those who are interested in the great work our church is doing in this field. The address of the Board is 1115 Fourth Avenue, Louisville, Ky.

Rev. and Mrs. James M. Boon, of Pomona, Cal., celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage on June 3. Brother Boon was for fifteen years a member of the Mississippi Conference, where he still has many friends. Most of his ministerial life was spent in Missouri, where he held pastorates for thirty-five years. He is now in his seventy-sixth year and on the superannuate list, but is able to preach occasionally.

Rev. W. N. Ware, of the Mississippi Conference, is now en route to Africa, where he goes to do missionary work. He will spend a few days in New York, after which he will spend several weeks in London, taking a course in tropical medicine. After July 27 his address will be: Kabinda, M. E. Church, South, Congo Belge, Central Africa. We are sure the prayers of his brethren will follow Brother Ware into his new field of labor.

The Advocate office was honored on last Saturday by a call by Professor and Mrs. C. C. Norton. Professor Norton, a son of Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Norton, of the Mississippi Conference, and a graduate of Millsaps College, has been head of the Department of History and dean of Alexander College, Texas, which positions he resigned to accept a teaching fellowship in the University of North Carolina, where he will take courses leading to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. We predict that Professor Norton will make his mark in the educational world.

At the request of Bishop H. M. DuBose, the Publishing House will soon begin issuing the "Aftermath Series." This series will be a symposium of reviews of the discussion of the problems of Bible criticism. It is to consist of twelve numbers, of popular size and cost, to be issued monthly for a year. Some of the foremost scholars of this country and of Europe have been secured as contributors, among whom are: Dr. Robert Dick Wilson, of Princeton; Dr. J. A. Faulkner, of Drew; Dr. H. M. Wiener, of Cambridge; Dr. Martin Kegel, of Templin (formerly of Wittenberg); Dr. Sellin, of Berlin; Dr. Loehr, of Konigsburg. The purpose of the series, as stated by Bishop DuBose, is "to show how vigorously the scholarship of the world is moving against the destructive higher criticism, and how completely the traditional truth of the Scriptures is being defended." Bishop DuBose has personally assumed much of the financial risk in bringing out this series, and its completion is dependent upon the cordiality with which it is received.

THE REMEDY FOR RATIONALISM AND RADICALISM.

By Bishop Warren A. Candler.

The noisy rationalism which has had first-page prominence in the newspapers during the last few years is not a new thing. It appears periodically like the meteors of August and November.

It arises from the unreasonable use of reason, and from this cause always reaches conclusions as repugnant to sober reason as they are to revelation. It assumes that the human mind is not only competent to pass on the credentials of a revelation, but to revise or reject its contents. Proceeding from this unreasonable position, it is bound to land at last in skepticism. It sometimes ends in atheism, but more frequently embraces some form of deism.

In the eighteenth century it infected the English-speaking people—Great Britain and the American colonies—with a specious type of philosophical deism. To meet and repel that wave of unbelief Bishop Butler wrote his celebrated work, the "Analogy," which Mr. Gladstone esteemed so highly and considered so applicable to our own times that he brought out an edition of the work, accompanied by most admirable and suggestive notes.

In the introduction to that great treatise, first published in 1736, Bishop Butler said: "It has come, I know not how, to be taken for granted by many persons that Christinaity is not so much a subject of inquiry; but that it is now at length discovered to be fictitious. And accordingly they treat it, as if, in the present age, this were an agreed point among all people of discernment; and nothing remained but to set it up as a principal subject of mirth and ridicule, as it were, by way of reprisals, for its having so long interrupted the pleasures of the world."

Bishop Butler's masterly work refuted unanswerably the arguments of the deists of his day, but it failed to arrest effectually their deism. That was overcome finally by two great coetaneous revivals of religion—"The Great Awakening," in America, and the "Evangelical Revival of the Eighteenth Century," in Great Britan. Those movements, of which the leaders in America were Jonathan Edwards, the Tennents, and George Whitefield, and in Great Britain were the Wesleys, Fletcher, the Erskines, and Howell Harris, cleansed the English-speaking peoples of this subtle skepticism.

About the same time the same evil infection was prevalent in France and Germany, and able defenders of Christianity refuted it in those lands as Bishop Butler did in England. But on the Gallic and Teutonic peoples no great visitation of grace fell, and for want of it the worst religious conditions followed.

In France infidelity spread to such violent lengths that it resulted in riot and revolution. The National Assembly went so far as to enact the silly performance of dethroning God by formal resolution, in much the same spirit as that which now fills the Bolshevists of Russia. At the same time the senseless superstitions of Mesmer and Cagliostro appeared, and secured many followers.

In Germany a sudden rationalism sank to deeper and deeper depths of doubt, bringing on at last the religionless systems of Nietche and other militaristic materialists which issued in the most horrible war of history.

If great revivals of religion, such as blessed Great Britain and America, had prevailed in France and Germany in the eighteenth century, there would have been no bloody revolution in France in the days of Robespierre and Danton, and no world-war in our day. Benign reforms would have followed, and human freedom would have been established by bloodless victories, and the contests with monarchy for the cause of liberty would have issued in peaceful triumphs. The world would not have needed, and certainly would not have acclaimed, such monsters as Napoleon and Frederick the Great. The pompous little Kaiser who posed and paraded as a second Frederick would not have had the opportunity to set the world afire in 1914.

In all this history we see the dreadful ends to which rationalism and doubt lead, and we discover the effectual remedy for overcoming them before they bring forth their ripened results.

The remedy for rationalism is nation-wide revivals of religion in which doubt is consumed in the holy flames kindled in human souls by the Holy Spirit.

No man will doubt the Virgin birth and the Resurrection of Jesus who himself has been born from above. The religion of the incarnation when it is incarnated in "twice born" men drives doubts away and overcomes the world. "Christ in you, the hope of glory," brings life and immortality to light beyond the power of skepticism to dim it; and once this light shines in a human soul it leaves no slightest reason for groping around in vain efforts to eaves-drop the spiritual world after the superstitious manner of Sir Oliver Lodge and Conan Doyle.

What the world now needs above everything else is a revival of religion, in every nation of Christendom—a revival of pure and undefiled Christianity.

Without such revivals, bloody scenes like those now disgracing and destroying Russia may be enacted in many lands, even as they were enacted in revolutionary France.

Without them we shall see great men turn to the puerile superstitions of Spiritism while a despairing world is burning, as Nero fiddled while Rome burned, and Mesmer and Cagliostro led noblemen into nonsense while France was aflame with a conflagration which affrighted mankind.

A purblind rationalism cannot lead mankind out of darkness into light; for it has no light in it. Neither can pretty literary performances in the pulpit bring deliverance. Nor can a pious but impotent ritualism. All these were tried in England and America during the eighteenth century, and were found wanting. What is required to meet the dire distress and tragic needs of our time is the mighty revival of apostolic Christianity, such as the revivalists of the eighteenth century proclaimed with the power of the Holy Ghost sent down from heaven. Nothing else will suffice to save mankind from sin and despair.

Our newspapers could help to this end, if they would cease advertising the Grants, and Fosdicks, and Lodges, and Doyles, and help the real preachers of genuine Christianity to rescue a sinful and sorrowful world from despair and death. But whether they will or not, all good people must turn for deliverance to the God of our fathers. From Him, and Him alone, must come our salvation.

On Jan. 14, 1923, the spirit of MRS. M. B. SEAY ascended to walk in the fellowship of the redeemed, in the city of God. Earth never knew a more beautiful soul; her life was spent in faithful service to her Master, whose peace rested like a halo on her life. She began this earthly pilgrimage on Dec. 6, sixty-six years ago, and her saintly life reached its sunset at New Hebron, with all of her children present. She died on the fourth anniversary of the death of her distinguished son, Dr. Tom Seay, of Laurel, Miss., who literally gave his body a living sacrifice to alleviate the sufferings of his fellow-man. Sister Seay is survived by her sons, J. O. Seay, of New Hebron, Miss.; E. W. Seay, of Columbia, Miss.; Dr. R. B. Seay, of Oklahoma City, and one daughter, Mrs. G. M. Peterson, of Detroit, Mich. For six months before her translation, life's radius had shortened to shut her body in the room, where she was confined a patient sufferer, but her spirit had the freedom of the skies, and her heart the constant companionship of her Lord. It was my good fortune to have the benediction of being her pastor at Laurel, Miss., where, with untiring energy, she was a visiting angel unto every home of suffering and sorrow, and an inspiration to the entire church. She touched my life in the early years of my boyhood, where, as a faithful little mother, she kept her wonderful family of children nestled near her heart, and under the unfolding love of God. There never was a more faithful mother. After the death of her husband, Dr. M. B. Seay, she did all that human parentage could do, and her life was spared to see the rich harvest of her love and devotion, and the success and honor the world gave her children. Like a beautiful rose she bloomed in life's garden, and the rich perfume of her Christian character made sweeter and lovelier life's way, and now, like a transplanted rose, she nestles in the hands of the Gardener, who is ever gathering for his city of endless peace life's fairest flowers. The bereaved family have the prayerful sympathies of a host of sorrowing friends, and each one of the great circle of sorrowing hearts feels that Sister Seay has simply tiptoed up to the altar of stairs to be with God. Could she speak to us, her heart would doubtless say:

Still, still with Thee, when purple morning breaketh,
When the birds waketh and the shadows flee;
Fairer than morning, lovelier than the daylight,
Dawns the sweet consciousness, I am with Thee.

Alone with Thee, amid the mystic shadows,
The solemn hush of nature newly born;
Alone with Thee in breathless adoration,
In the calm dew and freshness of the morn.

On Monday morning, May 14, the death angel entered the home of Mr. Albert Wagner, near Thaxton, and carried home his beloved sister, MISS GEORGIA WAGNER. Miss Georgia was born April 6, 1861, in the house she lived and died in. Her father and mother preceded her to the grave many years ago, and Miss Georgia has lived to make a happy home for her brother. One sister survives her, Mrs. Mary Lowrey, of Lafayette Springs. Miss Georgia was converted and joined the Methodist church in 1883. Since that time she has lived a most consecrated Christian life. She was one who loved her neighbor as herself, and was always ready to say a good word or do any kind act to help her neighbors. When the time came for her to go away, she said, like St. Paul, that for her to die would be gain, but for her brother's sake she desired to live to make him happy in his last days. She was laid to rest in Thaxton cemetery, with services conducted by her pastor, Rev. A. Y. Brown. May the influence of her Christian life continue to be a blessing to her many friends.

One of her neighbors,

MRS. TINY HAWKINS.

The church at Meadville suffered a severe shock and loss in the sudden death of BROTHER T. W. SULLIVAN, Feb. 22, 1923. Brother Sullivan was born Dec. 28, 1848, to John and Mary Flowers Sulilvan. He was happily married to Miss Mary Ophelia Griffing, March 17, 1875. They lived together until her sumomns came in July, 1921. Three children were born of this union: Mary Eunice, who died in infancy; Mrs. Olive Bennett, who passed on a few years ago, and Mrs. Edna Hollinger, of Meadville, Miss. Brother Sullivan has two brothers, six sisters, and five grandchildren living. Brother Sullivan was converted in early manhood and had been an active member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, ever since. He had held all of the offices of the local church, and had represented his charge and district at the district and Annual Conferences frequently. He had for years attended every meeting of the church bodies in reach of him. At the time of his death he was recording steward, trustee, and church conference secretary. He is gone and we miss him very much, but we feel that we know where to seek him.

EVANGELISTIC SURVEY OF VAUGHAN CIRCUIT.

Jackson District, In Mississippi Conference.

Carrying out the instructions of Bishop Ainsworth, endeavoring to follow the plan outlined by him, and in accordance with the resolutions contained in the report of the Committee on Findings, adopted by the Home Mission and Evangelistic Conference, in session at Jackson, Miss., Jan. 15 and 16; also complying with an agreement entered into by the preachers of Jackson District in our institute, Jan. 25 and 26, I have made a map of the territory included in the Vaughan circuit, using scale of county map, at courthouse (from these several smaller maps were made, one for each group of Evangestic Committee, making the survey, outlining their territory), and we have completed our Evangelistic Survey, which reveals some facts that are somewhat startling for a locality like this, yet, it is encouraging, as we find a field of opportunity open to us. The findings of this survey are as follows:

Total number of members of all churches, 417; of these there are: Methodists, 224; Baptists, 186; Episcopal, 3; Presbyterian, 2; Catholic, 2.

Total number not members of any church, including children over seven years old, except those of divided parents (see below), 278; of these, number preferring the Methodist church, 125; preferring Baptist church, 97; those expressing no preference, 56. Children whose parents are divided in church membership, over 7 years, 12; under 7 years, 18; children under 7 years old with Methodist parents, 55; with Baptist parents, 44.

In addition to the above figures, we have gotten through the survey much information that will be helpful, and that we would not have gotten otherwise in quite awhile.

The above figures include only the white population. I am planning, according to the Bishop's suggestion, through their preachers, to have the colored people make a similar survey of their churches.

FROM THE FRENCH FIELD.

Dear Brother Carley: I'm just back from the city, attending the district conference held in St. Mark's Church, May 21 to 23. I wish you would give me space in the Advocate to thank the good people of New Orleans for the kind reception accorded us by all concerned during our three days' stay there. I wish also to express my appreciation of the way the conference was conducted under the wise management of Dr. Drake and all concerned.

The preaching was most inspiring, the reports were most gratifying, especially of the French Mission, which I think is one of the most important fields in our home mission work. I regret exceedingly that I could not have a few minutes to say a few words concerning this French field, as I have worked in this field for over twelve years.

Knowing what God has done for me through the preaching of the gospel of Jesus Christ, and hearing that Macedonian cry all around us—not one but many—O! come over and help us! we can truly say with the Master, "The harvest is truly great, but the laborers are few." Therefore, brethren and sisters, I ask you all who read this to join me in earnest supplication and prayer to Almighty God to send some laborers into his harvest.

Yours in Him.

Exhorter.

A LETTER FROM ARKANSAS.

Dear Brother Carley: I wonder if you will permit a letter from a Mississippi boy who is living and serving a charge in Arkansas. I have just closed a great revival, which I am sure will be of interest to my friends and schoolmates who are scattered throughout the State.

On the fifth Sunday in April, I went out to a charge which had been laid aside as a dead proposition for a long time, and started a meeting. The people had no hopes of ever having a revival in that community again. The chief amusements were drinking, gambling, dancing, and the like. The name of Elgin had become dreaded to the nearby communities.

The meeting went on seventeen nights, in which time there were seventy-six professions and over sixty additions to the Methodist Church. A Sunday school, a prayer meeting, and an Epworth League have been organized. I have never in my life seen such a change in a community as this one has made. Some came to the altar to scoff, but remained to pray; some who were taking the Lord's name in vain before the meeting, are now calling on his name in earnest prayer; others who were ready to laugh at anything religious are testifying now, both with their lips and lives, of the saving power of the Lord. One who, as did others, spent his Sundays fishing or hunting, is now a Bible class teacher in the Sunday school, and has been elected president of the Epworth League, and is as zealous a worker against these evils which he was practicing as can be found.

At one service during this meeting sixty-seven pledged themselves to do daily Bible reading; a number of family altars have been established.

God has truly visited Elgin community, and they are rejoicing over it.

This meeting has been the greatest blessing that has ever come to me in my life. I want your prayers for the working out of my plans for this church.

FROM SIBLEY, LA.

Sibley, La., May 31, 1923.

Dear Brother Carley: As I have not bothered you with a report from my work this year, I will just drop you a word. So far it seems that there is a movement forward. Every church on the charge has taken on new life, and is in fine working order. At all of the churches (five in number) we have a fine Sunday school, with good teachers, and good attendance.

At Sibley church, which is the home church, we just closed a splendid meeting. Rev. Henry T. Young did the preaching, and when you hear a fellow say, "Henry did it," you just say it was well done.

The devil has no use at all for Henry, and it took only a few days to separate the crowd and set them off so you would be able to see clearly who was who. We closed the meeting Sunday night, May 27, with 19 members and the church greatly revived. I always feel safe when Henry comes to help me, because I know he is safe and sound. He is not one who "soft-soaps" the Word—just a plain, well-laid-out plan by which all men may come to Christ and be saved. He always leaves the people closer to their pastor. If there is a chance for the brethren to secure him, in case they need a good man, better write him now.

We love to hear from the work throughout the Conference, and hope this does not find the waste basket.

J. F. DRING, P. C.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE SUNDAY SCHOOL NOTES.

Sunday was spent on the Roxie charge. We had three good services. Both the schools were represented. Brother McCormick is doing a good work, and there is a great opportunity for the schools. Our people are finding out that the day of small things is not over and that it is not the size but the quality that counts in the end. Faithful workers will receive their reward.

The commencement at Millsaps was a most pleasant one. Many say it was the best ever, with the largest class and most interesting exercises. I was a pleasure to be with them.

On the 31st we had great pleasure in being with the Susie Liddell Bible Class, Crystal Springs, on the occasion of honoring Mrs. Emma Seibe. It was a "birthday party." Sixteen candles were on the cake, but no one told just the age. Each person present presented flowers, with a wish; many of these were most pleasant and brightly spoken. Several of the young ladies rendered vocal and violin solos, and altogether it was a most pleasant occasion. This is a very active class. The Sunday school here is gradually getting adjusted to its building.

Wednesday afternoon we met Miss Lewis and her workers in the Beginners' Department of the Capitol Street Sunday school and checked them. They missed "A" by a fraction of one point. This they will correct in a very few days.

The work moves. Brother Hull has a fine report for the month.

Continue to pray for us.

The blessings of God be yours.

Yours in Him,
JOHN C. CHAMBERS.

NOTES FROM NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, Sardis, Miss.

The following have agreed to act as district superintendents of Intermediate-Senior-Young People's work:

Mrs. E. S. Lewis, Columbus.
Mrs. A. H. Patrick, Corinth.
Mrs. I. E. Cobb, Greenwood.
Mrs. Willie Mae Dubard, Grenada.
Mrs. M. E. Dakin, Shaw.

The Aberdeen and Sardis Districts have no one to look after the young people. Volunteers are wanted; the young people are calling for help. Who will say, "Here am I, send me?" Mrs. W. N. Duncan, of Drew, has worked faithfully to secure the help that is needed.

Some very remarkable work is being done in the Greenville District by the organized Bible classes. Every Protestant, a number of Jews and Roman Catholics are in the Sunday school at Merigold, and ninety-five per cent of the Protestant population are attending the school at Alligator. You may write to Rev. Luther A. McKeown, Merigold, Miss., and ask him how it happened. It is a great victory to get them all to attend and an equally important task to give them the Bread of Life when they come.

All good people are busy about the Master's business; bad men and women are equally busy about the "old bad man's work." Let the good people not forget the Centenary Specials that are unpaid. The schools that have been faithful in paying are ready to take a new special. When we get to heaven we will rejoice that we did a little while we lived on earth.

The day is not far distant when those who teach religion to the children will feel very keenly the need of special preparation for this holy task. The Sunday School Board is thoroughly committed to the work of training the teachers of the Conference in the divine art of teaching the things Jesus said must be taught. We are slow to learn that whatever we would have lived out in the life must be taught at some time by some means. Theoretically most of us are correct in our belief that childhood is the time to do our most effective teaching, but we spend most of our time and money and thought and use most all our machinery in teaching adults to be religious.

MOTHER'S DAY AT WILLIAMS CHURCH.

Mother's Day was observed on May 20, instead of May 13, this being regular church day. The program given by the Sunday school was appropriate, made up of recitations and songs. The service was a real good one.

We had a large attendance of mothers and fathers, which we appreciated very much. The Sunday school at Williams is thriving under the leadership of Mrs. Clara Wallace. An offering was taken to the amount of $6.20 for our Memorial Home at New Orleans.

FAT
the ENEMY that is shortening Your Life
BANISHED!
BY DISSOLVING THE YEAST CELLS THAT MAKE AN ALCOHOL DISTILLERY OF YOUR STOMACH

The fat in your body is caused by a simple chemical process. Yeast cells in your stomach combine with starch and sugar and form ALCOHOL. When alcohol gets in the blood, fatty tissue is made instead of healthy, lean muscle. Fat people, even though they be TOTAL ABSTAINERS have four billion yeast cells (or more) in their stomachs—enough to make 4 ounces of alcohol a day. Destroy this excess of yeast cells and you immediately destroy Fat at its source!

NO DANGER
GUARANTEED HARMLESS

NO DIET-NO BATHS-NO EXERCISE!

Dr. R. L. Graham's marvelous prescription, known as NEUTROIDS, destroys the yeast cells, stops alcoholization and reduces fat. No bother or inconvenience; can be carried in vest pocket or hand bag. Neutroids are composed of harmless ingredients that act only on the yeast cells that make you fat and not directly on the body. Neutroids are personally guaranteed by R. Lincoln Graham, M. D., to accomplish satisfactory reducing results and, furthermore, they are guaranteed to contain no thyroid extract, no harmful laxatives, no dangerous, habit-forming drugs. Don't bother with dieting, baths or exercise when Neutroids will accomplish better results with no inconvenience.

FREE PERSONAL MAIL CONSULTING SERVICE—by Dr. Graham's Staff

R. Lincoln Graham, M. D., discoverer of the marvelous prescription known as Neutroids, although a practising physician, has finally been prevailed upon to offer his priceless remedy to the public. He insists, however, that Neutroids must be only a PART of his fat-reducing service. You are to write him fully and confidentially. Dr. Graham, or a member of his staff at his New York sanitarium will give careful attention to your inquiries and write you a personal letter of advice. Anyone ordering Neutroids may use this service.

LAKE CHARLES DISTRICT MEETING.

Our District meeting opened in Lake Charles on Monday, April 30, at 6:30 p. m. with a wonderful Junior Rally. We have no Junior work in Lake Charles, but when the rally was called we found five out of eight Junior Societies of the district represented with forty-one Juniors present and four Junior superintendents. After the opening song, Virginia McAlister, a Junior of Rayne, La., gave a very beautiful Bible lesson from "Consider the lilies, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin, yet I say unto you, Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these." She spoke of the beauty of cultivated flowers in contrast with weeds, and compared them with children—those being Christians like the cultivated flowers, and those not Christians resembling weeds; but reminding us that all they needed was the cultivation to make Christians of them.

This was followed by a chorus from the Gueydan Juniors.

The Sulphur Juniors gave a dialogue, "Prove It," very effectively—the story of a Junior missionary meeting that had to prove that missions are worth while to an uncle of one of the Juniors. He was thoroughly convinced before the meeting was over.

The offertory was a violin solo, "Angel's Serenade," by Frances Wynn, of Rayne. Little Miriam Cain, of De Ridder, then recited the "Missionary Lady's Visit." This was followed by an original piano solo by Audrey Moody, of De Ridder. The Wright Juniors were recognized, though they were not prepared for a part on [illegible] program.

Mrs. St[illegible]kwell told the Juniors the story of African child life, and, of course, told of "Jimbo," the boy who prayed that the fishing men of his village should not catch any fish on Sunday, and how God answered his prayer. After this the large dolls were presented, six out of the cight Juniors getting a whole doll.

After a chorus by all the Juniors the benediction was pronounced by Brother Williams, presiding elder of the Lake Charles District.

Tuesday, A. M.—Song, "O Zion, Haste."

Bible Lesson—Mrs. C. T. Pulliam, of Gueydan, was asked to lead this Bible lesson, because they have every department organized and in good working order.

Roll Call—Eleven places responded—Adults; one young People's (Gueydan).

Mrs. Key then announced the separation of Mission and Bible Study and Publicity, and spoke of the work of the Publicity Department. Attention was called to the beautiful posters and the literature table presided over by two Juniors.

We were introduced to our Honorary Life President, Mrs. E. R. Kennedy, and she then spoke on the need of regular Bible Study in the auxiliaries, calling it a light and guidepost along the way.

A chart was passed, asking for signatures, pledging one hour a day to Bible Study. Quite a list of signatures was obtained.

Mrs. Carson spoke on the Inter-Racial work, giving an echo of the meeting in New Orleans, March 21-22.

The certificate for 100% for 1922 was then presented to the Rayne Juniors.

We then had a very helpful Round Table, discussing the reports, new record books, standard of excellence, and district chart.

Adjournment until 1:30. Lunch in the Sunday school rooms.

The afternoon session opened with a beautiful Bible lesson by one of the Gueydan Young People, who was to have been on the night's program, but, owing to a storm, was going to have to leave, so used her in the afternoon.

Mrs. Kennedy then spoke on stewardship, and re-urged that it be presented at least once a quarter. Then we had to report it to the district secretary.

Special Music—Mrs. Hale and Mrs. Venable, of Lake Charles.

Radio Message—Echoed from the Council meeting in Mobile, Mrs. Plauche, of Lake Charles.

The place of the next district meeting was taken up, and Lafayette was decided upon. The time, about the third week of April.

New mission study books for 1923-24 were announced, and the new Council officers.

Benediction by Brother Waddill.

Tuesday night we had a splendid Young People's service.

The Leaguers of Lake Charles gave a beautiful pageant.

Mrs. Venable told the story of the "American Beauties."

Then Mrs. Key gave her address. This was a very impressive service.

After resolutions of thanks for our lovely entertainment, we adjourned until next year.

MRS. JOE WYNN,
District Secretary.

ANOTHER YEAR OF WORLD-WIDE SERVICE BY THE AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY.

The American Bible Society reports the distribution of 4,667,839 volumes of Scriptures during the past year. Its work has been conducted in practically every country of the world, and more than 2,373 persons have been engaged during the year in this task. In the 107 years of its history this Society has circulated 151,248,360 volumes.

One of the outstanding features of this year has been the completion of the new Hispano-American New Testament, which will be ready for circulation among the 90,000,000 people that speak the Spanish language in all parts of the world. Translation work has been carried on during the year in the following languages: Yiddish, Quechua, Portugese, Kurmanji-Kurdish, Siamese, Lao, Union Wenli, Chinese, Phonetic Script, Japanese, Olunore, K'pelle and Zulu.

In the United States alone the Scriptures have been circulated in as many as 100 languages and dialects among the immigrants of many nationalities. Scriptures have been furnished to the American Merchant Marine Library Association, and vessels on the Great Lakes. It is the desire of the Society to see that no American ship will be lacking a copy of the Christian Scriptures.

In the Republic of Meico, unprecedented interest and enthusiasm for Bible has been developed through a united "Know the Bible" campaign. Without doubt the demand for the Bible in Melco will increase with the growing improvement in international relations.

In the Near East, where the Society had planned for extensive advance, its hopes have been shattered. With the burning of Smyrna, its colporteurs were forced to flee with only the clothing they were wearing. The stock of Scriptures were burned, and the last of the fields in Asia Minor was closed to the Society's workers. The scattering of the Christian peoples of Turkey has added to the calamity. The Society has undertaken to supply copies of the Scriptures free to all the destitute refugees in this region.

In the Far East there has beeen notable interest in the circulation of the Bible. The Secretary for Japan speaks of "a lively time at the Bible House." He states: "While other dealers around us have complained of decreasing business, we have had the pleasure of experiencing continued increase of sales." During the year the smallest complete Bible ever issued in Japanese, measuring 3x4x1 inches, having 1,654 pages, although only on salo since the first of April, 1922, reached a total distribution of 4,150 copies by the end of tbe year.

The total receipts for the Society from all sources for the year was $1,142,729, of which only $488,838 was received from the sale of books. The Society's work is conducted as a missionary program.—Issued by the American Biblo Society, Bible House, Astor Place, New York City.

MY DREAMS.

By D. L. Blackwell.

By my fireside at night I sit,
With my mind wandering far and near,
I dream of the day when I hit
The Trail that most boys fear.

Dreaming of the trail, so rugged,
So crooked, so up and so down,
The trail that leads into manhood,
That's either way up or way down.

I dream of what I shall accomplish
As the years roll along the way,
Both defeats and victory with honor
I'll win in my manhood day.

Defeats are hard to be taken,
Victories are easy to win,
If defeat will only awaken
The manhood that lies within.

I see me as I'm declining,
An old man I've gotten to be,
But still, you hear not the whining
That some would give, if in place of me.

At last I'm placed in the Loneliest,
A place that's ne'er lonely to me,
For with me is God from heaven;
With him, I ne'er lonely shall be.

OFFICIAL REPORT OF THE SPRING MEETING OF THE COLLEGE OF BISHOPS.

During three days and for some time on a fourth and fifth day the College of Bishops held the spring meeting in Nashville, Tenn. Except Bishops Hendrix and Beauchamp, all the members were present. Bishop Hendrix was kept at home by indisposition, and the serious sickness in Europe of the son of Bishop Beauchamp prevented him from attending.

The meeting was somewhat notable, because not a single legal decision came before the College. Most of the time was taken up with the consideration of the conditions and needs of the church. The College was cheered by reports from many parts of the church of successful revival meetings. If the general statement made to the bishops can be relied upon, and if there should be no great losses by death or removal from our territory, the year should be marked by a notable increase in our membership.

The College issued two addresses to the church, which were published immediately after their adoption.

From the Southern Methodist Press Association a communication was received asking that Good Literature Sunday be observed in all our churches on Jan. 27, 1924, and the College approved the suggestion.

Hon. C. B. Ames, because of a change of residence, resigned as a member of the Constitutional Commission, and Hon. W. G. M. Thomas was elected to fill the vacancy.

From the Board of Education, the Sunday School Board, and the trustees of Barnes Hospital reports were received, and the work of those activities was carefully discussed.

The College of Bishops approved the plan for the superannuate endowment fund and heartily agreed to co-operate in carrying out this plan.

The General Conference authorized the appointment of a commission, now popularly called the Commission on Comity. This Commission has been charged to make any possible adjustments that may save friction between the churches. The Commission met in Cincinnati last February, and shortly thereafter its action was given to the papers. The report from this Commission was brought to the attention of the College of Bishops, and the Commission was assured of the appreciation of the College of its labors.

Rev. Dr. W. A. Shelton, of Emory University, was elected fraternal delegate to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

The following books were selected as the post-graduate reading course: Gwatkin's "Early Church History," Macklintosh's "The Originality of the Christian Message," Illingworth's "Personality, Human and Divine," Robertson's "The Glory of the Ministry."

A letter from the Secretary of War was received, and Bishop McMurry was appointed to attend a convention of the chaplains to be held in Washington City.

The College had the pleasure of meeting in joint session with the bishops of the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church to discuss some features of the educational work of our colored brethren.

A special memorial meeting was held on a fifth day, and the memoirs of Bishops Kilgo and Waterhouse were read and adopted.

Invitations for the fall meeting were received from five cities, and it was agreed to hold the fall meeting in San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 14 to 17.

COLLINS DENNY, Secretary.

MEMORIAL OF THE BOOK COMMITTEE ON THE LIFE AND WORK OF DR. THOMAS N. IVEY.

Your committee, appointed to prepare a paper on the death of Dr. Ivey, beg leave to present the following:

The death of Dr. Thomas N. Ivey, coming so suddenly and unexpectedly, was a great shock to us, filling our hearts with sorrow and casting over us the pall of sadness. Our grief is not ours alone, but is shared by the whole church which he served so long and so faithfully.

His work as editor in chief of the connectional organ of our church has been before the people of Southern Methodism with every weekly issue of the Advocate for thirteen years and needs no commendation from us.

Dr. Ivey was not only a man of fine literary taste and judgment, but also possessed that rare gift of journalistic instinct which fitted him fully for his high editorial position. In this work he gained and held the esteem of the thousands of our Israel who followed his utterances from week to week through the years of his editorship. He served the church not only as editor and preacher, but as a member of many important Boards, Commissions, and Committees, in all of which he was loyal to the best interests of the church, painstaking in his activities, and unbiased in his judgment by prejudice or favoritism.

Dr. Ivey was greatly loved by the members of the Book Committee and by all his co-workers in the Publishing House. Always considerate, genial and brotherly in his dealings with others, he will be greatly missed and his place will be hard to fill in our work and in our hearts.

Our profound and heartfelt sympathies go out to his loved ones in their bereavement, and our prayers ascend to the God of all comfort that He may be their help and stay in their deep sorrow.

W. LOUIS DAVIS,
A. J. LAMAR,
Committee.

METHODISM IN THE VICKSBURG DISTRICT—HISTORICAL.

By Rev. Henry G. Hawkins.

(The following is, in substance, a paper read at the opening of the Vicksburg District Conference, April 24, 1923, at Centerville, Miss., without any thought that the conference would take action, as it did, requesting its publication. It was intended as only a hurried and incomplete glance at the 124 years of Methodist work in the district, with special reference to Centerville and Woodville, the twin towns of Wilkinson County, and several district conferences held in them. Other district and Annual Conferences have been held in them, besides those mentioned in the paper. The last paragarph has been added to the original paper as read.)

The work of Methodism in the territory covered by the present Vicksburg District began in 1799 and 1800, with Tobias Gibson as preacher in charge of the Natchez mission or circuit. It seems not to have been in any presiding elder's district until 1801, when it was in the Georgia District, South Carolina Conference, with Stith Mead as presiding elder. In 1802 William McKendree was presiding elder; and it was in the Kentucky District, Western Conference.

It is presumed that Tobias Gibson preached and organized societies at Fort Adams, Pinckneyville, and Centerville (Midway) during his first two years; and it is known that Lorenzo Dow assisted in the preaching in Wilkinson County in 1803.

Edward McGehee, who moved to the county in 1808, for several years attended services at Centerville, sometimes traveling the 12 miles on horseback, with his wife behind and his baby in front. He afterwards became owner of 999 slaves and 26,000 acres of land, the founder of colleges and builder of churches. Carondelet Street Church, New Orleans, and Centenary College of Louisiana, owed their existence greatly to his munificence.

The present church building in Woodville was erected in 1824, and is, therefore, ninety-nine years old. The Mississippi Conference met at Woodville in 1835; and Woodville was made a station at that time, with William Winans as preacher in charge, and Benjamin M. Drake, presiding elder. Among the pastors following were C. K. Marshall, Elijah Steele, Levi Pearce, W. H. Watkins, J. L. Forsythe. E. M. Marvin served as pastor several months of 1862. E. E. Richardson, one of the Woodville delegates at this district conference, remembers playing marbles and pitching quoits with him.

Thirty-two years ago the district conference, then called Woodville District, met in Woodville, with C. McDonald, presiding elder, and W. O. Legion, Secretary. Bishop Galloway addressed the conference in behalf of Millsaps College; H. W. Featherstun, in behalf of Edward McGehee College, and W. L. C. Hunnicutt, in behalf of Centenary College. Skillfully and eloquently worded preamble and resolutions were passed, signed by W. L. C. Hunnicutt, T. W. Brown, G. H. Wiley, Committee, condemning the efforts of unknown parties to place before the people of Louisiana a proposition to reverse "their deliberate, wise and virtuous determination proclaimed to all the world and established in the Constitution of the State, that no lottery shall ever again be licensed by the State of Louisiana." The first clause of these resolutions, which climbed and increased in strength as they moved on to their close, was as follows: "That we regard the submission of such a proposition to the citizens of our State as highly offensive, not to say insulting, to the self-respect and patriotism of honorable men." A new church building was reported for Centerville.

Thirty years ago, lacking three days, the Woodville District Conference met in Centerville, with P. A. Johnston, presiding elder, and J. J. Smylie, secretary. More than half the district at that time was in Louisiana. Jackson, La., with H. R. Singleton, pastor; Clinton, La., with J. G. Galloway, pastor; Zachary, La., with J. T. Leggett, pastor, and other charges being in Louisiana. W. W. Simmons was pastor of Gloster and Centerville; R. W. Bailey, of Woodville; Percy Creek was a station, with J. W. Brown pastor. H. W. Featherstun and G. T. McGehee spoke for Edward McGehee College; W. L. C. Hunnicutt took a collection or subscription of $1,100 in notes for Centenary College and an offer of D. L. Mitchell,

GREENWOOD DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

The 1923 session of the Greenwood District Conference was held at Inverness, Miss., May 24-25, with the presiding elder, Rev. S. L. Pope, in the chair. All of the ministers of the district were in attendance with the exception of four. Rev. J. A. Gray, a transfer from the South Georgia Conference, now serving his first year with us, was host to the conference, and, together with his splendid people, entertained us royally.

It was a busy district conference, every hour being crowded with interest and activity. All speeches and addresses were brief and pointed. The monotony and looseness that sometimes apparently manifest themselves in the session of a district conference were not suggested here.

The following visitors were present, and each addressed the conference in the interest of the church department he represents: Rev. J. H. Holder, Educational Secretary; Rev. B. P. Jaco, Centenary Secretary; Rev. L. H. Estes, Hospital Secretary; Rev. J. E. Stephens, of Grenada College; Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, Sunday Scohol Secretary; and Miss Alma Riley, Field Secretary of the Methodist Orphanage.

Preaching was done by Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, Rev. C. L. Rogers, and Rev. James H. Felts, presiding elder of the Greenwood District.

Blackboard reports, suggestive of the method used at our late Annual Conference, were made by the pastors. All reports were good, there being among other items of interest many additions on profession of faith, the benevolences largely provided for, salaries paid to date, "new ground broken," and churches well organized with respect to Missionary Societies and Sunday scholls.

On the second morning a memorial service was held in honor of the late pastor of the Inverness church, the Rex. W. C. Carlisle, who died this year shortly after his assignment to this charge. The brethren spoke very affectionately of this good man, recounted his many virtues and told of the pleasant associations with him. The Scripture read was a portion of the fourteenth chapter of St. John; the closing hymn was, "Servant of God, Well Done."'

Rev. Albert Y. Brown was granted license to preach and recommended for admission on trial into the Annual Conference. Rev. S. A. Bryant was recommended for readmission into the traveling connection.

The following lay delegates were elected to the Annual Conference: J. M. Foreman, Dr. W. T. Johnstone, Preston Toler, Mrs. G. C. Jones, G. R. Stockley, L. R. Featherstone, Mrs. S. C. Yates, and Mrs. Bessie Whitehead.

The Licensing Committee, composed of Rev. S. C. Yates, Rev. V. C. Curtis, Rev. W. D. Bennett, and Rev. J. T. Lochart, was elected.

The next session of the district conference will be held at North Carrollton, Miss.

S. CURTIS YATES, Secretary.

Resolutions of Appreciation.

Whereas, the conference year completes the quadrennium of our much beloved presiding elder, Rev. S. L. Pope, of the Greenwood District, North Mississippi Conference, under whose wise and efficient leadership the district has made marked and substantial progress; and,

Whereas, by his uniform courtesy and godly example he has entrenched himself in the affections of the people of the entire district;

Therefore, be it Resolved:

1. That the members of the district conference, duly assembled, hereby express to Rev. S. L. Pope our high regard and sincere appreciation for his labors in our midst;

2. That we assure him of our abiding affection and continued interest in him, and that our prayers will follow him in his new field of service;

3. That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the district conference, and a copy be sent our Conference organ for publication.

Signed: Rev. V. C. Curtis, Miss Tommie Foster, Mrs. G. C. Jones.

Resolutions Concerning the Bishops' Address.

Whereas, there has been considerable agitation regarding the matter of orthodoxy in some sections of our church; and,

Whereas, our bishops, in their episcopal address of recent date, have sent out a ringing appeal to Southern Methodism reaffirming the fundamental doctrines of Methodism, and calling upon our ministers and laymen and church leaders everywhere to maintain, support. and defend them;

Therefore, be it Resolved:

1. That the Greenwood District Conference, now in session, hereby expresses its deep gratitude to our bishops for their recent utterance.

2. That we urge every minister in the district to read, or have read, to his congregation this masterly address of our bishops, with their resolution and the action of the Board of Missions.

3. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Christian Advocate for publication.

Signed: C. L. Oakes, H. N. McKibben.

BATON ROUGE DISTRICT CONFERENC.

The Baton Rouge District Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, convened in Kentwood, La., on May 23 and 24, 1923. Rev. J. W. Lee, presiding elder of the Baton Rouge District, presided over the conference, and O. H. Cline, of Baton Rouge, was elected secretary.

One Tuesday night preceding the conference, Rev. E. C. Gunn, of Bogalusa, preached a stirring and appealing sermon, that did much to prepare the delegates for the work before them.

Mr. K. I. Bean, of Bogalusa, led the congregational singing, and, with the well-trained choir from the local church, and special numbers by Mr. B. D. Tally, of Bogalusa, and the children of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Bonnecarrere, of Kentwood, the musical features of the conference were all that could be desired.

With 24 ministers and 46 lay delegates present, making a total of 70 in attendance, the conference was one of the best ever held in the district, the house being well filled at each preaching service. Rev. L. C. Wilson, of Clinton, and Rev. H. W. Jamieson, of Pearl River, were the only pastors in the district that were unable to be in attendance, and were very much missed by the brethren. The absence of Rev. H. S. Johns, Chaplain of the State Penitentiary, was noted by his many friends among the delegates.

After devotional service led by Rev. L. W. Cain, of Franklinton, the election of secretary, fixing time of meetings and bar of the conference, the first session was taken up with the naming of the various committees. At the 11 o'clock hour Rev. W. H. Giles, of Slidell, preached a very beautiful and most convincing sermon, setting forth the practicability of the Christian religion.

The devotions of the afternoon session were led by Rev. B. H. Andrews, of Zachary. After completing the committees, the charges were called, and all pastors in attendance made their reports, the two not in attendance having sent reports. These reports showed that in spite of much sickness during the winter and the extremely bad weather that has been prevalent over the district, making many roads impassable, the general state of the church is very good indeed. Many reported increased attendance at the preaching service, and most of the pastors reported additions, both by letter and on profession of faith. Practically all are planning for revival services in every church during the coming months. However, there remains much to be done, as the reports showed there are many rural churches without Sunday schools or Leagues, and much need for trained Christian leadership. The bad weather and other conditions have caused the finances of the district to be somewhat behind, and the special calls of the church, such as the Centenary and Education, are not receiving the attention they should. Family altars are few, Sabbath observance is poor, and the church papers are not read by many. These matters will be given closer attention.

The sermon at night was preached by Rev. C. C. Miller, of Keener Memorial Church, Baton Rouge, and proved a rare treat to the exceptionally large congregation, as this good brother—who is beloved by every member of the conference—seemed in his best form. Just prior to the sermon, Rev. C. B. Carter, Financial Secretary of the Louisiana Methodist Orphanage, presented the claims of this institution that is dear to the hearts of all.

The third session was opened with devotional service led by Rev. H. C. Murphy, of Tickfaw, after which Mr. T. W. Holloman, of Alexandria, Conference Lay Leader, addressed the conference on the lay activities of the church; stressing the advantages and necessity of completing this organization in each church, and outlining some of the outstanding needs that can be met by such organizations. Rev. A. S. Lutz, of Shreveport, Educational Secretary of the Conference, then spoke on the Christian Education Movement, bringing some inspiring data from our two schools, Centenary College and Mansfield.

The hour from 10 to 11 was given over to the Sunday school program, which was led by Rev. C. D. Atkinson, Conference Secretary. Rev. N. E. Joyner, of Ruston, Conference Superintendent of Teacher Training, gave an inspirational talk on the wonderful progress of the School and stressing the urgent need for training teachers. Mr. W. S. Holmes, of Baton Rouge, Chairman of the Conference Sunday School Board and member of the General Board, brought a message from the recent meeting of the General Board. Mr. T. W. Holloman, retiring President of the Wesley Bible Class Federation, spoke of the advantages to be gained at these meetings. After a short talk by Mr. B. D. Tally, the following pastors pledged to take one or more units of the standard training course this conference year: J. E. Selfe, E. C. Gunn, B. D. Watson, A. J. Coburn, W. H. Booth, J. M. Boykin, W. H. Giles, and L. W. Cain. Besides these, many pastors and superintendents expressed a growing interest in this movement. At this time Rev. J. E. Selfe announced that the churches on and near the Illinois Central Railroad had decided to have a Standard Training School. Later Amite was chosen as the most desirable place to hold this school. There will also be held a Standard Training School at Baton Rouge. Miss Caroline Hess, Conference Elementary Superintendent, then addressed the meeting, and the program closed with remarks by Brother Atkinson.

Rev. W. W. Drake, presiding elder of the New Orleans District, preached at the 11 o'clock hour and brought us a missionary message the like of which is seldom heard, closing his sermon with a convincing appeal in behalf of our French or Creole citizenship.

The devotional exercises of the fourth, and last session, were led by Rev. C. E. McClean, of Istrouma Church, Baton Rouge. As the election of delegates to the Annual Conference, to be convened at Bogalusa, was the order of the day for this session, the chair appointed J. R. Abels and Herbert Broyles as tellers, and S. M. Russ, and Dr. Rex Singletary as clerks, and the election proceeded, with the following results:

B. D. Tally, Bogalusa; K. I. Bean, Bogalusa; J.

R. Abels, Ponchatoula; W. S. Holmes, Baton Rouge; O. H. Cline, Baton Rouge; Rev. H. C. Murphy, Tickfaw; Herebrt Broyles, Kentwood; Dr. Rex Singletary, Hammond, as delegates. Mrs. C. B. Johnson, Hammond; Roy Stewart, Amite; S. M. Russ, Baton Rouge; W. E. Cope, Hammond; Judge R. M. McGebee, Hammond; Miss Nell Richardson, Baton Rouge, and W. L. Fussell, Kentwood, were elected as alternates.

Rev. C. C. Miller spoke on behalf of the Seashore Divinity School, heartily commending same.

The chair then nominated the following Ad-Interim Committee: Dr. C. W. Crisler, Rev. C. C. Miller, Rev. B. H. Andrews, and Rev. J. W. Booth, and same were elected. The characters of the following deacons and elders were passed by the conference: P. S. Carpenter, E. D. Fayard, D. W. McClean, W. N. Mitchell, J. H. Montgomery, H. C. Murphy, J. W. Newsom, W. A. Powell, C. B. Vetter, deacons; A. L. McQueen, V. M. Crutsinger, N. E. Alford, elders. Licentiates were called, and J. L. Frazier, P. C. Garris, J. W. Harper, J. E. Methvin, B. F. Waltman, L. C. Spencer, and J. H. Bowden had their characters passed and license renewed.

Reports of the several committees were then presented and adopted. The License and Recommendations Committee presented the name of John Pierre Bonnecarrere, of Kentwood, with recommendation that license be granted. Same was approved, and ordered by unanimous vote of the conference. The committee reports were very complete, and showed much serious thought and effort.

Dr. Rex Singletary was re-elected District Lay Leader, with O. H. Cline and K. I. Bean as associates. The Sunday school committee placed the following nominations for District Sunday school officers, and same were elected: District Secretary, B. D. Taily: Superintendent of Teacher Training, O. H. Cline, with J. R. Abels and Prof. L. A. Sims as associates; Elementary Superintendent, Miss Nell Richardson, with Mrs. Roy Stewart and Mrs. W. H. Giles as associates; Intermediate-Senior Superintendent, Hon. R. M. McGehee, with Mrs. C. L. Jackson and Mrs. J. A. Price, associates; Superintendent Young People, Mrs. G. O. Salassi, with Miss Carry A. Vineyard and Miss Francis Dunbar, associates; Superintendent Adult, John D. Saint, with Mrs. J. M. Love and Mrs. J. E. Selfe, associates.

Dr. G. A. Perkins spoke of his work with the American Bible Society, covering a period of ten years. Dr. Rex Singletary also addressed the conference on Lay Activities. Needless to say, the report of the Resolutions Committee thanking the good people of Kentwood for their splendid hospitality was adopted by a rising vote. Ponchatoula was chosen as the place for the next district conference. With but little time, Mr. S. S. Thomas, Conference Centenary Treasurer, ably presented this important work. All present pledged their support and co-operation to the presiding elder in his efforts to clear the debt on the district parsonage.

Dr. C. W. Crisler, of First Church, Baton Rouge, preached a masterful sermon on the closing night.

O. H. CLINE, Secretary.

Report of Committee on Law Enforcement.

We, your Committee on Law Enforcement, wish, in the following report, to call attention to some phases of this grave question:

1. We deplore the rampant lawlessness manifested recently in the shocking murders of officers on duty upholding our laws. We feel that there have been various contributory causes to such crimes, not the least of which is the tendency of certain officers themselves to wink at the deviltment of the law violators, and, added to this, a spirit of rebellion on the part of many people who would place individual against State and National opinion, and who would subvert all things to selfish interests.

2. We want law enforcement through proper channels. We believe that a public sentiment demanding enforcement of laws, especially of those laws pertaining to the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act, will go far towards a stricter application of these laws than has before obtained. We recommend prison sentences for violators instead of light fines, which operate as cheap license. We are unalterably opposed to any ~~party,~~ parochial, state, or national, that would nullify or change in any way, except to make it stronger, the Volstead Act.

3. We are entirely opposed to gambling in all its forms, whether it be crap shooting, poker playing, betting on ball games, or race track gambling. We hereby call upon the people to use the ballot and all other legal means to put a stop to race horse gambling in every form. We wish here and now to go on record as unalterably opposed to the threatened commission form of racing, which would make the State a party to the gamble. If all will do their duty, we cannot only check the threat of commission racing, but we can stamp out the evil by law enactment. And we shall be remiss in our duty to God and mankind unless we do.

4. Our attention has been called to the fact that in some localities stores are kept open on Sunday for the transaction of ordinary business. This is in violation of State law, and may be entirely stopped if the citizens will bring charges against the offenders.

While there is much still for us to do we feel that we are making progress towards a better day. Let us not be weary, but let us go forward with great courage and high purpose to the accomplishment of the task God has assigned us.

C. C. MILLER, Chairman.
E. C. GUNN, Secretary.

REV. S. D. ROBERTS—IN MEMORIAM.

Rev. S. D. Roberts was born at Gloster, Miss., in 1890, and died at the sanitarium in Lake Charles, La., May 19, 1923. He united with the church at the early age of eight years. He was married to Miss Rosa Lee Elkins, of Flora, Miss., Dec. 4, 1911. He was ordained deacon and admitted into the Louisiana Conference in 1913.

He served the following works: Ashland circuit; Farmerville; Port Vinson; East Feliciana; St. Francisville; Bernice; Oberlin; McDonoghville; New Iberia, and Sulphur and Vinton.

Brother Roberts died in the strength and vigor of young manhood, being only 33. He was a man of commanding appearance and undaunted courage. When he was convinced a thing was right, he unhesitatingly espoused it. In like manner he spoke against the wrong, thus making, at times, some bitter enemies, but, at the same time, drawing to him a world of true friends.

Notwithstanding he had served the Sulphur and Vinton charge so short a time, he had the confidence and love of the churches. Especially was he a pastor of the men, who looked upon him as a leader worthy to be followed.

His death was very sudden, he having been sick only a few days, dying before his people knew of his serious illness.

The funeral was held at Sulphur. The writer was assisted in the service by Revs. A. W. Waddill, Martin Hebert, and S. A. Seegers, with the Baptist pastors from the Sulphur and Vinton churches. The burial was at Zachary, La., May 21, 1923.

The death of Brother Roberts is a great loss to our church. We deeply mourn his going from our midst, yet it is a consolation to know that he fell at his post of duty. His last work was preaching three sermons on Mother's Day, and attending his third quarterly conference. He leaves a widowed mother, sister, his dear wife, and one little son. May the God whom their loved one served so faithfully comfort their grieved hearts.

His friend and presiding elder,
J. B. WILLIAMS.

MISSIONARY CENTENARY—LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

From the Annual Conference to June 1 this year, there was paid on the Missionary Centenary pledges in our Conference $18,000. These collections are well distributed over the entire Conference, and indicates a better response to Missionary efforts than at any time in the past four years. Numbers of people have made payments on their pledges this year who have never paid anything before. By the close of the fifth year, May 1, 1924, thousands will have paid their pledges in full.

Simmesport Church, Alexandria District; Tunica and Darlington, Baton Rouge District; Magnolia, Monroe District; Lake End, Shreveport District, have paid their pledges in full.

The following churches have paid four years or more:

In the Alexandria District—Forest Hill and Melville.

Baton Rouge District—Alford Chapel, Oak Grove and Wesley Chapel in the Ponchatoula circuit.

Lake Charles District—Church Point, Ludington, and Robeline.

Monroe District—Floyd and St. Joseph.

New Orleans District—Mary Werlein.

Ruston District—Homer.

Shreveport District—Benton, Keithville, and Pelican.

Of the fifteen churches that made the largest pledges, Homer has paid 83%, Carrollton Avenue 77%, Rayne Memorial 70%, First Church, Shreveport, 70%, Lafayette 63%, Minden 62%, Ruston 61%, Mansfield 60%, Noel Memorial 56%, Alexandria 53%, First Church, Baton Rouge, 53%, Lake Charles 43%, First Church, New Orleans 40%, Monroe 38%, and Crowley 35%.

Out of 319 churches that made pledges, 208, or 67%, made definite reports of collections. Considering that many of the churches in this Conference are small and in rural communities, this is remarkable, as the campaign was put on when traveling was the most difficult of any time during the year. Many of our churches have a definite purpose to finish their payments in full by May, 1924.

There are some remarkable incidents of sacrifice in order to pay these pledges. A pastor on a circuit of five churches made a pledge of $1,000, in addition to large pledges made by members of his family. He has since been superannuated, but has paid $600 on same to date. A woman earning $3 a week made a pledge of $18 a year. She has paid her four years in full. Another woman, in order to meet her $25 annual pledge, last year paid same by making more than twenty payments. A lady has paid a $300 pledge to date by paying $3 at a time.

Most of the presiding elders and quite a number of pastors have paid their pledges in full.

STEPHEN S. THOMAS,
Conference Centenary Secretary.

NOTICE.

By some misfortune, the book in which all dates were recorded has been misplaced. I do not remember whom I promised June 24 to. I would appreciate it if all the brethren I have promised to be with after July would drop me a card.

Yours in distress,
Jackson, Miss. JOHN C. CHAMBERS.

Both of these churches are practically up to date with ministerial support. The Sunday school at Lecompte, under the superintendency of Mr. W. B. Robinson, is making great gains. This church and Sunday school are operating a transfer to bring people from the country to the services. This is made possible through the use of the school transfer of Mr. D. J. W. D. KLEINSCHMIDT, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Columbus District.

Recognizing the importance of the Sunday school work in our church, we are going to make the next two reports from the Sunday schools of the District. The reports appearing below are just as the pastors sent them to the presiding elder, except we were forced to shorten some of them for lack of space. You will observe that this report covers only one-half the charges; the other charges will be heard from next month.

* * *

Ethel—We have four churches and seven Sunday schools on this charge, a school at each church and three school-house schools. These school-house schools are serving thickly settled communities not accessible to any church. We had a union Mother's Day service at Ethel, and as a result two mothers have joined our Sunday school at this place who had not previously been reached. All schools using our literature are doing fairly good work.

* * *

Shuqualak—The Sunday school attendance on the Shuqualak charge is larger than ever before in history of charge. The contest, "A trip to Palestine," was put on at Cooksville, and as a result people were reached who had not attended for years. We hope to bring two of our schools up to the "C" standard.

* * *

Mayhew and Sessums—We have six schools in this charge: Mayhew, Sessums, Longview, Kilgo, Smyrna, and Curtis Chapel, with a total enrollment of something over 200. We have a fine leadership at each church, and are looking for great things through our Sunday schools this year.

* * *

Caledonia—There is a Sunday school at each of our seven churches. Children's Day is being observed. Collection from Flint Hill has been sent to Brother Gladney. Effort is being made to adopt the monthly offering plan for the Orphanage. Splendid interest is being manifested. Outlook for the future is good.

* * *

Crawford and Schaeffer—The Sunday school at Crawford is growing. Last Sunday we had an even eighty present, which is pretty good for a place this size. I think every home within the radius of one mile of the town was represented. We received six children into the church recently, a direct result, I am sure, of the work of the Sunday school.

The Sunday school at Schaeffer's Chapel has just recently been organized. It is hard for them to meet during the winter because of the bad roads. I feel, though, we are going to have a good Sunday school there.

We have also recently organized a Sunday school out at Old Trinity Chapel. On the Sunday we organized there was an attendance of something like fifty, mostly children. They say they are going to keep the Sunday school going, and I believe they are.

* * *

Louisville—The Louisville Sunday school is organized in all its departments, has four organized Wesley Bible classes, Missionary Day, a Sunday School Day, a Decision Day and a Rally Day. The attendance is larger than heretofore, and the teaching is becoming more efficient, steadily. The outlook is encouraging.

* * *

Kosciusko Station—The Sunday school at Kosciusko is doing the best work that it has done since I have been here. Every department is well organized, and graded. Our superintendent, Mr. B. G. Webb, is wide-awake, and has associated with him a splendid corps of teachers. We received one into the church a few Sundays ago from the Sunday school, and expect some more next Sunday. A large per cent of our young people remain for the preaching hour, and this always encourages the pastor.

* * *

Artesia—We are much hindered at Artesia for want of room—only one small auditorium for the recitation of six classes. We plan to build classrooms soon.

Our school at Tihhee is composed largely of small children, but the interest is good.

* * *

Columbus, First Church—Mr. J. S. Billups is now the superintendent, and he is starting off in great shape. All the departments are well organized. Beginning next Sunday, the departments meet in their several rooms, and each has its own exercises. We are headed for the "B" Standard. The Workers' Council meets once a month. On Mothers' Day we had 655 present, with 147 men in the Baraca class. The offering was $42.65.

Corinth District.

The following figures, taken from our Corinth District bulletin, may be of interest to some of your readers: Members received into the church the first and second quarters, 122; number of Epworth Leagues in the district, 14; number of Woman's Missionary Societies, 30; number of Sunday schools in the district, 97; amount paid to Christian Education since Annual Conference, $1,816; amount paid on Centenary pledges since Annual Conference, $10,629.50; amount of benevolences provided for in district, $7,257.50; amount paid on salaries, first and second quarters, $11,346.80.

* * *

We want a Sunday school in every church in the district this quarter. Quite a number of schools have observed Sunday School Day. Let the others do so in the near future. If you need programs, drop Brother R. H. B. Gladney, Sardis, Miss., a card, and tell him how many you need. He will send them free.

District Standard Training School.

The Corinth District Standard Training School will be held at New Alhany, Miss., June 25-30—from Monday noon to Saturday noon. We want the largest attendance we have ever had. There were 106 present last year. We want 200 this year. Let all pastors come and bring as many as possible. Dr. Slaton, of Alabama, a great preacher and Sunday school worker, will be with us and teach a class on Sunday School Organization and Administration. This course will be fine for pastors and superintendents especially. It will be good for teachers and prospective teachers and Sunday school secretaries. Mrs. J. M. Wyatt will teach a class in adult class work. Mrs. V. R. McDonald will teach a class in Old Testament. Brother Gladney will teach a class in the Methodist Church and Its Work. Mrs. J. B. Randolph will teach a class in The Pupil. New Alhany always does the big thing. So she says free entertainment will be given to all who will attend this School.

We hope all pastors who have not already done so will secure subscriptions and cash for benevolences in full during this quarter. Let this be done right away before the revival meeting season for the rural churches. The pastors are all on the job, and I believe will do this. Let the stewards to see to it that the salaries of the pastors are paid promptly and in full.

Revival Meetings.

We want a great revival at each church in the district. Every pastor ought to be a revivalist. Do not depend too much on outside help. Hold a revival meeting at each church in your charge, and take in some "new ground." We want at least 1,000 members on profession of faith in the district this year.

Brother McIntosh is using the new district tent at Ripley now. He will hold tent meetings at the following places: Thrasher, July 15; Baldwyn, July 29; Lebanon, Aug. 12; Marietta, Aug. 26. Rev. W. D. Bass will hold tent meetings as follows: Mantachie, July 15; Mooreville, July 29; New Hope, on Dumas circuit, Aug. 12; Falkner, Aug. 22 or 23. Rev. W. A. Wilson will use the new tent at Walnut, July 1; and at Potts Camp, July 15. Rev. E. R. Smoot will use the Booneville tent at Blythe Chapel, July 29; and the new district tent at Kossnth, Aug. 26. Brother Charles Tilman will hold a tent meeting at Booneville beginning June 17. Other meetings are planned in the district.

Quite a number from Corinth District are in Grenada this week attending the Epworth League Conference, Sunday School Conference, and Conference Standard Training School. These promise to be the very best yet held.

AN ADDRESS TO MINISTERS AND OTHERS INTERESTED IN THE REFORM OF MORAL CONDITIONS IN LOUISIANA.

We are facing in Louisiana a State-wide campaign in which the question of maintaining our Prohibition enforcement laws and that of securing laws for the suppression of race track gambling and similar evils will be vital issues.

With no purpose or desire to enter into questions of personal or partisan politics, the Committee on Social Betterment of the New Orleans Ministerial Union is taking this method of calling the attention of all those interested in the moral welfare and advancement of our State to the situation, which constitutes a challenge to the good people of Louisiana.

The interests which have been systematically defying the Prohibition laws, and those which are set for the defense of race course gambling, are wide-awake, and will spare no effort to elect men to the Legislature who can be counted upon to help in the defeat of all reform legislation.

The only effective defense against the weakening of our Prohibition enforcement laws, and against the fastening upon us again indefinitely of the demoralizing presence of legalized race course gambling, which a few years ago was outlawed by the Locke Law, but has been reintroduced under a decision of the courts which practically nullifies that law, is for our people to insist upon the election in every section of the State of representatives and senators of high moral character and unquestioned principles, who can be depended on to stand against all political influences and trickery for a clean State.

There is a sinister significance in the fact that the official head of the Racing Association is himself a member of the Legislature. Such influences as are suggested by this fact must be offset by the election and presence in the Legislature of strong and capable leaders who are uncompromisingly set for thoroughgoing reform.

We, therefore, urge upon all the organized ministers' associations in the larger towns of the State, and upon the ministers and other leaders of the church in every community, to make their influence felt in demanding the election of men whose principles are above suspicion, and proof againest sinister political influences.

We are confident that the moral sentiment of our State, if aroused and alert, is able to overthrow these corrupting influences, as it did in the celebrated fight against the Louisiana State Lottery; but this sentiment must express itself and find adequate public leadership. Now is the time for the Christian sentiment of the State, regardless of denominational lines, to assert itself.

THE LARGEST LAMP.

The world's largest electric light, the nearest approach to sunlight ever made, has recently been manufactured at the National Lamp Works of the General Electric Company in Cleveland. It is a 30,000-watt incandescent lamp of 60,000 candle power and is for use in a motion picture studio. Its wattage is 1,200 times larger than the average household lamp, and the electric power required to operate three such lamps would be equivalent to operating the average trolley car. The lamp has a bulb twelve inches in diameter and eighteen and one-half inches high.—Exchange.

The Call of the Conference Claimants

EDITED BY LUTHER E. TODD, SECRETARY

Board of Finance, M. E. Church, South.

510-513 Security Building, St. Louis, Mo.

HE WILL SEE IT FROM THE OTHER SIDE.

Out of the hurry and worry of this day's busy toil comes without warning the announcement of the sudden death of Dr. T. N. Ivey, editor of the Christian Advocate. This sad news will shock the Church which he has served so unselfishly and with such abandon to her interests. We have experienced so much sorrow on account of our lines being repeatedly broken by the grim reaper that one wonders how the Church can endure such afflictions. The answer is found in the words: "We know whom we have believed, and are persuaded that he is able to keep that which we have committed unto him." There will be many to write concerning the work of this good man in the several positions which he held as a minister of the gospel of Christ. Therefore, I will pass the many things seeking expression concerning him in other capacities and confine myself chiefly to statements with reference to his work as a member of the Board of Finance.

Dr. Ivey was the first man to give utterance to the words the "forgotten man" as referred to the superannuated preachers of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. From the time he wrote a ringing editorial in the Christian Advocate on this subejct, which appeared many years ago, he has continued to urge the Church to take proper interest in the care of her worn-out servants. I do not believe that any man in the history of our Methodism has been more pronounced in his advocacy of this cause than has been this loyal son whose hand and voice and heart now are still.

Prominent among the men who urgently pressed the General Conference of 1918 to create the Board of Finance was Dr. Ivey. He stood with others upon the walls of our Zion pleading with his Church to give attention to those of her servants who had sacrificed everything in her behalf. His paper begged for action. His voice took the words of his stirring editorials on the subject and scattered them in every Annual Conference. His soul in every breathing place yearned for a day of deliverance. On the street, in the office, on the train—everywhere the first topic of conversation of Dr. T. N. Ivey was that of the "forgotten man."

When the General Conference held at Atlanta in 1918 could no longer resist the travail of souls like that of Dr. Ivey in behalf of the neglected superannuated preachers of the Church, it created the Board of Finance and gave it the sole duty of making adequate provision for these men. It is not surprising that Dr. Ivey was named one of the charter members of this Board. He was present at its organization, and he did not fail to attend any of its meetings from the time of its beginning to the day of his death. Furthermore, it can be stated that no member of this organization has proved himself more willing than he to serve the cause, whatever may have been the cost to his personal comfort for serving. Throughout the long period of waiting and preparing for the special effort to secure adequate superannuate endowment he patiently toiled and planned. Frequently when I found it impossible to attend certain Annual Conferences to represent the cause Dr. Ivey very willingly and enthusiastically agreed to do the work for me.

At the annual meeting of the Board of Finance held in St. Louis, April 23 and 24, 1923, we spent two days and two nights earnestly striving to agree upon the detailed plan of the special effort for superannuate endowment. In the midst of that group of willing workers was the editor of the Christian Advocate. His physical appearance at the time impressed me as not reassuring. I felt that he was ~~not~~ bodily equal to the strain of the grinding work we had in hand. However, not one word of complaint fell from his lips. Not one shadow of doubt lingered upon his face. Every moment of time he sat in his place willingly serving to the utmost limit of his endurance and inspired by the thought that the "forgotten man" was at last rapidly approaching the day of opportunity. When all of the stirring scenes coming to my vision out of my work in behalf of our worn-out men have faded from memory, I will still be able to hold in my thought the picture of Dr. Ivey's beaming face when that annual meeting adjourned with so many of those present stating confidently that the cause would surely succeed.

I shall miss my good friend. A shining light has disapepared from beside the uncertain path, and an assuring voice no longer calls to me in words of encouragement. My hand extended for a friendly greeting falls to my side untouched, and yet I know that not very far away, closer than perhaps we think, is this one we all loved and cherished. He will not be with us in the movement in behalf of adequate support for our veteran preachers. He will not have his opporunity in that great effort. Yet I am sure he will not miss a single shout of triumph when the day comes, as I surely believe it will, that Southern Methodism announces to the world that she no longer has a "forgotten man." Then will begin a parade in the streets of the New Jerusalem of the Church's translated soldiers of the cross celebrating one of her greatest victories, and at the head of the procession will be Dr. T. N. Ivey, friend of the "forgotten man."

The Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will deeply mourn her loss of Dr. Ivey. His relation sustained through so many years as editor of the Christian Advocate kept him intimately associated with his Church's life and practice. Among the ministry his name has been a household word, and to thousads of families of lay members he has, as editor, been a most welcome weekly visitor during a period of nearly ten years. It is true, a successor will be chosen to take up this work where he laid it down, but throughout the years the spirit of this noble man of God will continue to live in the hearts of multitudes that loved him so sincerely.

Those of us who are so intensely interested in having the Church, through the special effort for superannuate endowment, remove forever the reproach resting upon her for neglecting her veteran preachers should now press closer together in renewed determination to accomplish this purpose. We cannot do otherwise and be true to a loving appreciation of the work of Dr. Ivey for this cause.

Therefore, out of a heart greatly saddened by the loss of one of the very best workers of the Board of Finance I appeal to the Church to regird herself for the effort which is about to begin. As we go forward we shall be conscious of the spiritual life of such men as Dr. T. E. Sharp, Gov. Lon V. Stephens and Dr. T. N. Ivey, who have wrought with us in the way but now are prevented from further active participation on account of their sudden deaths.

THAT THEY MAY FINISH THEIR COURSE WITH GREATER JOY.

By Bishop James Cannon, Jr.

"But none of these things move me, neither count I my life dear unto myself, so that I might finish my course with joy, and the ministry, which I have received of the Lord Jesus, to testify the gospel of the grace of God." (Acts xx. 24.)

The entire life of the Methodist itinerant preacher who has received a ministry from his Lord to testify the gospel of the grace of God is absolutely dominated by that ministry. His "course" is determined by his Lord. Selected as his special ambassador by the King of heaven, he goes willingly—aye, joyously—to whatever people, to whatever country his Lord directs, carrying the glorious message of reconciliation, that he "may finish his course with joy."

"Worn out in the itinerant service" is not a technical or formal Disciplinary phrase. It is literally Pauline both in language and in intent. Like St. Paul, neither hardship nor affliction nor severe trials—"none of these things move" the loyal itinerant from his supreme, his glorious, his all-absorbing purpose to fulfill his ministry of gospel testimony. Like St. Paul, to "finish my course with joy" is more precious than life itself. "Worn out in the itinerant service," giving to the extreme limit of time and power, is the normal, the expected life of the Methodist preacher. Few indeed, when they enter that ministry, ever weigh against it the thought of those coming "worn-out" days. The less dearly they count their lives unto themselves, the more truly they wear themselves out.

Shall not these men who allowed nothing to move them, these men who have not "counted their lives dear unto themselves," these men who are "worn out in the itinerant service," be counted worthy of "double honor"? And if so, shall not the rest of the Church give them a practical proof that those to whom they have preached the gospel of love to God and to fellow men are such genuine followers of Jesus, the Lord of love and life, that it is not only a duty but a joy for them to supply all the needs of those who have worn themselves out in his service? The true followers of Jesus cannot be guilty of ingratitude, for ingratitude is a most despicable sin. The gift of $10,000,000 requested by the General Conference to help our brethren in age and feebleness extreme will enable them to finish their course with greater joy because such a gift will be a genuine testimony that we are deeply grateful to those who brought to us the good news of salvation.

HOW THE YOUNG KNIGHT WON HIS SWORD.

There was great excitement throughout the great court in front of the king's castle. The tanta-raa, tanta-raa of the herald's trumpet echoed through the hills, and the knights came scurrying up from all directions. They had worked and waited for this hour for a whole year, and now it had come! On a nail near the king's throne hung the prize sword, and the diamond in the hilt was so bright that it rivaled the sun.

What a strange looking band of knights they were! Some carried swords strung to their horses and armor; some had lost an arm, and some a leg. But all hurried eagerly forward at the call of their king. This was the day when the sword with the diamond in its hilt was to be put into the hands of the most worthy knight; the one who lived most nobly; the one whose actions were most approved by the king.

First Sir Terrible stepped before his king; he showed the swords he had won.

"Yes," said the king, "but you took these in the night time. The lord of the castle you attacked was ill and troubled; you took the swords in unfair battle. Such swords are no trophies."

And Sir Terrible hung his head and stood aside.

Next came Sir Bold. He held his head high and he showed the wounds he had received.

"Yes," said the king, "the fight you fought was against the knight who had gone to help the dragon Intemperance. That was no battle for a knight of mine to fight," and he moved Sir Bold aside.

Next came Sir Merry, and he showed the flags he had won.

"Yes," said the king, "but one was the flag that floated from the good ship Mercy; you were cruel when you took that flag," and his eyes filled with tears as he waved Sir Merry away.

Next came Sir Proud with a cloak flung over his shoulder.

"Yes," said the king, "but you took the cloak from one who neded it. It was the poor man's only treasure," and the king motioned this unworthy knight away.

And so he went through the lists; some had done brave deeds, but they were not done in the noble way the king desired. The deeds of others were not good and brave at all, but only shams.

By and by, the king came to the youngest knight of all, Sir Faithful. "And what trophy have you to show?" he asked.

"Nothing, O king, I have nothing to bring," and he hung his head.

"Nothing?" echoed the king.

"No; I did not get out of the sight of the castle wall when I heard the herald call. I new not that the time was passing so fast.

"Ah, but I understand, my faithful one. To-day the little child whom you watched through the fever is playing in the meadow. To-day the old man whom you rescued in the highway is happy in his home. To-day the mother to whom you gave your purse is well and caring for her children. And the windows of the little chapel on the hill which you were to polish are as bright as the diamond in the sword's hilt. You went there every week."

"But those things were only my duty, O king!"

"Ah, Sir Faithful, rightly you were named! Only your duty, little one! Did you think I asked for more?" and he placed the sword with the diamond in the hilt into the hands that had won.

THE TWO PILGRIMS.

Once two men set out together to make pilgrimages to a distant Holy City, where they thought life would be both better and happier than in Muddletown, where they were born.

At length they came to the top of a hill from which they could see the way ahead. Immediately one cried out in despair, "That path is impossible! It runs down to a wide river, and there is no way across that I can see!"

"Perhaps," replied the other quietly, "it is only a shallow river and there will be stepping stones."

"But see that great mass of rocks tumbled across the way," the other continued. "We shall never climb over them."

"There may be a way around them if not over them," said his friend.

"And see there!" cried the first pilgrim, excitedly; "look at that great mountain towering up beyond the river. It is surely too steep to climb."

"Then we will cut steps up and over it," said the other calmly.

"Oh, but this is too much," the other went on. "As though the path were not difficult enough! Look at that lion in the way."

"It may be gone before we get there," replied the secod pilgrim.

"I cannot go on," said the other despairingly. "I must stop on this hill till I see my way through."

"It is true I can't make out the path very well," replied his companion; "but I mean to take a closer look at these difficulties—so fare you well."

So on he went, leaving the grumbler on the hill.

Presently he found a clear little spring by the wayside where he gratefully refreshed himself. A little further on were pleasant trees yielding both shade and fruit. For the rest of the way it was as he had expected. There were stepping-stones over the river—not easy to traverse, but not impossible either; the lion he saw from time to time, but always it kept its distance, much more afraid of him than he of it. There was a path round the mass of rocks that lay in the middle of the way, and a well-trodden, though difficult, pass over the mountain.

At length he reached the Beautiful City, and found it better than his best dreams.

The pilgrim left behind on the hill followed his comrade's course with utter astonishment, watching through a pair of field glasses. "How did he do it?" he said to himself in wonder, and at last plucked up courage to follow, saying to himself, "Surely, what one pilgrim can do another can also!"—The Christian World.

When he appoints to meet thee, go thou forth—
  It matters not
If south or north,
  Bleak waste or sunny plot.
Nor think, if he thou seek'st be late,
  He does thee wrong.
To stile or gate
  Lean thou thy head, and long!
It may be that to spy thee he is mounting
  Upon a tower,
Or in thou counting
  Thou hast mista'en the hour.
But if he comes not, neither do thou go
  Till Vesper chime.
Belike thou then shalt know
  He hath been with thee all the time.

The Scripture emphasis has unfailingly this distinction, that a Presence is unveiled in whom the soul can rest. We are not dealing merely with laws of life which it is our welfare to heed and our destruction to ignore. The confidence reaches behind and beyond the laws, and it seeks the One whose thought and purpose find expression in them.—J. H. Jowett.

DEATH OF REV. J. A. HALL.

The sudden death of Rev. J. A. Hall, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Tupelo, Miss., on Wednesday night, May 30, removed one of the most prominent and greatly beloved members of the North Mississippi Conference. According to the press notices of his death, he was in his usual health on Wednesday, conducting the weekly prayer meeting, and showing no signs of the approaching end. He went to bed about 11 o'clock. About midnight his wife was awakened by his heavy breathing and called a physician immediately; but the end came before the physician arrived.

Brother Hall was fifty-six years of age. He was born in Indiana, but came to Mississippi many years ago and entered the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in which he was unusually successful. He filled some of the leading appointments of his Conference, having served Louisville, Como, Winona, Grenada, Greenwood, and Tupelo, being in the last year of a quadrennium at Tupelo at his death. He was a "four-year man," always winning the affection of his people.

The funeral services were conducted on Friday following his death by Rev. T. H. Dorsey, presiding elder of the Aberdeen District, the body being carried to Greenwood for interment. The Advocate extends sincere sympathyy to his sorrowing family and friends, and prays that the consolations of the gospel may sustain them in their bereavement. We shall expect to have a suitable memoir for publication in due time.

REV. IRA B. ROBERTSON TRANSLATED.

Dear Brother Carley: We buried Rev. Ira B. Robertson at McNair yesterday, June 7. He died at 7 o'clock p. m., on Wednesday, after several weeks' illness. He was a bright and happy Christian down to the end, and in full triumph of the Christian faith he simply slipped away to be with God and his loved ones on the other side.

A more extended notice will be given soon by Dr. W. H. Huntley.

J. R. JONES, P. E.

The above note from Brother Jones, presiding elder of the Vicksburg District, Mississippi Conference, gives the sad news of the death of one of Mississippi's itinerant heroes. Brother Robertson was one of the "grand old men" of Methodism. Having spent a long life in the service of the church, he now enters into a rich reward. We feel a sense of personal loss in his going away, for we knew and loved him. Our sincere sympathy is extended to his loved ones.

THE SEASHORE CAMP GROUND SCHOOL.

It was the privilege of the editor of the Advocate to deliver the commencement address for the Seashore Camp Ground School, Biloxi, Miss., on Tuesday evening, June 5. A large audience gathered for the closing exercises, and the occasion was, in every way, a delightful one. A class of seven received their diplomas of graduation—seven young men and young women who will reflect credit upon the institution. The commencement sermon, delivered on the preceeding Sunday by Rev. Robert Selby, of Vicksburg, Miss., was, in the opinion of those who heard it, a great utterance. The people were still talking about it when we were there, the general verdict being to the effect that it was one of the best sermons ever preached in the tabernacle.

According to the report of President Van Hook, the session just closed was one of the best in the history of the institution. The attendance has been good, the work done has been of high grade, and the spirit of the student body has been admirable. Notable improvements have been made on the campus, the old Wesley Hall and the Epworth Lodge having been torn down, Keller Lodge having been painted and refurnished, and the grounds having been beautified in various ways. The only thing needed to make the Seashore Camp Ground School one of the great preparatory schools of the South is a sufficient amount of money to provide adequate buildings and equipment to take care of the growing student body.

Preparations were well under way to take care of the Seashore Divinity School, in session this week, and the indications were that this would be an unusually fine session of this important gathering. We almost envy those who will have the privilege of spending the full ten days in attendance upon its courses.

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

Mr. George L. Hawkins, of Hattiesburg, Miss., and Miss Lucy Irwin Shannon, were recently married in Nashville, Tenn., Dr. F. S. Parker performing the ceremony.

A note from Mrs. J. E. Wimberly, of Port Arthur, Tex., speaks tenderly of the many friends in Louisiana and Mississippi that she keeps in touch with through the Advocate.

Dr. Theodore Copeland is now engaged in a meeting at Marianna, Ark., which gives promise of great results. Dr. Copeland recently conducted a very fine meeting in Lincoln, Cal.

Rev. John T. Sawyer, D.D., offered the prayer at the commencement exercises of the Sophie B. Wright Girls' High School, this city, on Monday evening, June 4. Eighty young ladies were graduated.

We thank Mr. Hardy Sims Williams, son of Rev. John L. Williams, for an invitation to attend the commencement exercises of Tulane University on Wednesday morning, June 6, at which time he received his degree from this great institution.

The bulletin of the Noel Memorial Methodist Church, Shreveport, La., for June 3 was a Centenary College number. Noel Memorial is the nearest Methodist church to the college, and it ministers largely to the religious life of the institution.

A note from Rev. C. T. Floyd, of Webb, Miss., informs us that Rev. O. L. Savage went to the Methodist Hospital, Memphis, on June 5, for a very serious operation. We are sure the many friends of Brother Savage will remember him in their prayers in this trying time.

Mrs. T. N. Ivey has notified the authorities of Trinity College that she will give the library of her late distinguished husband to the college library. Dr. Ivey was a member of the class of 1879, and for many years was a member of the board of trustees.

Rev. A. A. Bernard, of the Gueydan and Estherwood charge, Louisiana Conference, was in New Orleans last week, accompanied by his wife, who was receiving medical attention at Touro Infirmary. We are glad to learn that Mrs. Bernard's condition is not serious.

The North Mississippi Conference Epworth League Assembly had a great session at Grenada College, beginning on June 4. More than 200 delegates were in attendance. Bishop H. M. DuBose was present and delivered a series of great addresses.

We learn that Rev. T. D. Lipscomb has been transferred from the Grand Cane charge to the Sulphur and Vinton charge, Louisiana Conference, to fill the vacancy created by the death of Rev. S. D. Roberts. Rev. B. C. Taylor will succeed Brother Lipscomb at Grand Cane.

Rev. Floyd W. Dick, of the West Virginia Conference and recently in the Candler School of Theology, has been appointed to serve the Zwolle charge until the approaching session of the Louisiana Conference. He writes that he has been royally received by the good people of Zwolle.

We greatly regret not being in the office when Dr. Charles W. Crisler, of Baton Rouge, La., called on Tuesday of last week. He was in the city to attend the graduating exercises of the Sophie Newcomb College, at which his daughter, Miss Elizabeth Gregg, received the Bachelor of Arts degree.

Dr. Felix R. Hill, Jr., has resigned the presidency of Westmoorland College, San Antonio, Tex., to re-enter the pastorate, and Rev. E. R. Stanford, recently with the General Sunday School Board, has been elected to succeed him. Dr. Hill was formerly a member of the Louisiana Conference, where he held leading appointments and where he is held in the highest esteem.

Our deepest sympathy goes out to Rev. and Mrs. D. B. Boddie, of Glenmora, La., in the sorrows that have befallen them. Brother Boddie's father was buried on April 24, and Mrs. Boddie's father was buried on June 2. Brother Boddie's official board has granted him a much needed rest of four weeks, which he will spend in Franklin, Tex.

Rev. Claude P. Jones, our pastor at Magnolia, Miss., spent several days in New Orleans last week receiving medical treatment. We are glad to say that he was greatly benefited. We learned from him that the church at Magnolia, which was seriously damaged by fire several months ago, has been repaired and that it was used for worship on the first Sunday in June.

Rev. W. M. Sullivan, presiding elder of the Seashore District, Rev. J. A. Moore, presiding elder of the Newton District, and Rev. W. W. Graves, presiding elder of the Hattiesburg District, all of the Mississippi Conference, are issuing district bulletins, copies of which they have kindly sent to the Advocate office. We learn from these bulletins that the work of the church is making fine progress in these districts.

At the recent commencement of Centenary College, Shreveport, La., the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon President C. C. Selecman, of Southern Methodist University, and the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon Rev. R. H. Harper, of New Orleans; Rev. A. S. Lutz, of Shreveport, and Rev. H. D. Knickerbocker, of Houston, Tex. These are honors worthily bestowed.

We learn with sorrow of the death of Dr. Paul Foster, of Aleandria, La., on May 20. We extend sincere sympathy to the sorrowing loved ones and friends.

General Evangelist R. J. Haskew of Dothan, Ala., will hold the Indian Bayou revival through the week beginning the fourth Sunday in June and closing the first Sunday in July.

Rev. G. A. Morgan, of Bastrop, La., writes: "We are in the midst of a great revival. Rev. Elmer C. Gunn, of Bogalusa, is doing the preaching. Great crowds are attending the services."

Rev. J. S. Maxey, the pastor, writes that everything is moving along nicely on the Winona circuit, North Mississippi Conference. He has received twelve new members since Conference.

Felicity Methodist Church, this city, observed last Sunday as "Felicity in full" day, an offering being taken to meet the assessment of $678 for the Benevolences. The entire amount was secured in cash and subscriptions as good as cash.

Shreveport, La., Methodism suffered a great loss recently in the death of Mr. A. W. Baird, one of the most prominent citizens of North Louisiana. Mr. Baird was actively identified with the First Methodist Church, and was foremost in all movements for the welfaro of the community. The editor of the Advocate has lost a personal friend, and he extends sincere sympathy to the sorrowing family.

Rev. Earl B. Moll, evangelist, requests us to say that he has decided to move his headquarters from Wilmington, N. C., to Meridian, Miss. His permanent address will be P. O. Box 308, Meridian. He has some open time early in the fall, which he would be glad to give to meetings in Mississippi. He is now with Rev. J. A. Wells in a meeting at McComb, Miss., where mail will reach him until June 24. After that time, he should be addressed at Meridian.

Rev. J. W. Lee, presiding elder of the Baton Rouge District, requests us to make the following changes in his quarterly conference dates as previously announced: Slidell, July 1, p.m., instead of a.m.; Covington, at Mandeville, July 29, a.m., instead of August 5; Franklinton circuit, at Fitzgerald, July 29, 3 p.m., instead of a.m.; Franklinton station, August 5, a.m., instead of July 29, p.m. These changes were received too late for insertion in the regular list this week.

Judge H. H. White delivered the address at the Memorial Day exercises held in Alexandria, La., on Sunday afternoon, June 3. The address is printed in full in the Alexandria Daily Town Talk of June 4. The address is a review of the life and character of Jefferson Davis, and, in our judgment, it ranks with the greatest eulogies that have been pronounced upon the illustrious leader of the Confederacy. Judge White is a great lawyer, a profound student of history, an orator of no mean ability, and a Christian gentleman in every sense of the word. He would make a mighty fine Governor of Louisiana.

Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Wynn, of Shreveport, La., accompanied by their two daughters, Misses Louise and Pauline, were in New Oriens last week to attend the commencement exercises of Tulane University, at which their son, Robert S., received the degree of Bachelor of Electrical Engineering. These fine parents may well feel proud of the educational equipment of their children, the two daughters being A.B. graduates of Southern Methodist University. Robert will leave within a few weeks for Pittsburgh, Pa., where he will enter the employ of the great Westinghouse Electrical Company.

THANKCS TO OUR FRIENDS.

Price, Foxworth, Miss., 2; Rev. J. T. Abney, Gallman, Miss., 2; G. W. Holloway, Carson, Miss., 4; Miss Camilla Garlington, Reids, La., 2; Rev. J. E. J. Ferguson, Summit, Miss., 2; Rev. B. M. ## METHODISM IN THE VICKSBURG DISTRICT.

publisher of the New Orleans Christian Advocate, to contribute $1,000 to Centenary College, was accepted. A resolution was passed, indicating that camp meeting associations were assuming rights to invite preachers to lead the meetings, whereas, according to the resolution, this was the proper function of presiding elder and pastor. The final benediction was pronounced by W. B. Hines.

With the founding of Millsaps College at Jackson, Miss., the General Conference of 1894 put the two Feliciana Parishes of Louisiana into the Louisiana Conference, thus locating Centenary College of Jackson, La., within the boundary of the Louisiana Conference, instead of within the Mississippi Conference, as it had been previously; and the Woodville District went out of existence, succeeded by the Natchez District, which by and by, with the coming of economic disasters wrought by floods and boll weevil, was, with some loppings off to other districts, merged with the Vicksburg District, and called Port Gibson District, until the Annual Conference of 1920 fixed the name as Vicksburg District.

Ten years ago, April 16, 1913, the Port Gibson District Conference met in Centerville, with T. W. Adams, presiding elder, Elmer C. Gunn, secretary. Rev. F. M. Adams was recommended for admission on trial into the Annual Conference. T. B. Holloman preached. R. A. Maddox, Conference Sunday School Secretary; W. M. Williams, Manager of Orphanage; Robert Selby, Conference Secretary of Education; L. L. Roberts, Agent for Whitworth College; C. M. Chapman, President of Port Gibson Female College; H. W. Van Hook, President of Seashore Camp Ground Training School; H. M. Ellis, Memphis Hospital Commissioner, all addressed the conference. Ira B. Robertson called attention to the poor attendance of laymen at quarterly and district conferences. R. A. Meek, Editor of the New Orleans Christian Advocate, was commended for his championship of worthy causes. At 3 o'clock the second day the conference took a recess, to attend a reception given by the ladies of the church. A committee was appointed with authority to sell all the district property except the Camp Ground, and with the proceeds to settle all debts on any of said property, and, if there should be funds remaining, build a district parsonage at any place they saw fit. In the Temperance Report joy was expressed that the overwhelming Christian sentiment of the people of the United States had found expression in a Federal statute which prevented the shipping of liquor from a wet State into a dry one. Governor Brewer's attitude in this matter was commended, and he was urged to do what he could to stop the sale of liquor on De Soto Island. A resolution was passed, directing local preachers to conform to the law of the church in reference to making their reports. W. W. Hopper, reporting for the Committee on Christian Literature, stated that one New Orleans Advocate was taken for every eighteen members of the charges reporting. A communication in regard to revivals, signed by all the presiding elders of the Mississippi Conference, was read. The conference adjourned at noon the third day, to meet at Port Gibson the following year.

At present the Vicksburg District, with J. R. Jones, presiding elder, is composed of twenty-two pastoral charges, covering all of the six counties in the Mississippi Conference which border on the Mississippi River, and parts of several other counties, including the cities of Vicksburg and Natchez, and the towns of Anguilla, Mayersville, Rolling Fork, Louise, Silver City, Port Gibson, Harriston, Fayette, Hamburg, Roxie, Knoxville, Stevenson, Gloster, Liberty, Centerville, Woodville, Washington, and other smaller towns and villages. At the 1923 district conference the reports indicated that 250 additions to the church membership had already been made. New church buildings had been erected at Stevenson and Carey; important improvements had been done on parsonage property at Port Gibson, Woodville, and other points; and a district parsonage at Vicksburg had been purchased. The presiding elder is justly proud of the fact that there has come to the laymen of the district during the four years of his administration a larger view in regard to provision for the support of the ministry, in that there has been a total of $10,000 increase in the salaries of the twenty-two pastors, some of them now receiving nearly double what they received formerly. The ladies of Port Gibson spread dinner each day of the conference under the stately oaks of the church yard. As many as thirteen of the larger, or Annual Conference, causes, were represented by their various agents; and all the other usual business and preaching accompanying a district conference had their place.

DOG TRAMPED 592 MILES.

Our Dumb Animals tells of a Scotch collie that tramped 592 miles to reach his old home. Mr. George Schaub was the owner and he verifies the story, which first appeared in the daily papers. This is the story as Mr. Schaub tells it:

"Shep was about fourteen months old, when, on Nov. 16, 1921, we shipped him to my wife's aunt, Mrs. John Welty, who lives on a cattle ranch at Owen, Wis. He stayed at Owen till Jan. 30, 1922, as we learned from Mrs. Welty, who wrote soon after, telling us that he had disappeared. On March 2, 1922, at 4 o'clock, Shep appeared at our door. He was a skeleton, his hair was matted down, his feet were worn and almost bleeding, his toenails were worn off. He sat down in my kitchen and cried as though he was a human being. When the children asked him, "Shep, did you come home?" he would cry. And the children cried, and my wife almost cried. When I came home, Shep cried again. He could not bear for us to leave him a moment. When he would lie down he would growl, as he seemed completely worn out. For two weeks we had to treat him very tenderly. We have now broken him of his whining ways. There can be no mistake about his being my dog; I could not believe he was, as all collies look so much alike, till I recognized his only distinctive mark—his tail was broken at the third joint. Shep is the life of our family now. He will never be sent away again."—Florida Christian Advocate.

The minister's salary would not be so far behind if some saints would pay as voluminously as they pray.—Selected.

RESOLUTIONS

Adopted by the New Iheria Methodist Sunday school and church, May 20, 1923:

Whereas, it was the great privilege and pleasure of the young people especially, as well as the other members of this church, to be associated for two years with their friend and former pastor, REV. S. D. ROBERTS;

Whereas, his pleasant companionship with our boys and girls, in planning with them, mingling in their social events and taking part in their games and recreations, endeared him to them and aroused in them greater interest in the Master's work;

Whereas, his good fellowship among the men attracted many who had not hitherto affiliated with or joined the church and caused a marked increase in their attendance on church services;

Whereas, the happy co-operation of his estimable wife in his work with the girls and ladies of his congregation greatly quickened their interest in the League, Sunday school and Missionary work of the church and created a healthy condition in the religious life of the congregation;

Whereas, his close personal touch and companionship with the members of his official board caused them to arouse among the church membership a more liberal response in financial matters than ever before, despite generally depressed business conditions;

Whereas, his ardent zeal for the causes that appealed strongly to him sometimes caused those who were not in sympathy with his views to misunderstand and misinterpret his motives and thereby shorten his period of marked usefulness to this community; and now,

Whereas, our Heavenly Father, in His infinite wisdom and love, has taken our beloved friend and former pastor to his higher reward;

Therefore, be it resolved,

1. That we, the members of the New Iberia Methodist Sunday school and church, in joint session assembled, wish to give expression to our sense of great personal loss and to extend our sincere sympathy to his bereaved wife and mother, his little son, and the other members of his family.

2. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to his family, to the New Orleans Christian Advocate, and the local press of New Iberia and Sulphur, La.

FROM SPRING HILL (LA.) STATION.

My Dear Brother Carley: Just a few things more from the little city that nestles quietly in the wooded hills of Wehster Parish.

We are in the Ruston District, one of the best districts in the Conference. We have as good a presiding elder as ever went the round. Dr. Dodson is a good man and good preacher. We are peculiarly blessed here at Spring Hill with as fine a little bunch of people as any place can boast. Our membership is small, but we are alive and awake and are making some progress along all lines, as can be seen in the few following statements. Our Sunday school attendance has more than doubled, and now it about equals the membership of the church. Our prayer meeting is well attended and we are preaching to practically a house full every service.

A special feature of our work is a service for men only, once every month in the afternoon. In these services I simply try to call men to Jesus and a better life. Out of these services I have taken several fine men into our church. We have three hundred and more men in these services.

We are preaching to the children one Sunday afternoon in each month. In this way we are instructing the children in a definite way.

We are trying to lend a helping hand to every influence for the good of the community at large, and feel that we have made a favorable impression along this line, as we were honored with the request to preach the commencement sermon at the close of our fine affiliated high school, also make the graduating address to the class from the elementary school.

We have organized a ball team for the boys of the high school, to hold them together through the summer and, too, to give them this clean sport to take the place of loafing, etc. We have also organized the Boys' Scout for the younger fellows, and both these arms of our work are proving a real success.

In all of these activites I have the sympathetic support of my church; indeed, this is the source of the successful execution of the plans. Our God is graciously good to us.

Brethren of the Conference, pray for us. We simply want to do our best, and I know that your prayers will prove a great asset.

We have set the fourth Sunday in June to begin our revival effort, and have been very fortunate in securing Brother W. C. Childress, of Minden, to do the preaching. We are very hopefully expecting a great meeting. After this, the matter of eliminating a church debt will claim first place for a season. Then will come the round-up for the "All aboard for Bogalusa." I hope to meet you there with the best report that you or I, either, ever had.

T. W. ST. JOHN.

SUMMER AT MOUNT SEQUOYAH.

Methodists of Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana, and Arkansas who need rest, inspiration and recreation this summer should plan to visit Mount Sequoyah, where the Western Methodist Assembly will be in session from June 20 to Aug. 26.

There will be a fine program every day, beginning with Bishop Atkins and Hon. Josephus Daniels, June 20. The best people will be there and the best things will be offered. There will be opportunities for study at the University of Arkansas, and for golfing, bathing, boating, fishing, and sightseeing in the picturesque Ozark region. At an altitude of 1,720 feet the days are pleasant and the nights cool. The cost will be extremely low. Rooms may be had for 50 cents to $1, and meals at the cafeteria will be wholesome and reasonable in price. Railroad fare is only one-and-a-third fare for the round trip. An automobile camp offers every convenience for those who prefer to live in their cars or in tents. Most of the roads to Fayetteville are good.

All who expect to buy lots should come early and make selection, as the number is limited. Write to Prof. J. L. Bond, Superintendent Western Methodist Assembly, Mount Sequoyah, Fayetteville, Ark., for information.

Make your plans to see this wonderful new resort belonging to the 700,000 Methodists of the Southwest.

A. C. MILLAR,
President Board of Trustees.

FROM REV. W. D. BASS.

Dear Brother Carley: I have closed a successful two weeks' meeting with that very fine man, Rev. W. W. Perry, at Standard and Olla, La., where I also had the pleasure of being with the talented presiding elder, Rev. W. L. Doss, Jr., of Alexandria District, one day, whom I judge to be an exceptionally capable man for the position he holds. Of course, his preachers and people love him.

We are now one week in a genuinely great revival with Rev. J. F. Waltman and his good people at Trout and Good Pine. Everybody here loves Brother Waltman. The Baptist people are united with us in full speed. I shall continue here through the third Sunday this month. Then I have two weeks' vacant time. Can take my tent and singer and hold another two weeks' revival somewhere before my engagement comes due in North Mississippi. Who wants a great revival? I am happy in Jesus. Write at once.

HELP FOR EXPECTANT MOTHERS

Many Cases Reported of Women Being Kept in a Normal, Healthy Condition by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mothers transmit to their children the blessings of a healthy constitution. How important, therefore, for the child, as well as for the mother, that she should carefully guard her health during the trying pre-natal period. Preparation for a healthy maternity is accomplished by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as evidenced by the following letters:

Trenton, N. J.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before childbirth on the advice of my mother for nervousness and weakness. I was irritable, cranky and easily worried. Housework seemed so hard, and at times I was really unfit to do it. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound overcame this condition, my nervousness disappeared and I felt like a different person entirely, and I hope this letter will lead other women who are in this condition to try it."—Mrs. L. BOCKOVER, 188 Kirkbride Avenue, Trenton, N.J.

"No Praise Too Great"

Litchfield, Ill.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my son was born as I was not strong after the birth of my first child. No praise is too great for what it has done for me. When my daughter was growing up and needed it I gave it to her and it relieved her pains. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done a great deal for me and many of my friends."—Mrs. J. B. MARTIN, 717 Clay Street, Litchfield, Ill.

It Helped Mrs. Harris

Miami, Mo.—"I was a nervous wreck before my child was born and often had to remain in bed with cramps and sick stomach. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I gained strength and health. It is unequaled for this purpose and I recommend your medicine at every opportunity."—Mrs. Jo W. HARRIS, Lone Maple Farm, Route 2, Miami, Mo.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE NOTES

By some oversight, $6.51 ought to have been reported on the Monterey charge, Lodebar Sunday school. So far, the schools have been responding nicely. I trust that this will be the banner year in every respect.

Sunday was spent with Brother Hunt, at Lorman; we went to Bean's School House on this trip also. We had a good day. Brother Hunt is hard at work, and he has won the hearts of the people. There is a spirit of progress, and we trust this shall be crowned with many forward movements on the whole circuit. Lorman organizes a men's prayer meeting and proposes to move up on this line.

Thursday, Friday, and Saturday were spent at Grenada, in the Conference-Wide Sunday School Conference and the Conference Standard Training School. They had over 100 registered for credit in their courses. The Conference meeting had many good features. They set high goals and will in all probability be able to reach them. The leaders were delighted at the fine representative body who were present at the School. This is sure to be a blessing to the church at large.

The college has the finest dormitory I have ever been in—comfortable, convenient, modern. Dr. Countiss is in high favor. His student body are boosters and have the real college pep. May their tribe increase in all our schools!

Brother Stephens is putting over the Department of Religious Education in a meaningful way. He is also helping in no small way to make the Training School all it ought to be.

Dr. Richardson, of Northwestern University, is delivering a series of lectures on New Testament interpretation that will be of lasting benefit to all who hear.

Brother Hull is hard at work.

Yours in Him,

BISHOP DuBOSE AT DURANT, MISS.

Dear Brother Carley: The writer has lived in Durant for the past twenty yers, and during that time three of our bishops have preached for us on various occasions, one of these being the dedication of our church in 1919. We have a membership of 342 in a town of about 2,000 inhabitants, so you may imagine with what interest and enthusiasm our congregation received the announcement from our pastor that he had been so fortunate as to arrange with Bishop H. M. DuBose to preach at the morning and evening services on the first Sunday in June. We could scarcely believe that one of our leading Bishops, with his official home in San Francisco, should leave his family in their summer home in Charlottesville, Va., one day in advance of the regularly appointed time, that he might accept an invitation to preach in Durant—not Memphis, Louisville, St. Louis, or New Orleans, mind you, but Durant, Miss.

His coming was fairly well advertised, and loyal Methodists from the surrounding towns of Goodman, Pickens, Camden, Sallis, Bowling Green, and West helped to swell the large congregations which greeted the Bishop as he delivered two discourses, which were among the most powerful ever heard in our community. Scholarly, profound, logical—his utterances came from the soul of a man in whom there could be no doubt of the depth of his spiritual nature and of his strict orthodoxy. There is no taint of rationalism about Bishop DuBose, and he seems to have no fear of being classed as not intellectual when he advocates in no uncertain terms the necessity of every loyal Methodist and every loyal Christian remaining true to the "faith of our fathers" and accepting the Bible in its entirety as the inspired word of God. He accepts the old book as literally true from Genesis through Revelations—Jonah, whale and all—from the raising of the widow's son by Elijah to the raising of Lazarus from the dead by Jesus—from the creation of man and the Virgin birth to the bodily resurrection of Jesus Christ. He says he has made a study of the claims of the higher critics for the past twenty-five years, and he is having published at the present time a series of booklets, some from his own pen, and some from the pens of other authorities, refuting these claims. This series is being published by Lamar & Barton—about one a month—under the title of "The Aftermath Series." The first one is now available, and this as well as the future booklets may be procured from the publishers for 25 cents each.

To some of us who are within the Grenada District and the North Mississippi Conference, he told some things about his work which made us look upon him in open-mouthed wonder. He presides over the Arizona, Pacific, and Northwestern Conferences, and until the beginning of this year, the New Mexico Conference was under his jurisdiction. He says his territory includes an area equal to that included within an imaginary line drawn from San Antonio to Chicago, thence to Portland, Maine, thence to Key West and back to San Antonio. He has presided at every District Conference held in any of his conferences during the past six years, and has preached in nearly every church in his various conferences. Think of it! I could tell you many other things about him and his work which we gleaned from his conversation if it were not for fear of trespassing on your valuable space. But all Durant laymen join me in saying, "Long live Bishop DuBose! May his tribe increase!" Who knows? He might be assigned to the North Mississippi Conference some time!"

His Headaches, Soon Headed Off

Kentucky Man, Who Suffered With Severe Headache, Says He Found Relief by Taking Black-Draught.

Endicott, Ky.—Describing the trouble he used to have with headache and how he obtained relief by taking Thedford's Black-Draught, Mr. Jeff Jervis, of this place, says:

"I began having severe headaches. I can't tell just how they would begin, but soon my head felt like it would split open and I would be so sick I felt like I was paralyzed.

"I would have shooting pains in my neck, and if I turned my head I felt like it would crack at my neck. My eyeballs were tore and I would vomit. I would be 'torn to pieces' for a day or two. I would take headache medicine and feel so queer afterwards I'd be scared. I didn't feel right—I felt numb.

"I was telling a neighbor and he said: 'Get some Black-Draught and take a big dose when you feel a headache coming on.' I did it and took a few doses each night. Soon I had these headaches headed off. Now it is very seldom I have one at all. I just keep Black-Draught and use it when I need it. I don't let myself get constipated."

Thedford's Black-Draught has been found to relieve many of the symptoms described above, and others, when due to constipation or a torpid liver. It is a purely vegetable remedy, made from carefully selected herbs and roots, contains no dangerous drugs, and acts in a natural way on the system. Try it. Sold everywhere.

AGREES WITH REV. H. T. YOUNG.

Dear Mr. Editor: Writing in the New Orleans Christian Advocate of May 31, our esteemed brother, Rev. Henry T. Young, says: "No one can read the message and statement by our Bishops published in the Nashville Advocate of May 11, and in the New Orleans Christian Advocate of May 17, and longer deny or ignore that heretical teaching and preaching is practiced to some extent in our church." Brother Young's position is well taken and is timely. The action of our last General Conference in regard to the driving away and banishing of all strange doctrines contrary to God's Word clearly indicates how serious the situation was regarded by it. Those persons who have, from time to time, pictured the church as being in a flourishing condition spiritually were simply ignoring the facts in the case. The heretical teaching and preaching that is being done within the jurisdiction of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, ought to be strongly and fearlessly opposed and quickly stopped. Immediate action, wisely directed, is the need that the exigencies of the times demand. If the sound preachers and laymen do not make their influence felt in combatting these evils, the blame for existing conditions must necessarily rest upon their shoulders. In the third verse of Jude wo are urged to "EARNESTLY contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints." Efforts made to correct heresies form a moral obligation that has been endorsed and put upon us by the Bible itself, as well as by the action of our late General Conference, and are not as hurtful to the church as are the evils which they antagonize. It is a self-evident fact that God will not long continue to prosper our church if these matters are not set right.

FIRE INSURANCE FOR CHURCH PROPERTY.

Although the year 1922 saw a much larger amount of property value wiped out by fire in the United States than during any previous year, excepting that of the San Francisco conflagration, when as a consequence, quite a number of insurance companies were driven out of business, the National Mutual Church Insurance Company continued its increasing usefulness uninterruptedly; paying each loss promptly, and this, notwithstanding the fact that the losses sustained under its policies aggregated $150,008.53 as compared with $112,321.90 in 1921 ($23,548.67 of which occurred too late in the year to be adjusted before the books closed).

Until the late months of the year, losses were running almost twice those of the corresponding period of 1921, which was quite out of proportion to the growth in business, furnishing a striking demonstration of the adaptability of the system used, to existing condition.

The company again calls attention in its annual report to the importance of its Inspection Department, which has rendered important assistance to policy holders by bringing to their attention dangerous conditions, the remedying of which has saved many churches from destruction that would otherwiso havo occurred sooner or later.

We join tho management in earnestly recommending that prompt attention always be given to the suggestions and inquiries made by the Inspection Department. A large part of the fires each year are communicated from other buildings. In this was its experiences reflect to some degree, the effect of the generally unhealthy conditions with which society has been wrestling of late and which inevitably produces an abnomal number of fires. This condition makes the sort of service rendered by this company more valuable than ever.

We call attention to the outstanding character of its work:

Those responsible for the care of church and parsonage properties are reminded that it is their duty to keep these properties insured as carefully as though they owned them all individually. No careful business man would think of covering with insurance less than 75% of the value of his business establishment or home; and no man or woman should be continued on the Board of Trustees who cannot appreciate their responsibility to the other members of the church.

From the time the company accepts a risk, which it does on the easiest terms consistent with safety, the management gives to the policyholders the benefits of a long experience in the problems of fire prevention.

When the damaging and sometimes totally destructive fire or windstorm comes, adjustment and settlement is prompt and satisfactory. This can be testified to by the holders of the policies, who have received approximately one and three-quarters of a million dollars ($1,750,000) for losses that have been sustained during the nearly quarter of a century this company has been in business.

Those who are not already policyholders can obtain full information by writing to Henry P. Magill, Secretary and Manager, 1509 Insurance Exchange, Chicago, Ill.

THE NORMAL THING TO DO.

The fact is that man has turned aside from the noble life, and has deceived himself into the belief that sin is normal. They think they can find happiness in wine and revelry. They bow down to false gods and worship them. They must turn around and go back. They must find the truth which is in Christ. That is normal, and only that can feed their ravening hunger for what can give to them abiding happiness.—Methodist Protestant.

START SOMETHING.

We detest negative characters—those silent figures in a restless, bustling world. We despise the sort that is content with the mummy life. Somehow we like the fellow who does something, and does it wrong, far more than we do the fellow who does nothing for fear he will do that something wrong. Start something! There's tonic in a dare. Scare somebody—antagonize something. Only the dead keep quiet. They are very quiet.—Northwestern Christian Advocate.

HUNGRY FOR THE PURE GOSPEL.

We believe that there is a widespread desire among the people for a godly ministry—preachers who know the Lord, whose lives are wholly consecrated to His service, who are being consumed with a zeal for Christ, the spread of His gospol, and the salvation of souls. A prodigal people are beginning to hunger for the bread of life in the Father's house. They are growing tired of all sorts of dilutions of tho truth, and teachings that lead away from Jesus; that belittle, instead of exalting the cross; that make much of everything, instead of our Lord and His blood atonement for the sins of men.—Pentecostal Herald.

GET MR. WELLS TO HELP.

With the statement that the orthodox faith of the Christian church is an unfortunate inheritance from mediaeval Christianity and that the old order has passed away, the Tyson Lectureship Foundation announces through the Associated Press that a new Bible will bo written "in the light of the twentieth century" by the Rev. Stuart L. Tyson, honorary vicar of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. We would suggest that the services of Mr. H. G. Wells might prove valuable to the promoters of this enterprise. Yet candor compels us to say that a large number of publishing firms in all quarters of the globe will continue to hold on to the plates of the old Bible for further use.—Christian Advocate (Nashville).

After Thorough Trial a Detroit, Mich., Man Endorses Pe-ru-na

The following letter written from Detroit, Michigan is no snap judgment expressed on the merits of Pe-ru-na, the well-known catarrh remedy, but rather a mature, sober opinion formed after a full year's trial.

This is the way Mr. Michael Fako of 906 East Palmer Avenue, in the Michigan Metropolis, writes: "After using PE-RU-NA for about ono year will say I have found it a very good medicine for catarrh. It has helped me a great deal and I am very well satisfied. I have gained in weight, eat and sleep well, my bowels aro regular and better color in my face.

"PE-RU-NA has done wonders and to me is worth its weight in gold. I shall continue to use PE-RU-NA as long as I live and recommend to my friends who are troubled with catarrh."

Nothing can be more convincing than an endorsement of this nature from an actual user. There are many people in every community whose experience, in using Pe-ru-na, has been identical with Mr. Fako's. It is tho standby for coughs, colds, catarrh, stomach and bowel disorders and all catarrhal conditions.

Belcher was the scene of perhaps the most enthusiastic district conference the women have ever held in this section. Thirty-three went from First Church alone, and other Auxiliaries were represented in proportionately large numbers. Mrs. J. M. Collins, newly elected district secretary, presided with ability and poise, looking after every interest very carefully. Mrs. F. N. Breazeale, of Pelican, was secretary of the conference.

Mrs. R. G. Dowell, of Mansfield, gave the Bible lesson, "Faith."

Mrs. S. A. Alexander, of Greenwood, spoke of her impressions of the Annual Conference in Monroe, stressing the "Candle Service" and the Children's Work very forcibly.

Miss Hattie Renfro, City Missionary of First Church, spoke, out of a fund of rich experience, on the practical methods of doing Social Service.

Mrs. B. F. Key, Conference Superintendent of Young People's Work, expressed unusual gratification at the splendid representation at Belcher, saying it was by far the largest of any district conference she had yet visited. She stated that a Rally will be held for the young people soon. She showed a poster that had been prepared in the interest of Bible Study, depicting vividly the desperate need of study of the Word if the Christian life is to be maintained in any sort of healthy fashion. She asked those who were willing to pledge to spend one hour a day in Bible study, to sign their names on the reverse side of this poster. She has followed this plan in all the conferences she has attended, upon request of our Conference Superintendent of Study, Mrs. Z. T. Gallion, of Natchitoches.

Mr. S. S. Thomas, Conference Secretary-Treasurer for the Centenary Movement, briefly outlined a plan by which those of small means may easily pay up their pledges. He said: "If you cannot pay your Centenary pledge in full, send in small amounts; pay frequently if it is inconvenient to pay in large sums." He spoke of the wisdom and foresight of the women in their investments of Centenary money as shown by the large advance in value of properties they have acquired; for example, the Los Angeles property, for which they gave $60,000, has been appraised at $97,800. St. Mark's Hall, in New Orleans, pronounced by Worth M. Tippy as the finest plant of its kind in the world, is valued at $150,000. If any one is disposed to "knock" the Centenary Movement as an extravagance, it is because they just do not know. In Louisiana we have the advantage, from one standpoint, that out of every seven dollars contributed, five comes back into Louisiana. Therefore, we can well afford to do everything possible through all of our activities in getting Centenary subscriptions paid. Out of $18,000 set aside for Paine College, not one cent has been appropriated for use (up to the 22d of December); of the $100,000 for Scarritt, which is strictly our own institution, not one cent has been given them just because the great demands have come in and the pledges have not come up to the demand. Out of $740,600 pledged, we have paid up $355,300—not quite one-half, and just about one more year in which to pay the balance.

Mrs. H. B. Sperry, Conference Superintendent of Social Service, newly elected, was introduced and spoke on Daily Vacation Bible School, Boys' Clubs, Tennis Clubs, and Inter-racial Work. Referring to the last mentioned, she gave it as her deliberate opinion, after carefully studying the matter, that one could not be a Christian and refuse to give the help to less-advantaged peoples, who look to us for such aid.

Special music of a high order was furnished throughout the day by Mmes. R. T. Douglas and A. F. Vaughan, of Gilliam.

The "Best Things that Have Happened in My Auxiliary" was told by volunteer speakers. Mrs. R. E. Smith, president of Noel Memorial Society, said she wished to report as her "best," the deepening spirituality of her women resulting from Bible study and clearer understanding of the prayer life, manifesting itself in larger gifts and greater devotion to His cause. Another "best" she considered was their participation in the Inter-racial work in Friendship Community Club recently formed by Mrs. W. W. Holmes and her committee at St. James M. E. Church, Shreveport.

The High School girls, under the direction of Mrs. W. J. Bynum, of Belcher, presented a most impressive pageant, "Aunt Tillie Learns to Tithe."

The elegant banquet prepared by the people of Belcher of all denominations and the Methodist folks of Gilliam, was greatly enjoyed. Mr. T. D. Connell, one of our most faithful laymen, assisted by others of his kind at Belcher, attended to the barbecue of the delicious meats, and was very attentive and helpful in every other way.

By vote, it was decided to take the district conference to Grand Cane next year.

MRS. R. H. WYNN.

Minutes for the Ruston District Meeting.

The Ruston District Conference of the Woman's Missionary Society was held in Ruston on May 15 and 16, with Mrs. J. F. Giles, of Springhill, La., district secretary, presiding.

The Bible lesson was given by Mrs. Z. T. Gallion, of Natchitoches, who ably demonstrated the superiority of the discussion method over the lecture method.

Mrs. V. C. Cupp, president of the Ruston Auxiliary, spoke of "Our Conference Outlook."

Mrs. J. F. Giles gave "Our District Outlook," outlining her plans for the year's work and asking for the cooperation of all.

Mrs. B. F. Key, Superintendent of Young People's Work, presented the vital need of enlisting the Young People in the work and preparing our leaders for to-morrow.

Mrs. Key also presented for Mrs. W. T. Cunningham a very interesting chart, showing the need of Bible study in our lives, and asking every woman who would agree to spend one hour each day in Bible study and prayer to sign her name on the back.

Mrs. Giles and Mrs. Key told of their visits to St. Mark's Hall and Houma, La., and of the wonderful work that is being done there.

The devotional for the afternoon session was led by Mrs. N. E. Joyner, of Ruston.

Mrs. J. H. Mullin, president of the Springhill Auxiliary, gave "Our Auxiliary Outlook," bringing out many points for discussion.

Mrs. Gallion, Superintendent of Mission and Bible Study, spoke on this phase of the work.

"Abide With Me" was beautifully rendered by the Methodist Ladies' Quartet of Ruston.

Mrs. Giles spoke on the "Social Service Work," and especially of the Inter-racial work, reading a paper persented by Mrs. R. H. Wynn, of Shreveport, to the Interdenominational Conference on Inter-racial Co-operation in New Orleans in March.

An interesting and helpful institute on minutes was conducted by Mrs. Dawson, of Haynesville, La.

Mrs. Pitts, of Ruston, closed the meeting with prayer.

The program Tuesday night was given over to the Young People, assisted by the Ruston choir, with Mrs. J. M. Henry leading the devotional. Mrs. Giles also added much to the pleasure of all by her beautiful solo. The Young People, under the direction of Mrs. N. E. Joyner, presented two pageants, "Aunt Tillie Learns to Tithe," and "The Foolish Virgins." Mrs. B. F. Key also made a short talk.

The ladies of Ruston served the delegates with lunch at noon, and after the adjournment of the meeting took them for a visit to the Methodist Orphanage, for no visit to Ruston is complete for a Methodist without a visit to this wonderful institution. It is an inspiration to all to see the work that is being done there.

Why Take Laxatives?
Discovery by Science Has Replaced Them.
Pills and salts give temporary relief from constipation only at the expense of permanent injury, says an eminent authority.
Science has found a newer, better way—a means as simple as Nature itself.
In perfect health a natural lubricant keeps the food waste soft and moving. But when constipation exists this natural lubricant is not sufficient. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication.
As Nujol is not a medicine or laxative, it cannot gripe and, like pure water, it is harmless and pleasant.

JEWS ARE NOT SATISFIED.

Jews, it is said, are becoming Christian Scientists in large numbers. Rabbi Lichtenstein, of New York, is reported as deploring the fact that 70,000 Jews in that city have joined the Christian Scientists. It is hard to believe that this is true. But if it is, what does it mean? At least it shows that these Jews are not satisfied with their own religion. We do not believe that as shrewd and sensible people, as the Jews as a class are, will long stay with the Christian Scientists. We can only hope and pray that having been weaned away from their prejudice to the name of Christian, they may eventually turn to the Christian church and to Christ.—Presbyterian of the South.

NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Vol. 70—No. 25. Official Organ of the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Whole No. 3515.

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor. NEW ORLEANS, LA., THURSDAY, JUNE 21, 1923. CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

"LET THIS MIND BE IN YOU."

We do not believe in a morbid introspection that produces unhappiness and misery; but we do believe in a self-examination that enables us to know whether or not we are in the way that leads to everlasting life. In application of this belief, it is well for every professing Christian, preacher and layman, now and then to consider his state of mind in comparison with that of the Master to see what his real state is. The first care of the Christian is to be sure that he himself practices the teachings of Christ. He may well be concerned about what other people do and think, but he must be clear in his own conduct before he can claim to be in a position to regulate the lives of others. The world has never had much respect for the opinions of those who "say and do not," and it is not likely at this late day to take as its chief exponent of the Christian faith those who fail to manifest in their own attitude the mind that was in Christ. The form of godliness without the power thereof, is, of all things, the most helpless.

IT IS SUFFICIENT.

Judge Elbert H. Gary, the president of the American Iron and Steel institute and one of the best known business men in the world, recently made a trip through the Orient, including the Holy Land. Upon his return, at the annual meeting of the Iron and Steel Institute, held in New York City on May 15, he took occasion to speak of his travels and, in connection therewith, to say something concerning religion and the Bible. His statements are so straightforward and definite that we believe they are well worth reproducing for the benefit of any who may be inclined to think that the Bible is in danger of being discarded and that religion is losing its hold upon people. Among other things, Judge Gary said:

"There is only one way of fairly and finally settling any controversy or question, and that is, in consonance with the principles of the Christian religion. Whenever a nation or an individual reaches a point where, as the result of war or of shipwreck, or otherwise, immediate destruction is inevitable, assent to the idea expressed is natural and well-nigh universal. There are multitudes of people who believe that the fundamental and controlling doctrine of the nation's laws should be in accordance with the principles of the Holy Bible and that every lawmaker and administrator should be compelled to endorse and practice its undeniable precepts. * * * One who reads of or personally witnesses evidences of the rise and fall of great nations and communities and cities, whose ruins are so great that they attract the attention and admiration of the entire world, is led to believe that an over-ruling God determined their destinies. * * *

"If you should decide to visit Palestine, which it is hoped you will, before and after doing so thoroughly read again your Bible, this classic of classics, all in all the most interesting and fascinating of books. There are contained many things which, taken literally, we may not understand. It is not necessary and it would perhaps be a waste of time to try. Our minds are too small, our understanding too limited. Possibly in some material respects the published interpretations are literally incomplete, misleading, or inapplicable to our time. But in the main the language, as used, is accurate and well authenticated by science and by actual observations. The moral and religious principles of the Bible, both Old and New Testaments, have never been and can never be successfully combated. Since the preservation of history commenced there has never been anything approaching the Holy Bible as a literary production or a code for proper and desirable human conduct, or as the foundation for future hopes. If any here should believe this is an exaggeration, which is not probable, read again this book and you will be surprised. Visit Palestine, in the light of and under the inspiration of the Bible. Things that could easily be destroyed are there. The landmarks of Palestine are as described in the Bible. The River Jordan, the Dead Sea, the Sea of Galilee, Mount of Olives, the Valley of Jehoshaphat, and many other places familiar to Bible readers—all these are indisputable evidence of the accuracy of that book in historical recitation. * * * In short, the more we read and study, the more we must be convinced of the absolute reliability of the 'Book of books.' Much more than all this, the better men we will be, the more grateful we will be, and the more anxious to have our country and the affairs of all its inhabitants carried on in conformance to its precepts."

Judge Gary does not speak, of course, from the standpoint of the technical scholar; but he does give the matured convictions of a mind that has proved itself able to grapple with the intricate problems that arise in connnection with the management of one of the greatest business enterprises on the face of the earth. He finds it "sufficient"—which is all that needs to be said to the man who would know God's will concerning him and who is looking for a way to be saved from his sins. The Bible stands the "pragmatic test"—and that is enough.

GOOD-BYE, MR. SMITH.

Governor Smith, of New York, has been "prominently mentioned" in various quarters as an available candidate on the Democratic ticket in the next presidential election. Governor Smith doubtless possesses many qualifications for the highest office in the gift of the people, and, so far as we know, he is an estimable gentleman personally; but when he signed the bill repealing the enforcement law of the State in support of the Constitutional prohibition amendment, in our humble judgment he eliminated himself from any possibility of being elected to the presidency. The Democratic politicians may think that the "solid South" will stand for any candidate they may choose to bring out; but let them attempt to foist upon the people of this section a man who has definitely aligned himself with the forces that are fighting prohibition and they will find that they have sadly mistaken the temper of the South If Governor Smith had any hopes of becoming president, he might as well relinquish his aspirations in that direction and busy himself with plans that have some prospects of success. As a presidential candidate—good-bye, Mr. Smith.

WHAT THE SECRETARY OF WAR THINKS.

At the recent conference in Washington on religious and moral training for soldiers, Secretary of War Weeks delivered a brief address in which he said, among other things: "I feel personally, as all men must who have passed the meridian of life, a growing inclination towards religion and religious life. I speak in the broadest sense, of course. I am fearful about the results that have come and are coming from the late war. Civilization is not, as I see it, as stable a quantity as it was before the great war. The civilization of the world is threatened. Nothing will hold mankind better together or be of as much benefit to men of all nations as religion."

There are two significant things, we think, in this statement. The first is that as men grow older they become more and more inclined toward the religious life in a general way. We do not mean to say that their tendency is to espouse vigorously the cause of religion as they pass the meridian of life, but to look with greater seriousness upon the things that have to do with the spiritual nature, with moral obligations, and with the future. They have had experience with the things that are temporal and know what is involved in them; but as these begin to fade away, their minds inevitably turn to a consideration of the things that abide forever. We imagine a fruitful ministry might be exercised by our preachers among those of advancing years who are thus forced to think upon the spiritual verities.

The second significant thing is the added testimony of the Secretary of War to the value of re-

THE LATE ATTACK ON THE VIRGIN BIRTH.

By H. Walter Featherstun, D.D.

There was a weak attack on it made in the first century and carried over into the second by a sect of "Judaizing Christians," nicknamed Ebionites, signifying "poor," or rather a term often heard on the lips of our negroes before the Civil War, "poor white trash." As many of Christ's early followers were, like himself, "poor in this world's goods," the fact was not a reproach, although it was often accompanied with a haleful degree of illiteracy; though some of these poor were like our Lord and his Apostles, who were by no means illiterate. Against this Ebionite heresy John inveighed fiercely: "Many deceivers are gone forth into the world, even they that confess not that Jesus Christ cometh (hath come) in the flesh. This is the deceiver and the antichrist." II John, 7. "Every spirit that confesseth that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is of God: and every spirit that confesseth not (this) is not of God: and this is of antichrist." I John, iv, 3. Ignatius, the earliest of the Apostolic Fathers, and said by some to have been the "little child" mentioned in Matt. xviii:2, writing to the Ephesians, not long after the death of John, says: "Where is the wise man? Where is the disputer? For our God Jesus Christ was, according to the dispensation of God, conceived in the womb of Mary, of the seed (or line) of David, by the Holy Ghost." To the Trallians, he writes: "Stop your ears, therefore, as often as any one shall speak contrary to Jesus Christ, who was of the race of David, of the Virgin Mary." Polycarp, a little later than Ignatius, who suffered martyrdom about 150 A. D., wrote to the Philippians, evidently quoting John: "Whosoever does not confess that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh, he is antichrist."

Under these and similar sledge-hammer blows these Ebionites passed away, some becoming orthodox as to the Virgin Birth issue, and others blending with a later sect called Gnostics, some schools of which denied the Virgin Birth, while others did not. Dr. James Orr, in his great book, "The Virgin Birth of Christ," page 138, says: "Apart from the Ebionites, or narrower section of Jewish Christians, and a few Gnostic sects, no body of Christians in early times is known to have existed who did not accept as part of their faith the birth of Jesus from the Virgin Mary" (black-faced type his). Dr. Orr quotes Harnack, one of the most radical of German doubters, thus: "It is certain that already in the middle of the second century, and probably soon after its beginning, the birth of Jesus from the Holy Ghost and the Virgin Mary formed an established part of the church tradition."

Beginning about the fifth century of the Christian era, there raged for several centuries bitter controversies over the two natures—the divine and human—in Christ: but not at any time, so far as this writer can discover, was the Virgin Birth involved. The ages-long old doctrine as stated in our creed has been all along the Christian centuries denied by Jews, Pagans, and infidels of various grades; but not until 1892, and only then in Germany, was any denial of it heard in any real Christian church. See Dr. Orr's book, pp. 5 and 6. So the title given to this booklet, "The Late Attack on the Virgin Birth," is strictly accurate.

On what grounds is this late attack based?

1. They say that Mark and John make no mention of the Virgin Birth. Were this statement accurate, it would in no sense and to no degree be an argument against it. Neither of them denies the Virgin Birth. Their silence, if a silence there is, cannot be construed into a denial. While they do not give details as Matthew and Luke do, because those details having been already given did not need a restatement—Matthew having given them for Jewish Christians, and Luke for Greek-speaking disciples; but the fact is, both John and Mark do affirm the Virgin Birth. John, in his first chapter, says: "The Word was God * * * and the Word became flesh and dwelt among us." The only way ever indicated for God to become flesh is through a Virgin Birth. If John did not believe in the Virgin Birth, when he came to state that God became flesh in the person of Christ he most assuredly would have contradicted the statements made by Matthew and Luke long before. No man has ever undertaken to show that the details of that Virgin Birth in Matthew and Luke were interpolated or smuggled in after John had written his Gospel.

Three times in his Gospel John speaks of Christ as "the only begotten Son of God." The language is strongly guarded: good men are spoken of as "sons of God"; but Paul explains by adoption: "Ye have received the spirit of adoption whereby we cry, Abba, Father." Rom. viii. 15. "Having predestinated us unto the adoption of children." Eph. 1:5. Christ is presented here not as an adopted Son, but as a "begotten Son"; and as the "only Son of God"—all other sons of God have become "sons of God" by some other method. The phrases, "Son of God," when applied to Christ, and "only begotten Son of God," involve the fact of a Virgin Birth. That John did strongly believe in the Virgin Birth is indicated in his Epistles; notably in the passages already quoted in his vigorous attacks on the Ebionites from his First and Second Epistles.

Mark begins his Gospel with a strong endorsement of the Virgin Birth: "The beginning of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, the Son of God." The man Jesus is the Son—"the only begotten Son" of God. How? By means of a Virgin Birth. If not, why not? How otherwise?

METHODISM IN LOUISIANA.

By Rev. S. J. Davies.

When the early Methodist itinerant preacher began to declare his gospel of "free grace and full salvation" in Louisiana, he found a people different from the inhabitants of the upper States. In fact, we may say that religion as we understand it—a factor in the life and conduct, a social and pervasive power among people—was a negligible quantity. The type of Catholicism which prevailed was tolerant and easy; a revolt against the narrow and bigoted Spanish type of intolerance which had prevailed. In fact, the average Louisiana citizen of to-day has little disposition to persecute any one on account of religious views—he simply smiles and passes on. Pioneer preachers from the "Natchez country," as that vast tract of country lying east of the great river was called, appeared from time to time and preached as opportunity afforded. The history of their heroic struggles forms an epic in annals of early Methodism, too extended for full treatment in this paper.

In 1847 the Louisiana Conference was organized in the town of Opelousas. A regular charter was granted it under the signature of P. O. Hebert, who was at that time governor of our State. This charter grants all the rights and privileges usually conferred upon corporate bodies. The charter members of the Conference were John C. Keener, H. N. McTyeire, R. Randle, J. B. Walker, S. J. Davies, L. Parker, Philo M. Goodwin, and L. A. Reed. Three of these were afterwards elected to the office of bishop, and all were eminently useful in the work of the church. Never did heroic soldiers of the cross contend more earnestly to gain a foothold in some far-off missionary field than did these early preachers and their immediate successors.

Louisiana Methodism is also represented by a large contingent of colored people. All the well-known branches of Methodism obtain among them. The Colored Methodist Episcopal Church is well represented. This branch is in "apostolical succession," since it is confined to the negroes and their descendants who were loyal to the church under whose care and tutelage they were converted. Besides these, there is a large membership of the M. E. C. in Louisiana. Their membership in total, I think, exceeds that of the whites. The writer, having been a member of the Louisiana Conference some forty years, has never known of a trial for heresy among any of their churches, nor has any man limited the freedom of thought. But they have thought right thoughts and preached a "Gospel that is the power of God unto salvation," believing that only the truth attested by the Holy Spirit can save men. They have for the most part been kept too busy to spend much time in controversy.

This State is the birthplace of many men who are prominent in the church to-day or those whose names were household words among us during the two preceding decades. Charles W. Carter was a man of rare oratorical power and gifted with a style, both in speaking and writing, that was remarkable for purity and convincement. Pure and unsullied in his private life, unostentatious to a marked degree, simple in his wants, kind and fatherly to the younger preachers, his name and fame linger among his brethren like the echo of a silvern horn receding in the distant hills. We fain would hear its jubilant note again. The Parker brothers, Frank and Fitzgerald, the one a profound, eloquent preacher, the other a man of rare literary ability as well as a symposium of knowledge, occupy leading places in the church to-day. The Knickerbockers, Percy, Hubert and Herman, are recognized as leaders and preachers of pronounced ability in Texas. John F. Wynn, father of the presiding elder of the Shreveport District, was one who won many souls to the Master by his kindly ministries by the hearthstone and his faithfulness in the discharge of his duties as a preacher. Robert Parvin, father and founder of some ninety camp meetings in his day, was as original and unique in his methods of winning souls perhaps as any man known among us. His preaching was intensely hortatory, discursive, tremendous, violating all the rules of the rhetorician, except the one of "action," yet withal tender as a child, simple in his faith as St. Francis of Assisi, and successful in winning souls for his Master. Captain T. K. Fauntleroy, child of the King, was noted for his intense earnestness, a conviction of spirit that not infrequently baffled his stammering speech, and a sincerity that bound him to his friends devotedly. A man who had met death so often on many hard fought fields and never faltered, he displayed the same invincible spirit as a soldier of the Cross. Robert J. Harp needs no eulogy from us. His career as a presiding elder, publicist, and preacher is so well known that it almost precludes mention. Industry was almost a passion with him. He fulfilled the Wesleyan injunction never to be idly employed. Shreveport Methodism owes him a large debt of gratitude.

For efficiency, faithfulness and fruits of their ministry, it [illegible] be difficult to find any who surpassed the Randle brothers, Robert and Thomas. The Lord of Life has called one to his reward; the other finds a home with his son Robert, a useful and earnest worker in the church of his fathers. J. B. Walker, of New Orleans, humorous, brilliant, eloquent; Jno. T. Sawyer, intense, earnest, a revivalist of rare power and a leader in his palmy days; John Pipes, whose name and memory linger like a benediction among the pine-clad hills of North Louisiana; John B. Cassity, masterful as an exhorter and winner of souls; Jas. A. Parker, logician, with a mind of penetrative quality and a command of language which carried conviction to his hearers; B. F. Alexander, quaint almost to eccentricity, yet with an honesty of purpose and a loving heart that disarmed criticism; the Keener brothers, Christian and Samuel, worthy sons of a worthy sire, the grand old man whom we all loved and honored, though he gave rough marching orders at times. The old Bishop knew more about Louisiana preachers and Louisiana ways than any other man who may have tried to honor the office among us. The three White brothers, Frank, Thomas, and Henry, were eminently useful in their ministry. This trio, though brothers, neither looked alike, preached alike nor acted alike. But they were loved by many for their earnestness and zeal.

Who can write worthily of these men or measure the roll call of the saints? They lived and died in the faith and wrought well in their day. But I must close their brief sketch of Louisiana Methodism, leaving much unwritten. May younger men prove worthy in every way as these elder men did.

But no sketch of Louisiana Methodist preachers would be complete without the mention of John A. Miller, whose saintly life and genial character, replete with love for God and man, was not unlike that of St. John; Thomas J. Upton, the man of indefatigable industry and unchanging conviction once he espoused a cause; James L. Wright, a veritable wrestling Jacob at the lofty altar steps of prayer; J. D. Harper, safe, conservative, trustworthy; Dr. Felix R. Hill, eminent as pastor, and college president, with the spirit of Abou Ben Adhem, loving his fellowmen; N. S. Cornell, theologian, well-balanced, quiet, unobtrusive in his life, a man who knew much and said little; Joseph W. Medlock, suave and quiet in his manner and a useful and successful preacher; S. H. Whateley, church-builder and gentleman, with the manners of the old school; Thomas H. McClendon, who was eminently useful as presiding elder and preacher; J. M. Johnston, whose ministry and faithfulness to his church have left their results on many circuits in Louisiana; and Reynolds S. Trippett, who could read a sermon to the delight of his auditors, and who crossed the Atlantic fifteen times to visit his loved English home and, when worn with age and labor, went from his own land to the everlasting shores. All these and many others have in the past wrought so well for God's Kingdom in the earth, but they have left a goodly heritage, wherein we rejoice.

GIVE THE YOUNG A SQUARE DEAL.

Young men may be gifted, studious, and aspiring, and yet not reach the highest standard of efficiency without the encouragement that is due them from those who stand higher in the scale of wisdom and experience than they. Occasionally there may be found one whose courage is indomitable, who will not be repressed by any amount of discouragement or difficulty, one who is determined to succeed against all opposition. But such a one is only an exception to the rule.

While this is true with reference to young men in their chosen profession, it applies also, in a very special manner, to young men of the ministry. The aspiring young lawyer or physician, if he has no other encouragement, knows that by close application he can acquire the ability to force his way by those who stand before him; there are none who can hold him back. With young ministers it is different. They are strictly under authority, subject to those who are in authority. At best their promotion depends upon the judgment of a few men, who may not have had ample opportunity of measuring their ability. And then there are others to be considered and provided for, who, because of their rating in the scale of appointments, may be preferred, regardless of either their ability or acceptability. "The young man has plenty of time yet, and if he continues faithful his promotion will come eventually." And the decision is finally made to hold the young fellow down awhile longer, rather than displace some one in order to give the deserving young man his rights.

Is it possible, yea probable, that there are some men who are held in preference simply for the reason that for a given length of time they have held prominent appointments? We have many good mediocre men who will never be anything but mediocre, whereas, if they had been duly encouraged and promoted as their ability warranted, some of those very men would have been competent and in demand almost anywhere they might be assigned. Instances have come under our observation that verify our assertion. For example: a vacancy is to be filled in one of the leading appointments, and to fill out the unexpired term a good young man from the circuit was sent. Perhaps he never would have reached an appointment of that class by the regular process; but when the end of the year came, his acceptability had been universal, and his success so satisfying that the congregation petitioned his reappointment. Such instances are not infrequent.

Young preachers are men still; they need encouragement, and must be promoted as rapidly as their ability will warrant, if they are expected ever to come to their full strength. Under conditions, some of which have already been mentioned, a few of our capable young men have settled down to be only mediocre men, while some have gone to other fields, where the possibilities are more in their favor.

When our fine young men uniformly receive the encouragement that they should have from their seniors, and the consideration that their attainments really warrant at the hands of the appointing powers, we will not only develop a stronger generation of preachers, but there will be less of the spirit of restlessness among them. I am fully persuaded that some young men who have been called to the ministry hesitate, and in not a few instances have entered secular professions, because they observe that in the ministry sometimes they fail to get the consideration that is due them.

I have had heart-to-heart talks with those whom I have reason to believe felt that the hand of God was upon them, and I have asked them why they halted. They have been very frank with me in expressing their minds. They have said: "Not because we do not regard the ministry a noble calling, high and holy; not because the support is meager, nor because of the hardships of the itineracy; nor yet because we love other professions better; but because our destiny is too entirely in the hands of those who exercise authority irrespective of the rights and privileges that we may think should be accorded us."

"But does not that kind of spirit savor of insubordination?" I have asked.

"Not that," they say, "but we think we have a right to confer with those whose duty it is to send us out."

One splendid young man said to me only recently: "I am in accord with our episcopal form of church government; I think the itinerant system as nearly perfect as any system could be, but in the minds of so many observers there is a question mark as to the wisdom and justice with which the affairs of the church are administered under our system."

Brethren, these things are worth thinking about. Young men of the ministry, and those who are called to the ministry and are struggling to yield, are men every inch, as a rule; young men not only with marvelous possibilities within them, aspiring, self-respecting, and courageous, but still in need of, and expecting that brotherly consideration from those with whom they have cast their lots, and without which they can never come to their best.

A METHODIST.

BISHOP H. M. DuBOSE AT BROOKHAVEN, MISS.

Dear Brother Carley: I just want to tell you about one of the most delightful privileges I have had in a long while. I was fortunate, along with a number of the brethren of the Mississippi Conference, to be able to attend the Epworth League Assembly at Brookhaven last week. It is a rare privilege indeed to come to know so many of the fine young people of our church, and to have a part in helping them in their life decisions and training for Christian service. I thoroughly enjoyed every moment of my association with these young people and those who had part on the program. You will doubtless receive a communication from some one who will give the details of that great Assembly. But there was one feature of our stay in Brookhaven I want to relate.

On Thursday afternoon, Dr. and Mrs. I. W. Cooper invited the preachers of the Assembly to be guests in their home at a 6 o'clock dinner given in honor of our beloved former Mississippian, Bishop H. M. DuBose. It was indeed a very happy gathering and long to be remembered. Every guest was made to feel perfectly at home by the gracious welcome given by the host and hostess. In his own inimitable way, Dr. Cooper first had Dr. H. Walter Featherstun to introduce the first speaker, Rev. Henry G. Hawkins, our pastor at Woodville, who gave a very interesting account of the early days of Methodism in that section of the State, calling attention especially to some of the outstanding laymen and preachers of that time.

Rev. J. T. Leggett was then called on to introduce the guest of honor, which he did in a very happy manner. Bishop DuBose was deeply moved by the welcome accorded him to his home Conference, and laying aside all restraint he entered heartily into the spirit of the occasion. It was thrilling to hear him give reminiscences of his boyhood and early ministry in this Conference. With tender feeling he called attention to some of the great men of the Conference in the past whose lives had influenced his, but among them, no one had meant quite so much to him as the late Charles B. Galloway.

A charming addition to the circle of friends gathered was the presence of Mrs. C. B. Drake, the mother of Mrs. Cooper. The lone layman who was a special guest also was our greatly loved Epworth League President, W. D. Hawkins. The young folks were well represented by John Satterfield. The preachers who were present and so thoroughly enjoyed the gracious hospitality of Dr. and Mrs. Cooper, were: Bishop H. M. DuBose, Dr. H. W. Featherstun, J. T. Leggett, A. M. Broadfoot, A. J. Davis, L. J. Snelgrove, S. B. Watkins, A. A. Sims, Sterling Fisher, J. L. Sells, J. F. Campbell, J. S. Purcell, A. J. Beasley, W. P. George, L. F. Alford, E. A. King, J. B. Cain, H. G. Hawkins, H. J. Oakley, E. D. Simpson, J. W. Thompson, W. H. Vaughn, a superannuate of the Texas Conference, and the writer.

Of the reality of fellowship with God every religious man is assured. Religion implies such a relationship of love and grace on the part of God. How such a consciousness brings strength and comfort to a human heart let every one who knows the power of salvation attest.—Hugh Black.

It's all right to make an inventory of yourself, my son; but let somebody else do the appraising. —Selected.

ECHOES FROM GRENADA TRAINING SCHOOL

We had an attendance of something like 125. Of that number, twenty-seven were precahers and several others just looked in and passed on. They did not have the spirit of the Scribe and the Levite of whom we read, but they had made other arrangements, like the man spoken of in the Book who had married himself a wife and, therefore, he could not come. Many fine teachers and department superintendents and young people, Missionary Society women, Epworth Leaguers, and others were there seeking a better equipment for life's high tasks. It was a wonderfully fine school. It has been said that the spirit of the American soldiers won the world war; I am sure that the Grenada College spirit, backed up by the superb faculty we had, put the school over in such fine shape. It was spirit all the way through.

Miss Nannie Fraser, of Louisville, Ky., taught a very popular course in story telling, and she had a great class. Dr. Norman A. Richardson, of Northwestern, taught a large class in Adult Psychology. Both Dr. Richardson and Miss Fraser will go in a few weeks to teach in the great school at Northfield, Mass., the school founded by Mr. Moody. This fact speaks eloquently of the type of people we are bringing to Grenada from year to year, people as good as the best anywhere. Besides the two already mentioned, we had Miss Spratt, of South Carolina, who taught Intermediate and Senior Psychology. Her class was not so large as some others, but we were delighted with her work. Professor Ferguson, of Millsaps College, gave a course in Old Testament, and Rev. Melville Johnson, the Grenada pastor, taught "The School," which is a course in organization and administration. Chaplain Randolph, who for nearly twenty-five years had been in the service of the nation, rendering particularly fine service during the world war, gave a most illuminating address one evening on his experiences during the war, especially as it bore on the question of religious education. Other addresses were given from time to time, either by some member of the faculty or some one else. A reception one evening near the opening of the school served the good purpose of getting them all acquainted. Stunt night was a howling success if one measures it by the approval accorded the various actors.

The spiritual tides ran high. Sometimes in the class room and sometimes in the chapel at the devotional hour tears were plentiful and many a new resolution was registered. Many volunteered for whatever they could do to help on the great Sunday school program of the church.

Eight or ten of the choice girls of Grenada College will go out to do extension work for the Sunday School Board. This work will consist of teaching classes in Sunday school organization, and in giving whatever aid they can to the Sunday school work wherever they go. About twenty-five schools have already been arranged, and other calls are coming in rapidly. Most of these classes will be taught in connection with revivals being held at the points visited. These young women are seniors, having already received their diplomas from the college. They sing, pray, do personal work or anything that may come up. At many points, two, or in some cases three, churches go in together and have a ten-day meeting. We are expecting some glorious results from this work.

For a day just preceding the training school, there was held a very helpful Sunday school conference. Mr. A. B. Campbell, of Jackson, Mr. Fred Sullens, of the Jackson News, and Mr. Waddy West, of Greenville, made very helpful addresses. Rev. W. C. Owen, of Nashville, was very helpful, not only in his public utterances, but also in his practical suggestions as to the best methods of doing the work laid out for the church. Quite a number of our best workers were present and took an intelligent part in the proceedings. Mr. Waddy West was elected president of the conference for another year.

Among the many things which contributed to the pleasure of our stay at the college were the comforts in the splendid new dormitory, the well prepared meals, the unfailing attentions of the college authorities, and last but not least, the magnificent spirit and tireless enthusiasm of a large group of college girls who kept up their good cheer till the trains were gone. My, what fine girls! If J. A. George and Julian Duncan can't find a girl out of that crowd that they like, they are mighty hard to please. Go it, boys. Tell Mark Guinn how it is done!

Grenada College is an ideal place to hold such schools. This is our fourth year, and we are just getting a good start. Brother Gladney deserves a great deal of praise and commendation for his untiring devotion to the work and for the splendid success which is attending his efforts. The work is taking deep hold of the people, and those who see it first-hand appreciate its value. In this case, seeing is believing.

SWAPPING "SLIGHT ERRORS" WITH BROTHER FEATHERSTUN.

By Rev. Arthur Madison Shaw.

Brother H. Walter Featherstun has my sincere thanks for his graceful compliment to the recent "Musings of a Mental Ruminant"; but the slight error which he discovers is an error, I believe, only when erroneously interpreted. In the statement that "no theory of evolution teaches that man descended from an ape," the writer, of course, had reference to current theories. In harking back to Darwin for an answer to this, he is doing much the same as one who, in reply to the remark that no theory of the inspiration of the Scriptures involves a belief in witchcraft, should quote from Wesley's Journal the statement that we had as well give up the Bible as give up witchcraft! If the modern Methodist may be Wesleyan without accepting every idea of Wesley's, surely an evolutionist may be even a Darwinian without accepting all that Darwin ever taught.

The current theory of evolution is more in line with Darwin's later remark, quoted by Brother Featherstun, that "Man is certainly descended from some ape-like creature." The theory is that men and apes and many other creatures derive their physical being from a remote ancestor who was unlike any of them; that he, in turn, came—along with other species—from an ancestor further back, and so on, back to where life began in its lowest form. Being but a theory, it may not be true. But it is certainly an error to call it absurd. It is not only plausible—supported by a vast array of evidence—but it is surpassingly beautiful. Nor need any one be "shamed to confess such an ancestry." Low as it is, it is far higher than the dust of the ground.

It is a slight error to call Darwin the "father of the evolution theory." The theory was old before Darwin was born. But he was undobtedly its greatest expositor; as he was the greatest naturalist of the last century. His grandfather was an evolutionist, with much the same viewpoint. And it may not be an "error," but it certainly is unjust, to brand the man who humbly believes that the theory is true as a "so-called learned man," while no such reproach is cast at him who is cocksure he knows it is false!

Yes, I agree with Brother Featherstun that God "made man a little lower than God, and crowned him with glory and honor." But, let me tell my brother a story: When I was a little tot, they told me that God made me. Like any child, I wanted to know how He made me: and they said, "Out of the dust of the ground." I believed that then; and I believe it yet. But I now understand it very differently. Then, with the mind's eye of a child, I saw God, in human form, stand and stoop and take up a handful of dust, moisten it and shape it into a tiny human form, and hide it in the woods—where later "Old Grandma Prewitt found it," and brought it to my mother. Later, I learned that the process was very different. At first—for lack of a wise teacher—I was greatly shocked, and my faith in God was mightily staggered. But I learned yet more: I learned that the wisdom and goodness of God are nowhere more manifest than in the very process by which I received my being. God did make me. He did not more truly create Adam than He created me. But He created me by a wonderful process: by organizing a bit of parent life around a new center, and nourishing it with the elements of earth and heaven. God was present every moment in every stage of my development—and He still drives my every heart-beat.

But how did He make the first man? For a long time, I still saw God in human form, making man out of dust in a moment of time. When scientific men told me that here, too, a long, orderely process of development was used, I would have none of it. I thought that it did away with God, by making nature self-sufficient; and so some materialistic evolutionists have thought. But not so. If nature is not self-sufficient, God is sustaining it every moment now. And so He is. He is making the two great gum trees that stand in front of my home; but the process is beautifully slow; He adds a little to them every year. So made He the human race. At least, so very many wise men think.

And why not? If in embryo I passed through numerous animal stages before I was born (eight distinct ones, I believe embryologists claim), do we dishonor God or disgrace man by thinking that the race passed through innumerable lower stages before the first man was reached? In babyhood I was a savage; in childhood—which I remember distinctly back to my third year—I was a pagan and barbarian; in youth I was a half-civilized nomad; and I am somewhat above that now. The world's best minds believe that the race has had a similar development. Has God been less in it than if all His processes had been miraculous and cataclysmic? I used to think so; but I believe I know better now. Why accept the man's view of the genesis of the individual life, and yet cling to the child's view of the genesis of the race? If it be answered, "Because the theory contradicts the cosmogony of Genesis," I reply, "Not more than geology contradicts the literal story of the earth's formation." And the conclusions of geology are indubitable; and they who try to hide the contradictions merely juggle with words. Yet no intelligent Christian worries over giving up the notion that the earth and heavens were made in six days!

After all, the question of creation and Creator is not involved. Darwin declared his belief in a Creator; and his use of the word "creature" involves it. It is merely a question of process. "When I was a child, I spake as a child, I felt as a child, I thought as a child: now that I am become a man, I have put away childish things." To me, God is not "lost among His stars." But He is an infinitely greater God than the one my childhood knew.

However, I am still enough of a child to want to know about processes. Men who loudly denounce evolution hold a view, which, as to process, seems purely negative. We are agreed that God made man; that He made him in His own image. But my mind must visualize a process. In my thought, it takes the form of evolution. Brother Featherstun says it is "absurd." It wasn't that process at all. All right. But there certainly was a process. Now what was it, Brother Featherstun? Put it in concrete, thinkable form.

SAFETY SIGNALS.

By Rev. S. J. Davies.

In the halcyon days of boyhood, when I lived and dreamed among the orange groves and cane fields of Southern Louisiana, there, flourished a beautiful ornamental tree known as the shaddock. Its fruit was usued occasionally for preserves. No native would eat it, for it was ranked with the sour and bitter citrus group. Some one down in Florida called this citrine, "grape fruit," and began shipping it to the acid-liking denizens of the North. It is now found in the market stalls of every city in our land and is served on the breakfast tables of thousands. It is fairly "good eating" if one is lavish with sugar. But I verily believe its size, light golden color, and general appearance have done more for its universal use than its real merit as a comestible. I much prefer the fragrant flavor and delightful, delicate taste of a genuine orange. After all, your boasted grape fruit is only the "introduction" to breakfast, and the real entertainment comes afterward. I eat it just to "carry on" with the company. Maybe the bacon, eggs, and toast are better by the contrast of their real merit.

Ordinary things, ordinary men, may become extraordinary from position, power, place. The glory of the unseen, the [illegible]ert rose and village Hampden, after all, ma[illegible] the forbears of American beauties and Glad[illegible]es of coming centuries. Seed, soil and sunshine and the ever-recurring seasons can and do accomplish miracles. But it does not always depend on heredity or descent. Bluff and Boost are twin brothers. It is right hard sometimes to recognize them apart. Shaddocks become grape fruit because people want it after this manner. I'll leave this field for other moralists.

"Without controversy, great is the mystery of godliness." Then follows that hymn of the primitive church summarizing the mission of Christ. Commenting on the opening clause—so runs the story—an old-time Baptist preacher added, "but with controversy it is all plain; therefore, baptism by immersion is proven." In the affairs of men, truth, like grain, must be threshed out, and only truth inborne by its convincing evidence to our conscious souls can save us from error. Those never-ceasing energies that promote life, growth and development are the giant-like, titanic forces of nature. They disintegrate granite-like hills to build smiling valleys. All the reachings of a larger, loftier life in the intellectual and spiritual worlds are begun, continued, and ended in struggle and striving. I believe the mighty throes among the nations to-day are precursors of a larger kingdom of human welfare and righteousness.

The Fundamentalist and the Modernist are battling right royally in the churches of America. The creed, Nicene, Athanasian, or Apostolic, in our church is a statement of doctrine and faith about which all parties agree. But concerning the inspiration of the Bible and what is meant thereby, the Methodist crowd in Texas and elsewhere are making as much noise and clatter as a Ford with a wet motor stalled in a mudhole. Now don't let any one get alarmed—Lizzie will pull out. The saving grace of a man's life and religion is his conviction of truth, and he is not a good Methodist nor even a loyal Protestant, unless he is loyal and true to its sincere convincement. If you don't believe this, go to Rome; they have authority and tradition there that are hoary with the moss of ages.

The sons of Wesley are the sons of truth, and no one who really has the spirit of this great master would put his brother out of the synagogue because his version and viewpoint of truth may differ. The whole world looks stormy to one who is wearing smoked glasses. After all, the ark is in God's keeping, and charity is the crowning grace of Christ-likeness. Prejudice and passion never settle things, but have a wonderful power to stir them up. I am learning more every day. Columbus was seeking a short passage to the East Indies and found a continent—a new world. The dauntless souls who venture forth on unknown seas find the undiscovered isles that lie in God's great ocean of life.

THE GOLDEN HOUR AND THE GOLDEN CROSS.

By Rev. Charles C. Jarrel, D.D., Secretary, General Hospital Board.

The American people are acquiring the hospital habit. In thirty-six years our population increased 196 per cent and our hospitals increased 4700 per cent. Building contracts for hospitals and sanitariums in 1919 amounted to $32,000,000; in 1920 they were a little less than $42,000,000; in 1921 they were over $55,000,000; and in 1922 they had reached the enormous total of $71,507,400. In addition to the contracts of 1922, there were contemplated enterprises to the amount of $97,255,600. The largest class of patients, by far, is made up from those suffering from mental and nervous disorders. The tubercular patients form the next largest group. The general hospital, or those admitting general and surgical cases, constitute 72 per cent of the total number of all hospitals and 42 per cent of the total hospital capacity.

The Hospital in the Sky-Line.

Let us draw the industrial sky-line of the country. Let us shape buildings in relative sizes, according to the number of persons engaged in each particular industry. The hospitals will be as big as the iron mill and steel mill put together; it will be larger than the boot and shoe factory; it will be nearly three times the size of the packing house.

These hospitals minister to 8,000,000 persons a year, and in serving these 8,000,000 men, women and children, the hospitals must house and feed 1,250,000 people, resident physicians, nurses and employees.

Hospitals in the South.

The nine Southern States of Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina, while having 18 per cent of the total population of the territory, have only nine per cent of its hospital capacity. Mississippi comes lowest, with a ratio of one hospital bed to 1,222. Georgia's ratio is one bed to 673. Arizona is best supplied, with one bed to 77. The States having one bed to less than 200 population are, in relative order, Ariona, District of Columbia, Montana, California, Nevada, New York, Massachusetts, and New Mexico. The hospital of average size would have 92 beds.

The Hospital Tendency.

Our modern civilization has so greatly changed in its domestic life that the hospital has come to be a veritable necessity. Various causes have contributed to this. The domestic woman has been largely replaced by the business woman and the feminine wage-earner; neighborhood nursing has largely passed away; the domestic servant has become a thing of the past in many places, and where present increasingly unwilling to share the extra burdens incident to the care of the sick. Doctors tend more and more to require or persuade patients to go to the hospital. The spread of medical information among the masses has created a new attitude toward the hospital and its facilities for sanitation and healing. Last, the maternity hospital is coming to be looked on as a necessity.

The hospital has thus become a pressing necessity for suffering humanity. This constitutes an open door to the church. The church which washes the feet of to-day will hold the heart of to-morrow. The church which heals the sick is carrying out the command of our Lord and walking into the affections of humanity. The sick man needs a threefold ministry—truth, for his mind; grace for his heart, and medical care for his body. Feeble, faint, depressed, discouraged, lonely, full of foreboding and sick, he needs his church. She can make his sick-room radiant with hopefulness, serene with resignation, and restful with the consciousness that "underneath are the everlasting arms." Those appointed to die need the consolation of the gospel. Our church must build her hospitals, and make them "Hotels of God." She must complete her evolution and round out her fourfold ministry. She must go—that is missions; she must preach—that is evangelism; she must teach—that is Christian education; and she must, though late, discharge her healing ministry to humanity.

The Golden Cross.

As the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, faces this door of golden opportunity, the "Golden Cross Society" is in her hand—a golden key with which to enter in. Its human appeal, its inspiring pledge, its flexible organization, its vast possibilities, will stir all classes, rich and poor, young and old, learned and illiterate, until it "covers Dixie like the dew." The purpose of this Golden Cross Society is to promote kindness in thought and speech, charity in giving, helpfulness and mercy in daily service to the unfortunate, and love to one's fellow-men. It is auxiliary to the General Hospital Board of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Adult Memberships.

Any one desiring to aid needy and suffering humanity may become a member of the "Golden Cross Society" by the payment of $1.00 a year.

Other Memberships.

Children under fourteen years of age may enroll as Junior members by paying 25 cents a year.

|---|---|
| Supporting Memberships | $10.00 per year |
| Sustaining Memberships | 25.00 per year |
| Service Membership | 50.00 per year |

Those who give $100.00 become Life Members. Those who give $500.00 become Life Patrons, and the donor who is privileged to give $10,000 will be invested with the distinguished order of Knight of the Golden Cross.

Use of Funds.

Eighty per cent of funds accruing from membership fees shall be used for the erection, endowment, or support of hospitals having connection with patronizing Annual Conferences indorsed by the General Hospital Board of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South; and 20 per cent of the funds shall be paid into the General Hospital Board. All the money, however, is to be sent to the General Board and administered by it according to the law of the church.

The membership pledge-cards are to be sent in to the General Office, 416 Wesley Memorial Church, Atlanta, Ga., with money to cover. The Golden Cross button is a receipt to the new member. The unused buttons are to be returned to the General Office.

The local Director of the Golden Cross has an important field of service opening up as this new chapter of Methodist history is being written.

NEWS FROM THE WESLEYAN METHODIST CHURCH, ENGLAND.

The Connectional Membership returns, reported by the District May Synods, again show an increase for this year in full members, 7,068; on trial, 3,473; junior members, 3,350.

The words, "on trial," mean that all those who join the church are put "on trial" for three months before being reckoned as "full members." Children and younger folks are for a time reckoned and meet in "Junior Society classes." Is this a better plan than in our American churches? A very significant column is, "Ceased to meet, 13-683."

News of "Revivals" is being reported all over England and Scotland. An almost unanimous vote has been given throughout the Connection for Methodist Union, which may be an accomplished fact in the coming Annual Conference, to be held in Bristol.

A GOLDEN AUTUMN FOR OUR VETERAN HEROES.

By Rev. George Cleaton Wilding.

For fully a hundred and fifty years in this country have our veteran preachers been neglected, overlooked and uncared for. Truly is our venerable superannuate the "forgotten man," despite all he has done for us personally, for the general Church, and for the nation.

Too Busy to Be Square.—The people have been too busy building homes and providing for their own future to pay any attention to the well-being of him who baptized them as little children, led them into the light of the life beautiful, married them, and buried their dead—in a word, made them the sort of folks they are.

The Church has been so absorbed in garnering the abundant golden harvest which has followed the sowing of these devoted leaders that they have lost sight of the sowers and left them to look out for themselves.

The nation has been so taken up with extending and developing its abounding natural resources that it has entirely overlooked these pioneer pathfinders who really are the makers of our civilization, the builders of the republic. They have created the moral tone of our people which alone could hold us together during the stormy years of our national life.

Overlooked, forgotten, neglected, uncared for! What cold, cruel words those are! And yet to quite an extent it is the way of this old world in which we live. Let us look at the record:

Scriptural Indictment.—I read from the book of Esther: "On that night could not the king sleep, and he commanded to bring the book of records of the chronicles; and they were read before the king. And it was found written, that Mordecai had told of Bigthana and Teresh, two of the king's chamberlains, the keepers of the door, who sought to lay hands on the King Ahasuerus. And the king said, 'What honor and dignity hath been done to Mordecai for this?' Then said the king's servants that ministered unto him, 'There is nothing done for him.'" (vi. 1-3.) So as we read the records of these old heroes of our beloved Methodism our hearts are thrilled by their noble deeds. With tears in our eyes we ask: "What has been done for them?" And the cold, chilling answer is: "Nothing!"

Now let us turn over to that rather strange book of Ecclesiastes. In the ninth chapter, verses thirteen to sixteen, I read: "This wisdom have I also seen under the sun, and it seemed great unto me: there was a little city, and few men within it; and there came a great king against it, and besieged it, and built great bulwarks against it: now there was found in it a poor wise man, and he by his wisdom delivered the city; yet no man remembered that same poor man. Then said I, . . . Wisdom is despised, and his words are not heard." What marvelous deliverances have our heroic veterans of the burning heart wrought for us and our people! And yet, like this poor wise man, they are not remembered.

One day the enthusiastic people strewed palm branches in the path and spread their garments out before Christ and cried: "Hosanna to Him who cometh in the name of the Lord!" And in a few days they wildly shouted: "Crucify him! Crucify him!" Think of the fate of the noble old Jeremiah and Savonarola! The writer of the book of Hebrews, speaking of the heroism and devotion of God's faithful preachers of that far-off day and recounting their noble deeds, exclaims: "Of whom the world was not worthy." The same expressive declaration could truly be made in regard to the humble and faithful old Methodist preachers of our day.

We Live in a Time of Progress.—This is an age of vast enterprises. Nothing appalls the American courage and devotion. And the best and highest type of manhood the world has ever known is being developed in our day. Never was the feeling of brotherhood warmer and stronger than it is at this time.

A keen sense of obligation for favors bestowed and blessings received is one of the finest and severest tests of character. Who have done more for us than these blessed men of God, his prophets, whose teachings turned our youthful feet into the paths of righteousness and truth?

The claim of the old preachers, our Methodist veterans, upon the heart and purse of the Church is a just and weighty one and cannot be lightly set aside. All honorable men and women in our fold feel it keenly and frankly admit it. Feeling thus about it, there is no honorable course open to our great Church save to meet it practically and bravely.

The old-age pension idea is growing rapidly in most of the Christian nations, and it readily commends itself to all right-thinking people. In our own country it is making rapid advancement. Our nation makes generous provision for its old soldiers and sailors. Most of our cities so care for their policemen and firemen, and some of the States are taking up the idea of a pension for their retired school teachers. Carnegie and Rockefeller have built up a fund for the comfort of aged college professors. Of late years a number of the great corporations are devising pension plans for their retired workmen. In all of the long list of burden bearers no public servant more richly deserves a generous old-age pension than the white-haired ministers of Jesus Christ.

A Near View of the Preacher.—In most of our commercial callings men take up their life work at about sixteen years of age. To-day the minister of the gospel cannot begin his work till he is about ten years older than that. His training for his high vocation holds him back during these important early years. Thus the business man has ten years start of the minister and is getting well forward in life when the minister is just beginning.

The requirements of the Church are such that the preacher is required to pursue a lengthy, laborious, and costly course of study to qualify himself for his great life work. Most of our pastors are in school continuously for from twelve to fifteen years. The last seven years spent in college and theological seminary are generally at their own expense, say, on an average of about $4,000 in the total, for usually they are the sons of humble parents who are unable to help them.

During these years in the higher institutions these students earn by the labor of their hands what they can, especially in the vacation season. But nearly all of them are compelled to borrow what they lack and pay it back after they get into the regular work of the ministry. Thus they are handicapped when they begin their ministry, and it takes them years to pay what they owe on their education and books.

The first ten years of their ministry will require them to spend a large sum for the necessary books, and this must be kept up during their entire ministry. During these early years their salaries are small, and they are likely to be debt burdened continually. The minister's library is an expensive chest of tools. By this time the family in the little parsonage is growing, and the demand for money becomes more pressing every day.

The congregation feels that the pastor's family must be as well dressed as the families of the chief men of the flock. And the minister's children must be well educated. What church wants rough, ignorant, boorish children in their parsonage? That is a law which must not be broken. Out of the pitifully meager salary of the pastor these promising children must be educated. It is the only way that the educated preacher may endow his children to start them out into the world, and they make good use of it, too. The children of ministers go to the top in all of the callings of life. Why doesn't somebody write a book on "The Children of the Parsonage"?

In most of our village and country churches the preacher's family entertains the most of the church's special guests. If there comes to the church a lecturer, evangelist, a special singer or musician, usually they are entertained at the parsonage, and they are cheerfully and graciously entertained there. But it all costs heavily and comes out of the pastor's slender purse.

In many of our Methodist churches the modest pastor is virtually the overseer of the poor for that community. More cases of need are investigated and more deserving cases of poverty are relieved at the parsonage than in any other half dozen houses of the parish. Out of his humble store he makes many hearts glad every year of his ministry, and his people hear little about it.

In most of our churches the pastor is among the largest and freest givers of his church. His name is usually to be found very near the head of the list in all subscriptions taken in his parish for all sorts of good work. He usually leads his people.

The minister's natural abilities and education fit him for a place in any of the learned professions—law, medicine, college professor, school principal, etc.—or he could have entered upon a business career, being well equipped for such a calling. In any of these lines of life he could have earned a much larger income and thus have provided for the shadowy days of oncoming age. But called of God to preach the gospel of Christ for our sake and the gospel's sake, he turned down all these calls, "esteeming the reproach of Christ greater riches." He thus chose a life of comparative poverty when he might have been comfortably fixed for life.

Be Gracious to Them in Their Old Age.—While ministers' salaries have improved, they have not kept pace with the increased cost of living. To save for old age is an utter impossibility. The value of these men of God to the country cannot be estimated. They have kept the face of the people turned toward God these past two centuries. They have educated the individual and public conscience and made our American civilization. We owe all that we have to-day to them. Can we ever repay them? What a claim they have upon our affection and care! Thank God for them! In return for their sacrifice let us sacrifice freely in this great new pension movement. Let us truly be "stewards of the manifold mercies of God."

"YAM, TOO."

Billy looked after his mother with big, half-timid eyes. Aunt Edith and Uncle John were almost strangers to him yet, for all his little life he had lived in the West until now. Mother had been called away from the house just as they were about to sit down to supper.

"O you darling!" cried nine-year-old Sue as she hugged her small cousin. "Mother, please let me have his chair right next to me."

"Yes, dear, Billy may sit between us."

It was a very good supper, and little Billy was so hungry. There was a great platter of lamb stew, one of his favorite dishes, and there were peas and mashed potatoes, and a dish of big moist sweet potatoes, which Uncle John, who served them, called "yams."

Sue tied on Billy's Peter Rabbit bib with motherly fingers, and Uncle John piled the little boy's plate with good things. At first Billy ate rather shyly, but he was so hungry that his plate was soon emptied.

"What can I give you, Billy?" asked his uncle.

"Some more yam, please," said Billy shyly.

"Good for you," said Uncle John, as he selected a nice, fat, golden-brown sweet potato from the dish. "I raised these yams in my own garden, Billy."

Billy looked expectantly at the platter of meat, but he said nothing else, only politely thanked Aunt Edith, who buttered another piece of bread for him. It took him a long time to eat that big sweet potato, and then he looked wistfully from his plate to Uncle John.

"Well, Billy boy, what can I do for you?" asked his uncle, who had just helped himself to another sweet patato.

"Some yam 'tew, please," murmured Billy.

"You'll have some yam, too? Good!" said his uncle. "I'm glad you like them."

"Are you sure mother lets you eat so much sweet potato, darling?" asked Aunt Edith. "Wouldn't you rather have mashed potatoes?"

"No, thank you," said little Billy. "I—I don't want any potatoes; I want some yam, please."

"Let him have it. How could it hurt the child, Edith?" asked Uncle John.

It was Sue, who had been three and a half years old herself not so very, very long ago, who suddenly discovered that Billy's lip was quivering and was not eating his yam.

"What's the matter, darling?" she whispered. "Tell Sue. What was it you wanted?"

"I—I wanted yam—yam 'tew," he said with a catch in his breath. And then it all flashed over Sue.

"Why, of course, you darling!" Sue's blue eyes signalled mother over Billy's head. "He wants some lamb stew. We—we just didn't understand."

"Why, of course," replied Aunt Edith quickly. "How stupid we were! John, he would like some lamb stew."

"But he said—" Uncle John began, then stopped short at the look in Aunt Edith's face. (How could they have forgotten that little Billy couldn't say all his words quite plainly yet?) "Let me have your plate, old man."

Under the tablecloth Sue's hand found Billy's chubby fingers and squeezed them tight. "After supper," she said, "We will have some fun with the bean bag game, won't we, Billy?"—Northwestern Christian Advocate.

IS YOUR CHILD WELL-BRED?

I remarked to a friend the other day, "Do, you think it well-bred for Jimsy to sit in the house with his hat on?"

"Oh, my dear, you are perfectly absurd! Jimsy's only five and a half."

Which was the prologue to a rather lengthy and a bit hectic discussion of when, where and how a child should acquire good breeding.

My friend contended that a parent need not bother with "such little things" until the child is old enough to become interested himself.

"When he is interested enough, he'll pick it up," she declared.

Good breeding is not picked up. It is either learned in childhood, or not at all. Of course, a certain superficial type of good breeding may be acquired, but not the way-down-deep, always-have-had-it kind that is really charming and worth while.

A young banker in our town, a chap about 21, has passed me repeatedly on the street and spoken, without so much as touching his hat. It seems unbelievable.

It should be as natural for a small boy to lift his hat at the proper time, to stand when a woman enters the room, and to do the hundred and one other little things that are so charming, as it is for him to eat three meals a day, and go to Dreamland at night. If these habits are inculcated in youngsters at an early age, they will never be forgotten.

I was calling at a friend's home the other day, when the son and heir of the household joined us on the porch. He was a handsome youngster, just ready for high school. He had no sooner sat down than it was apparent he had tarried only long enough for a first-class manicure. I could see his mother was very much embarrassed. Personally, I think she deserved to be.

She asked: "John, isn't your bedroom the place for that?"

John was unimpressed. His mother had spoken eight years too late. The manicure was completed with flying colors.

You can tell a well-bred child, one taught the many little niceties of life when quite young, by his lack of self-consciousness. This is the beauty of it all. This and his thoughtfulness.

And, after all, courtesy, charming manners and good-breeding are synonymous with forgetfulness of self.—Selected.

WHAT THE SECRETARY OF NAVY THINKS.

ligion in meeting the needs of the world at the present time. What religious leaders have always known is becoming a profound conviction of those who have not, hitherto, given much thought to the matter. Almost every day some great statesman, some great business executive, some outstanding representative of the business affairs of the world, is expressing it as his belief that the only hope of the world lies in the cultivation of the religious life.

The signs of the times are encouraging. We are passing through a crisis in the world's history, but more and more the things that make for righteousness are emerging in the thought of men as the things upon which we must base our hopes for the future, and more and more Christianity—for Christianity is the one adequate religion of the world—is coming to be recognized as the only possible solution of the perplexing problems with which we are confronted. Light is constantly breaking through the encircling gloom.

THE DEATH OF REV. PAUL M. BROWN.

With great sorrow we announce the death of Rev. Paul M. Brown, of the Louisiana Conference, at Mineral Wells, Texas, on Wednesday, June 13. Brother Brown had been in poor health for several years, at the time of his death being in the supernumerary relation; but the news of his passing came as a great shock, and we are in deep sorrow because of his going.

Brother Brown was one of the strong men of the Louisiana Conference. He was a profound thinker, a vigorous speaker, a diligent pastor—a faithful servant of the church in many responsible positions. In addition to his work as pastor, he served at different times as financial agent of Centenary College and as presiding elder of the Shreveport District, and he gave himself unreservedly to the performance of all the tasks the church laid upon him. He was always a student, keeping thoroughly abreast of the times and meditating deeply upon the things that make character and determine destiny. He will be sadly missed by his brethren, with whom he labored so faithfully for the advancement of the Kingdom of God.

The funeral services were held at De Ridder, La., on Saturday, June 16, at 10:30 a. m., and were conducted by Rev. H. T. Young, pastor, and Rev. J. B. Williams, presiding elder. The following were present and took part in the service: Revs. J. G. Snnellig, N. E. Joyner, A. W. Turner, Briscoe Carter, R. M. Brown, W. W. Holmes, R. H. Wynn. There was a large concourse of De Ridder people present, and many evidences of the esteem in which Brother Brown was held in the community.

Brother Brown is survived by his wife and two splendid sons, S. Perry Brown and Paul M. Brown, Jr., to whom we extend heartfelt sympathy. We shall expect to have a suitable memoir for publication in due time.

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky., conferred the degree of Doctor of Divinity upon Rev. R. L. Russell, Home Mission Secretary, at its recent commencement. Hail, Dr. Russell!

Mr. Stephen S. Thomas, writing from Mansfield, La., under date of June 15, says: "The League Assembly is the largest and best ever held. Bishop DuBose is doing wonderful work."

Rev. George H. Thompson, pastor of Centenary Methodist Church, McComb, Miss., is spending some time at Allison's Wells for the benefit of his health, which has not been robust recently. We pray that he may soon be entirely restored.

Rev. W. L. Doss, Jr., presiding elder of the Alexandria District, honored the Advocate office with a call on Thursday of last week. He was passing through the city en route to the Seasbore Divinity School.

The Epworth League of the First Methodist Church, Laurel, Miss., led the Mississippi Conference in pledges and payments to the African Special, and captured the honors on "Stunt Night" at the recent Assembly at Brookhaven.

Bishop W. N. Ainsworth was compelled to cancel his engagement at the Seashore Divinity School as a result of a fall in his bath tub, in which he was painfully, though not seriously, injured.

Hon. W. S. Campbell, Superintendent of Education of West Carroll Parish, and Miss Sybil Ross, of Pioneer, La., were married at the Courthouse in Oak Grove, La., on June 12, Rev. George Fox officiating. The Advocate extends all good wishes to the happy couple.

The 11 o'clock service of the First Methodist Church, Shreveport, La., on next Sunday will be devoted especially to the young people. Dr. H. F. Brooks, the pastor, will preach on the subject, "The Service of Young People to the Church."

Rev. Burke Culpepper and Rev. John W. Robertson will begin a meeting at McComb, Miss., on July 1, to continue about three weeks. The services will be held in the tabernacle, which will seat about three thousand people. The meeting will be under the auspices of the Methodist church.

Dr. John T. Sawyer, in the absence of the pastor, occupied the pulpit of our Epworth Church at the morning hour on last Sunday. After the sermon he administered the communion. He reports a large congregation, and a goodly number of communicants.

The meeting of the Commission on Temperance and Social Service, Bishop James Cannon, Jr., chairman, at Lake Junaluska, N. C., July 1-8, will bring together leaders of national and international prominence, who will discuss special phases of the work within the scope of the Commission.

We take the following from the bulletin of the First Methodist Church of Blytheville, Ark.: "Rev. A. M. Shaw, of Oakdale, La., lecturer, poet, preacher, scholar, author, and withal a man, en route from New Madrid, Mo., where he had gone to preach a commencement sermon, stopped here Monnday night to visit the pastor of this church." Our pastor at Wytheville is Dr. W. C. Watson.

The Monroe District Standard Training School will be held at Winnsboro, La., June 24-29. Five courses will be offered, as follows: Bible, Rev. N. E. Joyner, teacher; Pupil Study, Miss Cora Perkins, of New Orleans, teacher; Sunday School Organization, Dr. Alonzo Early, teacher; Primary Work, Miss Caroline Hess, teacher; Junior Work, Mrs. S. W. Ray, Fort Worth, Tex., teacher.

Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Wyatt, of Lula, Miss., will leave for Junaluska, N. C., on June 30. The Missionary Society made Mrs. Wyatt a present of the expense of the trip. Mrs. Wyatt has been appointed a delegate to the Social Service Conference, to be held at Junaluska July 1-8.

One of the results of the recent Gipsy Smith, Jr., meeting in Laurel, Miss., is the increased attendance upon the mid-week prayer meetings of the city. More than one hundred people were present at a recent prayer meeting at the First Methodist Church, and many of them testified to the power of prayer and the blessings of a consecrated life.

Rev. W. H. Saunders, our pastor at Hazlehurst, Miss., called at the Advocate office on Friday of last week, being en route to Biloxi, Miss., to attend the Seashore Divinity School. He gave a glowing acocunt of the recent visit of Bishop W. N. Ainsworth to Hazlehurst, stating that the Bishop's suggestion concerning a new church would probably bear fruit in the near future.

Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, the distinguished Bible student and lecturer, began a series of lectures last Sunday afternoon at the Galloway Memorial Methodist Church, Jackson, Miss. The series will last twelve days, with addresses at 3:45 in the afternoon and 7:45 in the evening, except on Saturdays. The song service in connection with the addresses will be conducted by Mr. Allen and Miss Abernathy.

We clip the following from the Lincoln County Times, Brookhaven, Miss.: "The Epworth League Assembly closed Saturday night with an inspiring service. About fifteen young people expressed their desire for special life service in the Lord's Kingdom. More than two hundred were in attendance and a live interest throughout the session has doubtless done much for every individual."

We learn from a note received from Rev. W.

T. Griffin that he is assisting Rev. M. J. Miller in a meeting at Mayersville, Miss. Brother Griffin recently assisted Rev. J. W. Price in a meeting at Foxworth, Miss.

The Seashore Divinity School closed this week one of the best sessions in its history. The attendance was good, and the class work and addresses were unusually fine. Bishop W. B. Murrah delivered the opening address, and Bishop Warren A. Candler gave a series of lectures that were characteristically great. Bishop W. N. Ainsworth was greatly missed, and the sympathy of the brethren went out to him on account of his painful accident. His place was filled by Dr. W. R. Hendrix, of Birmingham, Ala., whose service was greatly appreciated.

At the annual meeting of the Book Committee, held at Richmond, Va., May 8-9, Lamar & Barton, Publishing Agents, submitted a report which was gratifying in every respect. The total sales for the year ending Feb. 28 were $2,187,297.97, an increase of $41,031.99 over the preceding year. The Advertising Department of the House has been reorganized and enlarged. The position of Purchasing Agent for the House has been established, and Mr. P. L. Turner placed in charge, and the Department of Circulation has been established, with Mr. H. H. Ahrens in charge. A new factory building is being erected in Nashville, which will greatly increase the efficiency of the House. A press name for books of more than denominational circulation was decided upon, and the name, "Cokesbury Press," was adopted. The total assets of the House now amount to $2,262,000, an increase of $101,000 over last year. The sum of $30,000 was appropriated for tho benefit of the superannuated preachers and widows and orphans of preachers from the proceeds of the business for the year.

AN APPEAL ON BEHALF OF THE ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE.

The fight against the liquor traffic in Louisiana, as in the whole of the United States, is in a critical stage. This fact is emphasized by the recent repeal, signed by Governor Smith, of tho New York State enforcement law, which will doubtless be followed by efforts in other States to break down the force of the Eighteenth Amendment. The powerful and unscrupulous forces which are determined to discredit prohibition are fighting a desperate battle. This fact makes it necessary for all Christian people to unite and persevere in the holy purpose to overthrow forever the reign of the liquor evil.

The active leadership of the Anti-Saloon League has been for the last twenty years, by common consent, the force that has done more than any other to drive the liquor traffic from every battle field, until now it is an outlaw under the fundamental law of our land. The Anti-Saloon League is the fighting force which the outlawed liquor interests dread more than any other, in their desperate fight to come back. Perhaps never before was the necessity for an active and united support of the League in Louisiana and in the nation more imperative than to-day.

In view of these facts, the Louisiana Anti-Saloon League has realized the necessity of strengthening its force of workers by the addition of an Associate Superintendent, in the person of Rev. O. L. Jones, formerly of South Carolina, who comes to us with the highest recommendations from those with whom he has previously worked.

At the same time that this enlargement has become necessary, the League in the State has been thrown more than ever upon its own resources. For years past, the National League has been spending thousands of dollars more in sustaining the work in Louisiana than was collected in the State. The time has come when the National League, with its great program extending over the entire nation, is no longer able to do this. So that at the very time that our activities must be enlarged, we are forced to rely more entirely upon our own resources for financial support. The only way to meet the situation is the securing of a wider support of the League from all those who are interested in the fight against the liquor evil.

We are sure that our people are willing and ready to carry the full support of the League and its work whenever the situation is laid definitely before them. With this confidence, this plain statement is offered as an appeal to all our peoplo to give generous support to the League, and particularly to our pastors to co-operate in getting the appeal of our work before the people. It will mean much to the final success of the work if all our churches will give to Brother Turner, Brother Jones, and Brother Ziemer the opportunity to lay the work and its needs before the people in the regular services of the churches, in mass meetings, and in "field days" in the different cities of the State.

The main office of the League has been moved to New Orleans, and the office, 1011 Carondelet Building, will be glad to help in any way the work throughout the State.

W. WINANS DRAKE,
Chairman Headquarters Committee.

THE SEASHORE CAMP GROUND—SOME REMINISCENCES.

By Payton A. Sowell.

As I am a part of "a past" aged, it cannot be expected that I should be too brief, nor that I should come immediately "to the subject." The majority of great bridges have "approaches." The old "model" of a proper sermon had three parts—in that sense it was like "ancient Gaul." It had exordium, main body and peroration.

Therefore, before I touch the body of the story I must be allowed the privilege of an exordium.

The nomenclature of Methodism is incomplete without the term, "camp meeting."

The invention of "camp meetings" has been credited to that eccentric, yet remarkable man, Rev. Lorenzo Dow. This may be literally true. But one thing we can have no hesitancy in accepting, that is, "camp meetings" were invented by the brain of some "circuit rider" or early itinerant Methodist preacher.

It is natural to fancy, as the lonely, homeless circuit rider followed the blazes along the trail, seeking the scattered settlements swallowed up by the unbroken forests, with the "holy fire" shut up in his bones, dreaming of the best way to reach and save these lost sheep, he had a vision of a "camp meeting."

He recalled some bold spring and wide plateau of land, sheltered by ancient oaks or poplars. He saw a vast circle of "covered carts," used as homes for seven or ten days by the people from the adjacent communities or "settlements." He saw a long, rough, board table, loaded with the plain food of the wilderness, and the hundreds, or thousands, fed without money and without price. When the circuit rider had this vision, I imagine it occurred while reading the story of ancient Israel dwelling in booths, at the "Feast of Tabernacles."

With this vision in his mind, he rode on to meet the presiding elder, and he opened up the vision to him; the presiding elder told Bishop Asbury or McKendree; and I fancy the first camp meeting was planned, to meet at some great spring in a central location for a vast area of the wilderness. The time selected was after the "crops were laid by"—during the "full moon" in August.

I have often tried to fancy how Methodism for three-quarters of a century could have succeeded if it had not been for the "full moon" and the "month of August." I came in one August at "full moon," fifty-seven years ago.

At that first "camp meeting," I presume Francis Asbury, William McKendree, and perhaps ten or more poorly clad circuit riders and one hardy, consecrated presiding elder, were present, and from the crude board pulpit they preached—preached the "flaming" law and "gracious" gospel of hope.

I can readily imagine that Bishop Asbury's first text was: "Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the fountain: He that hath no money come ye," etc.

Although I am 74 years young, and am from the hills of Middle Tennessee, yet my eyes have seen a few old, widespread arbors, covered with boards rived from the majestic oaks, and seated with "split open" logs—hewed punchen seats—arranged to accommodate the vast congregations. Under these arbors, many of Methodism's pulpit giants preached and swayed the thousands, as a storm does the trees of the forest.

"Camp meetings" in their day were the training processes by which the wonderful orators and moving preachers were prepared. Hero, as the thousands looked up in sympathy, they learned the high art of reaching the sympathies and consciences of men.

These peculiar facilities for training, and the great pulpiteers trained, have passed, never to return. If we do not have them, if we do not now need them as we remember them, let us as Methodists thank God—we have had them.

It is hardly possible for us to realize that Henry B. Bascom, all over Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, and many other States, attended these far-known "camp grounds," receiving no financial rewards, scarcely receiving enough to pay for the feed and lodging of himself and his faithful horse, as he rode from State to State and swept into the kingdom and the struggling ranks of Methodism, in those needy years of formation, thousands. An evangelist of our time will receive for "conducting" one evangelistic campaign more dollars than all the great preachers of those "camp meeting" years did through a quarter of a century of the active existence of those meetings.

These great and devout men literally laid down their lives in this particular form of service.

I will not burden my mind to recall the names of the "old camp grounds" of Middle Tennessee, nor the reader's patience to write them. I will say our wonderful preachers in Tennessee of those olden days, and the like of whom we have no more, wero "trained to preach" at these "camp meetings"—men like McFerrin, Pitts, Paine, Baldwin, Hanner, and A. L. P. Green.

Their tuition made A. L. P. Green one of the greatest word, or story painters of his generation, and of the United States. Once, as he drew the picture of the "manslayer" running to the city of refuge, and the "avenger of blood" gaining on his heels, and almost near enough to seize him, the thousand or more auditors, leaning forward looking at the two men as if with their eyes, the preacher said: "Here is the gate—once in it he is safe; but the gate is shut: he cannot enter unless some one open it; who will open it?" An excited man of the assembly leaped to his feet and shouted at high voice: "My God, I will!"

Theso men preached long sermons, but one could afford to listen an hour to their arguments—to be swept off by the burst and swell of their perorations!

WANTED HIM TO GET "NOLEGE."

It was a Pike County woman who indited a note to the teacher concerning the punishment of her young hopeful. The note ran thus:

"Dear Miss ——: Yo rite me about whippin' Sammy. I hereby give you permission to beat him up any time it is necessary to learn his lesson. He is just like his father—you have to learn him with a club. Pound noledge into him. I want him to get it and don't pay no attention to what his father says. I'll handle him."—Reading Eagle.

Henry arrived at breakfast in a cross frame of mind. He informed his wife that Tommy had taken some change from his pocket.

"It isn't fair to accuse Tommy," his wifo remonstrated. "Henry, you might as well say I took it."

Though on the 9th day of April, 1923, the spirit of MISS LUGENIA OWENS winged its way into God's eternal heaven, the influence of her noble Christian life lives on and on. One hath truly said, "We live in deeds, not years." The life of Miss Owens, so replete with good deeds, was as a ripened sheaf, ready to be garnered by the Master. "She hath done all she could." Doing God's will was her life work. Of calm dignity, gentle spirit, ambitious for high attainment, ever serving God, she passed into her own. She lived to the good age of 63 years. On the day following her death she was laid to rest in Pleasant Hill Cemetery, in the presence of a large concourse of loved ones and friends, beneath a bank of beautiful flowers, which attested the high esteem of all.

Her Pastor,
WALTER M. HESTER.

RESOLUTIONS.

Whereas our Heavenly Father saw best to remove from our midst, on May 19, 1923, our beloved pastor, Rev. S. D. ROBERTS, by death.

Resolved, That while we are called upon to bow submissively to the Father's will, we feel deeply for the bereaved ones, and the churches he leaves behind to mourn his passing away. A kind husband, father, son, brother, a true friend, a good preacher, has gone to his reward.

Resolved, That the Epworth League of Vinton offer to the bereaved ones our sympathy and prayers in this hour of their deep sorrow.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, the Lake Charles American Press, the New Orleans Christian Advocate, and the Epworth Era for publication.

Signed: M. Bessie Hampton, Norma Bares, Florence Schang, committee.

Vinton, La.

On Thursday morning, June 21, 1923, the spirit of WILLIAM R. BURT left its earthly house and ascended to that home not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. The Methodist Episcopal Church, South, suffers a great loss, the town and community wear weeds of sorrow because a useful citizen has gone from our midst; six good, obedient sons and two excellent daughters grieve because their kind, gentle, loving father has been called to his reward. He was born on Sept. 1, 1858, of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Burt, of Duck Hill, Miss. In early manhood he married Miss Mary Rebecca McNamara, of Grenada, Miss., and they lived happily together until Feb. 8, 1911, when she quietly slipped away from her husband and precious children and went to live with the angels in heaven. Notwithstanding the twelve lonely years he has been looking for a summons from above, he has been as kind and gentle as a mother and a good, brave, affectionate father to his children. He is survived by six sons: Roy Burt, Grenada, Miss.; Ennis Burt, Eureka, Kans.; William Burt, Philip, Miss.; Robert, Roger, and Earl Burt, Duck Hill, Miss.; two daughters, Mrs. R. S. Mason, of Nowater, Okla.; Hazel Burt, of Duck Hill, Miss.; two brothers, Mr. Rowland P. Burt, of Eskridge, Miss., and Walter K. Burt, of Grenada, Miss. He remembered his Creator in the days of his youth, and, before the evil days drew near, he joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at the age of 15 yaers; when but 16 years old he was steward in his church, which office he held at the time of his death. He was superintendent of the Sunday school also. No preacher ever had a better friend or a more faithful official than he. He was a true and loyal friend to every presiding elder and to every pastor he ever had. Nothing was too little or insignificant, nor was there anything too big and difficult for him to undertake in the name of his Master. We can truly say of him, as was said of Barnabas, "He was a good man and full of the Holy Ghost." God bless and keep the loved ones he left behind, and may he use them as he used him.

GUY D. BURT, Pastor.

THE GENERAL SUNDAY SCHOOL BOARD AND WEEK-DAY RELIGIOUS EDUCATION.

The following is the action of the General Sunday School Board regarding Week-Day Religious Education, taken at its recent annual meeting in Nashville:

"The General Conference has specifically authorized the General Sunday School Board to encourage the expansion of the Sunday school program to include this week-day undertaking. (See paragraphs in the Discipline, 361 and 365.

"Since the oversight of the developments of this enlarged program extending into week-days is committed to this Board, it is fitting that the Board should at this time call attention to certain principles underlying and governing this development.

"First of all, it should be distinctly set forth that the enlarged and more effective program of religious education now called for involves not only the use of more time, but also demands a better and more rounded program both of instruction and training, and likewise a more uniform program, and one that takes into account the entire experience of the pupil.

"With reference to the relationship which the church must sustain to the public schools in providing this enlarged program, two things should be said: First, the program of religious education, in so far as practicable, should be arranged with the pupil's day school program in mind both with a view to utilizing the interests and information gained in the day school for the more vital and intelligent study of the materials of religious education, and with the purpose of supplying a religious motive that shall spiritualize the materials of the week-day school, and, altogether, to unify the educational experience of the child and to give that experience a distinctly Christian character.

"Second, this must not be understood as in any sense a move to induce the public schools to undertaken to offer courses in Religious Education. Even though some States may permit the teaching of Bible as literature in tax-supported schools, this cannot be considered in the proper sense religious education, since the State is not free to give religious interpretation and the advantages to religion of teaching the Bible as mere literature is an open question. It is perfectly clear, however, that the separation between church and State prohibits tax-supported schools from teaching religion; nor is it in the interest of the furtherance of Christianity that the State should be asked to assume this primary function of the church.

"Let the church take up her own responsibility in this matter, since this is above all else the first duty committed to her hands.

"Let the church, then, in every proper way, seek to co-operate with those who share in the responsibility for the developing life of the child, but let her assuredly know that the day of her enlarged opportunity has come and that it is her glory and her high calling to become the teacher of the things of God to the life of America.

"Again it is most important to insist upon unity in the development of the program of the Church School. There have been entirely too many well-meant undertakings in the past which tended to complicate the program of religious education in the local church.

"Nothing could be more unfortunate and divisive of the forces engaged in religious education than to undertake to create a new institution in the field of religious education known as The Week-day Schools of Religious Education. The importance of working out a unified program for the local Church School is fundamental. In order that this may be done, it is necessary to give consideration to unity of administration, co-ordination of supervision, and harmony, if not unity, in the curriculum.

"The Board also took action authorizing the employment of the Director to have special supervision of this work."

THE MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE EPWORTH LEAGUE.

The Second Assembly.

We arrived at the Assembly grounds early Monday morning, expecting to be among the first to arrive; but we found our president, Mr. Hawkins, had preceded us by several hours. However, the writer was with the very first delegation to arrive in Brookhaven.

Even before our train stopped at the station, we knew that we were welcome, for we could hear many voices of the Brookhaven Leaguers singing their welcome to us. As soon as we stepped off the train, we were given the "glad hand" and taken in charge by Miss Flowers and her welcoming committee, who hustled us and our baggage into waiting automobiles and drove us to the college campus.

Miss Hoskins arrived early and opened her office, and she and her assistants were kept busy until late in the night registering the continual stream of delegates, which kept pouring in until every available room was filled, and by Tuesday night we had begun to crowd them some.

At 6 p. m., we heard the supper bell and proceeded to the dining room, where Miss Williams had prepared to feed the hungry. After supper we were called to the Methodist church, where Miss Edith Willis delivered the welcome address, after which all doubts of our welcome, had there been any, were dispelled. Truman Lewis, in his reply, did his very best to show Brookhaven that we believed every word of what they said when they said, "You are welcome."

The entire city certainly did their best to make us feel that the city was ours. And had we stayed a few days longer, we would have begun to believe that it did belong to us. Hobbs' Drug Store was the first on the ground, with a free ticket for every delegate to come and drink whatsoever he would, one time. We will not soon forget this kindness. Other firms furnished tickets to the entire Assembly for the ball game one afternoon, and invited us a second time. We were sorry our Assembly schedule would not permit our going.

Tuesday morning, we got down to work in dead earnest. Classes were organized and teachers assigned and the real work of the conference began, the first service being the morning watch in the Y Hut, led by President Hawkins. We went from this service to breakfast. After breakfast there was a meeting of faculty and officers. Then we went to classes. Dr. Featherstun, who has been in the League work possibly lower than any other person in Mississippi and who is loved by every Leaguer in the Conference, had charge of one class in "What Every Methodist Ought to Know." The writer was a member of this class, and had we gotten nothing else from the Assembly, we would have been repaid for going. The other class in this book was in charge of Rev. J. B. Cain, and we are told by those who attended that they, too, were very much enlightened on the subject and were well repaid for their time and trouble. One member of the class, on being asked about it, said, "It is simply great."

Rev. J. S. Purcell, acting dean of the Assembly, and Rev. J. T. Weems had charge of the classes in "Taking Men Alive." And those who were taking this study were loud in their praise of their teachers and the manner in which the subject was handled in both classes.

The Mission Study classes, taught by Rev. H. G. Hawkins and Mr. Sterling Fisher, were not as largely attended as some of the other classes, but the interest was good. Mr. Fisher has recently returned from Japan, where he has spent some time in mission work, and was well fitted for teaching this particular book. Classes in "A Choice of a Career" were in charge of Rev. O. S. Lewis and Miss Oscie Sanders. The attendance was large and interest was exceedingly good. "The Child and America's Future" was in charge of Rev. Mr. Campbell, and they, too, had a fine class. In fact, every class was well filled.

In classes in Methods, the First Department was in charge of Mr. Fisher; Social Service was in charge of Miss Addie Greely; Recreation and Culture, Rev. James Sells; Missionary Department, Miss Saunders; Junior and Intermediate, Miss Edna Mathews; Administration Problems, Mr. W. D. Hawkins. All these did excellent work.

Dr. H. W. Featherstun was the platform speaker on the first day, 12 noon to 12:30 p. m. Every Leaguer present was thrilled with his "Reminiscences of the Epworth League in the Mississippi Conference."

Our first disappointment came in the nature of a telegram from Dr. Parker, saying that his physician refused to permit him to leave home; but the address of Dr. Burrow, who came in his stead, was very much enjoyed.

Our platform addresses certainly were the best we have ever heard. Bishop DuBose, our very own Epworth League bishop, came to us on Wednesday and gave us some very fine, soul-stirring addresses.

The Bishop seemed to like us, and certainly we were proud to have him and enjoyed having him. He worked with us and played with us; yes, and he ate with us. And if one is to judge by the smile he carried, he enjoyed nothing more than the fun in the dining room. During the League songs, the district yells, and even when we sang, "Stand up, Bishop, Stand up," he still carried that broad smile, which seemed to say, "Have your fun, my children, I am with you." He liked to call us his children, and we liked to be called such.

Possibly our greatest services were the vespers and the morning watch. We seemed to be drawn closer to God in these than in any other. God certainly was with us, and he was working mightily with our young folks, and the results were very gratifying.

Our morning watch, Sunday morning, was to us the best and sweetest service we have ever attended. We have never seen anything like it before. Led by one of our young men whom we have known at almost every Conference since the Columbia Conference, where he attended as a Junior, God was certainly with us in this service.

It is hard to describe the Assembly to one who did not attend. In a spiritual sense, we have never seen anything to equal it. Young folks came to have a good time, and they had it. But they got something else that will go with them throughout their entire life and finally be the means of bringing them into that promised land after a life well spent in the service of their King.

We do not know just now, but it is safe to say that 95 per cent of the League chapters in the Conference were represented, some having come long distances under difficulties, but determined to get something to carry back to their home chapters that would benefit those who could not come. Next week we are going to tell you something about some of these delegations, and give you some "Side Lights" on the Assembly. But don't expect us to tell you all about it. We can't. Come next year and see for yourself.

J. A. WEEMS.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Now Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Washington, D. C.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation which a physician said I would have to have for a very bad case of female trouble. My system was all run down for two years after my little girl was born. Then I read of your wonderful medicine and decided to try it. I could hardly drag one foot after the other, and after taking six bottles of the Vegetable Compound I felt like a new woman. I now do all my housework, also washing and ironing, and do not know what real trouble is. My health is fine, and I weigh 140 pounds. When I started taking it I weighed 97 pounds. I gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any one who is suffering from female trouble or is run down. You may use this testimonial for I am only too glad to let suffering women know what the Vegetable Compound did for me."—Mrs. IDA HEWITT, 1529 Penna. Ave. S. E., Washington, D. C.

Such letters from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE NOTES.

Last Sunday, June 10, we were on the Collins charge. We were at Bethel church in the morning and Collins at night. The Bethel Sunday school placed a "C" Type Program on the walls. They are ready for work and seem to be looking forward. Brother Thompson is in favor with his folks and they are responding.

Collins has improved their building till they are now "B" Type. The Junior Department is in fine working order. They still need to do more work in order for the Beginners and Primaries to reach "B." This can be done, and I trust will be done at an early date. Their Cradle Roll checks "B."

The Gallman Circuit-wide Institute was held Sunday. Rev. C. A. Bowen represented the Board at this meeting. The Mount Pleasant Sunday school on the Gallman charge is showing great activity: They have organized one of their classes and are to organize two more classes. They have the Cradle Roll started, and start the home department next quarter. They are now working on a training class. I did not receive the reports from the other Sunday schools on the charge, but feel sure they were all of high order.

Jackson District Institute meets June 27, at 10 a. m. The Seashore Institute meets June 28, at 9:30 a. m.

Ninety-one Sunday schools have held Sunday School Day with offering of $1,027.79.

Pray for the work and the workers.

Yours in Him,

JOHN C. CHAMBERS.

COMMITTEE REPORTS ADOPTED BY THE BATON ROUGE DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

Sunday Schools.

We, your Sunday School Committee, beg to submit the following report:

We rejoice to note, according to the reports in our church press, that a new spirit of interest in the development of the Sunday school is manifest throughout the Conference; that the standards recommended by the General Sunday School Board are being given serious and intelligent attention, the efforts of which show a considerable degree of progress in the important field of religious training and evangelical results; that many of the schools are introducing the graded literature, conducting teacher training classes, sending delegates to standard training schools and conferences looking to more efficient leadership.

This committee hereby wish to express their heartfelt appreciation of the diligent work being done by our Conference Sunday School Field Secretary in providing Standard Training Schools and programs towards the greater development of the schools in the State.

Resolutions.

Whereas, the pastor is the official head of the Sunday school, in charge of its general supervision in assisting the superintendent and officers in the operation of the school, and in the instruction of leaders who are to give religious training to our children, which he cannot properly do until he has previously informed himself through the study of Sunday school methods of instruction and organization;

Therefore, be it Resolved:

1. That each of our ministers acquire at least one unit in the Standard Training Course recommended by the General Sunday School Board during each Conference year until he has acquired a Gold Seal Diploma thereby. We urge the same qualifications for every local superintendent, the pastors impressing upon them the importance of this qualification.

2. That this Conference request the College of Bishops and the General Sunday School Board to co-operate in including in the prescribed course of study for undergraduate preachers, such books as shall entitle them to credit for four units in Sunday school methods and training, whether such work be done through the correspondence school or standard training school.

3. We recommend a Teacher Training Class in every Sunday school in this district; and where the circumstances are such that a training class cannot be maintained, that the individual teachers study the standard books applicable to their particular work in the school, taking the examinations thereon.

4. We recommend at least one Standard Traing School in the district during each Conference year, and as many non-standard as possible; and urge that the several pastoral charges send at least one delegate to the annual Louisiana State Sunday School Conference of our church.

5. That the preacher in charge give intelligent and prayerful attention to his personal qualifications in Sunday school leadership, and urge the leaders in his school to work with him in attaining the highest degree of efficiency that surroundings and equipment will permit.

Respectfuly submitted,

Signed: W. H. Giles, J. R. Abels, B. D. Tally, Miss Margie Underwood, Mrs. C. B. Johnson.

Christian Literature.

Whereas, it is evident from the reports of our pastors that our Conference and General Organs—the New Orleans Christian Advocate and the Nashville Christian Advocate — together with the Missionary Voice and the Discipline of our church, are not being properly circulated, read and studied by the people of this district; and,

Whereas, we deplore the pernicious influences that are both potential and active in the circulation of vicious literature, and in the capitalization by the daily press of sordid stories of social scandal and the violation of moral and civil law, without proper emphasis upon the principles of justice and righteousness, and with a very apparent prejudice and bias in the handling of news items, which things ought to be counteracted by a vigorous circulation of literature that is pulsating with the life blood of moral purity and spiritual power;

Therefore, be it Resolved:

1. That we urge our pastors to give personal attention, through their local committees, to the widespread circulation of the several Conference and general papers, the book of Discipline and such other tracts of doctrinal and spiritual merit as may be deemed helpful to our people.

2. That we reaffirm our position against the attitude of the press in giving emphasis to vice and law violations, as opposed to righteousness and moral upstanding citizenship.

3. That copies of these resolutions be furnished to the several daily papers circulating in our district.

Signed: B. H. Andrews, chairman; A. L. McQueen, Secretary; A. E. Rogillio, J. L. Cady, Charles E. McLean.

Sabbath Observance.

We, your Committee on Sabbath Observance, submit the following:

Judging by the reports of the pastors of this Conference, the Sabbath is being desecrated throughout the greater part of the district.

We humbly recommend that our ministers lay the example of proper observance, by refraining from making purchases, or receiving mail on the Sabbath.

We would urge, with all the power at our command, that the State Fair be closed on the Sabbath.

We recommend that our ministers preach, or put special emphasis on the proper observance of the Sabbath.

Rsepctfully submitted,

Signed: J. T. McVey, J. L. Cady, H. C. Murphey, J. S. Rutledge, F. N. Sweeny, committee.

Concerning the State Fair.

Whereas, the Florida Parishes Fair Association is an organization for the building and development of the agricultural, educational and moral resources of the Florida Parishes; and,

Whereas, we, the delegates of the Baton Rouge District Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church,

We are receiving calls daily for men and women of character, ambition and business training, men and women who can accept and efficiently fill responsible positions, positions that give every opportunity for advancement; positions of high salaries, positions in banks, law offices, positions with manufacturers, jobbers, retailers, in every imaginable type of business in the South.

Many of them we capably fill, others are yet vacant. The men and women who fill them need not be wealthy, nor even moderately well-to-do. They need not be young, nor need they be college or even high school graduates. All that is necessary is that they possess character, ambition and a business training.

The character and ambition they must possess, the business training we will furnish under the direction of the South's most efficient training corps and in one of the South's most efficient and best equipped business colleges. A training with unique courses in bookkeeping, stenography, typewriting, accounting, banking, business administration or our secretarial course. Such a training we will furnish in a few months' time at little cost to you, and at terms to meet your own financial condition.

Thousands of Southern men and women have taken advantage of the opportunity and trained themselves for a higher calling, a better salary and a greater opportunity for advancement. Many who have accepted the positions we offer have risen to the top of the ladder, and are numbered among America's foremost and wealthiest business and professional men and women.

An institution with such standing and reputation as the Georgia-Alabama Business College does more to advance the business interests of its graduates than can be done by any amount of family or personal influence.

Consider your present status—would you not like to improve your station in life, increase your income, attain financial independence and success? An opportunity awaits you, for positions are being constantly offered us that must be filled.

Write for our inspiring book, "Your Future—What Does it Hold in Store?" It is sent free on request, explains our offer in detail and points the way to a brighter future.

EXPENSIVE FUNERALS.

Would there be any impropriety in discussing the subject of investing not ours, but the Lord's money in expensive coffins and tombstones? Certainly all that class who belong to the numerous families of Dives and the unjust judge may be expected to supply themselves and families with expensive outfits of this sort, but surely those who have any proper realization of their relation to the great Landlord as stewards who are to give an account to him for the way they use his money, as well as for every idle word they speak, will ponder well the matter of paying much for something that does not help the departed, which, if used some other way, might do great good in feeding tho hungry, clothing the naked, sending the gospel to those who still wait in vain for it.

If, instead of getting a $150 casket and a $500 tombstone, a ten-dollar coffin and a $15 stone wero bought, the rest might bo used to help the old superannuates, orphans, or even the Centenary movement.

While we may feel very partial to our kinfolks who have passed beyond our reach, does not the great Father love the living more than we do the deceased, and ought not his pleasure to be consulted rather than our own or our critical neighbors?

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE STANDARD TRAINING SCHOOL, GRENADA, JUNE 8-14.

When you come to see us again in the summer time, Dr. Carley, make it June, and come to our Conference Training School. We promise you a happy time. For a week we have drunk at the fountain of real joy—humor, fellowship, intellectual stimulation, and spiritual quickening have been blended in just the proportion to make us say from full hearts, "Surely tho Lord is in this place." "It is good for us to be here."

So many elements went into the School to make it the great occasion it was, that to all a part of the credit belongs. Dr. and Mrs. Countiss and all the other members of the College household made their home a delightful place in which to meet. There were eighteen college girls all at one long table, and from the time they greeted us with,

"Howdy do, everbody, howdy do,
Is there anything that we can do for you,"

until the last echo of "God be with you 'till we meet again" sounded the farewell, they made the air sweet with their music. They made the vesper services beautiful by their presence and their songs, and there has rarely been a more impressive service than the one held at noonday by these ten girls who are going to work this summer in some of our rural communities in the field of religious education.

There were lectures three evenings, which added to the entertainment and instruction, which were so thoroughly mixed during the week. On Sunday morning Dr. Richardson preached the sort of sermon that carries conviction to the hearts of hearers and makes them determine to become doers. In the evening the Sunday school of the Methodist church presented the beautiful and impressive Sunday School Day pageant.

Of course there were stunts one night. Practically every one joined in, and we did those absolutely foolish, silly things that make one laugh until ho is weak, but let him wake up the next morning with a good taste in his mouth.

There were ono hundred and twenty-five in attendance, and ninety-eight received certificates on the closing day.

The best has been saved for the last and that was the daily round of classes. Thero is nothing more inspiring than to sit at the feet of a great teacher. Twelve men did that long ago, and eleven of them were so transformed that they gave their lives to give his message to the world. The Master speaks to-day through those men and women who have consecrated their minds as well as their hearts to him, and have made themselves fit to "go teach." Those of us who had the privilege of being at Grenada for the week of the Training School felt that God was speaking to us through the lessons we learned there, and leading us into wider fields of service.

Each teacher was a specialist in his or her field, and brought to us that inspiration that is always found when scholarship and spiritual insight dwell in the same soul. Each student paid tribute to the message of his own teacher, and I am sure that the increased enthusiasm and efficiency with which the work of religious education in North Mississippi is done will bear out the testimony.

It was my privilege to have the work in Story Telling, and to visit the class in Adult Psychology. To those teachers I must pay my special tribute. Miss Frayser led us into the presence of a little child as one who treads on holy ground, and helped us to look into his heart and realize that all the delicate beauty there would grow into fine young life, or wither and die according to the touch of our hands. Dr. Richardson took us a little way along that upward road that leads to knowledge, and let us see how broad the view from there, and how big the field for service, and made us wonder what the vision would be if only we could reach the top of the mountain.

V. R. McDONALD.

FINE MEETING AT ELLISVILLE, MISS.

Dear Brother Carley: From May 27 through June 3, we held a revival in the church at Ellisville of unusual interest and spiritual power. Rev. J. H. Jolly, pastor of our church at Leakesville, did the preaching in a very earnest and effective way that won the hearts of all the people. Rev. J. L. Carter, from Caseyville, led the song services and organized prayer groups of men, women, and children, which groups will continue after the close of the meeting. Brother Carter is not only a diligent and effective pastor, but a song leader much in demand for evangelistic services. The presence and efforts of both men were most helpful to the spiritual life of the community. Members of the other churches joined heartily in the services and sang, prayed, and testified. Tho Spirit was present in great power on Saturday morning at the tetsimony meeting. None of the morning services had less than sixty present. Fourteen were received into the church on profession of faith and about half that many by certificate. To God be all the glory.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Baton Rouge District.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Baton Rouge District convened at Baton Rouge, La., May 1-2, at the First Methodist Church.

The opening session was the evening of May 1, with "Children's Night." A delightful little play, "The Mite Box," was given by the Baton Rouge Juniors. Mrs. J. W. Peyton, of Shreveport, was unable to attend, but we had a capable substitute, Mrs. R. H. Harper, of New Orleans.

The program for the day of May 2 dealt entirely with the work which the women are doing. Stress was laid upon the Social Service work, having a paper by Mrs. Fred Sheppard, a report of the Inter-racial Commission, which met in New Orleans the latter part of March, and most interesting talks from Miss Snell and Miss Knowles, of New York, of the work they are doing in Baton Rouge with the negroes.

Mrs. B. F. Key, of Shreveport, presented a poster, urging more Bible Study, and a great number signed the covenant that they would give one hour each day to Bible Study and prayer.

Mrs. J. W. Darby, the Conference Corresponding Secretary, gave a concise and interesting account of the Council meeting held in Mobile, after which Mrs. Fairchild, president of the Baton Rouge Auxiliary, "passed on" to the ladies the good things she got at the State Conference at Monroe.

A workers' conference was led by Mrs. J. W. Darby. She used the Standard of Excellence as an outline for the discussions.

The evening session of May 2 was devoted to the work of the Young People. Dr. C. W. Crisler, pastor of Baton Rouge First Church, gave a splendid talk on young people, and Mrs. B. F. Key, our Conference Superintendent of Young People, talked in an earnest, pleading manner of the work, making us feel more than ever the responsibility for the young people.

The play, "The Missionary Clinic," was beautifully presented by the Baton Rouge Young People.

I regret that the attendance at the District meeting was very poor, less than half of the Auxiliaries being represented, but I thank God for what he has enabled me to accomplish, and pray that much greater things may be done.

THE GIPSY SMITH, JR., MEETING AT LAUREL, MISS.

Dear Brother Carley: I wanted to write you last week about the great Gipsy Smith, Jr., revival meeting held here in Laurel, April 29 to May 20, but all my time was taken up at the Epworth League Assembly in Brookhaven.

From practically every viewpoint the meeting was a great success. Careful preparation had been made along lines suggested by Gipsy Smith, Jr., and all was in readiness for the greatest co-operative movement for a revival Laurel has ever known. In fact, this is the first union meeting ever held in Laurel. A few days before the meeting began, Brother Charlie Allen, the song leader, and Miss Abernethy, the pianist, came and organized the choir. Not only did they render a great service in the music and singing, but were very effective as personal workers.

From the very beginning, the gospel messages of Gipsy Smith gripped the hearts of the people, and each message added to the spiritual power already accumulated. He knew just how to present the life and message of Christ in modern terms and adapt them to the problems of modern life. There was nothing of the conventional about him. Out of his own rich experience he was able to give a vital message. For the most part, his messages were directed to those already in the churches, but who were not truly representing Christ to the world. Every form of sin was exposed in the light of the Cross, and every duty made plain by the shining example of Christ. The one central purpose was never lost sight of, and that was to bring people to the life that is in Christ. In his preaching and his personal work he made it plain that the Christian life is the most winsome and attractive life to live.

In his appeals for decisions, he was careful not to use any clap-trap method, but made it plain just what the response should mean. He preached ten days before giving an invitation. No one was stampeded into answering the call.

As to the results: First of all, there was a very large number of re-consecrations on the part of church members who had been backsliders, or had not lived up to their highest and best; a large number of people came into the various churches by certificates also, and there were a great many who were converted and united with the church of their choice. Some of the most outstanding sinners in Laurel were converted and made into new creatures. I have not had time to tabulate all the results, but, speaking for First Methodist, more than 50 have already been enrolled, 33 on profession, and several more are yet to be added as a result of the meeting.

The week-night prayer meeting has increased three or fourfold. Preaching services are better attended than ever before. The women continue their cottage prayer meetings once a week, and the men continue their noon prayer service at the Strand Theatre on Thursday of each week. They have organized a Gipsy Smith, Jr., Religious Club, and eleven teams of workers are being trained to "Go tell the story" to all parts of the country within a radius of fifty miles. One of these teams held my prayer meeting last week, and another had charge of the evening service last Sunday night. Never before has there been such interest in the churches in Laurel, never a time when it was so easy to talk about Jesus Christ. A young man said to me to-day that before the meeting, though he was not living any bad life, yet he would not have been glad to see Jesus Christ, but now he could fling his arms around the dear Saviour who has become so real to him. This is a typical case. The beautiful harmony and co-operation of the various churches is one of the great results of the revival.

Gipsy Smith, Jr., has gone his way, but he has left behind a greater love for Jesus Christ and appreciation of the Cross than ever before existed in Laurel. Our aim and prayer is that this love and appreciation may increase more and more.

AN OLD COPY OF THE ADVOCATE.

Dear Brother Carley: By accident, I recently came across a copy of the Advocate dated Jan. 19, 1893. It contained many interesting articles, among them (to me) the announcement of the marriage of W. H. Underwood to Miss Julla Howard, by the bride's father, Rev. P. Howard, who also officiated at a "grand and glorious" wedding at Brother J. A. Tillery's, in St. Helena Parish, Jan. 3, 1889, on which happy occasion the undersigned was one of the principal actors, the other being Miss Kittie V. Nettles, who has journeyed along with me through thirty-four years to this good day.

"CHOICE SONGS NO. III" NOW READY

Contains 16 beautiful songs, such as, "Seek to Scatter Sunshine," "Awake, ye Saints, Awake," "O My Heart Will Be Happy," "The Amen Line," and that fine new song, "God, Then the U. S. A." The lot for 25c. Two sets for 40c.
If you wish "Choice Songs" Nos. I and II and the beautiful sheet song, "The U. S. A. for Me," make your remittance 65c, and the entire lot, priced at 85c, will be sent you. Two complete sets $1.00.
REV. L. L. PICKETT,
Wilmore, Ky.

I am writing this note to say that if you have not a complete file of the Advocate, I should be glad to send you this copy; and to inquire if Brother and Sister Underwood are still living, and if so, where, etc.

Among other interesting articles is "A War Reminiscence," by Rev. H. Armstrong, Lafayette, La., Dec. 31, 1862. There was an article also by Mrs. Thomas P. Fullilove, and one to Mrs. Fullilove from Sallie M. Phillips from Collegio Paraclcabano.

Trusting that this will add to the pleasure and knowledge of some, I am,

Yours fraternally,
J. E. WILLIAMS.

IT MAKES A DIFFERENCE.

So long as there is a radical difference between truth and falsehood, and so long as truth sustains relations to life, it will make a difference whether men believe true or false doctrine. Doctrines are the root of life. Great lives do not grow out of false beliefs. A Christian truth in the heart brings forth Christian acts in the life, as naturally as the root pushes its stalk up into the air and the root dies. A faith without works is soon dead. If our doctrines do not flower and fruit in Christian living, they die.—Selected.

The Centenary Emergency Campaign

With the beginning of this year an emergency call was made for the payment of Centenary pledges. Every mission of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was facing a real emergency. Without a substantial payment on these pledges further advance could not be made. Those responsible for missionary administration felt that our loyal people would respond when the facts were made known to them.

It was not possible to reach all of the 17,000 congregations of our Church by direct appeal, but special speakers did reach about one thousand of these, and, in addition, presiding elders, pastors and lay leaders reached most of the others.

The response from every part of the Church was such as to give hope that Centenary obligations will be met. In fact, more money has been collected since January than in the same period during the past two years. This is evidence that the pledge is still alive in the hearts of our people, and that they are emerging from the period of financial depression which has been manifest everywhere.

In a recent report of Colonel John E. Edgerton, Treasurer, to the Centenary Commission he said:

"There is so much more to be thankful for and proud of than there is to be complained at or dissatisfied with that I am sure the Commission will make this an occasion of great rejoicing at the continuing triumphs of the greatest pioneer movement ever inaugurated among men. We are going forward with renewed determination and with every encouragement. Our people are responding marvelously, and I have not a doubt that we are going to get our money."

The money received made it possible for the Boards to meet the most pressing demands, although very many worthy calls could not be adequately met.

Our people are still loyal to the great mission of the Church, which is to make Jesus Christ known and loved throughout the world.

We assure the Church that the Centenary money is being used for this purpose and we rejoice that in every field the most gratifying results have been secured.

We are greatly indebted for the magnificent leadership and co-operation of our bishops, presiding elders, pastors and laymen in the emergency call, and they have made possible the success of the campaign.

W. G. CRAM,
Directing Secretary Missionary Centenary.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

ANOTHER WAY OF LOOKING AT IT.

There are some who assert that the present state of theological unrest is due to the attempt of certain men, preachers and teachers, to reduce Christianity to a purely human religion by eliminating from it all supernatural elements, making it nothing more than a system of moral maxims and ethical precepts that have been developed during the history of civilization. There may be such men—but we do not believe there are enough of them to cause the slightest uneasiness as to the integrity of the Scriptures or the validity of a religious experience which grows out of a conscious work of divine grace wrought in the heart of the individual believer. There always have been deniers of the faith, and we suppose there always will be; but Christianity has gone steadily forward in its conquering march until to-day it is, without question, the greatest force for righteousness in the world—it fixes the standard of right even in heathen countries. We have not the slightest fear that what has withstood the attacks of its enemies for a score of centuries and is daily being authenticated in the experience of multiplied thousands of intelligent men and women is to be overthrown within the next few weeks, months—or years.

Instead of assuming that the present state of theological unrest is due to the speculations of certain men, preachers and teachers, who are determined to eliminate the supernatural from Christianity, we believe that this unrest is but a part of the general unrest that has come from the events of the past few years which have forced men everywhere to look the facts of life absolutely squarely in the face—a situation that has produced an intellectual alertness that, in some respects at least, is comparable with the state of mind that produced the Renaissance; and we believe that the vast majority of those against whom is brought the charge of being rationalists, modernists, destructive critics, are men who, in the midst of the most perplexing situation the world has faced during recorded history, are earnestly, diligently, conscientiously trying to interpret Christianity in terms that will vindicato its claims as the supreme religion of mankind and at the same time enable it to command the intellectual respect and allegiance of those to whom the purely material has seemed to put all else into eclipse. We do not find them as a class denying the sovereignty of God, rejecting the lordship of Jesus Christ, disputing the fact of sin, or calling in question the reality and power of a transformed life; rather, in times when the temptation is to grow lax, and in places where the path of least resistance is easy to see and follow, we find them exalting the spiritual and contending vigorously for all that Christianity contends for—a life characterized by faith, hope, love, personal purity, social righteousness, spiritual passion.

That some of these men have made wrong interpretations, reached wrong conclusions, made wrong applications, is not to be doubted; it is equally to be granted, we believe, that many of them have made and are making real contributions to the solution of the problems that are so grievously vexing us. The fight is for truth, and in that fight we can well afford to look anywhere and everywhere for help. In an age of unrest, we must find rest if we can. It is altogether possible that we have been putting an effect for a cause, thus holding good men responsible for the existence of an unhappy situation which, as a matter of fact, they are doing their best to remedy.

A TIME-CLOCK FOR PREACHERS.

As is well known, a great many business establishments maintain time-clocks, which their employees "punch" in order to show exactly the time they begin work and the time they stop. By means of this device, the employer is always able to tell who is "on the job" and who is not. While we were in conversation with an intelligent layman not a great many days ago, he suggested that it would be a good thing, perhaps, if some preachers were compelled to "punch the clock." He brought no railing accusation against the ministry as a whole, but he said there had come under his own observation enough cases of ministerial indolence to make him fear that some preachers are altogether careless as to their habits of industry; and he added that the laity like to feel that their pastor is as diligently engaged about his business as they are about theirs. We do not supposo we shall ever see time-clocks installed as a regular part of the church or parsonage equipment—but it is a pity for a lazy man and a shirker to have spiritual oversight of a charge most of whose members work diligently at their vocations throughout the week.

WHAT BISHOP AINSWORTH THINKS OF TRAINING SCHOOLS.

What Bishop W. N. Ainsworth thinks of the training schools for Sunday school workers is very clearly expressed in the following statement: "The training schools for Sunday school teachers that are being held at this season in all the Annual Conferences and nearly all the presiding elders' districts of the church are of the greatest importance in the development of the life of the church. "We will never take this country for Christ until we take hold of our Sunday school work in a much more vigorous way than has characterized us in the past. Slipshod methods and poorly equipped teachers cannot do the work of this day. The clock has struck the hour when every preacher must be a Sunday school man from top to bottom and lead his people out into the best methods of a new day. I trust no single church in any of our territory will be left untouched by this important teacher training work." We say, Amen.

NO "SWEATING BLOOD" FOR THEM.

There are doubtless a good many cases where the assessment upon the local church for the benevolent causes has already been secured in full and the amount remitted to the treasurer; but our attention has recently been especially called to the fact that the West Monroe Methodist Church, Rev. J. Lambuth Evans, pastor, some weeks ago secured theso claims in full and made the remittance. In congratulating pastor and people upon this fine and rather unusual achievement, we want to suggest that the same thing might be done in many other places, thus avoiding that "blood sweating" process that so many of our congregations are familiar with at the close of the Conference year. In addition to the sense of satisfaction that comes from knowing that the report at Conference will be, "Everything in full, Bishop," there is the greater joy of knowing that the way is open for a campaign of evangelism between now and the end of the year that will almost inevitably produce gracious results. Where it is at all possible—and in practically every case it is altogether possible—for a congregation to meet its financial obligations in full, there is very little ground upon which to believe that the Lord will pour out a spiritual blessing unless those obligations are met. If we are not faithful stewards in material things, have we any right to expect that God will entrust us with the infinitely greater responsibility of being administrators of that spiritual power through which sons and daughters are born into the Kingdom? Pay your assessments and have a revival.

MAKING ENDS MEET.

The church papers are still finding it hard to "make ends meet" in the management of their business affairs. The Arkansas Methodist has recently increased its subscription price from $1.50 to $2 a year; the Florida Christian Advocate finds it necessary to increase its club rates, the increase to take effect on June 30; the editor of the Alabama Christian Advocate announces that he will dispense with the services of his stenographer during the summer and handle the correspondence himself, in order to cut down expenses. If all the church papers had the circulation they deserve, their burdens would be greatly lightened.

READ THE BIBLE.

It is to be feared that a great many good people know much more about the Bible through hearsay than they do through reading its inspired pages. If we believe that God has spoken to us through the sacred volume, it is strange that we devoto so little attention to becoming personally familiar with the terms of that revelation. Honestly, now, do you read the Bible every day?

FUNDAMENTALISM AND METHODISM.

By Bishop Edwin D. Mouzon.

Fundamentalism is a recent development chiefly among the Calvinistic churches of America. It has set itself up as the exponent and guardian and champion of orthodoxy. Unfortunately, some good people among the Methodists, not knowing the genesis of this movement, and not knowing much about theology, but knowing Jesus Christ and the supreme importance of the Christian religion, have cast in their lot with the Fundamentalists, having been misled into believing that the men who stand in places of influence and leadership in their own church have proved traitors to their trust.

My own conviction is that so contrary to the spirit of historic Methodism is the spirit of Fundamentalism, that if Fundamentalism should succeed in capturing Methodism, Methodism would cease to be any longer the Methodism of John Wesley and our Methodist fathers. I purpose, therefore, to set down here my Methodist objections to the Fundamentalist Movement:

1. I object to its confusing things good with things bad. As some one has said, "The mixing of things is the great Bad." Well, Fundamentalism has got things badly mixed. The Fundamentalists assert that "there are nine basal doctrines to which every one, if he is a Christian, will and must subscribe." These are as follows: (1) The Verbal Inspiration of the Bible; (2) the Trinity; (3) the Virgin Birth of our Lord; (4) the Fall of Man; (5) Substitutionary Atonement; (6) the Physical Resurrection of Christ; (7) the New Birth; (8) Eternal Salvation and Damnation; and (9) the Physical Second Coming of Chirst.

Now, this is a confusion of things good and bad. Some of the doctrines set forth in this list are scriptural, and some of them are not. And, anyhow, this is a pretty long creed to ram down a man's throat with the exhortation that he must believe it or be damned. There are some things in the above list that all orthodox Christians believe; there are some things which Methodists have never been called uuon to believe; and there are some things which one cannot believe and remain a Methodist in his thinking and in his relation to the activities of his church.

The Fundamentalists first started out with "prophetic conferences" in which they gave chief attention to the discussion of the Physical Second Coming of Christ. It is this that has shaped the entire theology of the movement. For Fundamentalism has its own theology. And the central principle—the principle which gives form and substance to all Fundamentalist thinking—is the doctrine of the Immanent, Physical, Second Coming of Christ.

Now I would speak with the greatest respect of many holy men in all ages of the church who have held to the premillenarian view of the Second Coming of our Lord. And one may be a premilleniarian, or a post-millenarian, or no millenarian at all, and at the same time be a faithful and useful member of the Methodist Church. But this recent doctrine of the Second Coming is a new thing in the Christian church. There is no time to discuss it in this article. I will, however, say briefly three things: (1) Its conception of God out-Calvins John Calvin himself. Indeed, it is a Mohammedan conception of God; (2) Its conception of Salvation is neither ethical nor spiritual, but mechanical—a doctrine of salvation by force; (3) Its teachings concerning the work of the church of Christ is contrary to the teachings of the New Testament. It is a terrible mistake, they all say, for the church to try to convert the world. Denunciation of the church is one of the invariable marks of Fundamentalism.

At the present time our Fundamentalist friends seem to be giving more attention to insistence upon the "Verbal Inspiration of the Bible" than to any other matter. Now, in the inspiration and spiritual authority of the Holy Scriptures all Christians believe. We Methodists believe, according to Article V, that the "Holy Scripture containeth all things necessary to salvation"; and, according to our Article VI, that "the Old Testament is not contrary to the New," but that while there are certain things in the Old Testament which "do not bind Christians," yet, notwithstanding, no Christian whatsoever is free from the obedience to the commandments which are called "moral."

Now let it be carefully observed that Fundamentalist insistence upon what they are pleased to call "the Verbal Inspiration of the Bible" is necessary if they are to get out of the Bible their wholly Jewish and entirely un-Christian conception of the reign of Christ on earth. For the Old Testament must be taken literally if this is to be done. Just this was the mistake that the Scribes and Pharisees made in the days of Jesus—they looked for a temporal king who was to set up his throne in Jerusalem and make the Jews supreme all over the world. But the Jews had misread the prophecies, and so do our misguided friends, the Fundamentalists, misread them, not profiting by the mistakes of the Jews and not understanding the mission of Jesus and the teachings of the Apostles.

Just now the Fundamentalists are tremendously exercised in asserting their claim that the Biblo is final authority in scientific matters, particularly in geology and biology, as well as in matters of faith and practice. And they go so far as to assert with vehemence that if you do not agree with them you are an infidel. Well, I do not agree with them, and I am an orthodox Methodist all the way from "prevenient grace" to "perfect love." Of one thing I am sure, certain well-intentioned brethren are making Christian faith very difficult, and, if the Fundamentalists should have their way, impossible to our educated young people, and are driving away from Christ men and women whom Christ would not drive away. "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest," said Jesus. What burden is so heavy as the burden of truth sought and not found? What heart is so weary as the heart that longs for God and has missed the way? "Come unto me," Christ calls, "and I will give you rest."

"I came to Jesus as I was,
Weary and worn and sad;
I found in Him a resting place,
And he has made me glad."

This is why it grieves me so to see well-meaning, but misguided men putting a stumbling block in the way of honest and sincere people who would come to Jesus—men and women whom Christ sorely needs just at this hour in human history.

The trouble with this verbal dictation theory of the Bible is that it is not true, and it would be harmful and not helpful if it were true. Stop and think just for a moment. On this theory, what Version of the Scriptures shall a Christian read as being verbally infallible? Shall it be the original Hebrew and Greek? Or shall it be the Latin Version according to Roman Catholicism? Or shall it be Martin Luther's translation? Or shall it be our Authorized Version of A. D. 1611? Now John Wesley did not hold the verbal dictation theory—neither do we who have escaped from bondage to the "letter that killeth" and who understand what is meant when it is said that "the spirit giveth life."

Another theological doctrine insisted on as central by the Fundamentalists is "Substitutionary Atonement." Now, when we come to speak of the Atonement made by Christ in his own precious blood, it behooves us to take off our shoes, for we stand on "holy ground." But as I understand our friends, the Fundamentalists, to use the words, "Substitutionary Atonement," they mean that the penalty that was due me on account of my sins fell on Christ—that violated law demanded a victim, and that Christ was punished in my place. If this is what they mean, then this is the old Calvanistic doctrine over again in its naked form, and we Methodists are not Calvanists. And this is not my chief objection. My chief objection grows out of the fact that it is not theology that saves a man; it is Christ that saves. It is not a theory of the atonement that saves—"He is the propitiation for our sins"—He, Christ himself, not some theory, is the propitiation. And so, I say, our Fundamentalist brethren have mixed up "things bad" with "things good," and the bad things which I have just mentioned are among the characteristic things in their system. If, therefore, "the mixing of things is the great Bad," then we have here a pretty bad "Bad."

2. I object to Fundamentalism because of its insistence on "creed" rather than on "faith" and "the Christian life."

"Faith" is a personal word; it deals with personal relationships—the relation of one soul to another. "Faith" means personal trust in Jesus Christ. Out of this "personal trust" comes the Christian life—the spirit of Jesus. "Now, if any man have not the spirit of Christ, he is none of his." How seldom does one hear the Fundamentalists talk about these great themes at all. Rather do they insist that you must give intellectual assent to a written creed—the items of which I have named above. Now, I myself believe in creeds. The man who discounts theology usually has a very crude theology of his own which he insists on having others accept. Christianity must come with a reasoned and reasonable presentation of the Faith if it is to conquer the world. But Methodism has always put its primary emphasis on Christian Experience and a Saintly Life rather than on an intellectual presentation of the facts and principles of our holy religion. Against the pure intellectualism of Fundamentalism I protest.

One recalls in this connection the beautiful words of Ian Maclaren: "I believe in the Fatherhood of God; I believe in the words of Jesus; I believe in the clean heart; I believe in the service of love; I believe in the unworldly life; I believe in the Beautitudes; I promise to trust God and follow Christ, to forgive my enemies, and to seek after the righteousness of God."

Let not Methodism depart from the principles of her founder; for when John Wesley laid stress on personal faith and a holy life he was giving us Christianity according to Christ and the New Testament.

3. I object to Fundamentalism because of its un-Christian intoleranec.

Romanism was never more intolerant than is Fundamentalism. The cry of "Heresy" is raised by the Fundamentalist against leading preachers and teachers, not so much because these teachers and preachers are heretics according to Methodist doctrine, but because they are not willing to swallow the Fundamentalist creed, especially the three items in its named above as being highly objectionable. I raise the serious question: Shall Methodism permit an outside organization, made up largely of representatives of other denominations, to discount and set aside men who are faithful to that spiritual interpretation of Christianity which we have inherited from our fathers? The danger is more serious than some people imagine. For so little do some men know about Methodism that they have permitted themselves to be misled by Fundamentalists into a movement certain, if not checked, to destroy our sacred inheritance.

The intolerance of Fundamentalism finds a parallel only in Roman Catholicism. Its methods remind one of the days of the Inquisition. The Fundamentalist Hierarchy have constituted themselves "Inquisitors-general" for the Protestant churches of America. They do not have the power to torture men, but they do seek to deprive them of place of influence. Following the example of the Romanists they have, in effect, gotten up an "Index Expurgatorium" listing certain books as highly dangerous for the faithful to read. I ask: Will Methodism be content to allow an extra-church organization to decide what the standards of Methodist orthodoxy are? Surely we will be warned in time. This modern Inquisition is the saddest development in the life of the church in recent years.

4. I object to Fundamentalism because of its stress on the purely individualistic aspects of the Gospel to the exclusion and denial of the social application of the teachings of Jesus.

Now for myself, I believe that the Gospel of Christ is sufficient to save the world and that it was designed to save the world. I believe that finally the leaven is going to leaven the whole lump; I believe that the mustard seed will one day become a great tree in the branches of which every weary wing shall find rest. I believe that the spiritual principles of the Gospel are abundantly able to accomplish this. I believe that it is the purpose of Christ that all our homes, and schools, and halls of legislature and places of business—that all human institutions—should come under the influence of the Gospel—toward that end I labor day and night. I have no patience with the "dogmatic pessimism" of Fundamentalism—the doctrine that the world is getting worse and worse—that the preacher's one business is to save a few individual souls—that the worse the world gets the sooner Jesus will come again. I view with abhorrence the language used by a leading and representative Fundamentalist during the Great War: "As awful as conditions are across the sea, and as awful as they may become in our country, the darker the night gets, the lighter my heart gets." Just think of it—"The darker the night gets, the lighter my heart gets!" And so with Fundamentalists, as another has put it, "Hopelessness becomes a mark of faith, and the discovery of evil a ground of encouragement."

It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that our Fundamentalist friends have little interest in the educational and missionary work of the church. For in our educational and missionary work we are trying to save the world—to bring about the reign of Jesus Christ in human institutions and in human hearts, while our Fundamentalist brethren think only of the salvation of a few individuals, as individuals—not as members of society, hoping and believing that human society will soon become so corrupt that it will end in collapse and ruin. As opposed to all this I pray every day:

"Our Father, which art in Heaven,
Hallowed be thy name;
Thy kingdom come,
Thy will be done
On earth as it is in Heaven."

5. I object to Fundamentalism because of the methods of propaganda used by Fundamentalists.

So-called "Bible Schools" are conducted in leading cities each year, and earnest and devout Christians are drawn into them without knowing the purpose of such "schools." Good Methodists desire to learn all they can about the Bible; our people are hungry for the Word of the Lord. It must be confessed that our church has failed to a degree in its teaching function. And thus it comes about that when men of some ability come with well prepared lectures and a theological scheme arranged with all the simplicity and logic of Calvanism, our people are led to accept what they hear. Let it be freely granted that they hear much that is good. But they hear much that makes them uneasy; they have their minds filled with suspicion; they are urged to rally to the defense of the faith as against the infidelity of their own teachers and preachers. Now I object to such methods of propaganda. Let our Fundamentalist fellow-Christians announce openly the purpose of these "schools."

Another method is the appeal that is made to laymen. Our laymen are being told that our schools and colleges are full of heresy, that our preachers can no longer be trusted to preach the faith "once for all delivered unto the saints," and that now the laymen themselves must rise up and save the church from heresy. Now, I believe in laymen. When I was a teacher of young preachers, I used to say to them that I would rather have the good opinion of a noble layman and the approval of a saintly mother in Israel than the applause of all the worldly-minded scholars in the world. I do not believe that the final settlement of the fundamental questions of religion will be left to scientists and scholars; I believe that the faith is "delivered unto the saints." I believe that the essential truths of Christianity are level to the understanding of simple and unlettered men. But let me urge our laymen not to distrust the leadership of the church. Your pastors and college professors are just about as trustworthy as the Fundamentalist brethren are, to say the least; and I am sure that they are much more to be relied upon than those men in our denomination who are sowing suspicion and endeavoring to create discord while Christ and the church are calling for brotherly love and for a united attack on all the forces of iniquity.

6. Once more, I object to Fundamentalism because it is sowing dissention among the churches.

The spirit of Christ is the spirit of concord among Christians. "We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren." Christ's High Priestly prayer for his disciples in all ages was, "that they be one, that the world may know that thou didst send me." Never possibly in the history of the world was there greater need that we should pray that prayer—and ourselves seek to answer it. The outstanding feature of these post-war days is division, misunderstanding suspicion. Governments have fallen to pieces, authorities have broken down, class has been arrayed against class. The love of Christ is the only thing that will save this world. Let the church of Jesus Christ show the way. Let us call no man "Master" but Christ. And let us call every man "Brother" who calls Jesus "Lord." The time has come for some one to stand in the midst of the churches and cry out with the tenderness and passion of Saint John—"Little children, love one another."

And this is the historic attitude of Methodism. What we need as Methodists is to go back and read our own history. Some of us seem to have forgotten John Wesley. Turn and read how Wesley said: "Is a man a believer in Jesus Christ, and is his life suitable to his profession? Are not the main, but the sole inquiries I make in order to his admission into our societies." Read in his "Character of a Methodist": "The distinguishing marks of a Methodist are not his opinions of any sort. Is thy heart right, as my heart is with thine? Dost thou love and serve God? It is enough. I give thee the right hand of fellowship." This spirit of Christian catholicity Methodism inherited from her founder. And this is the spirit of the religion of the New Testament. Recall how Saint Paul summed up the essentials of Christian unity—"One Lord, one faith, one baptism." "One Lord," our Saviour Jesus Christ—therefore, we will call no man "Master," for human masters divide. "One faith"—one common personal experience of salvation in Christ Jesus the Lord, for Christian faith unites. "One baptism"—one solemn ceremony of public profession of faith in Him, separating us forever from the world and making us members of his visible church. The things that really matter are not many; they are few.

Did Wesley's position grow out of the fact that he was uncertain in his own mind touching the fundamentals of the Christian fatih? And does our historic Methodist position mean that we Methodists of to-day have no well defined theological positions? By no means and never! But Wesley believed that a genuine experience of religion and a holy life, a life separated from the world, and consecrated to God, and filled with the love of Jesus—that these would keep a man sound in his theology. And so do we Methodists believe to-day.

The one purpose of this paper is to call upon our Methodist people to rally to their own standards. Learn again what our Methodist "fundamentals" are, and turn a deaf ear to those who would—to use Saint Paul's words—"zealously seek you, that ye may seek them."

THE LATE ATTACK ON THE VIRGIN BIRTH.

By H. Walter Featherstun, D.D

II.

Who Deny the Virgin Birth.

2. They who deny the Virgin Birth, tell us that Paul knew nothing of a Virgin Birth—he said nothing about it. Is this true? In Romans 1:3, he writes of "the gospel of God concerning His Son, who was born of the seed of David according to the flesh, who was declared to be the Son of God." How was the Son of God of the seed of David? Only through the Virgin Mary. In Gal. iv:4, he writes: "God sent forth his Son born of a woman"? Of what woman? Long ago Luke, his "beloved physician," had written that the woman was the Virgin Mary—and Luke and Matthew had written it down for all the world to read. Did he doubt it? In Ephesians 1:3, he writes, "God * * * the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ"—by what mother? He incidently indicates in the passage from Galatians that it was the Virgin Mary. In Timothy 3:16, writing of Christ, he says: "He was manifested in the flesh"—he did not have to explain to Timothy. Both of them thought through that sentence of the Virgin Birth.

In the anonymous Epistle—that to the Hebrews—Christ is spoken of as God's Son—1:1 and 2—and in 5:5, we read, quoting from the second Psalm: "Christ also glorified not himself to be made a high priest, but he that spoke unto him, Thou art my Son, this day have I begotten thee." Referring to the Psalm, we find that he that "spake" was God. The author of the Epistle applies the quoted passage to Christ, thus endorsing the Virgin Birth history.

In Matt. xxvi:63, 64, we read: "The high priest said unto him, I adjure thee by the living God, that thou tell us whether thou art the Christ, the Son of God. Jesus said unto him, Thou hast said," which was the Hebrew way of saying "Yes." See Luke xxii:70, 71 (margin). Mark xxiv:61-64. In that notable conversation told in Matthew xvi:13-20, when Peter says: "Thou are the Son of the living God," Jesus answered: "* * * flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father who is in heaven." In all of these passages Christ accepts and declares his own Virgin Birth; for in each of these instances there is clearly indicated that his sonship to God was such as no mere man could claim, a sonship to God only thinkable by means of a Virgin Birth.

While the Jewish hierarchy rejected Jesus' claim to Christhood, there is no intimation that they did not accept the prophesies declaring that the Messiah would come through a Virgin Birth. Modern Jews, like modern infidels, deny it and tell us that the word almah in the Hebrew of Isaiah vii:11 does not really mean virgin, but merely a young woman; but when learned Jews, possibly B. C 180, translated the Hebrew Bible into Greek, they translated the Hebrew word almah in Isa vii:11, with the Greek word

NEW ORLEANS DISTRICT NOTES.

The New Orleans District is a territory of unmeasured resources and opportunities. In addition to being the second port in America, it includes the national "sugar bowl," the center of the great cane sugar producing area, some of the largest deposits of rock salt in the world, large fish and oyster industries, and great forests of cypress timber. These resources indicate that the future holds a marvelous development of human life and civilization. More and more, new population, accessible to our church, is coming to New Orleans and the surrounding country. Our church must do its part in redeeming this section.

The district also contains several distinctive religious efforts. Our French Mission work, including Wesley House at Houma, St. Mark's Hall, with its great program of social service and religious effort, and our Memorial Home for unfortunate girls, are all doing great work to meet the needs of this inviting territory.

One of the interesting events of recent days was the informal opening of St. Mark's Hall, when hundreds of our people saw its work, and heard a fine address from Dr. Paul B. Kern, of S. M. U., on the meaning of its work, as being in line with the message of Methodism, the message of Jesus, and the message of modern Christianity. Pledges of more than $500 were made by those present toward the support of the work.

The Daily Vacation Bible School, opened at St. Mark's on June 18, has already about doubled the enrollment of last year, and numbers about 150.

At Houma, the Wesley House force has opened a similar school, and on the first day, when it was my privilege to be present, 56 were enrolled.

Another such vacation school has been started at Morgan City, where Brother Schuhle and his fine force of workers have planned well for the work which is new in most parts of the section. Another notable item about the work in Morgan City was brought out in the report at district conference, that the Sunday school attendance is greater than the church membership.

A Daily Vacation Bible school was also in prospect at Jeanerette, under the leadership of the pastor, Brother Seegers.

Our French Mission people deeply appreciate the attention given to that work by the church at large, as illustrated in the missionary lesson for Sunday, May 24, devoted to it. Brother Hebert has recently made a tour of a number of our North Louisiana churches, and received many contributions toward the expansion of the work. He is engaged for the next six weeks in a series of meetings in our mission churches in Terrebonne and Lafourche, in which he is being assisted by Rev. A. M. Sarex, a native of Switzerland, a student of Emory University in preparation for work in Belgium. We hope that the prayers of all our people will unite for the success of these meetings.

The Bayou Blue and Lafourche charges have recently adopted a system of monthly contributions to the support of the church, looking toward the development of self-support. Brother La-Grange, at Bayou Blue, reports the organization of two new Sundnay schools during the quarter, and Brother A. D. Martin is reorganizing one on the Lafourche work.

The Memorial Home has been improved very much by the addition of about $1,400 worth of repairs recently. Brother Snelling has his hands full with this great institution and the Louisiana Avenue Church. He has employed a young woman as assistant at Louisiana Avenue, which will greatly help that work.

Brother Wier is preaching a series of sermons on the book of Genesis on Sunday evenings at Algiers, and is having large congregations. In addition to the reception of 59 members since Conference, 48 of them by profession of faith, he has a class of ten or more to be received the first Sunday in July.

A great rally of the Sunday schools of the city was held on May 20, at which the Rayne Memorial school won the silver loving cup offered by Mr. G. W. Rowbotham for the largest attendance in proportion to enrollment.

A DELAYED REPORT FROM THE NEWTON DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

The Newton District Conference convened in the little town of Hickory, at 9 a. m., Wednesday, May 8.

The presiding elder, Rev. John A. Moore, conducted the devotional exercises, reading from Acts 1:1-8, and, after a fervent prayer, gave a most helpful message on the "Power of the Holy Ghost."

The secretary of the previous district conference, Rev. O. S. Lewis, called the roll of pastors and delegates, after which the present writer was elected secretary.

All the pastors were present save E. H. Cooley, of Bay Springs, and Rev. J. C. Long, supply on North Neshoba circuit. Sickness in Brother Cooley's family kept him at home.

A large number of the lay delegates were present, and all of them were very much interested in the work committed to their hands. The regular program of a district conference was carried out. The reports from the several pastors showed that the work of the church was moving forward throughout the district.

Among the special visitors and speakers introduced to the conference were: W. M. Williams, of the Board of Church Extension, speaking in the interest of the obligation of this Conference to the Washigton City Church. Following his speech, provision was made for the presiding elder to apportion the $225 needed from this district to the several pastoral charges, and then proceed to raise the same. A. S. Oliver came in the interest of the church at Columbus, Miss., and he got what he asked for; Rev. J. M. Morse spoke briefly on the progress made in the Educational funds raised from the drive of 1921; Dr. J. R. Lin represented Millsaps College; Dr. J. M. Sullivan the laymen's work of the Conference; Mrs. Riley, the Orphans' Home; and Miss Daisy Davies delivered one of the most stirring appeals of the conference on the Centenary work. Rev. N. B. Harmon delivered the one sermon preached during the conference.

On the day preceding the conference, a splendid Sunday School Institute was conducted by Rev. J. C. Chambers and his co-laborers.

One of the important questions which came befor the conference was the method of raising $250,000 endowment for Whitworth College. The plan presented to the conference was represented by Rev. J. Loyd Decell, of Central Church, Meridian. The plan was adopted only in part. The conference was unwilling to accept any allotment that might be interpreted as an assessment on the district, but appointed the following committee to co-operate in this work of raising the needed endowment: Clerical—O. S. Lewis, N. B. Harmon, L. E. Alford, H. J. Moore, C. H. Strait, J. F. McClellan, and W. F. Baggett; Lay—W. C. Mabry, O. S. Hopkins, Dr. G. W. Mars, N. H. Holyfield, M. S. Buckly, W. A. Davenport, and W. H. Jones.

There were no persons licensed to preach, and no recommendation for admission into the Annual Conference.

As an expression of appreciation of the services rendered by Rev. J. A. Moore, presiding elder, during this quadrennium, the pastors and laymen of the district had purchased a handsome gold watch for him. The presentatoin speech was made by Rev. N. B. Harmon. An appropriate response was given by Brother Moore.

The following persons were elected lay delegates to the Annual Conference: N. H. Holyfield, P. L. Blackwell, W. H. Jones, O. C. Hull, W. A. Davenport, O. S. Hopkins, W. C. Mabry, J. R. Rowzie. Alternates: Mrs. T. M. Bennett, J. H. Currie, A. S. McClendon, G. R. Nobles, and J. E. Oakey.

Rose Hill was chosen as the next place for holding the conference. The conference manifested a fine, hopeful spirit from beginning to end. We were delightfully entertained, and we were well pleased with the beautiful new church they have in Hickory.

PAUL M. BROWN.

Doubtless other memoirs of our beloved friend, Paul M. Brown, will be sent in to the Advocate, but I cannot let this occasion pass without expressing our appreciation of this splendid man.

On Friday morning, June 15, as we were having prayer in the little parsonage living room, the telephone rang. We stopped reading "Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels and have not love"—and received the message that Paul Brown had passed away.

Awe-stricken and in tears, we tried to conclude our worship. "Love suffereth long and is kind." Ah! How like our friend, who for thirty long years bore the hardships and trial of an itinerant preacher's life, but uttered no complaint. And he was just as patient in the two years of suffering that closed his life.

"And is kind." Kind to every one, small or great. Kind to the young preacher and his wife, facing the hard, untried field. A score of incidents arose in our minds when he had shown a kindly interest in our work, even to the smallest detail. The personal touch—that was the secret of his winning so rapid and sure a way into our hearts.

We were on our first appointment. Cooking and presiding elders were alike new and awe-inspiring events. With trembling heart but bravado smile I invited him and a lady of the congregation to have dinner with us after "church" that day, then rushed home to set the table. But the cats had crawled through the warped cupboard doors (ice-boxes are not always present on one's first charge), and the precious beef-roast was under the table with the browned potatoes and gravy marking the trail.

I fell into a chair and wept. To me, that was a near-tragedy, but when I said to him, "The cats have got the meat and potatoes, and there is only the salad and dessert left—would you mind going to the restaurant with my husband?" Brother Brown laughed and said, "Why, that's the best joke I ever knew on a newly-wed's dinner. We'll have lots of fun eating that salad and dessert!" And we did! (though my husband did slip out and get a dish of roast veal and some turnips from the restaurant). My husband already loved him dearly, but from that moment he was my presiding elder, too.

To go back to our worship that sad morning, as we proceeded with the Love chapter, it seemed that each verse emphasized some striking element of his character. "Love envieth not"—knows no jealousy. Though younger and sometimes less able men came up and passed him in places of distinction, he never seemed to feel mistreated, nor did he "seek his own," and some of us feel that he did not always receive his own, or that which his gifts and graces ably endowed him to hold. Surely in the Church Triumphant he is holding a high place among "just men made perfect." Verily, he did not "live in the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians," but the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians lived in him.

"Enduring all things"—even when his own son was taken, he sought to advance the interests of others, and of his country. It was this spirit of unselfishness, amounting to heroism, that drew the great crowd together on last Saturday morning at the De Ridder Methodist church. As the many handsome floral offerings were brought in until there was not space to contain them; as the ladies of the local Red Cross entered with a huge red cross of flowers and the silver loving-cup bearing testimony to his patriotism; as the brother-ministers spoke tenderly of the place he held in their hearts; as the little woman from Dry Creek told how he had led her to Christ long ago; and as the long procession passed for a farewell look upon his beloved face, the scene seemed to change from one of mere grief and sadness to one of the rare moments of life when one is privileged to stand on the mountain-top and sees the sun setting in all his splendor and glory. The scene fills the heart with a sense of God's nearness and glory, and so we felt, as we reviewed his life, that "it is good to be here," and our hearts were lifted nearer to God in a longing to live as Paul Brown had done, to "walk humbly with thy God" and to serve others. That is his life-story—others.

"Love took up the harp of Life and smote on all the chords with might;
Smote the chord of Self, that, trembling, pass'd in music out of sight."

A PROTEST.

The attitude of the world towards the ministry has been with me a life study, and this attitude has many curious phases. In one respect this world attitude shows a curious combination of diverse characteristics.

In the matter of suggestion and advice preachers are assumed to possess a patience that is God-like and an incapacity that is infantile.

Everybody knows how a preacher should act in the discharge of his office and work, and from the beginning to the end he is the patient recipient of endless suggestions. It would seem that the church should know better, but in fact in this matter the church is the chief sinner against its ministry. In illustration of this assertion let us look into the mail of a Methodist pastof. What a wonderful thing is the mail of a Methodist preacher! It contains:

1. Letters from the presiding bishop, often bearing the look of having a rubber stamp signature, as though it had been prepared in some secretary's office and signed with a rubber stamp. I say it looks so. I hope it is not so, for to rubber stamp these circular letters is not in keeping with the dignity of the great episcopal office.
2. Letters from the elder, some of his own composition and some apparently prepared in some executive office and "sent out" for distribution. I hope this is not the case, but sometimes it surely looks this way.
3. Letters from the General Secretary of Missions.
4. Letters from the Secretary of Home Missions about Rural Work.
5. Letters from the Church Extension Secretary.
6. Letters from the Sunday School Board.
7. Letters from the Board of Lay Activities.
8. Letters from the Board of Education.
9. Letters from the Director of Centenary Movement.
10. Letters from the Conference Secretary of Centenary Movement.
11. Letters from General Director of Educational Movement.
12. Letters from Local Educational Director.
13. Letters from the Secretary of Superannuate Endowment.
14. Letters from Conference Secretary of Superannuate Endowment Fund.
15. Letters from Conference Sunday School Secretary.
16. Letters from General Epworth League Secretary.
17. Letters from Conference Epworth League Secretary.
18. Letters from the Orphanage Manager.
19. Letters from the Secretary of Church Hospitals.
20. Letters about summer mission schools.
21. Letters about summer training school for rural pastors.
22. Letters about summer divinity schools.

These are denominational letters, and I may have forgotten some. And then we receive:

1. Letters about Church Federation.
2. Letters about concerted action for preserving peace.
3. Letters from Anti-Saloon League.
4. Letters about Conference on Faith and Order.

Add to these an appeal for money for objects over part of the earth.

What a waste of money in postage, envelopes, paper and typewriters and office space and salaries! Most of these young men should be studying rural missions, with a horse and saddle bags. They should not even have Ford cars, for a large percentage of people in Mississippi live where not even a Ford can go. Ford car preachers visit at the big houses on the good roads, but the tenant on the back side of the farm or the little follow hidden away in the woods can't generally be reached in autos.

With all our writing and talking of good roads and with all our bonds and high taxes, but a small per cent of people in the rural sections of Mississippi live on "good roads."

The days on which we shall do certain things are suggested to us, even our sermons and addresses are sent to us.

I have just read a letter written by one of our general secretaries to a preacher in our church who reported no additions to his church last year. This letter first reprimands this pastor as if he had the power of converting men. We used to be told that God converted men, and then it suggested an attempt this year to attain an increase of 10 per cent, as if the preacher could control the decision of free moral agents.

Of course, this is a pretty strong story, but it is true nevertheless. Who shall deliver us from this body of bureaucratic death?

Such a condition leaves no place for individuality or initiative.

It leaves no time for study or thought or understanding of the truth which we are called to declare to lost men. If yielded to, such a condition unmans and enervates our ministry, and in the end destroys the vitality and power of the church, for the church depends on the virility and power of its ministry for its very existence.

The remedy must come from the ministry. They must not be driven from the greater side of their calling by any merely human pressure.

Our remedy at least is in our hands. This writer has about ceased to open or read these secretarial mandates.

After all this compalint and protest, allow me to add something that I consider of real value.

We live in a day when a deluge of worthless printing almost drowns the thought of the modern world. To put a young man in the way of reading a real book is a favor indeed. Many "Lives of Christ," so-called, have been written in the last seventy-five years. It has remained for a converted skeptic, an Italian, a Florentine and a Catholic to write the greatest of these which it has been my fortune to read. The average Southerner thinks of an Italian as a Dago who peddles fruit and makes a market garden, or is a ward-heeler in city politics, or the operator of a bootlegging joint. We forget that the three greatest creations of the human intellect, the Roman Government, the Civil Law, and the Papacy, have all been the creations of Italian genius. Giovanni Papapini's Life of Christ, with its "Dantesque" intensity of thought and vividness of description, bids fair to take permanent rank with the great religious books of the ages.

We, of the present, cannot, of course, stand sponsor for the taste of those who are to come after us, but my judgment is that this book is to rank with the Imitation of Christ and the Pilgrim's Progress.

TENT WANTED FOR JULY.

If any brother has a tent that would seat as many as 400 people that could be rented for the month of July, I would be glad to get in touch with him at once. We are planning for a great meeting for our church at Zwolle, La., and would like to use a tent for the meeting. I trust that some one can help us out and we will be glad to pay for its use and promise good care of the property. Please write me at once if you know of one, or have one yourself.

THE LATE ATTACK ON THE VIRGIN BIRTH.

parthenos, which does mean virgin and nothing else. So when the Jews for centuries read in Isa. vii:14: "A virgin shall conceive and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel," which means "God with us," they recognized it as a God-given, sure prophecy of a coming Messiah or Christ who would be born of a Virgin.

It has been said by some, if not all, who reject the Virgin Birth, that it is a fiction borrowed from sundry paganisms which have fables of a Virgin Birth. If it be true, and it is, that legends of Virgin Births may be found in the mythologies of some pagan peoples, it is in no sense even probable that our notion of a Christ born of a Virgin was borrowed from any one of these pagan myths. May it not be that these pagans borrowed their notion from ours? There is absolutely no evidence that any of these pagan myths antedates the first intimation of our Virgin-born Christ found in Gen. 111:15. A statement that presents no proof calls for no disproof.

As early as 150 A. D., the statement of our doctrine of the Virgin Birth so clearly and fully presented by Matthew and Luke, endorsed by Mark, supported by Paul, vigorously defended by John, and re-enforced by Christ himself, was put into credal form; and this Apostles' Creed is accepted by the Christian world to-day. Can any Christian discredit it? It is said that the fact that it involves miracle is against it. Only with infidels can it be an objection. "They (the Virgin Birth records in Matthew and Luke) must be received or else the whole superstructure of Christianity totters and falls. It is only by the way of the fact here declared, that it is at all possible to comprehend the great facts which are evident in the whole subsequent work of this person (Jesus)."—G. Campbell Morgan, D.D., The Crisis of the Christ, p. 71.

The same great preacher says, in his booklet entitled The Christ of To-Day, p. 9: "To lose the Christ of Virgin Birth, and virtuous life, and vicarious death, and victorious resurrection, is to lose the New Testament."

In Methodism the existence of any objection to the Virgin Birth of Christ seems impossible. In every Sunday morning service, at least, we say: "I believe in * * * Jesus Christ his (God's) only Son our Lord; who was conceived by the Holy Ghost and born of the Virgin Mary." Every man, woman and child received into the Methodist Church is required to accept this creed. It is inserted into our baptismal service, and those who are baptized in infancy are required to "ratify and confirm" this "vow of faith" before being received into full membership. Our Article II says: "The Son, who is the Word of the Father, the very eternal God, of one substance with the Father, took man's nature in the womb of the blessed Virgin."

This writer knows of no preacher in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, who does not believe heartily in the Virgin Birth of Christ. If there be such an one, he is in honor bound to withdraw from this ministry and church.

THE TRAGEDY OF BEING FORGOTTEN.

By Mrs. S. H. C. Burgin.

It is pitiful to see a white rosebud, the result of months of skilled care by an expert florist, carelessly thrown to a muddy street and bruised by a sturdy heel; the forgotten bird's nest tells a pathetic story; an old home, blinds swinging half shut, curtains awry, tall grass in place of the close-cropped lawn, doors half open, suggests that the joy of life and love has given place to the process of death; but the supreme tragedy is a human being who has been cast aside and forgotten.

Our superannuated ministers have been the leaders, promoters, confessors, and inspirers of many a church and neighborhood. The platform, the center of the stage, the public eye, and generous acclaim have formed their habitat. For them to be left not only homeless but stripped of everything that made the sum and pattern of their lives, even as the flotsam and jetsam of the community, is a disgrace to the Church. This forgetfulness of the Church is not premeditated. It is not intended as cruel and vicious. It is merely the result of careless indifference, wherein is shown an utter lack of Christian care and forethought. We spend useless pages of print and froth of words trying to find why the Church has seemingly failed in its great task in the world. There is just one reason, and that is our failure to be true to the tenets of our faith. When we allow worn-out preachers and widows of preachers to spend their old-age period without the commonest necessities for comfortable living, is it any wonder that the Church fails to make creditable progress?

Industry takes care of worn-out task doers automatically; but we, purporting to be representatives of that tender, loving Christ, who always helped in time of need, have for long, weary years allowed our white-haired, decrepit, and sweet spirited ministers to live almost as beggars of the street. If we do not change this program, the Church will soon lose the respect of people who stand for a square deal.

The superannuated preachers are a real asset to any communinty. They help the younger pastors, inspire the youth of the Church, and cheer the old people of the flock. If they could be domiciled in pleasant little homes, unworried by the fear of sickness and want, they would be able even more to serve the needs arising in situations where they dwell. Let them not be superannnuated and left in utter loneliness, but make it possible for them out of their retirement to give unto others the benefit of their ripened lives.

Everybody likes to be remembered with even a small wild flower, but how much more pleasure comes to the heart of the one who does the remembering! How sweetly and soundly Methodism will sleep that blessed night after we have provided for our old preachers! The Church will be rewarmed and remade. Out of doing our duty to these veterans of the cross will come upon us a gracious spiritual baptism from Him whose worn-out prophets we shall have remembered. In such an atmosphere of love we will press on to victory with every program of the Church which comes into our hands.

Let love, tenderness, gratitude, and personal appreciation not die out of the hearts of Methodists. We could afford just as well to lose the red of sunset and golden yellow of the heart of the rose. For love's sake, let us take care of our preachers. For the sake of our good standing in the world we must do it. Because it is expedient and right, we must do it and speedily.

REFLECTIONS WHILE AT SEA.

By Bishop Hoyt M. Dobbs.

Returning recently from South America, I met on board the ship at the close of the service on Sunday a number of loyal Christian men and women, and among them some splendid Methodist people who also "had not left their religion at home." A worthy Methodist layman and wife introduced themselves and were kind enough to manifest intelligent interest in the owrk of the Church and to let me know something of the congregation of which they were members. Among our topics of conversation were the "Centenary," "Education," "Missions," and other phases of the work of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. I found that upon starting upon their tour of the Western Hemisphere they had been wise enough to direct their means and estate to certain benevolent institutions "in case anything should happen." One had selected the Orphans' Home at Waco, Tex., and the other had chosen the Superannuate Endowment Fund to which to give their holdings. Happily they were blessed with health and were homeward bound and had decided that they would not cancel their bequests. They had begun to enjoy the fruits of giving to worthy causes and to plan for the investment of the coming years in the welfare of their fellow-men.

"An honored old age is the beginning of immortality."

"He who has been my teacher for an hour has become my father for a lifetime."

"Honor thy father and thy mother, that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee."

In these proverbs we discover the distilled wisdom of the peoples of antiquity. I have always thought that the venerable men who have preached the gospel to the younger generations might rightly be considered as the fathers of the younger age. There is no more practical way in which we could honor our "fathers in the gospel" in their sunset hours than by setting aside a sum of money for their use against the day when they can no longer sustain or support themselves. "God gave us memory in order that we may have roses in December." But the heroes of the long road deserve to have along with their flowers other evidences of love and esteem.

Ingratitude, whether in a man, an institution, or a nation, is one of the basest sins of mankind. To do less than what is planned for the superannuates is to manifest an ingratitude unworthy of the Church. It is not a matter of sentiment only; it is also a matter of justice. These venerable men ought not to suffer discomfort or indignity because of our lack of appreciation. They guided the forces of civilization which have shaped and molded the order in which we enjoy so large a degree of freedom and self-realization to-day. They labored, and we are entered into their labors. It would be impossible for us to put the measure of the dollar mark upon their abundant labors. There are some things which money cannot buy. Not until the years have ended will we know the full significance of their toil. The Church loves her aged ministers. The funds are not lacking. The time is ripe. The cause is just. The General Conference has spoken. It remains for us to do for these white-haired servants of Jehovah that which is in keeping with our means and our station among the other great denominations.

A WORTHY EXAMPLE.

By Luther E. Todd.

There came to my desk this week a special edition of the Pacific Methodist, edited by Rev. W. H. Nelson. The entire paper was taken up with pictures and articles concerning the cause of the "forgotten man." It was all conceived and wrought out by Brother Nelson and came as a pleasant surprise. The paper contained full-page pictures of the Board of Finance and all the representatives of Conference Boards of Finance who were in attendance upon the annual meeting which was held in St. Louis April 23, 24.

If the publicity thus given the cause of the superannuated preachers by the Pacific Methodist is a sample of what the various Conference organs expect to do looking to promote the success of the special effort for superannuate endowment, we may be assured right now that the Church is certain to be properly informed on this subject. Other Conference organs have lately been printing various articles calculated to stimulate interest in this movement, and all of them hold out the promise to do even more of this sort of thing as the time approaches for the special effort to begin.

May I suggest to those who are disposed to assist in the work of publicity for this cause that they seize every opportunity to send appealing matter on the subject to the editor of this page! We must not fail in this critical period of publicity by means of the Church press to arouse in the Church a passion for the success of this movement. After waiting and suffering through all the history of Southern Methodism for recognition of his claim for adequate support, the superannuated preacher is about to have a real chance with the people. It will be a tragedy if we fail to give the people full information concerning the justice of his claims.

SYMPATHETIC.

Whenever I start out to walk, our dog he seems to know,
And runs along ahead of me to show he's coming, too;
And when there is a reason why he really mustn't go,
The hollering "Go home" to him is awful hard to do.

He wags his tail and jumps around, and seems as if he said:
"I guess you didn't mean it; you were only jokin' then!"
But when he sees I'm serious he kinder droops his head,
Or looks up at me sorrowful, an' looks away again.

And then at last he minds me if I keep an angry tone.
It's awful hard to do it, but I try with all my might;
And sometimes when I look around I see him all alone
A-watchin' me and watchin' me until I'm out of sight.

You see I know just how it is, 'cause some days when I find
My brother's got to hurry off with bigger boys to play,
And when he says I mustn't go and tag along behind,
He leaves me sittin' somewhere and a-feelin' just that way!

—From "Rhymes of Little Boys," by Burgess Johnson.

THE FROG'S COUSIN.

If the doctor's boys had not been mowing the grass, they might never have noticed him; for he was a little fellow, and he was trying hard to escape their notice when the lawn mower ran him down.

Now he lay quite still, and Harry and Ralph looked down at him sorrowfully. He was only a toad; but, as Ralph said, he might have a wife and family waiting for him at home; and, anyway, maybe even toads were some good in the world.

The doctor was looking out of his study window, and he overheard them.

"Bring him in, boys," he called to them. "Maybe we shall be able to restore Mr. Toad to his family."

"Now, while I am trying to bring him back to life," he said, "I should like for you to tell me what you know about a toad."

"He's—he's a kind of first cousin to the frog, isn't he?" Harry asked doubtfully.

"But a frog has a smooth skin and he is rough," Ralph put in.

"And he gives people warts when they touch him," declared Harry. "That's why we brought him in on a leaf."

The doctor laughed and looked at his own hands. "Then I seem to be in for it," he observed. "I have touched him more than once in the last few minutes. What else?"

"I'm afraid that's all we know," Ralph said, after a pause.

"Suppose you look it up in the 'Natural History,'" the doctor suggested. "When you come back, maybe Mr. Toad will be on his feet."

Sure enough, they returned in a few minutes to find the little fellow looking very spry indeed.

"O, I'm so glad!" Harry exclaimed. "We wouldn't want him to die now for anything. Why, we've found that toads are useful. The 'Natural History' says they kill more than their weight of caterpillars and bugs in a single day. We need him in the garden."

"How about the wart?" asked the doctor.

"There isn't much in that," Ralph asserted. "The book says that they have a liquid which roughens the skin when you get it on your hands; but then, that's their only way of defending themselves."

"Because they haven't any teeth, like the frog," Harry explained. "Frogs have tiny teeth on their upper jaw and palate. A frog has a forked tongue, but a toad hasn't."

"Good! Now I think our patient is ready to go. He can do duty in the garden for a few weeks longer, then he will be ready to take his winter's sleep in some hole or burrow. Who will carry him out?"

"We'll both go," the boys exclaimed, and they took up the leaf to escort Mr. Toad out again. But just as they reached the last step he gave a flying leap and landed in a flower bed. Then he started away at a lively pace, as if to make up for the time lost.

"Good-bye, Mr. Toad," Harry called after him. "Remember us to your family."—Paul Suter, in Sunday School Times.

PRAIRIE DOG, "PETE."

By Dorothy C. Retsloff.

When the Bensons first moved to Montana, they lived on a ranch ten miles from the nearest white people.

George Benson was nine years old. He had no play-fellows, so he made friends with all the little wild creatures that he could.

One morning his father came in from the pasture with a baby prairie dog in his pocket. The little thing had been very much hurt by some animal, probably a coyote.

Mr. Benson handed it to George and said: "Here, son, see what kind treatment will do for a prairie dog."

So "Pete" became an inmate of the Benson home. The hair on his back and sides was a reddish gray, on his belly it was a very light gray. His legs were short, his breast and shoulders wide. His little ears looked as if they had been cropped. The two inner toes of his front feet were long and sharp. George's father explained that they grew that way, so that Pete could dig his home in the hard earth.

George bound up Pete's injured leg and washed the cut places on his back. He kept him in a box and fed him with tender green grass. He never handled him roughly nor spoke in gruff tones. After four weeks of kindness and care, Pete was following George everywhere and was as playful as a puppy.

When Pete was full grown, he measured twelve inches from the tip of his nose to the root of his shaggy tail, and the tail itself was five inches long.

One day in October, while Mrs. Benson was working in the kitchen, Pete ran in. He sat up on his haunches, and barked in his high-pitched voice. She went on with her work. Pete got as close to her as he could, sat up and barked again. It was the first time he had ever acted in such a strange manner. She went to the other end of the kitchen. Pete followed and repeated his strange performance, then he hurried to the door.

Mrs. Benson followed him. She saw two-year-old Helen going down the road toward the creek. Evidently Pete knew that the water was no place for baby Helen, and he found a way to tell her mother.

Prairie dogs live in burrows in the ground. They damage thousands and thousands of dollars' worth of crops every year. Farmers consider them great pests and try to get rid of them by putting poison down in the burrows.

Pairie dogs are nearly always plump and fat. They seem to be happy little creatures in spite of the unfriendliness of the world about them.—Our Dumb Animals.

THE SEASHORE DIVINITY SCHOOL.

The session of the Seashore Divinity School which came to a close last Thursday was, we believe, one of the best in the history of the institution. The attendance was good, 114 preachers being regularly enrolled. The addresses, delivered by Bishop W. B. Murrah, Bishop Warren A. Candler, and Dr. W. R. Hendrix, were appropriate, thought-provoking, and inspiring, and the class work of the undergraduates was satisfactory.

The appearance of the grounds has been greatly improved since the session last year, and the physical surroundings are more inviting than ever. Keller Lodge has been repainted and refurnished, and the dining-room has been made attractive in various ways. The meals served were well prepared, sufficient in quantity, and of fine quality, and the School unanimously passed a vote of thanks to Rev. H. W. Van Hook for the excellent provision he had made for the entertainment of visitors.

Credit for the success of the Divinity School—not only for this year, but also for the years preceding—is largely due to Rev. H. M. Ellis, the retiring president. Brother Ellis was really the originator of the School in that he was the author of the resolutions providing for its establishment, and from the very beginning he has spared neither time nor effort to make it fulfill its mission.

The board of directors acceded to the request of Brother Ellis to be relieved of the presidency, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, H. T. Carley, of the Louisiana Conference; Vice-President, J. T. Leggett, of the Mississippi Conference; Secretary, H. W. Rice, of the Alabama Conference; Treasurer, H. M. Andrews, of the Alabama Conference; Dean, H. H. McNeill, of the Alabama Conference; Publicity Agent, R. H. Harper, of the Louisiana Conference.

The Board of Directors is as follows: Mississippi Conference—H. M. Ellis, J. T. Leggett, I. W. Cooper; Louisiana Conference—C. W. Crisler, H. T. Carley, R. H. Harper; Alabama Conference—H. H. McNeill, H. M. Andrews, H. W. Rice. Plans are already under way for the next session, and it is hoped that the program and attendance will measure up to the high standard already established.

AN IMPORTANT BOOK BY DR. F. N. PARKER.

There has just come from the press of the Publishing House a book, "What We Believe," by Dr. Franklin N. Parker, Dean of the Candler School of Theology, that ought to have, and we believe will have, a wide reading. The chapters of the book appeared first in the Epworth Era and were intended primarily for use in Epworth League study classes; but they are so well adapted to a much wider circle of readers that the Publishing Agents have done well to bring them out in the present attractive and permanent form.

The book is written in a simple and untechnical style that will appeal to the general reader, and its spirit is such as to develop and increase the devotional life. It is not controversial, but positive and constructive. Taking the Apostles' Creed as the basis of approach, Dr. Parker undertakes to give a Biblical statement of the doctrines steadfastly held by Christian people, especially Methodists. Those who are looking for a controversial discussion of present-day theological questions will be disappointed in the book—but those who want to be able to give a reason concerning the hope that is in them will find it inspiring and uplifting. The book may be had of Lamar & Barton, Publishers, Nashville, Tenn., for seventy-five cents.

Miss Edna Raley, daughter of Rev. H. E. Raley, our pastor at Osyka, Miss., added greatly to the pleasure of the Seashore Divinity School by her faithful and skillful work at the piano.

The Supreme Court of Mississippi has rendered a decision confirming the right of the district trustees to sell the district parsonage at Durant, Miss., the sale of which had been enjoined.

At the recent commencement of Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky., the degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon Rev. Henry Felgar Brooks, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Shreveport, La.

Rev. Elmer C. Gunn, our pastor at Bogalusa, La., has been appointed chaplain of the One Hundred and Fifty-sixth Infantry, Louisiana National Guard, with the rank of captain. Congratulations, Captain Gunn!

Rev. Otto Porter, of the Mississippi Conference, who received the Bachelor of Divinity degree from the Candler School of Theology on June 5, has entered upon his duties as associate pastor of Galloway Memorial Church, Jackson, Miss.

The new memorial organ in the Methodist church at Bogalusa, La., given by her life-long friend, Mrs. Charles W. Goodyear, of Buffalo, N. Lee, presiding elder of the Baton Rouge District; the evening service will consist of an organ recital, given by Mrs. J. T. Blackmar.

Prof. J. O. Dampeer, of New Hebron, Miss., and Miss Pauline Felder, of Summit, Miss., were married at the Topisaw Camp Ground on Sunday, June 17, Rev. W. T. Griffin officiating. The Advocate extends all good wishes to the happy couple.

Mr. Stephen S. Thomas, Centenary Secretary-Treasurer of the Louisiana Conference, has been called to Centenary Headquarters in Nashville, Tenn., where he will spend several weeks doing special work under the direction of Dr. W. G. Cram, Directing Secretary.

Rev. Mark N. Terrell, general evangelist, of Sherman, Tex., requests us to say that he has an open date for a two-weeks' meeting, beginning on July 15. Any one desiring his services at that time may reach him at Camden, Miss., where he is now engaged in a revival campaign.

We were in error, of course, in stating in the Advocate of June 7 that Rev. A. S. Byrd is pastor of the Camden charge, Mississippi Conference. Brother Byrd is the faithful and efficient pastor at Vaughan, Miss. We beg his pardon for the slip.

Mr. Henry Bending, assistant superintendent of our Sunday school at Raymond, Miss., and teacher of the Bible class, has recently removed to another place to make his home. In appreciation of his faithful work at Raymond, the Sunday school adopted suitable resolutions.

Our church at Tunica, Miss., Rev. C. A. Parks, pastor, is making a splendid record. Already $1,000 has been paid on the Centenary, salaries and benevolent claims are in full to date, and 51 members have been received since Conference—28 of them on profession of faith. Brother Parks is in the fourth year of his pastorate at Tunica.

We learn with great sorrow of the serious accident that befell Mrs. A. D. George, wife of our pastor at Bunkie, La., recently. The car which she was driving was overturned and her right arm and shoulder were crushed. We earnestly pray that she may recover from the injuries. Her children and Rev. J. H. French, who were also in the car, were not seriously hurt.

Rev. A. Inman Townsley, formerly of the Louisiana Conference, now pastor at Columbus, Texas, recently visited some of his friends in Louisiana, the special object of his visit being to preach the commencement sermon for the Rayville High School. In the "Columbus Community," his church bulletin, Brother Townsley gives an interesting account of his visit.

Our church at Durant, Miss., has suffered a great loss in the recent death of Mrs. Martha Catherine Howard. She was a devoted Christian, a life-long member of the Methodist Church. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. N. G. Augustus, assisted by Rev. R. P. Neblett and Rev. J. M. Metts, of the Baptist Church. The Advocate extends sincere sympathy to the sorrowing loved ones.

Emory and Henry College, Emory, Va., has on a campaign to raise $200,000 in order to secure a conditional gift of $75,000 from the General Education Board. Ex-Governor Comer, of Alabama, an alumnus of Emory and Henry, who delivered the literary address at the recent commencement, announced that he would give to the college endowment fund $100 for every minute it took him to deliver his address. It is reported that he spoke exactly fifty minutes.

At a great service at the First Methodist Church, Shreveport, La., after a sermon by the pastor, Dr. H. F. Brooks, from the text, "Here am I, send me," many parents expressed their willingness for their sons and daughters to enlist in the active work of the church, a great host of young people renewed their church vows, three young men—two of them college graduates—offered themselves for the ministry, and one young woman volunteered for missionary work. The Shreveport Times speaks of the service as one of the most impressive ever held at First Church.

We learn with sorrow of the death of Mrs. Lovie Lee Ellis, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Nancy Fulton, on the old Silliman plantation in East Feliciana Parish, La., on June 14. Mrs. Ellis went to East Feliciana about thirty years ago, with her husband, from near Yazoo City, Miss. She was the mother of Rev. J. C. Ellis, of the Mississippi Conference. She had 101 direct descendants, 83 of whom are still living, 62 of them being present at the funeral services, which were conducted by Rev. L. C. Wilson. Sister Ellis was an exemplary Christian, a life-long Methodist, and one of the oldest readers of the Advocate. We extend sincere sympathy to the sorrowing family.

Parks, Tunica, Miss., 2; Rev. D. E. Vickers, Meridian, Miss., 3; Rev. N. G. Augustus, Byhalia, Miss., 2.

FROM THE PELICAN PINES.

By Rev. S. A. Steel, D.D.

Here are letters asking me when "Home Life in Dixie During the War" will be out. It reminds me. When I was a student at Emory and Henry College fifty odd years ago, I was riding one day with Mr. Wm. R. Stuart, the noble father of Ex-Governor Stuart, and brother of the great Confederate Cavalry General, J. E. B. Stuart. We crossed a little bridge that had recently been repaired, and Mr. Stuart told me that a few days before he came to the bridge, and found the Irishman who was doing the work in distress: the plank was an inch too short, and that spoiled the whole job. Mr. Stuart said to Pat: "O Pat, don't be worried over a little thing like that. Just stretch it an inch, and it will be all right." Pat replied: "And faith, Mr. Stuart, if I could stretch plank, I wouldn't be mending bridges"! Now I am in Pat's fix. The financial "plank" is just a little too short to bridge the gap between the manuscript and the printed page, and the job halts. If all ye editors for whose papers I write would do like Brother Lazenby recently did in the Alabama Christian Advocate, the gap would soon be bridged. He put a note in his paper, suggesting that the subscribers pay in advance, set the example, and at once there was a shower of checks. As it is, the best I can say is, be patient, and as soon as the steam gets up, we will play Dixie.

I call my study my "Den." People who call plain old-fashioned ——ache "hyper-nutrition" might call it my library, but "Den" is more in keeping with its rough simplicity. I built it myself with the aid of a negro carpenter in laying the floor and putting on the shingles, and squared it to a dot. Here I have housed my literary friends from Homer to Papini, and I have classified them in sections as Theology, Philosophy, Science, History, Biography, Literature, and Miscellaneous. A separate section contains Confederate History. Above this are two Confederate flags and a picture of Lee and Jackson. I haven't room for many pictures, but a few adorn the walls. One is the interior of Westminster Abbey. It silently inspires devotion. Another of Paul Revere with his foot in his stirrup, about to mount his horse for his famous ride as the light flashes in the steeple. It touches a patriotic chord. Another of my garden in Columbia, S. C., where I am standing with several of the family, holding my hoe among the tall corn. I belong to the soil, and still enjoy holding the plow handles. Another is a panel picture of the lawn of the University of Virginia and a group picture of the Faculty of the University fifty years ago. I am proud of that picture, for it recalls the romance of my youth. I was only 24, but my face is in the group with those of Gildersleeve, Smith, Peters, John B. Minor, Venable, Holmes, Davis, and the other eminent scholars who then formed the corps of Instructors. I was Chaplain, and the Chaplain had the rank of a Professor. I call the University of Virginia my "Alma Mater," not because of what I learned in its class-rooms, but because of its inspirational influence on my life. The two years I spent there as the pastor of those famous men of letters fixed forever the lofty ideals I have imperfectly followed since. Association with such men was in itself a liberal education. And I believe the University of Virginia is still a "nursing mother" of those ideals of American democracy which are the core of our civilization.

My "Den" opens into my garden. Now watch the proboscis of the golf-player take a skyward tilt. Yes, sir, and I happen to know that some of these golf-players who put on airs on the links once held the plow-handles themselves. I was brought up "on the links," but we got a bale of cotton to the acre then, which was a far better yield than they get with their crooked sticks. And I could name some illustrious companions in gardening. By the way, if Malthus had worked in a garden he probably would never have written that famous "Essay on Population" that wrought such havoc in the world. When Pitt read it he arrested the pending measures in the British Parliament intended to relieve distress, because the fallacious reasoning of Malthus convinced him that famine, disease, and war, were nature's agents to keep down population to the food level. Nature, perhaps, laughed at his ignorance. His theory was a slander on nature. There seems to be practically no limit to the productiveness of nature. Two, and even three crops of food products can be made on this ground. Properly handled it would demonstrate the truth of Goldsmith's lines,

"Time was, e'er England's griefs began,
When every rood of land maintained its man."

O yes, it takes work to make a garden, and that is what I like about it. I love to work, to divide my time between that elegant classical gossipper, Plutarch, and hoeing in my garden. And if Shaw could see my garden, he would say: "Whatever you do, don't shorten the line so as to leave Steel's tomatoes out!" The bushes hang with fruit fifteen inches in circumfercnce by actual measurement. And if Rice could sit under my vine and see my grapes, he would get in a good humor with me, and say: "After seeing Steel's grapes, the story of the Spies is credible"! I am sure a bowl of my raspberries would be so agreeable to Mouzon's inner man, he would say: "Let's overlook Steel's faults for the sake of his berries. A man can't be wholly bad who can grow such fruit." And if more proof were needed, a few of my Rockyfords would do the job!

My boy is pastor of the church in Lewisburg, Tenn. He thinks that section of the country is a bit of the original Eden, and has turned down the offer of big city pastorates rather than get out of hearing of the waterfalls. I think he has made a mistake, but that is his business. He started out sensibly enough as an expositor of the Scriptures. When he was about four years old, he was perpetual motion incarnate' It was hard to get him to be still long enough to have prayers. On one occasion we were all seated in a circle in the hall. He had held in pretty well while his aunt read for us the twenty-third Psalm in her impressive manner. When she came to the passage, "My cup runneth over," she paused, the emphatic pause of a good reader. The little fellow looked around, as if he thought somebody ought to say something, and as all were silent, he blurted out: "He oughter had a bigger cup"! He hit the nail on the head. There is where the trouble is. Tillett told me once my boy can preach. Well, if he will stay in the sticks, I hope he will set the woods on fire.

I know E. B. Ramsey can preach. He is homely, and modest, and plain as an old shoe, and yet even he has been infected with the stuckup malady. He sat with me in Britling's Cafeteria, and wouldn't eat a bite; said he liked to be waited on at table! He is a spiritual dynamo in trousers, and can preach the socks off a whole college of bishops. He used to be so pious that he had his doubts about my having been made perfect because I now and then lectured. Now I understand he lectures occasionally himself. One day when his children were small, I passed his parsonage, and seeing his little girl on the steps, I said: "Alma, is your father at home?" "No, Uncle Sammie; he's gone to Mississippi to lecture." "To lecture," I exclaimed, "what does he lecture about?" "Mules and Snakes," she replied. "How much does he get for his lectures?" "He gets five dollars for his mules and ten dollars for his snakes." "What, are snakes worth more than mules?" I asked. "Papa's are," she replied. I never heard his "Snakes," but if his "Mules" don't kick the stuffing out of a lot of shams, I'm a monkey. I would rather have Ramsey with me in a revival than any man I know. He carries fire with him.

Unification, thank the Lord, is a closed incident for this generation. Now let us cultivate fraternity and all try to love each other. Let us stop this unbrotherly talk about rearing "altar against altar." Let us welcome our Northern Methodist brethren in the South, and bid them do all the good they can. I was recently in a city where there was a Northern Methodist church on one side of the street and on the opposite side, not more than a square away, a Southern Methodist church. Both were full of people, and if they were to unite, what would be gained? As it is, both are growing rapidly, and if they will cultivate a brotherly fellowship, they can be mutually helpful. At any rate, I won't have to go to the woods on Grand Army Days, and Lincoln Days, and put cotton in my ears when the organ rolls out "Marching Through Georgia." I had to stop my ears, however, in one of our own churches when they sang that lurid lyric of hatred to the South, the "Battle Hymn of the Republic." God save us from introducing into our worship hymns that insult the memory of the men who laid down their lives for our freedom on the battlefield! I don't know just where to line up theologically in these times of confusion. I am too conservative for the radicals, and too radical for the conservatives; but I know where I am in Dixie, an Unreconstructed Rebel, and it knocks my piety clear through the ceiling to hear the Northern songs a shrewd propaganda has slyly slipped into our hymnology sung in our Southern churches. You sing these songs, and it won't be long till the sentiment they enshrine will unconsciously inoculate your mind, and Lee and Forrest be regarded as traitors to their country. The South is the hope of this nation, admitted to be so now by many in the North; and the strength of the South is in her fidelity to herself and the proud traditions of her past. The Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has had a great part in making the South, and if she will be true to herself, she may become one of the anchors of the Nation, holding her steady in the storm. New York has got a case of sulks because Uncle Sam objects to having drunkards on his premises. Well, they wouldn't let us either nullify or secede, and now I'm in favor of dosing New York with her own medicine, and making her act like a lady, if we have to revert to force, and give her a spanking. No drunkards around. Mouthing Brisbane is enough.

MRS. CLARA BRYANT BUBENZER, nee Chatham, was born in Minden, La., Oct. 22, 1853, the oldest of seven children. As a young girl, in Trenton, La., near the present site of West Monroe, she united with the Methodist Church, of which she was a faithful member till the end of her life. She moved in her girlhood to Avoyelles Parish, La., and there, at the age of sixteen, she was married to Christian Bubenzer, a native of Germany. Eleven children were born to this union, seven of whom survive her. After twenty-six years of married life, the death of her husband left her a widow with nine living chidren. Until about ten years ago she lived on her plantation home near Bunkie, La., where her presence and influence were felt in the community and in the church for good. During the last years of her life she spent much of her time traveling in the West, making her home from time to time with her two daughters in Shreveport. Soon after her arrival there she connected herslf with Noel Memorial Church, where she joined heartily in the activities and enjoyed the fellowship of the Sunday school and other phases of church life. It was my privilege to be with her during these years in various experiences of sickness and sorrow, including the last days of her own final illness. In all these experiences she exhibited a fine Christian spirit of faith and resignation. She was in her manner and spirit quiet and unostentatious, characterized in all the relations of the home, the church and other responsibilities by a spirit of thoughtful faithfulness. Her offerings to the support of the church and its benevolences were generous and spontaneous. When travelling far from the home church she was scrupulously careful in remembering and meeting her pledges for the Centenary, the Orphanage, and other benevolent obligations. Even in the closing days of her last illness, she was careful to give directions about caring for the pledges that were to come due after her going. In a life of quiet and faithful piety, in the careful discharge of the duties of a mother, giving her life largely to the Christian training of a large family of children, she has left to those who survive her a precious heritage. On June 4, 1922, she passed quietly and confidently away from the home of her daughter in Shreveport, and was carried for burial to her old home at Bunkie.

DR. PAUL FOSTER—IN MEMORIAM

A Good and Great Man Has Fallen.

DR. PAUL FOSTER was translated from the earthly to the Triumphant Church on Sunday, May 20, 1923, at 7:30 p. m.

As was his custom, he attended Sunday school that morning, made a talk to the Bible class, and at the evening hour he was worshiping with the Heavenly congregation.

He was the son of the late Dr. D. W. Foster and Mrs. Melissa Spurlock Foster, devout Methodists living on Bayou de Glais in Avoyelles Parish, where Dr. Foster was born, Dec. 11, 1857. His parents moved to Opelousas when he was a small boy. Here he received his early training in the Sunday school and at the Opelousas Female Institute, under the care of that peerless woman, Mrs. M. M. Hayes, who did so much for the education of the young in this place.

Dr. Foster's educational advantages were good. He attended Prof. J. W. Bauchman's celebrated school, located at Sweetwater, East Tennessee; Southern University, Greensboro, Ala., and Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., and graduated from the medical department of the University of Louisville, Ky., Feb. 27, 1879, at the age of twenty-one years.

He believed he should be born again, and have the witness of the Spirit with his, that he was a child of God, before uniting with the church; and at the old Spring Creek camp meeting in Rapides Parish he was brightly converted on Oct. 11, 1879, and ever after testified that God was his Saviour.

At the time of his death he was president of the board of stewards, member of the board of trustees, lay leader, and treasurer of the hospital committee. He was also president of the St. Landry Parish Medical Society, served as police juror twelve years, and at one time was a member of the School Board. He was prominently connected with all the public and private interests of our parish. On Sept. 15, 1881, he was married to Miss Emma Daniel, a devoted Methodist, who lived near Washington, La., Rev. M. C. Manly officiating. To this happy union were born three children, two of whom, with his wife, survive him—Dr. M. H. Foster, of Alexandria, and Wilbur C. Foster, of Grand Cane.

He was a devoted and affectionate husband and father, and in his home the fires of the family altar burned night and morning. Every one who knew Dr. Foster admired his fidelity to the cause of truth and righteousness.

He was buried from the Methodist church, and interred in the Protestant cemetery, May 21, 1923.

Thus the old Methodist church of the Louisiana Annual Conference has produced a great and good man, and his place will be hard to fill in the life of our community.

May God raise up many more of his character in our church.

RIPLEY HOLDS A REVIVAL.

Dear Dr. Carley: We closed a very successful revival meeting here last night. Bro. W. M. McIntosh and his wife have been here two weeks, and Brother E. E. McKeithen, our pastor at Houston, Miss., conducted the singing. The preaching was of a high order, interesting and convincing. The tent was often filled to overflowing, and there was not a single dull service. There has been a gracious revival in the church. Many declared their purpose to live a better life. There were fifty-five young people over 15 years of age that surrendered for life service. Some new family altars were erected, but few as compared to the number that ought to be. Twenty-eight have united with the Methodist church, nearly all of them on profession of faith. Fourteen gave their names for membership in the other churches. The whole town fell in love with Brother and Sister McIntosh and Brother McKeithen, and his daughter, who was with us a few days and assisted with the singing. We look for better days in Ripley as a result of the meeting.

THE REAL DYNAMIC.

"But as most important of all, I plead for emphasis, on the part of secretary and committee, upon the great spiritual aspects of our advance. The one impression coming to me most clearly out of all my experiences in the East is the conviction, keen, compelling, supreme, that the real dynamic, and the force most practical, in all our work, is the personal Presence and power of the Spirit Himself. I have come to feel profoundly that it would be more than a pity, it would be a great tragedy, if, at home or abroad, we who stand in the place of leadership should suffer ourselves to be so engaged with the tables of finance and material [illegible] as to lose for one moment our clear vision of that business which is the supreme concern of the church in the spiritual conquest of the nations."—E. H. Rawlings.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Fifth Annual Assembly.

Tuesday, June 19, closed one of the finest Assemblies ever held at Mansfield College. Something like 200 young people attended, and each and every one expressed themselves as having such a spiritual uplift that they were going home to do much more effective work for the Kingdom and their Master.

One of the very beneficial services was the morning chapel services, led by Dr. R. H. Wynn. These services always started our days with song and praises to our Master.

Then followed classes in "Introducing Men to Christ," "Methods," and "Missions," taught by very competent instructors, from which all Leaguers have derived great benefit.

Among the rarest treats, however, was the presence of our beloved Bishop DuBose. Every morning at the 11 o'clock hour the Bishop spoke to the Leaguers and Mansfield folks on "The Fundementals of Methodism," and these addresses were a great help and blessing to all attending.

There is no doubt but that the vesper services, held on the lawn in front of the college each evening at 7 o'clock, were the ones which strengthened the Leaguers more than any other service, for it was at these services that many prayed and testified for the first time in public; they were all very tender services, and will never be forgotten by those attending.

At the 8 o'clock hour the Bishop addressed the Leaguers each evening, and his sermons will ever be remembered.

Saturday night was given over to a little fun called "Stunt Night." All of the districts presented a short stunt, and the Monroe-Ruston District won first place, New Orleans District coming in second. After the stunts, a very beautiful pageant, entitled "Crossroads House," was presented by the Mansfield Leaguers.

The good results of the Assembly were shown already Monday night, when, after Brother Lutz, of Shreveport, preached, nine young people volunteered for Life Service. It was later learned that four more had volunteered in their prayer groups, held just before retiring that night, making a total of thirteen. No grander climax could be asked for our Assembly, and the prayer of all the Leaguers is that they may remain steadfast in their purpose and let God be their guide.

At the closing banquet, several of the faculty members who had attended previous Assemblies stated that Tuesday closed one of the finest Assemblies ever held, and we unanimously agreed that this was due to the entire faculty's faithfulness and splendid help they gave toward making it such. Words cannot express how much we owe to our newly-elected president, Rev. James B. Grambling, for his untiring efforts to make this Assembly such a wonderful success.

Alas, alas, one fine day our dining-room had to be draped in black, for our vice-president, Mr. Cayard, was in mourning. Why? you ask. Because Miss Shreveport had to leave on Sunday night and Monday was a very black day for him.

Every afternoon a business session was held, and next week the main features taken up at these meetings will be published, also the names of the State officers and other interesting features.

There was a pang of regret when the good-byes had to be said, but every one cheerfully answered "See you next year," and thus closed one of the best Assemblies held in the State of Louisiana.

CHANGE OF LIFE LOSES TERRORS

For Women Who Rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Greenville, Pa.—"I took your medicine through the Change of Life and it did wonders for me. I was down in bed when I started to take it and weighed 95 pounds. I had hot flashes and was so nervous and weak that everything would get black and I could not see. I would sit and cry and did not know what I was crying for. Since I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel younger than I did ten years ago, and my friends all tell me I look younger, and I owe it all to the Vegetable Compound. I do all my housework for a family of seven now. I will be glad to answer any woman who writes me in regard to my case."—Mrs. JOHN MYERS, 55 Union St., Greenville, Pa.

Many letters similar to this have been published testifying to the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They are sincere expressions from women who describe as best they can their feelings before and after taking this well-known medicine.

Many times they state in their letters their willingness to answer women who write them. It is an offer dictated by gratitude and a desire to help others.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Side Lights on the Assembly.

Miss Emma Taylor Hoskins was about the busiest Leaguer at the Assembly Monday and Tuesday. Miss Hoskins is a very willing worker as long as she is well fed. Mr. Harrell says she eats every thirty minutes by the clock, or she won't work.

* * *

The Brookhaven Weekly Messenger gives Mr. Hawkins the titlo "A. O. L. P." (Ancient Order of League Presidents). Mr. Hawkins has served us a long time. But the Assembly refused to release him this year, and he must serve at least one more term.

* * *

There were several large delegations at the Assembly. Possibly the largest outside of the Brookhaven District was that of the Hattiesburg District. We believe Broad Street Chapter, Hattiesburg District, had the largest chapter delegation in attendance. Brookhaven District was awarded the bannner, and probably the Brookhaven Chapter will be custodian of it. Probably the delegation deserving the greatest credit, however, was one from Pascagoula, Seashore District. Brother Alford came by Ford, bringing seven delegates, driving 230 miles to reach the Assembly. There was one volunteer for definite service from this delegation.

The Mississippi Industrial School sent eight delegations, and they had two volunteers for definite service. We are proud of this record from Columbia. Miss Langley, who was in charge of the delegation, certainly has reason to be proud of what she has been able to accomplish in the work there.

Another large delegation was one from Leakesville. They, too, had to travel a long way by Ford.

* * *

Wray Bowlo was conspicuous by his absence, but the "Head" of the district was present (Miss Janet). We hardly know how we could have operated without Miss Head. She makes a very efficient secretary. Then, too, she could help keep Mr. Hawkins straight by "whacking" him on the head.

* * *

If any one is looking for a song leader, we recommend Miss Flowers. And, by the way, she is some entertainment director, too.

* * *

Louis Davis and Jim Sells came near working us to death in the directed play, but every one enjoyed it greatly.

* * *

Yes, girls, Mr. Fisher is single.

* * *

* * *

Louise Davis has the record of being the first person to commit suicide with a kitchen spoon. Some said it was just heart trouble caused from losing "Handsome Harry."

* * *

We can't see how the officials of the Cotton States League overlooked Rev. O. S. Lewis when they picked their umpiring staff.

* * *

The ball game was a scream, and, of course, the girls did most of the screaming. Mr. Hawkins was official

NOTES FROM NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, Sardis, Miss.

Our Conference is to be represented at Lake Junaluska with a few of our workers who are to spend the entire six weeks; a few will remain four weeks, and a considerable number for the first two weeks. One who has been there is anxious to go again. The first term opens July 12.

Applications for schools to be held at Durant, Booneville, Sunflower, and Clarksdale are being considered. In each case you will find a man or woman back of these enterprises who has a passion for souls and a willingness to spend and be spent. A training school is not a lazy man's job.

Our great, good Bishop Ainsworth has written a strong appeal to our pastors and other leaders calling upon them to attend these training schools. The only way one can find out their value is to attend and take a course for one week. It is pathetic to hear intelligent men and women cry out of their souls, "How can we get our preacher to take an interest in our Sunday school?" This cry is being heard and heeded by those in authority.

The enrollment and publicity committees at Sardis are busy making arrangements for a full school to be held July 5th to the 11th. Already thirty have enrolled for work from the Sardis church. Davis Chapel has sent in ten names. Como and Batesville have promised to send a creditable number. Mrs. J. B. Randolph, of Corinth, is to teach Pupil Study; Rev. Mellville Johnson is to teach the course in Organization and Administration; Mrs. V. R. McDonald is to teach a class in Old Testament; and Rev. Julian Duncan will teach the Program of the Christian Religion. Rev. J. T. Lewis, Rev. John A. Randolph, and Rev. Mellville Johnson are scheduled for public addresses. The young people are planning for a good time on "Stunt Night." Hon. John W. Kyle, the director of the school, is working for a record attendance.

We are planning to have not less than five hundred to attend our Sunday School Conference next year. Waddy West, of Greenville, knows how to get big things done. Busney Friend, of Sardis, will make an able and efficient helper. When we get five hundred Bible classes to testify of the saving grace of our Lord Jesus Christ all over the Conference, something will happen. More than twenty of our best teachers promised to hold a service in the home churches to tell of the great benefits of the Conference Training School. The fourth session of our school was the best we have held, and we are going to make the fifth still richer and fuller.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE NOTES

Last Sunday all engagements were broken by first one thing and then two. We had the pleasure of being at home. We spent the time with the Primary Department of the Capitol Street Church, which pledged to go to 100% "A" Type. I trust they will maintain this.

I was sent to hold a burial service for Mr. Louis Russell at Brandon. He was a member of the church at Avera, and had joined during the meeting held by Rev. A. J. Davis. I was glad to help on this occasion.

We have had the pleasure and profit of hearing Rev. G. C. Morgan part of the time this week. It has been a great pleasure and opportunity.

Brandon is 90% "C" type now. They keep coming up. I trust before long some one will cross the goal of 100%.

Pray for the work and the workers.

Yours in the work,

JOHN C. CHAMBERS.

TO THE ADULT BIBLE CLASSES OF NORTH MISSISSIPPI.

Dear Co-workers: The Wesley Bible Class Federation, with its accompanying adult deparamental meetings, held at Grenada College, June 7-8, was a distinct success, though not so largely attended as we had hoped it would be.

Many of you were not represented. We missed you, and felt the need of the encouragement your presence would have brought. You lost the inspiration and help its program and open discussions would have lent to your class.

Our program—planned to set forth Adult Bible Class work from every angle—was developed in a most helpful way through the following topics: "Conference and District Organization"; "The Adult Class as an Asset to the Pastor"; "The Opporunity of the Adult Bible Class, as Seen by a Field Secretary"; "The Adult Bible Class as an Agency of Evangelism"; "What a Men's Bible Class Can do to Tell the Story"; "Some Specific Lines of Work for Women's Classes."

Our General Superintendent, Rev. W. C. Owens, was present, a veritable tower of strength in every phaso of our departmental work.

Rev. J. C. Chambers, of the Mississippi Conference, brought us a helpful message, which was an appreciated part of our program.

Our own untiring Field Secretary, Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, in the midst of many duties, lent us of his time and presence.

Several of our most efficient and consecrated North Mississippi workers made helpful talks, replete with helpful suggestions, which we wish could be "gotten across to you." This is impossible. But that you may know the high standard set for your attainment during the next twelve months, we are urging you to note the following goals which were unanimously agreed upon at Grenada. We beg you to make them your own, and to work and pray for their achievement:

1. Twenty-five per cent increase in class membership.
2. One hundred per cent increase in organization; to be attained by every Adult Bible class organizing one new class.
3. Good standing for all classes to bo reached by sending a class report and a fee of $1 for renewal of certificate to W. C. Owens, 810 Broadway, Nashville, by March, 1924. (These report blanks can be secured from Mr. Owens, or your Conference superintendent.)

The slogan for a Conference-wide organization campaign is, "Every available adult lined up for study and service."

With fervent prayers for God's blessings upon our Adult Bible classes, let us "go forward" in His name!

Faithfully yours,

MRS. J. M. WYATT,
Conference Adult Superintendent.

rooter for the girls, and Miss Louise Davis was official score-keeper. They decided the game in favor of the girls, and the umps said they were correct, and we never did like an argument with the umps. Miss Saunders batted a thousand, and Miss Mathews should be catching in the Southern League.

* * *

The Newton District won first honors on Stunt Night with what they were pleased to call, "A usual Epworth League meeting." Some Leaguer from Laurel made the remark that it was very real to them, but we rather think it is the "unusual" rather than the usual with them. One thing is certain, O. S. Lewis will develop into a great acrobat if he continues to practice his sermons in the manner in which he did on that occasion.

* * *

Some one wants to know if there is anything that Rev. J. F. Campbell cannot do. We don't know. He did everything we asked him to. We think he would make a good "Peck's Bad Boy." There is one thing certain, he is the worst schoolboy in the Seashore District.

* * *

Say, folks, the Assembly was great. If you come next year you had better start early. All those of us who were there this time will be back, and if you come late you had better bring your camping outfit. There is plenty of room on the campus, but the dormitories may be full before you get there. Many young folks who came just for the fun went away with something worth telling to their folks at home. They found Christ and invited him home with them, and in many cases it was plain to see that Christ had accepted the invitation, as he always will when he is asked to come into our hearts and homes. We have never attended a revival meeting that was able to reach more of the young people than the Assembly. Miss Greely and Miss Saunders meant more to the young life there than any one can ever tell. Surely, God was working through them, bringing his message of love and service. And the large number of volunteers is the result. We speak of those who volunteered for definite service.

We believe at least 75 per cent of all the young people (possibly 85 per cent) responded to the general invitation to be volunteers for Christ.

YOUR GREATEST PROBLEM—THAT BOY OF YOURS.

What kind of a man will he be ten, twenty, thirty years from now. Every parent knows it depends entirely upon the training he is getting now, his associations, ideals and aspirations.

Mr. Robert K. Morgan, principal of Morgan School, Petersburg, Tenn., has been training boys twenty-nine years. He knows boys. He wants your boy. He recognizes in every boy possibilities which if developed will make him a leader. He wants to develop that trait in boys. Robt. K. Morgan is a Christian gentleman of strong, wholesome, inspiring personality and his school is a material projection point of that character.

Write Mr. L. I. Mills, Secretary Morgan School, Petersburg, Tenn., to-day. He will send you a catalog and tell you about what this school can do for your boy.

CARD OF THANKS.

We thank our many friends who have written to us in our sadness.

Your kindly letters were to our sad hearts as dew upon the mown grass. No one can really know the value of a friendly letter until in an hour like this, and you, each of you, have gotten into our hearts more fully than ever before.

Our daughter, Minnie Lee, had finished at Port Gibson, and I went over to Brookhaven to be at the Epworth League Assembly and to secure a room for her for the next session. But she has gone away to be under the Great Teacher in whom is hid all wisdom and knowledge.

We thank Rev. J. A. Moore, presiding elder of Newton District; Rev. N. B. Harmon, pastor at Newton; Rev. E. H. Cooley, pastor at Bay Springs, and Rev. G. G. Yeager, pastor at Rose Hill, for their ministerial service, so blessedly rendered at the sanctuary and cemetery; the Young Ladies' Bible Class, for the beautiful wreath of flowers; the many other friends for beautiful flowers, and last but not least, tho good people of Montrose for their carefulness of us through sickness and death. They must have moved under the gentlo touch of the Great Sympathizer to perform so perfectly their deeds of kindness. Dr. Lamb, our good physician, will never be forgotten for his faithful service.

Wo greatly appreciate the kindly words of the many friends.
